The list described below shall be prepared on blank forms approved by the Department and be ready for delivery to the immigrant inspector boarding the vessel at the port of arrival, and shall in no instance be taken from the vessel. The list of changes of alien members of crew (Form I-418) shall not be returned on board, but shall be delivered by the master to the principal immigration officer at the port. When an alternate seaman is a "workaway," a notation to that effect should be made on the manifest. In order to facilitate inspection of alien seamen, include names of alternate American citizen seamen as well as aliens.

SEC. 36. That upon arrival of any vessel in the United States from any foreign port or place it shall be the duty of the owner, agent, consignee, or master thereof to deliver to the principal immigration officer in charge of the port of arrival lists containing the names of all aliens employed on such vessel, stating the position they respectively hold in the ship's company, when and where they were respectively shipped or engaged, and specifying those shipped in the port of arrival; or lists containing no such information in the form of manifests required by regulations prescribed by the Secretary of Labor; and after the arrival of any such vessel it shall be the duty of such owner, agent, consignee, or master to report to such immigration officer, in writing, as soon as discovered, all cases in which any such alien has illegally landed from the vessel, giving a description of such alien, together with any information likely to lead to his apprehension; and before the departure of any such vessel it shall be the duty of such owner, agent, consignee, or master to deliver to and obtain the signature of all aliens employed thereon at the time of the arrival but who will leave port thereon at the time of her departure, and also the names of those, if any, who have been hired to fill such vacancies; and to report, respectively, to and to report such cases of desertion or illness, such owner, agent, consignee, or master shall, if required by the Attorney General, pay to the collector of customs of the customs district in which the port of arrival is located the sum of $10 for each alien concerning whom correct lists are not delivered, or a true report is not made as above required: and no such vessel shall be granted clearance pending the determination of the liability to the payment of such sum, in the event such sum is imposed, while it remains unpaid; nor shall such sum be remitted or refunded: Provided, That clearance may be granted prior to the determination of such question upon deposit of a sum sufficient to cover such sum. (39 Stat. 888, 892; 8 U. S. C., 171.)

SEC. 150.15. Lists of alien employees: when clearance of vessel denied. Clearance shall not be granted any vessel until the lists required by section 36 of the Immigration Act of 1917 (39 Stat. 888; 8 U. S. C. 171), have been furnished, and not then unless notice of intention to the administrative fine prescribed by said section or to the prescribed by section 35 of said Act (39 Stat. 888; 8 U. S. C. 169) relative to the deportation of such alien from the United States, except temporarily for medical treatment, or detained to aid in the investigation officer in charge at the port of arrival has inspected such seaman (which inspection in all cases shall include a personal physical examination by the medical examiners), or who fails to detain such seaman on board such alien seaman employed on such vessel until the immigration officer or the Attorney General to do so. Shall pay to the collector of customs of the customs district in which the port of arrival is located the sum of $1,000 for each alien seaman in respect of whom such failure occurs. No vessel shall be granted clearance pending the determination of the liability to payment of such fine, or while the fine remains unpaid, except that clearance may be granted prior to the determination of such question upon the deposit of a sum sufficient to cover such fine, or of a bond with sufficient surety to secure the payment thereof approved by the collector of customs. The Attorney General may, upon application in writing therefor, mitigate such penalty to not less than $300 for each seaman in respect of whom such failure occurs. Upon such remission or the payment of the fine, the vessel may be granted clearance.

This section, as amended, shall apply to all branches of the service independent of June 2, 1940.

(b) Proof that an alien seaman did not appear upon the outbound manifest of the vessel on which he arrived in the United States from any place outside thereof, or that he was rejected by the master of such vessel as a deserter, shall be prima facie evidence of a failure to detain or deport after readmittance by the immigration officer of the Attorney General.

(c) If the Attorney General finds that deportation of the alien seaman on the vessel on which he arrived would cause undue hardship to such seaman he may cause him to be deported on another vessel at the expense of the vessel on which he arrived, but such vessel shall not be granted clearance until such expense has been paid or its payment guaranteed to the satisfaction of the Attorney General.

IMPORTANT NOTICE TO MASTER

The list described below shall be prepared on blank forms approved by the Department and be ready for delivery to the immigration inspectors boarding the vessel at the port of arrival; but shall not be delivered on shipboard, but shall be delivered by the master to the principal immigration officer at the port. When an alternate examination is a "northward," a notation to that effect should be made on the manifest. In order to facilitate inspection of aliens assigned to multiple manifest numbers, the last name of the first alien listed on each manifest should be entered in the upper left-hand corner of the first page of each manifest.

EXTRACT FROM ACT OF CONGRESS OF FEBRUARY 2, 1917, AS AMENDED

SEC. 3. That alien arriving at any seaport in the United States from any foreign port or place if found to be the duty of the owner, agent, consignee, or master thereof to deliver to the principal immigration officer in charge of the port of arrival a list containing the names of all aliens employed on such vessel, stating the nationality, last occupation, and the final destination of each such alien so employed, and the immigration officer in charge of the port of arrival shall have authority to administer to any such master the same oath provided by law to be administered to passengers and their baggage, and such master shall thereafter report and deliver to the immigration officer at each succeeding port of arrival the name of each alien employed on such vessel who was not reported by the master at the previous port of arrival, and in default of making such report and delivery of such list shall pay a penalty of $10 for each alien concerning whom such report should have been made but was not made, but no such master of any vessel shall be required to report the name of any alien employed on such vessel who was not employed to land at such port, and such master shall not be required to report the name of any alien employed on such vessel who will leave such foreign port or place within the period required by the Attorney General for the making of such report and who is not landed: Provided, That the master of any vessel who fails to report the name of any alien employed on such vessel who will not leave such foreign port or place within the period required by the Attorney General for the making of such report shall pay a penalty of $10 for each alien concerning whom such report should have been made but was not made, but if it appears to the satisfaction of the Secretary of Labor that any master has complied as nearly as practicable with the requirements of this section in respect to any alien employed on such vessel he may remit the penalty or any part thereof incurred by such master on account of such alien: Provided further, That the master of any vessel who fails to report the name of any alien employed on such vessel who will leave such foreign port or place within the period required by the Attorney General for the making of such report shall pay a penalty of $10 for each alien concerning whom such report should have been made but was not made, but if it appears to the satisfaction of the Secretary of Labor that any master has complied as nearly as practicable with the requirements of this section in respect to any alien employed on such vessel he may remit the penalty or any part thereof incurred by such master on account of such alien: Provided further, That no such master of any vessel shall be required to report the name of any alien employed on such vessel who will not leave such foreign port or place within the period required by the Attorney General for the making of such report, or who will leave such foreign port or place within the period required by the Attorney General for the making of such report if the master of such vessel has been granted a waiver by the Attorney General of the provisions of this section requiring the making of such report: And provided further, That the master of any vessel who fails to report the name of any alien employed on such vessel who will not leave such foreign port or place within the period required by the Attorney General for the making of such report shall pay a penalty of $10 for each alien concerning whom such report should have been made but was not made, but if it appears to the satisfaction of the Secretary of Labor that any master has complied as nearly as practicable with the requirements of this section in respect to any alien employed on such vessel he may remit the penalty or any part thereof incurred by such master on account of such alien: Provided further, That no such master of any vessel shall be required to report the name of any alien employed on such vessel who will not

SEC. 13. No alien seaman excluded from admission into the United States under the immigration laws has employed on board any vessel arriving in the United States from any place outside thereof, shall be permitted to land in the United States, except temporarily and for the ultimate departure, removal, or deportation of such alien from the United States. (43 Stat. 164, 8 U. S. C. 166.)

SEC. 30. (a) The owner, charterer, agent, consignee, or master of any vessel arriving in the United States from any place outside thereof who fails to detain on board any alien seaman employed on such vessel until the immigration officer in charge at the port of arrival has inspected such seaman (which inspection in all cases shall include a personal physical examination by the medical examiner), or who fails to detain such seaman on board after such inspection or to deport such seaman if required by such immigration officer or the Attorney General to do so, shall pay to the collector of customs of the customs district in which the port of arrival is located the sum of $1,000 for each alien seaman in respect of whom such failure occurs. No vessel shall be granted clearance pending the determination of the liability to payment of such fine, or while the fine remains unpaid, except that clearance may be granted prior to the determination of such question upon the deposit of a sum sufficient to cover such fine, or of a bond with sufficient surety to secure the payment thereof approved by the collector of customs. The Attorney General may, upon application in writing therefor, remit such penalty to not less than $300 for each seaman in respect of whom such failure occurs when such remission is in the interest of the United States.

(b) Front fine on alien seaman did not appear upon the outgoing manifest of the vessel on which he arrived in the United States from any place outside thereof, or that he was reported by the master of such vessel as a deserter, shall be prima facie evidence of a failure to detain or deport after readmittance by the immigration officer of the alien seaman on the vessel on which he arrived when such vessel came such alien seaman is subject to detention by the immigration officer of the port of arrival, and such vessel shall not be granted clearance until such expense has been paid or its payment guaranteed to the satisfaction of the Attorney General. (43 Stat. 164–165, 58 Stat. 418; 8 U. S. C. 161 (a), 161 (c).)

ALIEN SEAMEN

SEC. 13. No alien seaman excluded from admission into the United States under the immigration laws and employed on board any vessel arriving in the United States from any place outside the United States, or employed on board any vessel departing from the United States for any place outside thereof, shall be permitted to land in the United States, except temporarily for medical treatment, or because of illness, injury, or emergency requiring surgical treatment, or for the ultimate deportation, removal, or deportation of such alien from the United States. (43 Stat. 164, 8 U. S. C. 166.)

SEC. 20. (a) The owner, charterer, agent, consignee, or master of any vessel arriving in the United States from any place outside thereof who fails to deport on board the vessel such alien seaman employed on such vessel until the immigration officer in charge at the port of arrival has inspected such seaman (which inspection he shall cause shall include a personal physical examination by the medical examiner), or who fails to deport such seaman on board after such inspection or to deport such seaman if required by such immigration officer or the Attorney General so to do, shall pay to the collector of customs of the customs district in which the port of arrival is located the sum of $1,000 for each alien seaman in respect of whom such failure occurs. No vessel shall be granted clearance pending the determination of the liability to payment of such fine, or while the fine remains unpaid, except that clearance may be granted prior to the determination of such question upon the deposit of a sum sufficient to cover such fine, or of a bond with sufficient surety to secure the payment thereof approved by the collector of customs. The Attorney General may, upon application in writing therefor, remit such fine, in whole or in part, if he is satisfied that the vessel has been operated in accordance with the provisions of this section, and that proper efforts have been made to prevent the illegal landing of such alien seaman. The fine imposed by this section, as amended, shall apply to all foreign vessels arriving after the passage of this Act, irrespective of the date of their departure from any place outside thereof, but shall not apply to any vessel which shall have arrived at a port of the United States prior to July 1, 1924.

(b) Proof that an alien seaman did not appear upon the outgoing manifest of the vessel on which he arrived in the United States shall be prima facie evidence of a failure to deport alien seaman by the immigration officer at the port of departure, and the burden of proof shall be upon the master, agent, consignee, or owner of such vessel to establish that such alien seaman was not employed on such vessel.

(c) If the Attorney General finds that deportation of the alien seaman on the vessel on which he arrived would cause undue hardship to such seaman he may cause him to be deported on another vessel at the expense of the vessel on which he arrived, but such expense shall not be charged against such vessel in the computation of the net tonnage thereof. Any alien seaman deported pursuant to this section shall be treated for the purposes of the immigration laws as having been refused admission to the United States, but such deportation shall not preclude the admission of such alien seaman pursuant to the provisions of section 3 of the Immigration Act of 1917 (39 Stat. 876; 8 U. S. C. 151), nor prevent the admission of such alien seaman after the payment of the fine imposed by section 16 of the Immigration Act of 1917 (39 Stat. 886; 8 U. S. C. 151), nor prevent the admission of such alien seaman after the payment of the fine imposed by section 16 of the Immigration Act of 1917 (39 Stat. 886; 8 U. S. C. 151), has been made.

SEC. 150.13. Limit of alien employees: when clearance of vessel denied. Clearance shall not be granted any vessel until the limit prescribed by section 20 of the Immigration Act of 1917 (39 Stat. 886; 8 U. S. C. 171), when such limit has been established, and no fine unless notice of imposition of such fine, if imposed, while it remains unpaid; nor shall such fine be remitted or refunded, except: Provided, That clearance may be granted prior to the determination of such question upon deposit of a sum sufficient to cover such fine. (39 Stat. 886, 887; 8 U. S. C. 171.)

EXTRACT FROM ACT OF CONGRESS OF FEBRUARY 2, 1917, AS AMENDED

SEC. 30. That from entrance of any vessel in the United States from any foreign port or place it shall be the duty of the owner, agent, consignee, or master thereof to deliver to the immigrant inspector in charge of the port of arrival list or lists containing the names of all aliens employed on such vessel, stating the position therein, the nationality, last permanent residence, and final destination of each alien employed, which list or lists shall be verified by the oath of such owner, agent, consignee, or master, and where there are no aliens employed on such vessel it shall be the duty of such owner, agent, consignee, or master to report that fact upon arrival at the port. Such list or lists shall be prepared on blank forms furnished by the Commissioner General of Immigration, and shall contain such information as may be required by the Commissioner General of Immigration, and such other information as may be required by the Secretary of Labor. Any master, agent, consignee, or owner of any vessel who refuses to deliver such list or lists, or who refuses to answer questions put to him by the immigrant inspector in charge of the port of arrival, or who knowingly lands or permits to land any alien employed on such vessel before the examination of such alien

IMPORTANT NOTICE TO MASTER

The list described below shall be prepared on plank forms approved by the Department and be ready for delivery to the immigration inspector boarding the vessel at the port of arrival, and shall in no instance be taken from the vessel. The list of changes of alien inmates of crews (Form I–418) shall not be returned on board, but shall be delivered by the master to the principal immigration officer at the port. When an alternate examination is made, a duplicate to that filed originally with the master to the principal immigration officer at the port of arrival shall be delivered to the immigration officer making the subsequent examination.

SEC. 38. That upon arrival of any vessel in the United States from any foreign port or place it shall be the duty of the owner, agent, consignee, or master thereof to deliver to the principal immigration officer in charge of the port of arrival or to such immigration officer as may be designated by the Attorney General, manifests containing the names of all aliens embarked on such vessel, stating the additional facts required to be recorded in the port of arrival; or such parts of such manifests as may be required by the Attorney General, and specifying those to be held for examination; and after the arrival of any such vessel it shall be the duty of the master thereof to deliver to such immigration officer at the time of the departure of such vessel from the port of arrival a list containing the names of all aliens employed on such vessel, stating the additional facts required to be recorded in the port of arrival; or such parts of such lists as may be required by the Attorney General, and specifying those to be held for examination; and also the names of those, if any, who have been employed on board such vessel at any foreign port or place and who have been left behind at the time of her departure, together with such information as may be required by the Attorney General as to the cause of their detention. Any master who knowingly fails to deliver to any immigration officer any list required by this section, or who knowingly delivers to any such officer a list which does not correctly record to the best of his knowledge and belief the information required to be recorded in such list, shall be guilty of a misdemeanor and shall be punished by a fine of not more than $1,000 for each alien concerning whom correct information is not given, or by imprisonment for not more than one year, or by both such fine and imprisonment.

SEC. 150.15. Lists of alien employees: when clearance to vessel denied. Clearance shall not be granted any vessel until the list required by section 38 of the Immigration Act of 1917 (39 Stat. 888; 8 U. S. C. 171), have been furnished to the administrative officer prescribed by this section or to such prescribed, and not after unless notice of intention to file such list, the deposit specified in §§ 150.13–150.17, has been made.

ALIEN SEAMEN

SEC. 10. No alien seaman excluded from admission into the United States under the immigration laws shall be employed on board any vessel arriving in the United States from any place outside the United States (other than Canada, Newfoundland, Mexico, Cuba, Central or South America, or adjacent islands) unless a bond in the penal sum of $300 is furnished by the master, owner, agent, consignee, or charterer of such vessel to the collector of customs of the district in which the port of arrival is located, conditioned that such alien seaman will be returned as the Attorney General may prescribe (which prescription may be modified at any time), at the cost of the vessel on which he arrived, or at the cost of the master, owner, agent, consignee, or charterer of such vessel, to the country to which he belongs, or to the country in which he resided before coming to the United States, or to such other country as may agree to receive him, if such seaman is not admitted into the United States or such country, or if for any reason the master, owner, agent, consignee, or charterer of such vessel is not required to return such alien seaman on board the vessel on which he arrived. Such bond shall be void as to any such alien seaman who is lawfully admitted to the United States or who proves to the satisfaction of the Attorney General that he has been prevented by illness, shipwreck, or other cause beyond the control of the master, owner, agent, consignee, or charterer of the vessel on which he arrived from returning on such vessel or procuring his return on another vessel within the period fixed by the Attorney General. Such bond may be sued for and recovered by any person who shall have paid the passage of any such alien seaman to the United States, or who shall have advanced any sum of money for his relief or maintenance, in whole or in part, in the United States, and such person shall have a lien upon such bond superior to the rights of the United States. Such bond shall not be required as to any alien seaman who is a native-born citizen of the United States, or who has a wife or child who is a native-born citizen of the United States, or who has a declaration of intention to become a citizen of the United States, or who has resided in the United States for the five years next preceding his application for admission to the United States, or who is in possession of a certificate issued under the provisions of section 4 of the Act of May 9, 1918, as amended, or who is a bona fide member of a recognized religious denomination opposed to participation in war in any form and to the bearing of arms, and who has been duly certified as such by the authorities of such denomination, or who is under the age of eighteen years, or who is over the age of fifty years, or who is destitute or afflicted with a contagious disease or mental disorder, or who is a stowaway, or who has been convicted of a felony or other crime or misdemeanor involving moral turpitude, unless in the case of any such alien seaman the Attorney General in his discretion shall deem that the public interest does not require his deportation.

(a) Every alien seaman excluded from admission into the United States under the immigration laws who is employed on board any vessel arriving in the United States from any place outside the United States (other than Canada, Newfoundland, Mexico, Cuba, Central or South America, or adjacent islands) shall be detained on board such vessel at the port of arrival, unless sooner removed therefrom for medical treatment, or pursuant to such regulations as the Attorney General may prescribe for his departure to the country to which he belongs, or to the country in which he resided before coming to the United States, or to such other country as may agree to receive him, if such seaman is not admitted into the United States or such country, or if for any reason the master, owner, agent, consignee, or charterer of such vessel is not required to return such alien seaman on board the vessel on which he arrived (which inspection in all cases shall include a personal physical examination by the medical examiner), or Attorney General to do so, shall pay to the collector of customs of the customs district in which the port of arrival is located the sum of $1,000 for each alien seaman in respect of whom such failure occurs. No vessel shall be granted clearance until the determination of such master, owner, agent, consignee, or charterer has been reported by the collector of customs. The Attorney General may, upon application in writing therefor, mitigate such penalty to such sum as he deems appropriate in each case not exceeding in respect of whom such failure occurs, upon such terms as the Attorney General in his discretion shall think proper.

(b) Every alien seaman who has been admitted to the United States under the provisions of subdivision (a) of this section, and who thereafter shall desert from the vessel on which he arrived, shall be arrested and detained pending deportation in the same manner as provided in respect of aliens who have been refused admission to the United States, unless the master, owner, agent, consignee, or charterer of such vessel shall deposit with the collector of customs of the district in which the port of arrival is located the sum of $300 for each such alien seaman, which deposit shall be refunded upon the presentation of such alien seaman within four months from the date of his desertion to the Attorney General, or to any person designated by him for the purpose, or upon satisfactory proof that such alien seaman is dead or has been prevented by illness, shipwreck, or other cause beyond the control of the master, owner, agent, consignee, or charterer of the vessel on which he arrived from presenting such alien seaman for deportation. Such deposit may be remitted or canceled in the discretion of the Attorney General.

(c) If the Attorney General finds that deportation of any alien seaman at the expense of the vessel on which he arrived will be unreasonably delayed, such alien seaman may be deported at the expense of the appropriation for the enforcement of the Immigration Act of 1924 (43 Stat. 164–165; 8 U. S. C. 181 (a), 181 (c)).

SEC. 38. That upon arrival of any vessel in the United States from any foreign port or place it shall be the duty of the master, agent, consignee, or owner thereof to deliver to the principal immigration officer in charge of the port of arrival, or to such immigration officer as may be designated by the Attorney General, manifests containing the names of all aliens employed on such vessel, stating the additional facts required to be recorded in the port of arrival; or such parts of such manifests as may be required by the Attorney General, and specifying those to be held for examination; and after the arrival of any such vessel it shall be the duty of the master thereof to deliver to such immigration officer at the time of the departure of such vessel from the port of arrival a list containing the names of all aliens employed on such vessel, stating the additional facts required to be recorded in the port of arrival; or such parts of such lists as may be required by the Attorney General, and specifying those to be held for examination; and also the names of those, if any, who have been employed on board such vessel at any foreign port or place and who have been left behind at the time of her departure, together with such information as may be required by the Attorney General as to the cause of their detention. Any master who knowingly fails to deliver to any immigration officer any list required by this section, or who knowingly delivers to any such officer a list which does not correctly record to the best of his knowledge and belief the information required to be recorded in such list, shall be guilty of a misdemeanor and shall be punished by a fine of not more than $1,000 for each alien concerning whom correct information is not given, or by imprisonment for not more than one year, or by both such fine and imprisonment.

(a) Every alien seaman excluded from admission into the United States under the immigration laws who is employed on board any vessel arriving in the United States from any place outside the United States (other than Canada, Newfoundland, Mexico, Cuba, Central or South America, or adjacent islands) shall be detained on board such vessel at the port of arrival, unless sooner removed therefrom for medical treatment, or pursuant to such regulations as the Attorney General may prescribe for his departure to the country to which he belongs, or to the country in which he resided before coming to the United States, or to such other country as may agree to receive him, if such seaman is not admitted into the United States or such country, or if for any reason the master, owner, agent, consignee, or charterer of such vessel is not required to return such alien seaman on board the vessel on which he arrived (which inspection in all cases shall include a personal physical examination by the medical examiner), or Attorney General to do so, shall pay to the collector of customs of the customs district in which the port of arrival is located the sum of $1,000 for each alien seaman in respect of whom such failure occurs. No vessel shall be granted clearance until the determination of such master, owner, agent, consignee, or charterer has been reported by the collector of customs. The Attorney General may, upon application in writing therefor, mitigate such penalty to such sum as he deems appropriate in each case not exceeding in respect of whom such failure occurs, upon such terms as the Attorney General in his discretion shall think proper.

(b) Every alien seaman who has been admitted to the United States under the provisions of subdivision (a) of this section, and who thereafter shall desert from the vessel on which he arrived, shall be arrested and detained pending deportation in the same manner as provided in respect of aliens who have been refused admission to the United States, unless the master, owner, agent, consignee, or charterer of such vessel shall deposit with the collector of customs of the district in which the port of arrival is located the sum of $300 for each such alien seaman, which deposit shall be refunded upon the presentation of such alien seaman within four months from the date of his desertion to the Attorney General, or to any person designated by him for the purpose, or upon satisfactory proof that such alien seaman is dead or has been prevented by illness, shipwreck, or other cause beyond the control of the master, owner, agent, consignee, or charterer of the vessel on which he arrived from presenting such alien seaman for deportation. Such deposit may be remitted or canceled in the discretion of the Attorney General.

(c) If the Attorney General finds that deportation of any alien seaman at the expense of the vessel on which he arrived will be unreasonably delayed, such alien seaman may be deported at the expense of the appropriation for the enforcement of the Immigration Act of 1924 (43 Stat. 164–165; 8 U. S. C. 181 (a), 181 (c)).

ALIEN SEAMEN

SEC. 19. No alien seaman excluded from admission into the United States under the immigration laws but employed on board any vessel arriving in the United States from any place outside thereof, shall be permitted to land in the United States, except temporarily for medical treatment, or because of illness, injury, or quarantine, or for the alleviation thereof, or to the extent and for the time deemed necessary by the Attorney General, or pursuant to such regulations as the Attorney General may prescribe for the alleviation of distress in such cases. (43 Stat. 164, 8 U. S. C. 166.)

SEC. 20. (a) The owner, charterer, agent, consignee, or master of any vessel arriving in the United States from any place outside thereof who fails to detain on board any alien seaman employed on such vessel until the immigration officer in charge at the port of arrival has inspected such seaman (which inspection in all cases shall include a personal physical examination by the medical examiners), or who fails to detain such seaman on board after such inspection or to deport such seaman if required by such immigration officer or the Attorney General to do so, shall pay to the collector of customs of the customs district in which the port of arrival is located the sum of $1,000 for each alien seaman in respect of whom such failure occurs. No vessel shall be granted prior to the determination of the liability to payment of such fine or while the fine remains unpaid, except that clearance may be granted to any vessel approved by the collector of customs. The Attorney General may, upon application in writing therefor, mitigate such penalty to not less than $300 for each seaman in respect of whom such failure occurs. Upon such refund as the Attorney General in his discretion shall think proper. This section, as amended, shall apply to all penalties arising independent to June 2, 1940.

(b) Proof that an alien seaman did not depart upon the outgoing manifest of the vessel on which he arrived in the United States from any place outside thereof, or that he was removed by the master of such vessel as a deserter, shall be prima facie evidence of a failure to deport after readmittance by the immigration officer of the Attorney General.

(c) If the Attorney General finds that deportation of the alien seaman on the vessel on which he arrived would cause undue paralysis to such seaman he may cause him to be deported on another vessel at the expense of the vessel on which he arrived, and such vessel shall not be granted clearance until such expense has been paid or its payment guaranteed to the satisfaction of the Attorney General.

IMPORTANT NOTICE TO MASTER

The list described below shall be prepared on blank forms furnished by the Department and be ready for delivery to the immigration inspector boarding the vessel at the port of arrival, and shall in no instance be taken from the vessel. The list of aliens requiring immigration officer at the port of arrival (Form I-425) shall not be delivered on board, but shall be delivered by the master to the immigration officer at the port. A form on alternate sheets is a "manifest", a decision to that effect should be made on the manifest. In order to facilitate inspection, each individual included on such sheet, whether a continuation of such alien, including all cases in which such alien has continuously resided in the United States or its territories since prior to July 1, 1924, shall be entered separately and in regular order, the number assigned to each such alien first being entered in the column provided therefor, and the name of each alien shall be entered in the manifest in the space provided for the surname of the alien, the given names in full, and the middle initial, if any. The information called for by each column of the list must be provided as completely as possible. If the age of any alien is less than one year, the number of months should be entered in the column headed "Age." If any alien is unable to write, a question mark (?) should be placed in the column headed "Can read" opposite the name of such alien, and if unable to read, a question mark should be placed in the column headed "Can write" opposite the name of such alien. The column headed "Nationality" shall be filled in with the name of the country to which such alien owes allegiance, whether native-born or naturalized. The list of aliens to be examined by the immigration officer at the port, Where an alternate manner is a "motorway" a duration to that effect should be made on the manifest. In order to facilitate inspection of alien seamen, include names of alternate American citizen seamen as well as aliens.

EXTRACT FROM ACT OF CONGRESS OF FEBRUARY 2, 1917, AS AMENDED

SEC. 36. That upon arrival of any vessel in the United States from any foreign port or place it shall be the duty of the owner, agent, consignee, or master thereof to deliver to the principal immigration officer in charge of the port of arrival lists containing the names of all aliens employed on such vessel, stating the position they respectively hold in the alien's company, when and where they were respectively shipped or engaged, and specifying those to be landed at the port of arrival; to furnish such information as the Attorney General shall by regulation prescribe; and after the arrival of any such vessel it shall be the duty of such owner, agent, consignee, or master to report to such immigration officer, in writing, as soon as discovered, all cases in which any such alien has illegally landed from the vessel, giving a description of such alien, together with information likely to lead to his apprehension; and before the departure of any such vessel it shall be the duty of such owner, agent, consignee, or master to deliver to such immigration officer a further list containing the names of all aliens employed on such vessel, agent, consignee, or master as aforesaid who have left the vessel since the last list was delivered, and the cause of their departure; and it shall be the duty of the master of the vessel at the time of the arrival and the departure of such vessel to report in writing to such immigration officer the name of every alien, if any, who may have been landed or who may have died on board, and to deliver a full and true list of all the crew, pursuant to and in conformity with such regulations as the Attorney General shall prescribe. Any person who violates any of the provisions of this section shall be fined not more than $1,000 for each alien with respect to whom such violation occurs. Upon such refusal or failure of the master to deliver such lists, or upon the refusal or failure of any such alien to report, or upon the refusal or failure of any person to furnish information in relation thereto when required by the Attorney General or any person duly authorized by him, such alien shall be taken into custody and a warrant for his deportation shall be issued by the Attorney General or any person duly authorized by him, and such alien shall be deported in the manner provided in sections 19 and 20 hereof: Provided, That if it shall appear to the satisfaction of the Attorney General that such alien could not have been obtained by the master, agent, consignee, or owner of the vessel on which he arrived, by the exercise of due diligence, the Attorney General may cancel any such proceedings against such alien. (39 Stat. 879; 8 U. S. C. 136.)

SEC. 37. (a) The owner, charterer, agent, consignee, or master of any vessel arriving in the United States from any place outside the foreign contiguous territory of Canada, Mexico, Newfoundland, the Republic of Panama, the Canal Zone, or the islands adjacent thereto in which such vessel has been engaged immediately prior to the departure of such vessel for the United States, shall, at the time of arrival, pay to the collector of customs a tax of $8 for each alien on board such vessel, whether in transit through the United States to a foreign country or destined to a port in the United States, except that no tax shall be collected in respect of any alien who is in transit through the United States to another foreign country, who has been admitted to the United States and is returning within thirty days to the foreign country from which he came to the United States, or who is a citizen of the United States, a returning alien lawfully admitted for permanent residence, a government official, diplomatic representative, or attaché, or the wife or minor child of any of the foregoing, or who is in possession of a valid unexpired immigrant visa, reentry permit, border crossing identification card, or other document which may be prescribed by the Secretary of State under the provisions of section 3 of the Immigration Act of 1924 (8 U. S. C., Supp. VII, 203), or who is not required by such section to obtain a visa before applying for admission to the United States.

(b) The tax imposed by this section shall be paid to the collector of customs of the district in which is located the first port of arrival in the United States of the vessel on which the alien arrives, and shall be in addition to any other tax or duty imposed by law. Such tax shall be a lien upon the vessel, which may be enforced by the collector of customs by the detention of the vessel or any other vessel owned in whole or in part by the owner of the vessel liable for the tax, and may be collected by proceedings in rem in the district court of the United States for the district in which the vessel may be found. No vessel shall be granted clearance pending the determination of the existence of a tax liable under this section, or while the tax remains unpaid, except that clearance may be granted upon the deposit with the collector of customs of a sum sufficient to cover such tax, or of a bond with sureties approved by the collector of customs. The Attorney General may, upon application in writing therefor, remit the tax or any part thereof in the case of any alien who was admitted to the United States as a nonquota immigrant or who was in transit through the United States, if he is satisfied that the remission of the tax is justified by reasons of hardship or the public interest. No tax shall be refunded unless application therefor is made to the Attorney General in writing within six months after the payment thereof. The Attorney General may, upon application in writing therefor, refund to any transportation company which has been required to pay the tax in respect of any alien who has been refused admission to the United States the amount of the tax paid by such company in respect of such alien, if such alien was in possession of a valid unexpired immigrant visa, reentry permit, border crossing identification card, or other document which may be prescribed by the Secretary of State under the provisions of section 3 of the Immigration Act of 1924, at the time of application for admission and was refused admission to the United States solely because he was found to be afflicted with a loathsome or dangerous contagious disease which would have been detected during a physical examination of such alien conducted prior to the sailing of the vessel on which he arrived, if such examination was given such alien at the time and place and in the manner required by the Attorney General. Such refund shall be made only if the application therefor is filed with the Attorney General within one year from the date of the payment of the tax. (39 Stat. 889; 8 U. S. C. 137.)

SEC. 150.13. Liens of alien employees: Appeal clearance of vessel denied. Clearance shall not be granted with respect to any vessel until the lists required by section 36 of the Immigration Act of 1917 (39 Stat. 888; 8 U. S. C. 171), have been furnished, but not after noncompliance notice of inapplicability to the administrative fine prescribed by said section or to final prescribed by section 35 of said Act (39 Stat. 888; 8 U. S. C. 168) unless such fine has been waived, the deposit specified in § 150.13–150.17, has been made.

ALIEN SEAMEN

SEC. 18. No alien seaman excluded from admission into the United States under the immigration laws and employed on board any vessel arriving at the United States from any place outside thereof, shall be permitted to land in the United States, except temporarily for medical treatment, or unavoidable detention, or pending the departure of such vessel, or pending the deportation of such alien from the United States. (43 Stat. 164, 8 U. S. C. 188.)

SEC. 30. (a) The owner, charterer, agent, consignee, or master of any vessel arriving in the United States from any place outside foreign contiguous territory of Canada, Mexico, Newfoundland, the Republic of Panama, the Canal Zone, or the islands adjacent thereto in which such vessel has been engaged immediately prior to the departure of such vessel for the United States, shall, at the time of arrival, pay to the collector of customs a tax of $8 for each alien on board such vessel (which inspection at all cases shall include a personal physical examination by the medical examiners). The Attorney General is to do so, shall pay to the collector of customs of the customs district in which the port of arrival is located the sum of $1,000 for each alien assessed in respect of whom such failure occurs. No vessel shall be granted clearance pending the determination of the liability to payment of such tax, or while the same remains unpaid, except that clearance may be granted prior to the determination upon the deposit of a sum sufficient to cover such tax, or of a bond with sureties approved by the collector of customs. The Attorney General may, upon application in writing therefor, remit the tax or any part thereof in the case of any alien who was admitted to the United States as a nonquota immigrant or who was in transit through the United States, if he is satisfied that the remission of the tax is justified by reasons of hardship or the public interest. No tax shall be refunded unless application therefor is made to the Attorney General in writing within six months after the payment thereof. The Attorney General may, upon application in writing therefor, refund to any transportation company which has been required to pay the tax in respect of any alien who has been refused admission to the United States the amount of the tax paid by such company in respect of such alien, if such alien was in possession of a valid unexpired immigrant visa, reentry permit, border crossing identification card, or other document which may be prescribed by the Secretary of State under the provisions of section 3 of the Immigration Act of 1924, at the time of application for admission and was refused admission to the United States solely because he was found to be afflicted with a loathsome or dangerous contagious disease which would have been detected during a physical examination of such alien conducted prior to the sailing of the vessel on which he arrived, if such examination was given such alien at the time and place and in the manner required by the Attorney General. Such refund shall be made only if the application therefor is filed with the Attorney General within one year from the date of the payment of the tax. (43 Stat. 164–165, 58 Stat. 818; 8 U. S. C. 191 (a), 191 (c).)

IMPORTANT NOTICE TO MASTER

The list checked below shall be furnished on blank forms approved by the Department and be ready for delivery to the immigration inspector portside the vessel at the port of arrival, and shall in no instance be taken from the vessel. The list of members of crew and immigrant passengers of crews Form I-420 shall not be furnished on board, but shall be delivered by the master to the principal immigration officer at the port. When an alternate seaman is a "workaway," a notation to that effect should be made on the manifest. In order to facilitate inspection of seamen employed on short runs, the master is requested to furnish a list of all seamen employed on board.

EXTRACT FROM ACT OF CONGRESS OF FEBRUARY 5, 1917, AS AMENDED

SEC. 36. That upon arrival of any vessel in the United States from any foreign port or place it shall be the duty of the owner, agent, consignee, or master thereof to deliver to the principal immigration officer in charge of the port of arrival a list or manifest of all aliens on board such vessel, whether destined to the United States or not, which list or manifest shall be prepared and verified in such form and manner as may be prescribed by the Commissioner General of Immigration, with the approval of the Secretary of Labor, and shall contain such information as shall be required by the said officer in charge of the port, touching the right of each alien to enter the United States, under the provisions of this Act or the immigration laws, rules, or regulations made in pursuance thereof, as may be ascertainable by the reasonable diligence of the master, owner, agent, consignee, or commanding officer of such vessel. Such list or manifest shall be subject to the inspection of any immigrant inspector or other officer in charge of the examination of aliens, and shall be deposited with the immigration officer at the port of arrival, or place constituting the first port of arrival in the United States of the vessel bringing such aliens to the United States. Any master, owner, agent, consignee, or commanding officer of any such vessel who refuses to deliver such list or manifest, or to permit any immigrant inspector to board such vessel for the purpose of inspecting the list or manifest, or who refuses to detain any alien on board when ordered so to do by the said officer, or who refuses to land any such alien from such vessel when ordered so to do by such officer, or who refuses to deliver to the proper immigration officer any such alien duly ordered so to be delivered, or who refuses to comply with the requirements of the immigration laws or the rules and regulations made pursuant thereto, shall be deemed guilty of a misdemeanor and shall be punished by a fine of not more than $1,000 or by imprisonment for not more than one year, or both, at the discretion of the court. Any master, owner, agent, consignee, or commanding officer of any such vessel who shall refuse to receive back any alien duly ordered to be returned to the country from which he came, or who shall refuse to pay the cost of such alien's detention, shall be deemed guilty of a misdemeanor and shall be punished by a fine of not more than $1,000 or by imprisonment for not more than one year, or both, at the discretion of the court. Any master, owner, agent, consignee, or commanding officer of any such vessel who shall refuse to pay any tax imposed by section 2 of this Act shall be deemed guilty of a misdemeanor and shall be punished by a fine of not more than $1,000 or by imprisonment for not more than one year, or both, at the discretion of the court. Any master, owner, agent, consignee, or commanding officer of any such vessel who shall refuse to pay any head tax imposed by section 34

IMPORTANT NOTICE TO MASTER

The list described below shall be prepared on blank forms approved by the Department and be ready for delivery to the immigration inspector boarding the vessel at the port of arrival and shall in no instance be taken from the vessel. The list of aliens will enable the immigration officer at the port of arrival to determine the number of aliens who are subject to the head tax. (Form I-94) shall not be furnished on board but shall be delivered by the master to the principal immigration officer at the port. A pen or ink writing machine is a "workmanlike" substitute to that effect should be used on the manifest. In order to facilitate inspection of aliens seeking admission to the United States, the master is required to have the list arranged in the following order:

Nationality, including race of citizens of the United States.
Last permanent residence (country and city, if known).
Intended future permanent residence (State and city, if known).
Port at which alien intends to land in the United States.
Final destination, if known, beyond the port of arrival.
Whether going to join a relative, and if so, what relative and his name and complete address.
Whether in possession of a ticket, and if so whether it is good to destination.
Whether in possession of money, and if so how much.
Whether ever before in the United States, and if so when and where.
Whether ever before refused admission to the United States, and if so when and where.
Whether ever before deported from the United States, and if so when and where.
Whether ever before in prison or almshouse, or supported by charitable institution, and if so what and where.
Whether a polygamist.
Whether an anarchist.
Whether coming pursuant to previous promise or agreement to perform labor in the United States, and if so what kind of labor.
Whether in possession of a round-trip ticket.
Whether coming by reason of any relative having sent for him, and if so what relative.
Whether coming by reason of any offer of employment, and if so what employment.
Whether a person who has been convicted of or admits having committed a felony or other crime or misdemeanor involving moral turpitude, and if so what crime.
Whether a person suffering from a loathsome or dangerous contagious disease, and if so what disease.
Whether a person who has been in prison or in a reformatory or in almshouse within one year immediately preceding the date of application for admission to the United States, and if so what institution.
Whether a person who has been within one year immediately preceding the date of application for admission to the United States an inmate of or connected with the management of a publicly supported asylum for the insane or publicly supported home for the feebleminded, epileptics, or persons who have been insane, and if so what institution.
Whether a person who has been within one year immediately preceding the date of application for admission to the United States an inmate of or connected with the management of a publicly supported institution for the support of persons who are unable to support themselves, and if so what institution.
Whether a person who has been within one year immediately preceding the date of application for admission to the United States an inmate of or connected with the management of a charitable institution or home, and if so what institution or home.
Whether a person who has been within one year immediately preceding the date of application for admission to the United States in receipt of charity, and if so what charity.
Whether a person who has been within one year immediately preceding the date of application for admission to the United States supported by a municipality, and if so what municipality.
Whether a person who has been within one year immediately preceding the date of application for admission to the United States supported by his friends or relatives, and if so what friends or relatives.
Whether a person who has been refused a visa within one year immediately preceding the date of application for admission to the United States, and if so when and where.
Whether a person who has been arrested and deported at any time, and if so when and where.
Whether a person who has been arrested and excluded and deported at any time, and if so when and where.
Whether a person who has been arrested and deported at any time at the expense of any person or organization assisting aliens to enter the United States, and if so when and where.
Whether a person who has been arrested and deported at any time at the expense of the master, and if so when and where.
Whether a person who has been arrested and deported at any time at the expense of the steamship company bringing him to the United States, and if so when and where.
Whether a person who has been arrested and deported at any time at the expense of the United States, and if so when and where.
Whether a person who has been arrested and deported at any time at the expense of any State or municipality, and if so when and where.
Whether a person who has been arrested and deported at any time at the expense of any charitable or benevolent society or organization, and if so when and where.
Whether a person who has been arrested and deported at any time at the expense of any relative, and if so when and where.
Whether a person who has been arrested and deported at any time at the expense of any steamship company other than the one bringing him to the United States, and if so when and where.
Whether a person who has been arrested and deported at any time at the expense of any person or organization assisting aliens to enter the United States, and if so when and where.
Whether a person who has been arrested and deported at any time at the expense of the master, and if so when and where.
Whether a person who has been arrested and deported at any time at the expense of the steamship company bringing him to the United States, and if so when and where.
Whether a person who has been arrested and deported at any time at the expense of the United States, and if so when and where.
Whether a person who has been arrested and deported at any time at the expense of any State or municipality, and if so when and where.
Whether a person who has been arrested and deported at any time at the expense of any charitable or benevolent society or organization, and if so when and where.
Whether a person who has been arrested and deported at any time at the expense of any relative, and if so when and where.
Whether a person who has been arrested and deported at any time at the expense of any steamship company other than the one bringing him to the United States, and if so when and where.

IMPORTANT NOTICE TO MASTER

The list described below shall be prepared on blank forms approved by the Department and be ready for delivery to the immigration inspector possessing the vessel at the port of arrival, and shall in no instance be taken from the vessel. The list or changes of this memoir or other approved form may be obtained from the Commissioner of Immigration, Washington, D. C., or from any immigrant station. When an alternate seaman is a "workaway," a notation to that effect should be made on the manifest. In order to facilitate inspection of crews (Form I-418) shall not be fastened on board, but shall be delivered by the master to the principal immigration officer at the port of arrival, and produced by him on demand. Any list of changes of alien members of crew shall be delivered by the master to the immigration officer in charge of the port of arrival; or if said corporation no longer has a representative there, then to the nearest immigration officer in the United States to which the alien seaman is a "workaway" assigned or a notation to that effect should be made on the manifest. In order to facilitate inspection of crews (Form I-418) shall not be fastened on board, but shall be delivered by the master to the principal immigration officer at the port of arrival, and produced by him on demand. SEC. 36. That upon arrival of any vessel in the United States from any foreign port or place it shall be the duty of the owner, agent, consignee, or master thereof to deliver to the principal immigration officer in charge of the port of arrival lists containing the names of all aliens employed on such vessel, showing the positions they respectively held in the ship's company, when and where they were respectively shipped or engaged, and specifying those to be paid off and discharged in the port of arrival; of alien members of the crew of such vessel who have been left behind on account of illness or injury, or for any other cause, at any foreign port or place from which such vessel sails, and of alien members of the crew who have deserted, all cases in which such alien has been granted, and the facts and circumstances in connection therewith; and before the departure of any such vessel it shall be the duty of such owner, agent, consignee, or master to deliver to such immigration officer, in writing, as many as may be discovered, all cases in which any such alien has illegally landed from the vessel, giving a description of such alien, together with any information likely to lead to his apprehension; and such owner, consignee, or master to report to such immigration officer, in writing, as soon as discovered, all cases in which any alien who was a member of the crew of such vessel has been permitted to land temporarily for any purpose, specifying the reason therefor, the length of time granted, and the name of the immigration officer by whom granted; and such owner, agent, consignee, or master shall also furnish such immigration officer with such other information in regard to the movements of such alien crew members as may be required by such officer. Any such owner, agent, consignee, or master who shall refuse or fail to comply with the requirements of this section shall be punished by a fine of not more than $1,000 for each such offense. Any such owner, agent, consignee, or master who shall refuse or fail to deliver to any such immigration officer any such list required by this section, or who shall refuse or fail to report, record, or deliver to such officer any information in writing in relation to the movements of any such alien crew members required by such officer, shall be punished by a fine of not more than $1,000 for each such offense. Any such owner, agent, consignee, or master who shall refuse or fail to report, record, or deliver to such officer any information in writing in relation to the movements of any such alien crew members required by such officer, shall be punished by a fine of not more than $1,000 for each such offense.

SEC. 15. No alien seaman excluded from admission into the United States under the immigration laws and employed on board any vessel arriving in the United States from any place outside thereof, shall be permitted to land in the United States, except temporarily for medical treatment, or because of illness, injury, or quarantine requirements, or for the ultimate deportation of such alien from the United States. (43 Stat. 164; 8 U. S. C. 188.)

SEC. 36. (a) The owner, charterer, agent, consignee, or master of any vessel arriving in the United States from any place outside the foreign contiguous territory of the United States, or any immigrant station established pursuant to section 25 of this Act, shall deliver to the immigration officer in charge at the port of arrival and inspection a manifest (which manifest shall include a personal physical examination by the medical examiner), or two lists of all the persons on board such vessel, other than the crew, in such form as may be prescribed by the Commissioner General of Immigration, with the approval of the Secretary of Labor, and such additional lists or copies thereof as may be required for use in the examination of aliens. Such lists shall be signed and sworn to before the immigration officer at the port of arrival by the master or commanding officer or the first or second officer of the vessel, and shall contain such particulars regarding each person on board, whether passenger or member of the crew, as may be required by the Commissioner General of Immigration, with the approval of the Secretary of Labor, and such other particulars regarding the history, character, and identity of any such person as may be required by any such immigration officer or the medical examiner. Any master, commanding officer, first or second officer, agent, owner, charterer, or consignee of any vessel who refuses to deliver such lists, or who refuses to answer truthfully to the best of his knowledge any question touching the particulars required as to any person on board, shall be guilty of a misdemeanor and shall be punished by a fine of not more than $1,000 for each such offense.

(b) Every alien seaman who shall not depart from the United States with the vessel on which he arrived in the United States or who shall not be employed on board such vessel within a period of ten days after notice from the immigration officer in charge that he is required for hospital treatment or for special inquiry, shall be deported as provided in sections 19 and 20 of this Act, and shall be entered on the manifest or list of passengers. When an alien seaman is a "workaway," a notation to that effect should be made on the manifest. In order to facilitate inspection of crews (Form I-418) shall not be fastened on board, but shall be delivered by the master to the principal immigration officer at the port of arrival, and produced by him on demand. Any list of changes of alien members of crew shall be delivered by the master to the immigration officer in charge of the port of arrival; or if said corporation no longer has a representative there, then to the nearest immigration officer in the United States to which the alien seaman is assigned or a notation to that effect should be made on the manifest. In order to facilitate inspection of crews (Form I-418) shall not be fastened on board, but shall be delivered by the master to the principal immigration officer at the port of arrival, and produced by him on demand. Any list of changes of alien members of crew shall be delivered by the master to the immigration officer in charge of the port of arrival; or if said corporation no longer has a representative there, then to the nearest immigration officer in the United States to which the alien seaman is assigned or a notation to that effect should be made on the manifest. In order to facilitate inspection of crews (Form I-418) shall not be fastened on board, but shall be delivered by the master to the principal immigration officer at the port of arrival, and produced by him on demand. Any list of changes of alien members of crew shall be delivered by the master to the immigration officer in charge of the port of arrival; or if said corporation no longer has a representative there, then to the nearest immigration officer in the United States to which the alien seaman is assigned or a notation to that effect should be made on the manifest.

(c) If the Attorney General finds that deportation of the alien seaman on the vessel on which he arrived, duly cause undue hardship to such seaman he may cause him to be deported on another vessel at the expense of the vessel on which he arrived, and such expenses shall not be treated as a deserter, shall be prima facie evidence of a failure to deport alien crewmen by the immigration officer to the Attorney General.

(d) Every alien seaman who did not depart upon the outbound manifest of the vessel on which he arrived in the United States from any place outside thereof, or that he was reported by the master of such vessel as a deserter, shall be prima facie evidence of a failure to deport alien crewmen by the immigration officer to the Attorney General.

(c) If the Attorney General finds that deportation of the alien seaman on the vessel on which he arrived, duly cause undue hardship to such seaman he may cause him to be deported on another vessel at the expense of the vessel on which he arrived, and such expenses shall not be treated as a deserter, shall be prima facie evidence of a failure to deport alien crewmen by the immigration officer to the Attorney General.

ALIEN SEAMEN

SEC. 13. No alien seaman excluded from admission into the United States under the immigration laws may be employed on board any vessel arriving in the United States from any foreign port or place, or any vessel bringing to the United States any alien seaman, or transport, or depart from the United States, except temporarily for medical treatment, or pursuant to such regulations as the Secretary of Labor may prescribe, unless such alien seaman has been duly admitted to the United States for permanent residence or has been granted a conditional permit to land temporarily in the United States, except upon the certificate of a medical officer of the United States Public Health Service that such alien seaman is not afflicted with any of the diseases or mental or physical defects which would be a ground for the exclusion of such alien seaman from the United States under the immigration laws. Any such alien seaman employed on board any vessel arriving in the United States from any place outside the United States, or any alien seaman who shall land in the United States from any vessel, may be required, pending the examination of such alien seaman by the medical officer of the immigration service, to furnish a bond in the sum of $500, with sufficient sureties, conditioned upon the production of such alien seaman for such examination before the expiration of the period for which he was granted permission to land, or upon the departure of such alien seaman on a vessel leaving the United States within the period for which he was granted permission to land, or upon the delivery of such alien seaman to the master, commander, or agent of a vessel upon which he was employed when entering the United States, for conveyance and delivery to a consular officer abroad for the purpose of being returned to the country whence he came, pursuant to the provisions of section 19 of this Act, or upon the departure of such alien seaman on a vessel other than that on which he arrived in the United States, or upon the delivery of such alien seaman to the master, commander, or agent of such vessel for conveyance and delivery to the consular officer at the port at which such vessel is scheduled to call before sailing from a port in the United States, or upon the departure of such alien seaman from the United States in any other manner, or upon his death, or upon his institution of legal proceedings for naturalization, or upon his procurement of a certificate of arrival and registry issued to him by the Secretary of Commerce, or upon his entry into the United States after a visit to a foreign country, or upon his change of status to that of a nonimmigrant under section 3 of the Immigration Act of 1924, or upon his readmission to the United States within four months after his return to a foreign country to which he belongs by birth, nationality, or residence, or to any country contiguous to the United States, or adjacent islands, or upon his transfer to the service of the United States Government, or upon his entry into the United States service, or upon his death, or upon the revocation of the bond by the Secretary of Labor. The penalty for failure to comply with the conditions of the bond shall be $300 for each seaman in respect of whom such failure occurs, upon such failure as the Attorney General may prescribe. The penalty for failure to deport any such alien seaman shall be $1,000 for each alien seaman in respect of whom such failure occurs. No vessel shall be cleared while the sum of the penalties to be incurred on account of such alien seaman is in excess of the amount of the bond, or while the master, commander, or agent of such vessel refuses to deport such alien seaman, or while any such alien seaman is on board, unless a sufficient bond with sureties approved by the collector of customs shall be given conditioned for the deportation of such alien seaman in the manner provided in this section. The Attorney General may, upon application in writing therefor, mitigate such penalty to not less than $300 in the case of each alien seaman in respect of whom such failure occurs, upon such terms as the Attorney General in his discretion shall think proper.

This section, as amended, shall apply to all bonds or penalties which may be incurred under the provisions of the vessel on which the alien seaman arrived in the United States from any place outside thereof, or that he was temporarily by the master of any vessel as a deserter, shall be prima facie evidence of a failure to deport after reimbursement by the immigration officer or the Attorney General.

(b) Proof that an alien seaman did not appear upon the outbound manifest of the vessel on which he arrived in the United States to depart or to have departed from the United States shall be prima facie evidence of a failure to deport after reimbursement by the master of any vessel as a deserter, shall be prima facie evidence of a failure to deport or to have departed from the United States, and such alien seaman shall be deemed to have been employed on board a vessel arriving in the United States from a place outside thereof, or that he was temporarily by the master of any vessel as a deserter, shall be prima facie evidence of a failure to deport after reimbursement by the immigration officer or the Attorney General.

(c) If the Attorney General finds that the immigration officer or the Attorney General in the discretion shall think proper.

(d) This section, as amended, shall apply to all bonafide alien seamen entering subsequent to June 2, 1924.

SEC. 150.15. Liens of alien employees: when clearance of vessel denied. Clearance shall not be granted upon request of master, commander, or agent of any vessel until the lien required by section 35 of the Immigration Act of 1917 (39 Stat. 889; 8 U. S. C. 171), upon wages of alien seamen employed thereon, has been satisfied, or the master, commander, or agent has deposited with the collector of customs a sum sufficient to cover such wages, or has obtained the written consent of such alien seamen to the departure of the vessel without the payment of such wages, or has given a bond with sufficient sureties to the collector of customs conditioned upon the payment of such wages within four months after the vessel leaves the port. If required by the Attorney General, he shall deposit with the collector of customs of the customs district in which the port is located the sum of $10 for each alien concerning whom correct lists are not delivered to a fully report is not made as above required; but no such vessel shall be granted clearance pending the determination of the question of the liability to the payment of such sum, and, in the event such sum is imposed, while it remains unpaid; nor shall such sum be remitted or refunded: Provided, That clearance may be granted prior to the determination of such question upon deposit of a sum sufficient to cover such sum. ALIien SEAMEN

SEC. 19. No alien seaman excluded from admission into the United States under the immigration laws and employed on board any vessel arriving in the United States from any place outside the United States (except for medical treatment, or treatment in such hospitals as the Attorney General may prescribe for the aliments detailed, removal, or deportation of such alien from the United States. (43 Stat. 164; 8 U. S. C. 166.)

SEC. 30. (a) The owner, charterer, agent, consignee, or master of any vessel arriving in the United States from any place outside the United States shall pay to the collector of customs a tax of $8 for each alien seaman employed on such vessel entering the port, except for medical treatment, or treatment in such hospitals as the Attorney General may prescribe for the aliments detailed, removal, or deportation of such alien from the United States. (43 Stat. 164; 8 U. S. C. 166.)

Attorney General to do so, shall pay to the collector of customs of the customs district in which the port of arrival is located the sum of $1,000 for each alien seaman in respect of whom such failure occurs. No vessel shall be granted clearance pending the determination of the liability to payment of such tax, or while the tax remains unpaid, except that clearance may be granted prior to the determination upon the deposit of a sum sufficient to cover such tax, or of a bond with sufficient surety to secure the payment thereof, approved by the collector of customs. The Attorney General may, upon application in writing therefor, mitigate such penalty to not less than $300 for each seaman in respect of whom such failure occurs, when such failure is the fault of the master, and when he shall establish to the satisfaction of the Attorney General in the discretion shall retain proof. The section, as amended, shall apply to all boarding alien inspectors of the vessel on which he arrived in the United States from any place outside thereof, or that he was reported by the master of such vessel as a deserter, shall be prima facie evidence of a failure to deliver to the proper alien immigration officer at the port of arrival the certificate required by the Secretary of Labor to be delivered to such seaman.

(b) Proof that an alien seaman did not appear upon the outbound manifest of the vessel on which he arrived in the United States shall be prima facie evidence of a failure to deliver to the proper alien immigration officer at the port of departure the certificate required by the Secretary of Labor to be delivered to such seaman.

(c) If the Attorney General finds that deportation of the alien seaman on the vessel on which he arrived would cause undue hardship to such seaman by reason of the treatment to be meted out to him in the country to which he would be deported, he may cause him to be deported on another vessel at the expense of the vessel on which he arrived, and such vessel shall not be granted clearance until such expense has been paid or its payment guaranteed to the satisfaction of the Attorney General. (43 Stat. 164–165, as amended; 8 U. S. C. 191 (a), 191 (c).)

SEC. 36. That aliens arriving at any seaport in the United States from any foreign port or place it shall be the duty of the owner, agent, consignee, or master thereof to deliver to the immigrant inspector at the port of arrival lists or manifests correctly containing the names of all aliens, their ages, sex, and the place of birth, who may be brought as passengers on such vessel, whether the destination of such aliens be the port of arrival or a port in the interior, and whether they be destined to the United States or pass in transit through the United States to some foreign country, which lists or manifests shall be delivered to the immigrant inspector at the time of the arrival of such vessel at the port of arrival and before the commencement of the debarkation of any passengers. The said lists or manifests shall be prepared by the line, master, agent, consignee, or owner of each vessel transporting such aliens in accordance with the directions of the Commissioner General of Immigration and the Secretary of Labor, and the said lists or manifests shall contain such additional information relative to such aliens as may be required by the Commissioner General of Immigration, which information shall be produced at the discretion of the immigrant inspector boarding the vessel at the port of arrival, or at such other time or place as the Commissioner General of Immigration or the Secretary of Labor may direct. Any master, agent, consignee, or owner of any vessel who refuses or neglects to deliver such lists or manifests, or who refuses or neglects to answer truthfully and completely all questions propounded to him touching the persons carried on board such vessel, or who refuses or neglects to detain on board such vessel, pending the inspection of such vessel by the immigrant inspector, all aliens who may be required to be detained for special inquiry under the provisions of this Act, or who refuses or neglects to deliver to such immigrant inspector any such alien who may be ordered to be taken before a special inquiry officer, or who refuses or neglects to detain on board or at the place of landing designated by the immigrant inspector pending the inspection of such vessel, or who refuses or neglects to detain such alien on board or at such place of landing pending the decision of the special inquiry officer as to whether such alien may land in the United States, or who refuses or neglects to deliver to such immigrant inspector any such alien who may be ordered to be taken before the Secretary of Labor for examination in pursuance of the provisions of this Act, or who refuses or neglects to detain such alien on board or at such place of landing pending the action of the Secretary of Labor in the case of such alien, or who refuses or neglects to deliver to such immigrant inspector any such alien who may be ordered to be deported, shall be deemed guilty of a misdemeanor and shall be punished by a fine of not more than $1,000 for each alien in respect of whom any such default occurs, or by imprisonment for a term of not more than one year, or by both such fine and imprisonment, in the discretion of the court: Provided, That the penalty of imprisonment shall not be imposed in the case of the master of a vessel who has complied with the provisions of this Act relative to the delivery of lists or manifests of aliens and who has no knowledge or reason to believe that the persons therein listed as aliens are not entitled to enter the United States, and who has satisfied the immigrant inspector that he could not have acquired such knowledge or reason to believe by the exercise of due diligence: And provided further, That the penalty of imprisonment shall not be imposed in the case of the master of a vessel who has complied with the provisions of this Act relative to the delivery of lists or manifests of aliens

The list described below shall be prepared on plain forms approved by the Department and be ready for delivery to the immigrant inspector boarding the vessel on the port of arrival, and shall be in addition to the manifest of passengers [Form 1 (SS)] which shall not be delivered on board, but shall be delivered by the master to the principal immigration officer at the port. When an alternate examination is a "workaway," a notation to that effect should be made on the manifest. In order to facilitate inspection of alien seamen, include names of alternate American citizen seamen as well as aliens.

SEC. 36. That alien arrival of any vessel in the United States from any foreign port or place it shall be the duty of the owner, agent, consignee, or master thereof to deliver to the principal immigration officer at the port of arrival lists containing the names of all aliens employed on such vessel, showing the position in which each alien is employed, the last permanent foreign address of each alien, and such other information relative thereto as may be required by the Commissioner General of Immigration, and shall produce such aliens for examination, and for the purpose of identifying the aliens named in such lists. Such lists shall be prepared in quadruplicate, and the original and duplicate delivered to the immigrant inspector at the port of arrival, and the triplicate and quadruplicate delivered to the collector of customs of the customs district in which the port of arrival is located. The quadruplicate shall be returned by the collector of customs to the master of the vessel with his clearance certificate. Any master, owner, agent, consignee, or charterer who refuses or fails to deliver such lists, or refuses or fails to produce for examination or to detain on board any alien seaman employed on such vessel during the immigration officer's detention thereof, or who refuses or fails to detain such alien seaman on board after notice that such alien seaman has been ordered to be detained on board by the medical officer of the port, or who refuses or fails to deliver to the immigration officer at the port of arrival any such alien seaman who has been ordered by such immigration officer to be so delivered, or who refuses or fails to detain on board any alien seaman (during inspection in all cases) including a personal physical examination by the medical examiner), or who fails to deliver such seaman on board after such inspection or to deport such alien seaman if required by such immigration officer or the board of special inquiry (general to do so), shall pay to the collector of customs of the customs district in which the port of arrival is located the sum of $500 for each alien seaman in respect of whom such failure occurs. No vessel shall be cleared while any penalty imposed by this section remains unpaid, except that clearance may be granted prior to the determination of the question upon the deposit of a sum sufficient to cover such fine, or of a bond with sufficient surety to secure the payment thereof, approved by the collector of customs. The Attorney General may, upon application in writing therefor, mitigate such penalty in such amount as he may deem just. (As amended, shall apply to all penalties which shall have accrued at the time as the Attorney General in his discretion shall think proper.

(b) That all an alien seaman did not appear upon the conference immigrant of the vessel on which he arrived in the United States or an officer authorized by the immigration officer at the port of arrival, and such person shall not be granted clearance until such expense has been paid or its payment guaranteed to the satisfaction of the Attorney General. 104-102, 54 Stat. 810; 8 U. ALIEN SEAMEN

SEC. 13. No alien seaman excluded from admission into the United States under the immigration laws but employed on board any vessel arriving in the United States from any place outside thereof, shall be permitted to land in the United States, except temporarily to the extent necessary for medical treatment, or because of any regulations as the Attorney General may prescribe for the allowable departure, removal, or deportation of such alien from the United States. (43 Stat. 164, 8 U. S. C. 169.)

SEC. 30. (a) The owner, charterer, agent, consignee, or master of any vessel bringing in the United States from any place outside thereof any alien who fails to depart on board the vessel upon which he arrives, or on any other vessel duly inspected by the immigration officer in charge at the port of arrival and upon the payment of the head tax, if any, shall be required to pay to the collector of customs of the district in which the port is located a sum not to exceed $1,000 for each alien so arriving, as the Attorney General may direct. No vessel shall be granted clearance pending the determination of the liability to payment of such fine or until the fine is paid or a bond fully sufficient to secure the payment thereof approved by the collector of customs. The Attorney General may, upon application in writing therefor, mitigate such penalty to not less than $300 for each seaman in respect of whom such failure occurs, upon such terms as the Attorney General in his discretion shall think proper. The section, as amended, shall apply to all penalties which accrue on or after the effective date of this Act.

(b) Proof that an alien seaman did not depart upon the outbound manifest of the vessel on which he arrived in the United States from any place outside thereof, or that he was temporarily in the United States under the provisions of section 13 hereof, shall be prima facie evidence of a failure to obtain at depot after readmittance by the immigration officer or the Attorney General.

(c) If the Attorney General finds that any deportation of an alien seaman on the vessel on which he arrived will cause undue hardship to such seaman he may cause him to be deported on another vessel at the expense of the vessel on which he arrived, but no such expense shall be assessed against the vessel in excess of the cost of the return passage to the port of arrival. Any fine or penalty imposed by this section shall be remitted or refunded to the master, agent, consignee, or owner of the vessel upon the certificate of the Attorney General that the seaman has been deported in accordance with the provisions of this section. (43 Stat. 164–165, 28 Stat. 810; 8 U. S. C. 181 (a), 181 (c).)

ALIEN SEAMEN

SEC. 19. No alien seaman excluded from admission into the United States under the immigration laws and employed on board any vessel entering in the United States from any place outside thereof, shall be permitted to land in the United States, except temporarily for medical treatment, or because of any regulations as the Attorney General may prescribe for the alternate deportation of such alien from the United States. (43 Stat. 164; 8 U. S. C. 166.)

SEC. 20. (a) The owner, charterer, agent, consignee, or master of any vessel entering in the United States from any place outside thereof who fails to deposit on board such vessel the immigration officer in charge at the port of arrival and inspection, or to deport such seaman (which inspection it all cases shall include a personal physical examination by the medical examiner), to pay a tax of $8 for each such seaman so deported. (b) Proof that an alien seaman entered the United States from any place outside thereof, shall be presumptive evidence that such alien seaman was landed in the United States, except temporarily for medical treatment, or because of any regulations as the Attorney General may prescribe for the alternate deportation of such alien from the United States. (43 Stat. 164; 8 U. S. C. 166.)

SEC. 21. (a) Every alien seaman who has been lawfully admitted to the United States under the immigration laws and employed on board any vessel arriving in the United States from any place outside thereof, who fails to depart on board such vessel, or to deport such seaman by some other vessel, or to obtain from the Attorney General a permit to remain in the United States for a period specified in such permit, or who remains in the United States after the revocation of such permit, shall pay a tax of $8 for each such seaman so deported. (b) Every alien seaman who has been lawfully admitted to the United States under the immigration laws and employed on board any vessel arriving in the United States from any place outside thereof, who fails to depart on board such vessel, or to deport such seaman by some other vessel within the period for which he was admitted, or who remains in the United States after the revocation of such permit, shall pay a tax of $8 for each such seaman so deported. (c) Every alien seaman who has been lawfully admitted to the United States under the immigration laws and employed on board any vessel arriving in the United States from any place outside thereof, who fails to depart on board such vessel, or to deport such seaman by some other vessel within the period for which he was admitted, or who remains in the United States after the revocation of such permit, shall pay a tax of $8 for each such seaman so deported. (d) Proof that an alien seaman did not depart from the United States on board the vessel on which he arrived in the United States or on board any other vessel which departed from the United States within the period for which he was admitted, or after the revocation of such permit, shall be presumptive evidence that such alien seaman has remained in the United States in violation of law. (e) If the Attorney General finds that deportation of any alien seaman on the vessel on which he arrived would cause undue hardship to such seaman he may cause such seaman to be deported on another vessel at the expense of the vessel on which he arrived, but such expense shall not be charged against the vessel in an amount exceeding $300 for each seaman in respect of whom such failure occurs. No vessel shall be granted clearance pending the determination of the question of the liability to pay any tax imposed by this section, or while any such tax remains unpaid, except that clearance may be granted prior to the determination upon the deposit of a bond or undertaking approved by the collector of customs. The Attorney General may, upon application in writing therefor, withdraw such deposit if sufficient other security is given to secure the payment of such tax or any portion thereof which may be determined to be due. (43 Stat. 164; 8 U. S. C. 167.)

SEC. 22. (a) Every alien seaman who has been lawfully admitted to the United States under the immigration laws and employed on board any vessel arriving in the United States from any place outside thereof, shall be deported on the vessel on which he arrived in the United States or on board any other vessel which departed from the United States within the period for which he was admitted, or after the revocation of such permit, to the country to which such seaman belongs, unless the Attorney General grants such seaman permission to land in the United States, except temporarily for medical treatment, or because of any regulations as the Attorney General may prescribe for the alternate deportation of such alien from the United States. (43 Stat. 164; 8 U. S. C. 168.)

(b) Proof that an alien seaman did not depart from the United States on board the vessel on which he arrived in the United States or on board any other vessel which departed from the United States within the period for which he was admitted, or after the revocation of such permit, shall be presumptive evidence that such alien seaman has remained in the United States in violation of law. (c) If the Attorney General finds that deportation of any alien seaman on the vessel on which he arrived would cause undue hardship to such seaman he may cause such seaman to be deported on another vessel at the expense of the vessel on which he arrived, but such expense shall not be charged against the vessel in an amount exceeding $300 for each seaman in respect of whom such failure occurs. No vessel shall be granted clearance pending the determination of the question of the liability to pay any tax imposed by this section, or while any such tax remains unpaid, except that clearance may be granted prior to the determination upon the deposit of a bond or undertaking approved by the collector of customs. The Attorney General may, upon application in writing therefor, withdraw such deposit if sufficient other security is given to secure the payment of such tax or any portion thereof which may be determined to be due. IMPORTANT NOTICE TO MASTER

The list described below shall be prepared on blank forms approved by the Department and be ready for delivery to the immigration inspector boarding the vessel at the port of arrival. and shall in no instance be taken either aboard the vessel or from the vessel. The list of aliens or alien members of the crew (Form I-418) shall not be destroyed or mutilated, but shall be delivered by the master to the principal immigration officer at the port. When no alien seaman is a "stowaway," a notation to that effect should be made on the manifest. In order to facilitate inspection of alien members of the crew, the master should cause them to be mustered on deck and their names checked with the list of crewmen before the vessel arrives within the territorial waters of the United States. Any alien seaman who is found to be concealed on board after the vessel has arrived within the territorial waters of the United States will be deemed to have entered the United States unlawfully and will be subject to deportation proceedings.

SEC. 36. That from entrance of any vessel in the United States from any foreign port or place it shall be the duty of the master, owner, consignee, or agent thereof to deliver to the immigrant inspector in charge of the port of arrival lists containing the names of all aliens employed on such vessel, stating the business they respectively profess, the nationality, last residence, and destination of each alien who has been granted a visa by a consular officer, and the intended length of stay in the United States of each alien who is a nonimmigrant entitled to enter under subdivision (b) of section 3 of this Act, and such additional information relative to such aliens as may be required by the Commissioner General of Immigration, which lists shall be verified by the oath of the master or agent of the vessel, and such other lists or manifests of such aliens or other persons on board such vessel as may be required by law. Such lists or manifests shall be delivered to the immigrant inspector at the time of the vessel's entry, and in case of the failure of such master, agent, consignee, or owner to deliver such lists or manifests he shall pay to the collector of customs of the district in which the port of arrival is located the sum of $10 for each alien concerning whom such master, agent, consignee, or owner fails to deliver such list or manifest, and no such vessel shall be granted clearance papers until said sum is paid or secured to be paid to the satisfaction of the collector or other customs officer authorized to grant clearance papers, but the Secretary of the Treasury may, upon application in writing, remit any fine incurred or any part thereof when in his judgment the same was incurred without intention to violate the provisions of this section. (43 Stat. 164; 8 U. S. C. 136.)

SEC. 30. (a) The owner, charterer, agent, consignee, or master of any vessel arriving in the United States from any place outside thereof (except any alien seaman employed on such vessel while the immigration officer in charge at the port of arrival has knowledge of such seaman) shall pay to the collector of customs of the customs district in which the port of arrival is located the sum of $1,000 for each alien seaman in respect of whom such failure occurs. No vessel shall be granted clearance pending the determination of the liability to payment of such fund or while any fine, or any part thereof, incurred prior to the determination remains unpaid, except that clearance may be granted prior to the determination upon the deposit of a sum sufficient to cover such fine, or of a bond with sufficient surety to secure the payment thereof. This section as amended shall apply to all vessels whose inspection or to whose crews additional provisions of law relating to the inspection of aliens shall not be applicable, except that the Attorney General may, upon application in writing therefor, waive such provisions in the case of any vessel which regularly and frequently visits ports of the United States and which employs substantially all of its crew from nationals of countries adjacent to the United States.

(b) Fines and penalties provided for in this section shall not be imposed when the immigration officer in charge at the port of arrival is satisfied that the master, owner, agent, consignee, or charterer of the vessel could not have known of the illegal landing or attempted landing of the alien seaman, and that such fines and penalties shall not be imposed when the master, owner, agent, consignee, or charterer of the vessel has complied with such rules and regulations governing the detention on board of alien seamen as may be prescribed by the Commissioner General of Immigration with the approval of the Secretary of Labor.

(c) If the Attorney General finds that deportation of the alien seaman on the vessel on which he arrived to such seaman's native country is impracticable or unreasonable, or that such seaman is a desirable addition to the permanent population of the United States, he may, in his discretion, permit such seaman to remain in the United States for such time and under such conditions as he may prescribe. Such seaman may be required to furnish a bond in such sum and with such security as may be prescribed by the Commissioner General of Immigration, conditioned upon the departure of such seaman from the United States when and as required by the Commissioner General of Immigration or such other immigration officer as may be designated by him. Such bond shall not be required in any case in which the Attorney General has waived the deportation of such seaman. (43 Stat. 164–165; 8 U. S. C. 101 (a), 101 (c).)

SEC. 36. That upon arrival of any vessel in the United States from any foreign port or place it shall be the duty of the owner, agent, consignee, or master thereof to deliver to the principal immigration officer in charge of the port of arrival and cause to be detained on board or at such other place as may be designated by such officer all aliens employed on such vessel, examine the positions they respectively hold in the ship's complement, note any wounds or marks of violence on their bodies, and cause all such aliens to be duly registered in the manner required by the rules and regulations prescribed by the Commissioner General of Immigration and approved by the Secretary of Labor, and shall furnish to the said immigration officer at the time of such inspection a complete list of all aliens employed on such vessel, containing the name, age, sex, nationality, last permanent residence, calling or occupation, final destination, whether going in transit through the United States to another country, and whether in possession of a ticket through, and the name and address of the person by whom such ticket was purchased, and the amount paid therefor, as far as the same can be ascertained from the master, owner, agent, consignee, or other person in charge of such vessel, which list shall be sworn to before the said immigration officer by the master of such vessel, if able, and by the first officer, boatswain, or other member of the crew able to speak and write the English language, designated by the master for that purpose, in case of the inability of the master to appear, and shall be subscribed by the master and by the officer administering the oath. Any master, owner, agent, consignee, or charterer of any such vessel who refuses to deliver such list, or who knowingly delivers a false list, or who refuses to detain on board or at such other place as may be designated by such immigration officer any alien employed on such vessel, or who refuses to deliver any such alien to the custody of such immigration officer, or who refuses to pay the cost of the maintenance and subsistence of such alien while detained by such immigration officer, or who refuses to pay any fine imposed upon him for violation of any of the provisions of this section, shall be guilty of a misdemeanor and shall be punished by a fine not exceeding $1,000 for each alien concerning whom any such violation occurs, or by imprisonment for not more than one year, or by both such fine and imprisonment, in the discretion of the court. Any such master, owner, agent, consignee, or charterer may be arrested either before or after the departure of the vessel from the port, and may be prosecuted in the district in which he is found or into which the vessel arrives or from which she departs, and jurisdiction is hereby conferred upon the district courts to try such offenses, and the district courts shall have power, upon the application of the United States attorney, to issue writs of injunction to restrain the violation of any of the provisions of this section, and to compel compliance therewith by the issuance of writs of mandamus or other appropriate process. Clearance shall not be granted to any vessel until the immigration officer in charge at the port of departure has certified that the provisions of this section have been complied with. Nothing in this section shall be construed to require, or authorize the requirement of, a passport visa as a condition precedent to the admission of any alien to the United States.

SEC. 37. (a) The owner, charterer, agent, consignee, or master of any vessel arriving in the United States from any place outside the Canal Zone shall be responsible for the prompt removal of all aliens employed on board such vessel until the immigration officer in charge at the port of arrival has inspected such seamen (which inspection in all cases shall include a personal physical examination by the medical examiner), or has caused a like inspection to be made on board after such inspection or to depot such seamen if required by such immigration officer or the Attorney General so to do, and has paid to the collector of customs of the customs district in which the port of arrival is located the sum of $1,000 for each alien seaman in respect of whom such failure occurs. No vessel shall be granted clearance pending the determination of the liability to payment of such sum, or while the sum remains unpaid, except that clearance may be granted prior to the determination upon the deposit of such sum, or a bond with sufficient surety to secure the payment thereof, approved by the collector of customs. The Attorney General may, upon application in writing therefor, mitigate such penalty to not less than $300 for each seaman in respect of whom such failure occurs, upon such terms as the Attorney General in his discretion shall think proper. This section, as amended, shall apply to all territories wholly independent of June 2, 1940.

(b) Every alien seaman who does not depart from the United States with the vessel on which he arrived in the United States or from any place outside thereof, or shall beware reported by the master of such vessel as a deserter, shall be prima facie evidence to a special inquiry officer that such alien seaman has remained in the United States for the purpose of abiding therein in violation of the immigration laws.

(c) If the Attorney General finds that deportation of the alien seamen on the vessel on which he arrived in the United States would cause undue hardship to such seamen by reason of new cause not known to the master at the time of arrival of such vessel, or that the cost of maintenance and subsistence of such seamen pending deportation will not be ascertained within the time prescribed by law, he may authorize the master to deposit with the Attorney General such sum as he may deem sufficient to cover such cost, and such seamen shall be deported as expeditiously as possible. Any such deposit not so ascertained shall be returned to the master.

IMPORTANT NOTICE TO MASTER

The list described below shall be prepared on blank forms approved by the Department and be ready for delivery to the immigration inspector at the port of arrival, and shall in no instance be taken from the vessel. The list or manifest of alien passengers required to be delivered by the master to the immigration officer at the port of arrival (Form I-418) shall not be furnished on board, but shall be delivered by the master to the principal immigration officer at the port. When an arriving alien is a "non-immigrant" a duplicate to that officer should be made on the manifest. In order to facilitate inspection of aliens seeking, during the period of their temporary admission, to change their status to that of a nonimmigrant, a duplicate of the list or manifest of such aliens should be furnished to the Commissioner, Washington, D. C.

ALIEN SEAMEN

SEC. 13. No alien seaman excluded from admission into the United States under the immigration laws and employed on board any vessel arriving in the United States from any place outside thereof, shall be permitted to land in the United States, except temporarily for medical treatment, or because of an emergency rendering his detention on board dangerous to the welfare of the vessel, or for the purpose of obtaining treatment for the relief of sickness or injury contracted after the vessel's arrival in the United States, or for the purpose of obtaining surgical treatment which cannot be obtained on board, or because of the inability of the master of the vessel to provide for the proper maintenance of such alien seaman, or because of the refusal of such alien seaman to proceed on the vessel on which he arrived in the United States or to another vessel sailing to the same port or ports in the United States or to a port in the country to which such alien seaman belongs, or to a port in the country in which he had his last domicile, or to a port in a country contiguous to the United States, except upon the certificate of a medical officer of the United States Public Health Service that such alien seaman is suffering from a communicable disease of a dangerous character or is otherwise unfit to proceed to sea, and then only for the period necessary for the treatment of such disease or unfitness, unless the master or agent of the vessel on which such alien seaman arrived shall have given a bond in the penal sum of $300 for each such alien seaman, conditioned upon the departure of such alien seaman on a vessel departing from a port of the United States for a port in the country to which such alien seaman belongs, or for a port in the country in which he had his last domicile, or for a port in a country contiguous to the United States, within four months after the date of the certificate of the medical officer, or upon the deposit of such sum of money with the Secretary of Labor as the master or agent of the vessel on which such alien seaman arrived may elect in lieu of such bond, which sum shall be held to insure the departure of such alien seaman and shall be returned to the master or agent of the vessel upon the certificate of such medical officer that such alien seaman has departed from the United States, or upon the certificate of the consular officer of the country to which such alien seaman belongs that such alien seaman has been received in such country, or upon the certificate of the master or agent of the vessel that such alien seaman has been returned to the port from which he was brought, or upon the certificate of the Secretary of Labor that such alien seaman has been otherwise properly provided for. The Secretary of Labor may, in his discretion, extend the time within which such sum of money shall be held by the Government for the purposes of this section. (43 Stat. 164, 8 U. S. C. 166.)

SEC. 30. (a) The owner, charterer, agent, consignee, or master of any vessel arriving in the United States from a place outside thereof, except Canada, Mexico, Cuba, Newfoundland, the Panama Canal Zone, or the islands adjacent thereto in which such vessel is regularly employed and which has been granted a permanent certificate of entry, shall pay to the collector of customs of the customs district in which the port of entry is located at the time of arrival a tax of $8 for each alien seaman (which term shall include a steward, barber, cook, or other person employed on board such vessel) who is not in possession of a valid immigration visa and who is not a citizen of the United States, Canada, Mexico, Cuba, Newfoundland, the Panama Canal Zone, or the islands adjacent thereto in which such vessel is regularly employed and which has been granted a permanent certificate of entry, and who is not in possession of a valid immigration visa and who is not entitled to admission under section 3 of the immigration Act of 1924 or to land temporarily under section 13 of said Act. (43 Stat. 164, 8 U. S. C. 166.)

(b) The Secretary of Labor may, in his discretion, refund the tax paid under subdivision (a) of this section in the case of any alien seaman who is found by the Secretary of Labor to have been refused a visa by the consular officer of the country to which such alien seaman belongs, or to have been refused admission to Canada, Mexico, Cuba, Newfoundland, the Panama Canal Zone, or the islands adjacent thereto in which such vessel is regularly employed and which has been granted a permanent certificate of entry, or to have been refused admission to the United States at the port of arrival, and who is found by the Secretary of Labor to have been returned to the port from which he was brought, or to the country to which such alien seaman belongs, or to the country in which he had his last domicile, or to a port in a country contiguous to the United States, within four months after the date of the certificate of the medical officer, or upon the deposit of such sum of money with the Secretary of Labor as the master or agent of the vessel on which such alien seaman arrived may elect in lieu of such bond, which sum shall be held to insure the departure of such alien seaman and shall be returned to the master or agent of the vessel upon the certificate of such medical officer that such alien seaman has departed from the United States, or upon the certificate of the consular officer of the country to which such alien seaman belongs that such alien seaman has been received in such country, or upon the certificate of the master or agent of the vessel that such alien seaman has been returned to the port from which he was brought, or upon the certificate of the Secretary of Labor that such alien seaman has been otherwise properly provided for. The Secretary of Labor may, in his discretion, extend the time within which such sum of money shall be held by the Government for the purposes of this section. (43 Stat. 164, 8 U. S. C. 167.)

(c) If the Secretary of Labor shall find that any vessel has been granted a permanent certificate of entry by the Secretary of Commerce, or the master or agent of any such vessel has been granted a bond by the Secretary of Labor, and that such vessel has failed to comply with the requirements of this section, the Secretary of Labor may withdraw such permanent certificate of entry or cancel such bond, and such vessel shall thereafter be required to comply with the provisions of this section relating to vessels not having permanent certificates of entry. (43 Stat. 164, 8 U. S. C. 167 (a), 167 (c).)

SEC. 150.12. Duty of alien employees; when clearance is issued denied. Clearance shall not be granted to any vessel until the master, owner, agent, consignee, or charterer of such vessel has complied with the provisions of section 36 of the Immigration Act of 1917 (39 Stat. 888; 8 U. S. C. 171), as modified by section 38 of said Act (39 Stat. 888; 8 U. S. C. 168) and has paid the tax prescribed by section 18 of said Act, and has notified the collector of customs of the customs district in which the port of entry is located of the number of aliens employed on board such vessel, the amount of tax paid, and the names of such aliens. Clearance shall not be granted to any vessel which has aliens employed on board thereof who have not been inspected by the immigrant inspector at the port of entry, and clearance may be withheld from any vessel which has aliens employed on board thereof who have not been inspected by the immigrant inspector at the port of departure, when such aliens are required to be inspected by the immigrant inspector at the port of departure. (See 39 Stat. 888–889; 8 U. S. C. 171.)

IMPORTANT NOTICE TO MASTER

The list described below will be prepared on blank forms approved by the Department and be ready for delivery to the immigration inspectors promptly upon the vessel in the port of arrival, and shall in no instance be taken from the vessel. The list of charges of alien members of the crew (Form I–418) shall not be required to be delivered by the master to the principal immigration officer at the port. When an alternate manifest is authorized, a duplicate will be delivered by the master to the immigration officer at the port. In order to facilitate inspection as the Attorney General shall by regulation prescribe: but failure to deliver such information likely to lead to the apprehension: but before the departure of any alien member of the crew, master, commander, or master to deliver to such immigration officer a further list containing the names of all alien employees who were not employed thereon at the time of the list leave port thereon as the case may be, and also the names of those, if any, who have been hired or discharged, and of those, if any, who have deserted or landed; and in case of the failure of such owner, agent, commander, or master so to deliver lists of the alien members, or master shall, if required by the Attorney General, pay to the collector of customs of the customs district in which the port of arrival is located the sum of $10 for each alien concerning whom correct information shall not have been furnished, and no vessel shall be granted clearance pending the determination of the question of the liability to the payment of such fine, and, in the event such fine is imposed, suits to remit shall be permitted or refunded: Provided, That clearance may be granted prior to the determination of such question upon deposit of a sum sufficient to cover such fine. (39 Stat. 888–891; 8 U. S. C. 171.)

SEC. 150.15. Lists of alien employees; when clearance of vessel denied. Clearance shall not be granted the master of any vessel until the lists required by section 36 of the Immigration Act of 1917 (39 Stat. 888; 8 U. S. C. 171), have been furnished, and not then unless copies of lists identical with those prescribed by said section or to that prescribed by section 28 of said Act (39 Stat. 886; 8 U. S. C. 163).

Applications for the administrative fine prescribed by said section or to that prescribed by section 28 of said Act (39 Stat. 886; 8 U. S. C. 163) should be executed on Form I–420, "Application for Remission or Mitigation of Fine, Penalty or Forfeiture," and forwarded to the Commissioner of Immigration and Naturalization, Washington, D. C., for consideration. Such applications should be executed only after the alien has been finally removed, the deposit specified in 8 CFR 150.15–150.17, has been made, and the alien has been given a hearing on the application. Applications should be executed only after the alien has been finally removed, the deposit specified in 8 CFR 150.15–150.17, has been made, and the alien has been given a hearing on the application.

ALIEN SEAMEN

SEC. 13. (a) No alien seaman excluded from admission into the United States under the immigration laws and employed on board any vessel arriving in the United States from any place outside thereof, shall be permitted to land in the United States, except temporarily for medical treatment, or because of shipwreck or other casualty or necessity, or for the purpose of obtaining other seamen to replace him, or because the master or purser of the vessel has been arrested in the United States in connection with the performance of his duties while the vessel was in port, or because the master or purser of the vessel is required to be present at the port of arrival for the clearance of the vessel, or because the master or purser of the vessel has been ordered by the Attorney General to do so, and then only for the period of time required by the purpose of the landing. Any alien seaman who shall land in the United States in violation of this section, or who shall fail to depart on the vessel on which he arrived in the United States or on some other vessel leaving the port at or about the time of the departure of such vessel, unless prevented by illness or other cause beyond his control, shall be deported in the manner provided by section 19 of the Immigration Act of 1917 (39 Stat. 889; 8 U. S. C. 155).

(b) Any alien seaman who shall not depart from the United States with the vessel on which he arrived in the United States or on some other vessel leaving the port at or about the time of the departure of such vessel as a member of the crew, shall be prima facie evidence of a failure to depart within the time required by the immigration officer or the Attorney General.

(c) If the Attorney General finds that any alien seaman on the vessel on which he arrived has violated any of the provisions of this section, or that any such alien seaman has remained in the United States for a period in excess of that necessary for the purpose for which he was permitted to land, the master of such vessel shall pay to the collector of customs of the customs district in which the port of arrival is located the sum of $1,000 for each such alien seaman in respect of whom such violation occurs: Provided, That clearance may be granted such vessel prior to the determination of the Attorney General in the premises upon the deposit of such sum as a bond with sufficient surety to secure the payment thereof, or of a bond with sufficient surety to secure the payment thereof in such amount not exceeding $1,000 for each such alien seaman as the Attorney General may, upon application in writing therefor, authorize: And provided further, That no part of the head tax collected by the collector of customs at the customs district in which the port of arrival is located shall be refunded by such immigration officer or the Attorney General to do so, shall then be paid to the collector of customs of the customs district in which the port of arrival is located for the purpose of paying the cost of such return of such alien seaman to a foreign port, except that clearance may be granted prior to the determination of such question upon the deposit of a sum sufficient to cover such fine, or of a bond with sufficient surety to secure the payment thereof in the discretion of the Attorney General in the case of any vessel entering the ports of the United States regularly in the course of trade between such foreign port and such ports. The Attorney General may, upon application in writing therefor, withdraw such deposit or any part thereof or cancel such bond upon the payment of the head tax in the case of any alien seaman in respect of whom such deposit was made, or upon the production of such seaman within the United States after the departure of the vessel from the port of arrival, and the Secretary of Labor is authorized to prescribe such rules and regulations as the Attorney General may prescribe for the uniform application of this section, and to prescribe the amount of bond to be given by masters of vessels to insure the proper care and maintenance while in the United States and the departure therefrom of alien seamen, including seamen of nationality friendly to the United States.

(d) Every alien seaman who shall not depart in accordance with the provisions of this section shall be deported in the manner provided by sections 19 and 20 of the Immigration Act of 1917 (39 Stat. 889; 8 U. S. C. 155, 156).

MANIFEST OF THE MASTER OR COMMANDING OFFICER, OR FIRST OR SECOND OFFICER

I, Thos. A. Hill, of the American Consul S/S U. H. Lafata, do declare that the foregoing is a full and true list of all the crew brought in said vessel from any port or place during her present voyage. I have noted the copy of section 36 of the Act of February 5, 1917, extract from Title 8, Code of Federal Regulations, and copy of sections 21 and 50, Act of May 26, 1924, which appear below.

Master, First or second officer.

ALIEN SEAMEN

SEC. 21. No alien seaman excluded from admission into the United States under the immigration laws and employed on board any vessel arriving in the United States from any place outside thereof, shall be permitted to land in the United States, except temporarily for medical treatment, or treatment to which regulations as the Attorney General may prescribe for the ultimate deportation, removal, or deportation of such alien from the United States. (43 Stat. 164, 8 U. S. C. 166.)

SEC. 50. (a) The owner, charterer, agent, consignee, or master of any vessel arriving in the United States from any place outside thereof, except from a foreign contiguous territory, shall be permitted to land in the United States from such vessel any alien seaman employed on board such vessel until the immigration officer in charge at the port of arrival has inspected such seaman (which inspection in all cases shall include a personal physical examination by the medical examiner), and has granted to such alien seaman a certificate of admission as to him in such form as may be prescribed by the Commissioner General of Immigration, with the approval of the Secretary of Labor. No vessel shall be granted clearance pending the determination of the fitness of any such alien seaman to land in the United States, except that clearance may be granted prior to the determination of such fitness to any vessel which has deposited with the collector of customs at the port of arrival a sum sufficient to cover such alien, or to furnish a bond sufficient surety to secure the payment thereof approved by the collector of customs. The Attorney General may, upon application in writing therefor, withdraw such deposit or bond, or any part thereof, if he shall be satisfied that the same is no longer required. Any alien seaman employed on board any vessel arriving in the United States from any place outside thereof, or any alien seaman who shall depart from the United States on board any vessel, who shall not have been inspected by an immigration officer at the time of the departure of such vessel from the United States, shall be deported in the manner provided in sections 19 and 20 hereof: Provided, That clearance may be granted prior to the determination of such question upon deposit of a sum sufficient to cover such alien's maintenance during such time as may be necessary for the prompt prosecution of such question, and for the return of such alien to the country whence he came, or to the country from which he entered the United States, in the event such alien is deported, which maintenance during such time shall be furnished by the master, agent, consignee, or owner of the vessel on which such alien arrived in the United States. (39 Stat. 888–889; 8 U. S. C. 171.)

SEC. 150.13. Lists of alien employees: when clearance of vessel denied. Clearance shall not be granted any vessel until the lists required by section 36 of the Immigration Act of 1917 (39 Stat. 888; 8 U. S. C. 171), have been transmitted, and in cases where such lists include aliens employed in the service of the steward, the master, agent, consignee, or owner of such vessel has been notified by the Commissioner of Immigration that the requirements of section 23 of said Act (39 Stat. 888; 8 U. S. C. 183) applicable to the administrative fine prescribed by said section 36 or to fine prescribed by section 32 of said Act, have been complied with, or that the deposit specified in § 150.12–150.14, has been made.

EXTRACT FROM ACT OF CONGRESS OF FEBRUARY 5, 1917, AS AMENDED

SEC. 36. That upon arrival of any vessel in the United States from any foreign port or place it shall be the duty of the owner, agent, consignee, or master thereof to deliver to the principal immigration officer in charge of the port of arrival lists containing the names of all aliens employed on such vessel, stating the positions they respectively hold in the ship's company, when and where they were respectively shipped or engaged, and specifying those so to be held on board discharged in the port of arrival; or lists containing so much of such information as the Attorney General shall by regulation prescribe; and when at the arrival of a vessel at a port in the United States it shall be the duty of such owner, agent, consignee, or master to report to such immigration officer, in writing, as soon as discovered, all cases in which the said lists are found to be incorrect or incomplete, and all cases in which any alien employed on such vessel, having been duly reported by the master as required, is found not to be on board, or to have landed, except as authorized by law, and to report specifically the cause of such absence, so far as known, and the steps taken to secure the return of such alien, and the penalty, if any, imposed therefor. Before the departure of any such vessel it shall be the duty of such owner, agent, consignee, or master to deliver to such immigration officer a further list containing the names of all alien employees who were employed therein at the time of the arrival of such vessel but who will leave such vessel on the arrival at the port of next departure, and also the names of those, if any, who have been added to the said discharged, and of those, if any, who have deserted or landed; and in case of the failure of such owner, agent, consignee, or master so to deliver either of the said lists in the case of each alien employee concerning whom correct lists are not delivered or a true report is not made as above provided, in the event such alien is refused admission to the United States, it shall be the duty of the master, agent, consignee, or owner of such vessel on which such alien arrived in the United States to pay to the collector of customs of the customs district in which the port of arrival is located the sum of $10 for each alien concerning whom correct lists are not delivered or a true report is not made as above provided, in addition to any penalty or forfeiture otherwise provided by law: Provided, That clearance may be granted prior to the determination of such question upon deposit of a sum sufficient to cover such fine. (39 Stat. 888–889; 8 U. S. C. 171.)

IMPORTANT NOTICE TO MASTER

The list described below must be prepared on blank forms approved by the Department and be ready for delivery to the immigration inspector boarding the vessel at the port of arrival, and shall in no instance be taken from the vessel. The list of changes of alien members of crews (Form I–418) shall not be returned on board, but shall be delivered by the master to the principal immigration officer at the port. When an alternate seaman is a "workaway," a notation to that effect should be made on the manifest. In order to facilitate inspection of alien seamen, include names of alternate American citizen seamen as well as aliens.

IMPORTANT NOTICE TO MASTER

The list described below shall be prepared on plain forms approved by the Department and be ready for delivery to the immigration inspector boarding the vessel at the port of arrival, and shall in no instance be taken from the vessel. The list of changes of alien members, crew, and passengers, or additions to same effected abroad, shall be delivered by the master to the principal immigration officer at the port of entry (Form I–418) shall not be returned on board, but shall be delivered by the master to the principal immigration officer at the port.

When an alternate seaman is a "workaway," a notation to that effect should be made on the manifest. In order to facilitate inspection of alien seamen, include names of alternate American citizen seamen as well as aliens.

EXTRACT FROM ACT OF CONGRESS OF FEBRUARY 2, 1917, AS AMENDED

SEC. 36. That upon arrival of any vessel in the United States from any foreign port or place it shall be the duty of the owner, agent, consignee, or master thereof to deliver to the principal immigration officer in charge of the port of arrival lists containing the names of all alien members employed on such vessel, stating the positions they respectively hold in the ship's company, when and where they were respectively signed or shipped, and specifying those so to be landed and detained in the port of arrival; to deliver lists containing the names of all alien members, passengers, and others, whether transit, visitors, or seeking admission to the United States, as soon as discovered, all cases in which any such alien has been found stowed away on such vessel, and to report to such immigration officer, at any time, as soon as discovered, all aliens illegally landed from the vessel. Giving a description of such alien, together with any information likely to lead to his apprehension; that before the departure of any such vessel it shall be the duty of such owner, agent, consignee, or master to deliver to such immigration officer a further list containing the names of all alien employees who were not employed thereon at the time of the arrival but who will leave port thereon at the time of the departure, and also the names of those, if any, who have been added to the crew since the arrival of the vessel, and the cause of the absence of each alien employee. If any, who have deserted or landed; and in case of the failure of such owner, agent, consignee, or master so to deliver lists of the alien members of the crew, or any alien member thereof, respectively, or so to report such cause of desertion or landing, such owner, agent, consignee, or master shall be jointly and severally liable to a penalty of $10 for each alien concerning whom correct lists are not delivered or a sum equal to that to be made as above provided, in the event such fine is imposed, while it remains unpaid; the vessel shall not be permitted to depart. Penalty. That nothing in this section shall be construed to require the delivery of lists or the reporting of any alien crew member who shall have been lawfully admitted to the United States and who is employed on the vessel on which he arrived at the time of its departure from the United States, unless the master, owner, agent, consignee, or person in charge of such vessel has reason to believe that such alien intends to remain unlawfully in the United States: Provided, That immigration officers may be stationed on board vessels arriving at ports of the United States for the purpose of inspecting the crews of such vessels prior to the determination of such question upon payment to the master, owner, agent, consignee, or person in charge of such vessel of a sum sufficient to cover such fine. (39 Stat. 886–888; 8 U. S. C. 131.)

SEC. 150.13. Lists of alien employees; crew clearance or vessel denied. Clearance shall not be granted any vessel until the lists required by section 36 of the Immigration Act of 1917 (39 Stat. 898; 8 U. S. C. 171), have been transmitted, and not then unless notice of inability to the administrative time prescribed by said section or to such prescription by section 35 of said Act (39 Stat. 888; 8 U. S. C. 181) required, the deposit specified in §§ 150.13–150.21, has been made.

ALIEN SEAMEN

SEC. 13. No alien seaman excluded from admission into the United States under the immigration laws and employed on board any vessel arriving in the United States from any place outside thereof, shall be permitted to land in the United States, except temporarily for medical treatment, or because of sickness or injury requiring his detention, certified by the medical officer in charge of the port of deportation of such alien from the United States. (43 Stat. 164, 8 U. S. C. 166.)

SEC. 30. (a) The owner, charterer, agent, consignee, or master of any vessel arriving in the United States from any place outside thereof who fails to deport on board thereof any alien seaman employed on such vessel shall be fined not to exceed $1,000 for each alien seaman in respect of whom such failure occurs. No vessel shall be granted clearance papers during the determination of the question of the deportation of any such alien seaman if complaint is made to the immigration officer in charge of the port of arrival and a bond in such amount as may be required by the Attorney General is given for the payment of the fine which may be imposed in such case. The Attorney General may, upon application in writing therefor, mitigate such penalty or cancel the same in whole or in part under such conditions as he may prescribe. Any such application must be made within one year from the date of the payment of the fine or the giving of the bond. Any vessel upon the deposit of a sum sufficient to cover such fine, or of a bond fully sufficient therefor to secure the payment thereof, shall not be refused clearance papers pending the determination of the question of the deportation of such alien seaman. The Attorney General may, upon application in writing therefor, mitigate such penalty or cancel the same in whole or in part under such conditions as he may prescribe. Any such application must be made within one year from the date of the payment of the fine or the giving of the bond. (b) Proof that any alien seaman has been allowed upon the outgoing manifest of the vessel on which he arrived in the United States from any place outside thereof, or that he was reported by the master of such vessel as a deserter, shall be prima facie evidence of a failure to deport after reimbursement by the immigration officer or the Attorney General.

(c) If the Attorney General finds that deportation of the alien seaman on the vessel on which he arrived would cause undue hardship, such alien may be permitted to remain in the United States for such time as he may designate. Any such alien shall not be granted clearance until such expense has been paid or its payment guaranteed to the satisfaction of the Attorney General. (43 Stat. 164–165, 58 Stat. 818; 8 U. S. C. 161 (a), 161 (c).)

ALIEN SEAMEN

SEC. 13. No alien seaman excluded from admission into the United States under the immigration laws has employment on board an American vessel arriving in the United States from any place outside thereof, shall be permitted to land in the United States, except temporarily for medical treatment, or pursuant to such regulations as the Attorney General may prescribe for the ultimate departure, removal, or deportation of such alien from the United States. (43 Stat. 164, 8 U. S. C. 166.)

SEC. 36. (a) The owner, charterer, agent, consignee, or master of any vessel arriving in the United States from any place outside thereof with any alien seaman employed on board such vessel shall cause such alien seaman to be inspected by such immigration officer at the port of arrival and before such seaman (with certain exceptions) is permitted to land, and such inspection shall include a personal physical examination by the medical examiner, and such alien seaman shall not be admitted to land unless a certificate of such inspection is issued by the medical examiner: Provided, That clearance may be granted before such inspection in the case of any such alien seaman employed on any vessel touching at a foreign port for the sole purpose of taking on board fuel, supplies, or sea stores, or for the purpose of transferring the sick or injured to a hospital, or for the purpose of taking on board a substitute for the sick or injured, or for the purpose of transferring any such alien seaman to any vessel about to depart for a foreign port, if such alien seaman is in possession of a valid passport issued by the country of which he is a subject, or other satisfactory evidence of identity and nationality, and if such alien seaman is in the opinion of the examining medical officer in good physical condition: Provided further, That the Attorney General may, upon application in writing therefor, in cases of emergency or for the convenience of commerce, waive the provisions of this section requiring the inspection of alien seamen before their departure, and in such cases may issue certificates of clearance in lieu of such inspection, upon the payment or guaranty of the payment of the cost of such inspection, and may prescribe rules and regulations governing the granting of such waivers: And provided further, That the Attorney General may, upon application in writing therefor, in cases of emergency, waive the provisions of this section requiring the inspection of alien seamen before their departure, and in such cases may issue certificates of clearance in lieu of such inspection, upon the payment or guaranty of the payment of the cost of such inspection, and may prescribe rules and regulations governing the granting of such waivers.

(b) Every alien seaman who shall not depart with the vessel on which he arrived, or on some other vessel in the service of the same owner, shall be reported by the master of such vessel to the commissioner of immigration at the port of arrival, and such report shall state the additional information required by such commissioner.

(c) If the Attorney General finds that any deportation of an alien seaman or the cost of maintenance of any alien seaman pending deportation will be unduly burdensome to the master, owner, charterer, agent, consignee, or operator of the vessel on which such alien seaman arrived, or that the deportation of such alien seaman will be unduly delayed for the reason that a foreign country refuses to accept such alien seaman, or for any other reason, the Attorney General may cause such alien seaman to be deported on another vessel at the expense of the vessel on which he arrived, but such vessel shall not be required to pay for the transportation of such alien seaman to a port further than the port to which he was scheduled to proceed when he arrived in the United States, unless the master, owner, charterer, agent, consignee, or operator of such vessel consents to the deportation of such alien seaman to such further port. When an alien seaman is so deported, a report thereof shall be made to the Secretary of Labor, stating the cause and circumstances of such deportation.

(43 Stat. 164–166, 43 Stat. 818; 8 U. S. C. 191 (a), 191 (c).)

Use of this form by any person other than an official of the U. S. Government is prohibited by law.

EXTRACT FROM ACT OF CONGRESS OF FEBRUARY 5, 1917, AS AMENDED

SEC. 36. That upon arrival of any vessel in the United States from any foreign port or place it shall be the duty of the owner, agent, consignee, or master thereof to deliver to the principal immigration officer in charge of the port of arrival lists containing the names of all aliens employed on such vessel, stating the positions they respectively hold in the ship's company, when and where they were respectively engaged or shipped, and description of such alien, except alien passengers, for whom information is required to be furnished by the master of such vessel as hereinafter provided, and such other information regarding them as may be required by the Attorney General through the Commissioner of Immigration and Naturalization. Such lists shall be prepared at such time before the vessel's departure from foreign ports as the Attorney General by regulation prescribe; and when such vessel is about to depart from the last foreign port for the United States the master shall deliver to the immigrant inspector at the first port of arrival in the United States a list containing the names of all aliens employed on board such vessel, who have been discharged from such vessel since the list was last prepared, and the cause of such discharge, so far as known or can be ascertained, and shall report the names of all deserting seamen. Any master, owner, agent, consignee, or charterer of any such vessel who refuses or fails to deliver such list, or who refuses or fails to report the name of any alien employee who may desert, or who refuses or fails to deliver either of the lists required by this section, or who refuses or fails to report such cause of desertion or absence, shall be deemed guilty of a misdemeanor, and upon conviction thereof shall be punished by a fine of not more than $1,000 or by imprisonment for not more than one year, or by both such fine and imprisonment, in the discretion of the court. Any master, owner, agent, consignee, or charterer of any such vessel who refuses or fails to report, or who reports falsely or fraudulently, or who refuses or fails to deliver to any immigrant inspector any information required by this section concerning any alien employee who may desert, or who refuses or fails to report such cause of desertion or absence of any alien employee who may desert, or who refuses or fails to deliver either of the lists required by this section, or who refuses or fails to report the name of any alien employee who may desert, or who refuses or fails to report such cause of desertion or absence of any alien employee who may desert, shall be deemed guilty of a misdemeanor, and upon conviction thereof shall be punished by a fine of not more than $1,000 or by imprisonment for not more than one year, or by both such fine and imprisonment, in the discretion of the court. Any master, owner, agent, consignee, or charterer of any such vessel who refuses or fails to report, or who reports falsely or fraudulently, or who refuses or fails to deliver to any immigrant inspector any information required by this section concerning any alien employee who may desert, or who refuses or fails to report such cause of desertion or absence of any alien employee who may desert, shall be deemed guilty of a misdemeanor, and upon conviction thereof shall be punished by a fine of not more than $1,000 or by imprisonment for not more than one year, or by both such fine and imprisonment, in the discretion of the court. Any master, owner, agent, consignee, or charterer of any such vessel who refuses or fails to report, or who reports falsely or fraudulently, or who refuses or fails to deliver to any immigrant inspector any information required by this section concerning any alien employee who may desert, or who refuses or fails to report such cause of desertion or absence of any alien employee who may desert, shall be deemed guilty of a misdemeanor, and upon conviction thereof shall be punished by a fine of not more than $1,000 or by imprisonment for not more than one year, or by both such fine and imprisonment, in the discretion of the court.

The list of changes or additions permitted by the master as a "workaway" a notation to that effect should be made on the manifest. In order to facilitate inspection of alien seamen, include names of returning American citizen seamen as well as aliens.

EXTRACT FROM ACT OF CONGRESS OF FEBRUARY 2, 1917, AS AMENDED

SEC. 36. That upon arrival of any vessel in the United States from any foreign port or place it shall be the duty of the owner, agent, consignee, or master thereof to deliver to the principal immigration officer in charge of the port or place of arrival a complete list or manifest of all persons on board such vessel, showing the full name, age, sex, calling or occupation, nationality, last permanent residence, final destination, whether married or single, whether they have been previously refused admission to or deported from the United States or excluded therefrom, whether they have a ticket through to their final destination, whether they have the means of transportation, whether the passage is paid by themselves or by other persons or by the government, whether in possession of money and how much, whether in possession of a railroad ticket or other through ticket, whether destined to join relatives or friends, and if so, what relatives or friends, and their complete address, whether ever before in the United States and if so when and where, whether ever in prison or almshouse or supported by charity, whether a polygamist, whether under contract or agreement to perform labor in the United States, its Territories, or the District of Columbia, whether in the United States in pursuance of any offer to perform labor upon the receipt of a ticket or passage paid for by others or by himself, whether having come in search of employment, whether having been employed previously in the United States or elsewhere, and if so, when and for how long and in what capacity, whether going to join a husband, wife, father, mother, grandparent, child over sixteen years of age, brother, or sister already in the United States and if so, their names and complete address, whether having been in any penal institution or reformatory, whether having been in the United States before and if so, when and how often, whether having been deported or excluded and if so, why, whether having been engaged in the practice of polygamy, whether coming by reason of any offer, solicitation, promise, agreement, or assistance of any kind to perform labor in the United States, its Territories, or the District of Columbia, whether having been employed under contract or agreement to perform labor in the United States, its Territories, or the District of Columbia, whether having been employed under contract or agreement to perform labor in any other place designated, and whether they have been deported at the expense of the United States, any State, or any municipality within a State, and such other facts as may be required as to their identity and the circumstances connected with their admission as may be prescribed by the Commissioner of Immigration and Naturalization. Every person, including those in transit through the United States to foreign countries, brought to the United States by any vessel arriving at a port of the United States shall be listed, and the master, agent, consignee, or owner of such vessel shall be responsible for the proper listing of all persons on board. Any master, agent, consignee, or owner of any such vessel who refuses to deliver such list or lists as required by this section, or who refuses to deliver to any immigrant inspector any such list or lists which may be demanded for the purpose of examining or copying the same, or who refuses to allow any immigrant inspector to come on board any such vessel for the purpose of inspecting the same, or who refuses to detain any alien on board any such vessel when ordered so to do by any immigrant inspector, shall be guilty of a misdemeanor and shall be punished by a fine of not more than $1,000 or by imprisonment for not more than one year, or by both such fine and imprisonment, in the discretion of the court. Any master, agent, consignee, or owner of any vessel who shall refuse to pay the head tax provided for in this section shall be liable to the United States for the amount thereof, which may be sued for and recovered in the name of the United States. Clearance shall not be granted any vessel from any port of the United States while any such master, agent, consignee, or owner is in default in the payment of any such head tax.

SEC. 36. (a) The owner, charterer, agent, consignee, or master of any vessel arriving in the United States from any place outside thereof, shall be permitted to land in the United States, except temporarily for medical treatment, or pursuant to such regulations as the Attorney General may prescribe for the alternate deportation of such alien from the United States, at the discretion of the Attorney General and solely for the purpose of prosecution for a felony or other crime, or conviction and sentence therefor, or deportation, or to testify, or otherwise aid in the investigation or prosecution of a violation of the immigration laws of the United States, unless and until the master, agent, consignee, or owner of such vessel shall have delivered to the immigration officer in charge at the port of arrival a bond or undertaking, in such form and amount, not exceeding $1,000 for each alien named in respect of whom such default occurs, as may be prescribed by the Commissioner of Immigration and Naturalization, conditioned for the payment of a sum equal to the cost of maintenance of each alien named in respect of whom such default occurs. No vessel shall be granted clearance until the master, agent, consignee, or owner thereof has delivered to the collector of customs of the customs district in which the port of departure is located a certificate from the immigration officer in charge at the port of arrival to the effect that the master, agent, consignee, or owner has complied with the requirements of this section. Such certificate shall be delivered by the collector of customs.

(b) Front fines on aliens seamen did not appear upon the discharge manifest of the vessel on which he arrived in the United States from any place outside thereof, or shall have been refused by the immigration officer at the time of such vessel's last departure from a foreign port or place for failure to comply with the requirements of the Immigration Act of 1924, or any rules and regulations made thereunder, or any applicable provisions of the Immigration Act of 1917, or any rules and regulations made thereunder, or who arrived by reason of the failure of the master, agent, consignee, or owner of the vessel on which he arrived to comply with the provisions of section 36 of the Immigration Act of 1917, or any rules and regulations made thereunder, shall be deported at the expense of the vessel on which he arrived, unless the Attorney General shall otherwise direct. Clearance shall not be granted any vessel until the fines imposed by this section have been paid or sufficient security therefor given.

(c) If the Attorney General finds that adequate provision and reasonable facilities have been made by the owners of any vessel for the detention on board thereof of seamen who may be ordered deported under any of the provisions of the immigration laws, he may, in his discretion, authorize the detention on board of any such seamen in lieu of detention at a station or other place provided by the Government. The cost of such detention shall be paid by the owners of the vessel on which the seamen arrived, and such vessel may be required to give a bond for the faithful performance of this condition in such sum, not exceeding $1,000 for each seaman detained, as may be prescribed by the Commissioner of Immigration and Naturalization. Upon the failure of the master, agent, consignee, or owner of any such vessel to pay the cost of detention of any seaman or to perform the conditions of any such bond, the vessel on which such seaman arrived shall be liable to seizure and forfeiture to the United States, and may be libeled therefor in the district court of the United States for the district in which the vessel may be found.

ALIEN SEAMEN

SEC. 13. No alien seaman excluded from admission into the United States under the immigration laws shall be employed on board any vessel arriving at any port within the United States from any place outside thereof, or shall be permitted to land in the United States, except temporarily for medical treatment, or pursuant to such regulations as the Attorney General may prescribe for the alternate deportation of such alien from the United States, at the discretion of the Attorney General and solely for the purpose of prosecution for a felony or other crime, or conviction and sentence therefor, or deportation, or to testify, or otherwise aid in the investigation or prosecution of a violation of the immigration laws of the United States, unless and until the master, agent, consignee, or owner of such vessel shall have delivered to the immigration officer in charge at the port of arrival a bond or undertaking, in such form and amount, not exceeding $1,000 for each alien named in respect of whom such default occurs, as may be prescribed by the Commissioner of Immigration and Naturalization, conditioned for the payment of a sum equal to the cost of maintenance of each alien named in respect of whom such default occurs. No vessel shall be granted clearance until the master, agent, consignee, or owner thereof has delivered to the collector of customs of the customs district in which the port of departure is located a certificate from the immigration officer in charge at the port of arrival to the effect that the master, agent, consignee, or owner has complied with the requirements of this section. Such certificate shall be delivered by the collector of customs.

(d) Front fines on aliens seamen did not appear upon the discharge manifest of the vessel on which he arrived in the United States from any place outside thereof, or shall have been refused by the immigration officer at the time of such vessel's last departure from a foreign port or place for failure to comply with the requirements of the Immigration Act of 1924, or any rules and regulations made thereunder, or any applicable provisions of the Immigration Act of 1917, or any rules and regulations made thereunder, or who arrived by reason of the failure of the master, agent, consignee, or owner of the vessel on which he arrived to comply with the provisions of section 36 of the Immigration Act of 1917, or any rules and regulations made thereunder, shall be deported at the expense of the vessel on which he arrived, unless the Attorney General shall otherwise direct. Clearance shall not be granted any vessel until the fines imposed by this section have been paid or sufficient security therefor given.

(e) If the Attorney General finds that adequate provision and reasonable facilities have been made by the owners of any vessel for the detention on board thereof of seamen who may be ordered deported under any of the provisions of the immigration laws, he may, in his discretion, authorize the detention on board of any such seamen in lieu of detention at a station or other place provided by the Government. The cost of such detention shall be paid by the owners of the vessel on which the seamen arrived, and such vessel may be required to give a bond for the faithful performance of this condition in such sum, not exceeding $1,000 for each seaman detained, as may be prescribed by the Commissioner of Immigration and Naturalization. Upon the failure of the master, agent, consignee, or owner of any such vessel to pay the cost of detention of any seaman or to perform the conditions of any such bond, the vessel on which such seaman arrived shall be liable to seizure and forfeiture to the United States, and may be libeled therefor in the district court of the United States for the district in which the vessel may be found. Clearance shall not be granted any vessel until the provisions of this section have been complied with.

IMPORTANT NOTICE TO MASTER

The list described below shall be prepared on blank forms approved by the Department and be ready for delivery to the immigration inspector boarding the vessel at the port of arrival. But shall in no instance be taken from the vessel. The list of aliens to whom permission to land is granted by the immigration officer at the port of arrival must be delivered by the master to the immigration officer at the port. When an alien examined is a "non-quota" immigrant under the provisions of section 4 (a) of the Immigration Act of 1924, the master of the vessel shall be required to indicate such fact on the list. Failure to comply with this requirement may result in the imposition of a fine of $1,000 for each offense. (Form I-418) Attention is directed to the fact that the law requires the master to detain any alien who is ordered excluded by the immigration officer, and to deliver such alien to the master of the vessel on which he arrived for return to the foreign port from which he came. (Sec. 16, Immigration Act of 1917 (39 Stat. 889; 8 U. S. C. 152).)

SEC. 36. That upon arrival of any vessel in the United States from any foreign port or place it shall be the duty of the master, agent, consignee, or owner of such vessel, or the person in charge of the port or station at which such vessel shall arrive, to deliver to the principal immigration officer in charge of the port at which such vessel shall arrive, or to such assistant as he may designate, lists or manifests of all aliens who may be on board such vessel, which lists or manifests shall be prepared in the form and manner and contain the particulars required by the Secretary of Labor, and shall be signed by the master, agent, consignee, or owner of such vessel, or by the person in charge of the port or station, before the departure of such vessel from such foreign port or place. Such master, agent, consignee, or owner shall also deliver to the said immigration officer a duplicate list containing the names of all aliens employed by him in any capacity on such vessel, which list shall be prepared and signed in the manner hereinbefore provided. Such lists or manifests shall be delivered to the said immigration officer at the time of the departure of such vessel from the last foreign port or place: Provided, That in case of the sickness or death of any alien after the departure of such vessel from such foreign port or place, the master shall report the sickness or death of such alien at the first port or place at which he shall arrive, stating the cause of death and the name and last known address of the sick or deceased alien, and shall deliver to the immigration officer at such port or place a list showing the name or names of all aliens who may have been sick or who may have died on board such vessel during the journey, and the actual cause of death in each case. Any master, agent, consignee, or owner of any such vessel who shall refuse or neglect to comply with the requirements of this section shall be deemed guilty of a misdemeanor and shall be punished by a fine of not more than $1,000 for each and every such refusal or neglect, and in addition to such fine shall be liable to the United States for a sum equal to the commutation head tax which would be due from such master, agent, consignee, or owner if such alien had been admitted to the United States, which sum shall be a lien upon the vessel, and may be recovered by libel in the district court of the United States for the district in which the port is located at which such vessel shall arrive. (43 Stat. 164, 8 U. S. C. 166.)

SEC. 20. (a) The owner, charterer, agent, consignee, or master of any vessel bringing an alien to the United States from any place outside the Canal Zone, excepting an alien crewman employed on such vessel, shall be required to pay the cost of maintenance of such alien while he is detained on board such vessel after the completion of the inspection of the vessel by the medical examiners, pending the decision of such alien from the United States as to such alien's admissibility to the United States, and in the event such alien is ordered excluded from the United States upon the certification by the medical examiners, the master, owner, agent, consignee, or charterer of such vessel shall be required to pay the cost of maintenance of such alien while he is detained at a station of the Immigration Service, pending the determination of the question of the admissibility of such alien

The list described below shall be prepared on blank forms approved by the Department and be ready for delivery to the immigration inspector nearest the scene of the port of arrival. Each alien on the list of changes or manifest presented to the immigration officer at the port of arrival shall be listed on the proper list. The list of changes or manifest shall not be destroyed by the master or other person without the consent of the immigration officer at the port. When an arriving alien is a "worker" a notation to that effect should be made on the manifest. In order to facilitate inspection of aliens seamen, include names of arriving American citizen seamen as well as aliens.

EXTRACT FROM ACT OF CONGRESS OF FEBRUARY 5, 1917, AS AMENDED

SEC. 36. That upon arrival of any vessel in the United States from any foreign port or place it shall be the duty of the owner, agent, consignee, or master thereof to deliver to the principal immigration officer in charge of the port of arrival lists containing the names of all aliens employed on such vessel, showing the positions they respectively hold in the ship's company, when and where they were respectively shipped or engaged, and specifying those of us had been discharged in the port of arrival; to list correctly the sex, age, calling, nationality, last permanent residence, and final destination so far as the aliens employed thereon are known, of all aliens who intend to enter the United States, and to report to such immigration officer, at arrival at each port of the United States, all changes which may occur, among, concerning, or affecting the employment of such aliens, and the reasons for such changes, so far as known, and to report the illegally landed from the vessel, giving a description of such alien, locality where last found, and all circumstances in connection therewith; and before the departure of the said vessel it shall be the duty of such owner, agent, consignee, or master to deliver to such immigration officer a further list containing the names of all alien employees who were not employed thereon at the time of the arrival of the said vessel but who shall thereafter be employed thereon at the time of the departure of the vessel, and also the names of those who have been discharged, the cause for their discharge, and present address, respectively, so far as known to the master, agent, consignee, or owner of such vessel; and it shall be the duty of the master of each vessel to report the illness or injury of any alien on board of such vessel during the voyage, together with the nature of such illness or injury, and the medical treatment furnished therefor, and to deliver to the immigration officer at the port of arrival a complete list of all sick or injured aliens who shall have been landed at any foreign port during the voyage, specifying the date of such landing, the name of the vessel from which landed, the cause of sickness or injury, and the name of the hospital, if any, in the event such aid it furnished. Any violation of the provisions of this section by any master, agent, consignee, or owner of any vessel shall be punished by a fine of not more than $1,000 for each such offense.

ALIEN SEAMEN

SEC. 13. No alien seaman excluded from admission into the United States under the immigration laws shall be employed on board any vessel arriving in the United States from any place outside thereof, or employed on board any vessel departing from the United States, except pursuant to such rules and regulations as the Attorney General may prescribe for the ultimate deportation of such alien from the United States. (43 Stat. 164; 8 U. S. C. 186.)

SEC. 30. (a) The owner, charterer, agent, consignee, or master of any vessel bringing to the United States from any place outside thereof any alien seaman (whether destined to the United States or not) who is employed on board such vessel at the time of the immigration officer's examination of the vessel, or who has been employed on board such vessel since the last examination by an immigration officer at a port of the United States, shall, in the case of each such alien seaman, pay a tax of $8 to the collector of customs of the customs district in which the port of arrival is located (or to any officer designated by him for the purpose), and no such alien seaman shall be granted a conditional permit to land temporarily in the United States unless the master, owner, agent, consignee, or charterer of the vessel on board which he arrived has deposited with the collector of customs of the customs district in which the port of arrival is located the sum of $10 for each alien seaman concerning whom correct lists are not delivered to a duly reported immigration officer at the port of departure, or such other sum not exceeding $1,000 for each such alien seaman as the Attorney General may require, or has given a bond with sufficient surety to secure the payment thereof, conditioned for the payment of such tax or such other sum, or for the production of such alien seaman, or for the payment of the penalty provided for the failure or refusal to produce any such alien seaman, at the time of the departure of the vessel from the port of arrival, or for the payment of the penalty provided for the failure to deliver correct lists as required by this section, as the Attorney General may, upon application in writing therefor, authorize such bond to be so reduced as to secure the payment thereof. The Attorney General may, upon application in writing therefor, authorize such bond to be so reduced as to secure the payment thereof. The section, as amended, shall apply to all bonds or undertakings heretofore or hereafter executed in connection therewith, except that no bond or undertaking heretofore executed in connection with the provisions of this section shall be required after June 3, 1940.

(b) Proof shall be filed as above required that no penalties are due under the provisions of this section before any vessel shall be granted clearance papers from the United States, or before any vessel shall depart from any port of the United States without clearance papers, or before any vessel arriving in the United States from any foreign port or place shall be granted entry, or before any vessel shall be granted clearance papers after entry, or before any vessel shall be granted clearance papers after entry, or before any vessel shall be granted clearance papers after

The list described below shall be prepared on blank forms approved by the Department and be ready for delivery to the immigration inspector boarding the vessel at the port of arrival, and shall in no instance be delayed on board the vessel. The list of churches of alien immigrants (see Forms I-420 and I-421) shall not be furnished on board, but shall be delivered by the master to the principal immigration officer at the port. When no alien registry examination is required, a notation to that effect should be made on the manifest. In order to facilitate inspection, the list of aliens should be typewritten.

EXTRACT FROM ACT OF CONGRESS OF FEBRUARY 5, 1917, AS AMENDED

SEC. 36. That alien arrival of any vessel in the United States from any foreign port or place if shall be the duty of the owner, agent, consignee, or master thereof to deliver to the immigration officer in charge of the port of arrival lists containing the names of all aliens employed on such vessel, stating the business that respectively both in the ship's company, when and where they were respectively shipped or engaged, and whether they intend to land or not and destination in the port of arrival; or else confirming so much of such information already given as to the United States Attorney General shall by regulation prescribe; and after the arrival of any such vessel it shall be the duty of such owner, agent, consignee, or master to report to such immigration officer, in writing, as soon as discovered, all cases in which any such alien has not been duly entered in accordance with the provisions of this act; and before the departure of any such vessel it shall be the duty of such owner, agent, consignee, or master to report to such immigration officer, in writing, the name of every such alien then on board, and the reason for detention: and thereupon such immigration officer may grant a permit in writing to any such master to land such alien for examination, and may detain such vessel at the expense of the owner, agent, consignee, or master pending the examination of such alien, and may issue subpenas for witnesses and administer oaths or affirmations in any such examination, and may employ such interpreters as may be necessary. All fines imposed upon masters under the provisions of this act shall be a lien upon the vessel, which may be enforced by libel in the district court of the United States for the district in which the port is situated to which such vessel may be consigned or arrive, and such fines shall be recovered with costs. The Commissioner General of Immigration shall have power to remit such fines, and his decision shall be final. Until such decision is rendered the vessel shall not be granted clearance. Such fines shall be exclusive of any other penalty imposed by this act. The Commissioner General of Immigration shall prescribe rules and regulations for the enforcement of the provisions of this section, with the approval of the Secretary of Commerce and Labor, and shall report his action thereon to Congress at the beginning of each regular session thereof. Any person who knowingly violates any of the provisions of this section or of such rules and regulations shall be punished by a fine not exceeding $1,000 or by imprisonment for not more than one year, or by both such fine and imprisonment, in the discretion of the court.

ALIEN SEAMEN

SEC. 19. No alien seaman excluded from admission into the United States under the immigration laws and employed on board any vessel arriving in the United States from any foreign port or place, outside adjacent islands, shall be permitted to land in the United States, except temporarily for medical treatment, or unless and to the extent authorized by the Attorney General, pending the departure of the vessel on which he arrived, or the departure of another vessel on which he may be lawfully entitled to be employed, for the port for which originally destined when he arrived, or for a port in the country of which he is a subject or citizen, or for the port at which he embarked upon the vessel. The cost of expenses of alien seamen detained under this section shall be borne by the owner of the vessel on which they arrived in the United States unless adjudged by the Secretary of Labor to be unnecessarily incurred, in which case the same shall be certified to the proper accounting officer of the Treasury for payment out of any moneys appropriated for the enforcement of the immigration laws. Any such seaman who has been certified to a hospital for medical treatment, or who has been granted permission to land temporarily, shall be returned to the vessel at the expense of the owner thereof, or the master or agent of such vessel, before the departure of such vessel from the port, unless security is given to the satisfaction of the Secretary of Labor for the return of such seaman: Provided, That clearance may be granted such vessel prior to the return of such seaman upon the deposit with the collector of customs of a sum sufficient to cover such cost, or of a bond with sufficient surety to secure the payment thereof, in such amount as may be prescribed by the Secretary of Labor. No vessel shall be granted clearance pending the determination of the liability to payment of such cost, or while the cost remains unpaid, except that clearance may be granted prior to the determination upon the deposit of such sum or bond as may be required. Such cost shall be a lien upon such vessel, which may be enforced by libel in the district court of the United States for the district in which the port is situated to which such vessel may be consigned or arrive, and such cost shall be recovered with costs. The Commissioner General of Immigration shall have power to remit such cost, and his decision shall be final. Until such decision is rendered the vessel shall not be granted clearance. Such cost shall be exclusive of any other penalty imposed by this act. The Commissioner General of Immigration shall prescribe rules and regulations for the enforcement of the provisions of this section, with the approval of the Secretary of Commerce and Labor, and shall report his action thereon to Congress at the beginning of each regular session thereof. Any person who knowingly violates any of the provisions of this section or of such rules and regulations shall be punished by a fine not exceeding $1,000 or by imprisonment for not more than one year, or by both such fine and imprisonment, in the discretion of the court.

(b) Penalty for failure to deport alien seaman. Any master of any vessel who fails to deport any alien seaman employed on board such vessel when required to do so by the Commissioner General of Immigration, or any master of any vessel arriving in the United States from any foreign port or place who fails to report and deliver on board any such vessel prior to departure therefrom the name of any alien seaman employed on board such vessel who deserts or is left behind on shore, shall pay to the collector of customs of the customs district in which the port of arrival is located the sum of $1,000 for each alien seaman in respect of whom such failure occurs. No vessel shall be granted clearance pending the determination of the liability to payment of such sum, or while the sum remains unpaid, except that clearance may be granted prior to the determination upon the deposit of a sum sufficient to cover such sum, or of a bond with sufficient surety to secure the payment thereof, in such amount as may be prescribed by the Secretary of Labor. No vessel shall be granted clearance pending the determination of the liability to payment of such sum, or while the sum remains unpaid, except that clearance may be granted prior to the determination upon the deposit of such sum or bond as may be required. Such sum shall be a lien upon such vessel, which may be enforced by libel in the district court of the United States for the district in which the port is situated to which such vessel may be consigned or arrive, and such sum shall be recovered with costs. The Commissioner General of Immigration shall have power to remit such sum, and his decision shall be final. Until such decision is rendered the vessel shall not be granted clearance. Such sum shall be exclusive of any other penalty imposed by this act. The Commissioner General of Immigration shall prescribe rules and regulations for the enforcement of the provisions of this section, with the approval of the Secretary of Commerce and Labor, and shall report his action thereon to Congress at the beginning of each regular session thereof. Any person who knowingly violates any of the provisions of this section or of such rules and regulations shall be punished by a fine not exceeding $1,000 or by imprisonment for not more than one year, or by both such fine and imprisonment, in the discretion of the court.

(c) If the Attorney General finds that deportation of the alien seaman on the vessel on which he arrived would cause undue hardship to such seaman he may cause him to be deported on another vessel at the expense of the vessel on which he arrived, and such vessel shall not be granted clearance until such expense has been paid or its payment guaranteed to the satisfaction of the Attorney General.

IMPORTANT NOTICE TO MASTER

The list described below shall be prepared on blank forms approved by the Department and be ready for delivery to the immigration inspector boarding the vessel at the port of arrival, and shall in no instance be taken from the vessel. The list of examinees of alien immigrants (Form I-418) shall not be furnished on board, but shall be delivered by the master to the principal immigration officer at the port of arrival (Form I-425) shall be furnished on board the vessel at the expense of the master. In order to facilitate inspection of alien seamen, including names of American citizen seamen as well as aliens.

EXTRACT FROM ACT OF CONGRESS OF FEBRUARY 2, 1917, AS AMENDED

SEC. 38. That upon arrival of any vessel in the United States from any foreign port or place it shall be the duty of the master, agent, consignee, or master thereof, to deliver to the principal immigration officer in charge of the port of arrival a complete manifest of all persons, including those in the crew, whether they be destined to the United States or not, and whether they be passengers or not, on board such vessel, stating the positions they respectively hold in the ship's company; when and where they were respectively shipped or engaged, and the capacity in which they are to be employed during the voyage; the nationality, last permanent residence, and final destination of each person who is to be landed in the United States; the number of pieces of baggage belonging to each; and such other information in regard to each and every person on board as may be required by the Commissioner General of Immigration, with the approval of the Secretary of Labor, and shall deliver a duplicate manifest to the collector of customs at the port of arrival. The master, agent, consignee, or owner of any vessel failing to deliver such manifest, or any master who refuses to allow any immigrant inspector to go on board such vessel for the purpose of inspecting the manifest, or any master who refuses to detain on board his vessel any alien who may be certified to him as afflicted with any contagious disease, or any master who refuses to detain any alien when ordered by the immigrant inspector in charge, or any master who refuses to deliver to any immigrant inspector any alien on board his vessel, or any master who refuses to carry back to the port from which he came any alien ordered deported, shall be deemed guilty of a misdemeanor, and upon conviction thereof shall be punished by a fine of not more than $1,000 for each alien in respect of whom such failure occurs, or by imprisonment for not more than one year, or by both such fine and imprisonment, in the discretion of the court. The master, agent, consignee, or owner of any vessel bringing to the United States any alien who is afflicted with any loathsome or dangerous contagious disease, or who is a person who has been convicted of a felony or other crime or misdemeanor involving moral turpitude, shall be deemed guilty of a misdemeanor, and upon conviction thereof shall be punished by a fine of not more than $1,000 for each such alien, or by imprisonment for not more than one year, or by both such fine and imprisonment, in the discretion of the court: Provided, That the Attorney General may, in his discretion, authorize the discharge from custody of any alien who is afflicted with tuberculosis, or who is under sentence of imprisonment for a felony or other crime or misdemeanor involving moral turpitude, or who is under indictment or information charging a felony or other crime or misdemeanor involving moral turpitude, if such alien is required as a witness on the trial of any person charged with a felony or other crime or misdemeanor involving moral turpitude, or for the trial of any master, agent, consignee, or owner charged with violation of this section, and that the testimony of any such alien may be taken and used upon the trial of such person charged, upon such terms and conditions as the Attorney General may prescribe, without requiring the presence of such alien therefor.

SEC. 39. That the Attorney General shall prescribe rules and regulations for the enforcement of the provisions of this Act respecting the detention and deportation of aliens and the bringing in of aliens subject to certain physical and mental defects, certain criminals, polygamists, and anarchists, and the proper care of the persons and property of aliens suffering from mental disease during detention for deportation; and he shall perform such other duties relating to the enforcement of said provisions as may be assigned to him by the President. He may establish such temporary boards of inquiry as may be necessary to hear and determine cases of aliens detained for hearing before the Secretary of Labor, and may call upon any officer of the United States Government for such assistance in the performance of his duties as may be necessary, and the heads of the various executive departments are authorized to detail officers or employees for duty as such boards of inquiry when requested by the Secretary of Labor. He may also appoint, without regard to the civil-service laws, such special inquiry officers, clerks, and other employees as may be necessary to assist in the proper and efficient performance of the duties of the Department of Labor relative to the enforcement of this Act, and may remove any such officer or employee for cause, after a hearing before a board of three officers designated by the Secretary of Labor, whose decision shall be final. He may delegate to any such officer or employee the power to administer oaths to any witnesses appearing to testify in respect to the right of any alien to enter, reenter, pass through, or reside in the United States, or concerning any matter which is material and relevant to the enforcement of this Act and the proper administration of the bureau or office in which he may be employed; and he may issue subpœnas for the attendance of witnesses and the production of papers, books, and documents relating to any such matter, and may invoke the aid of any court of the United States to compel obedience to such subpœnas. Any person who shall neglect or refuse to attend and testify, or to produce any papers, books, or documents as required by any such subpœna, or who shall knowingly or willfully testify falsely or misrepresent in relation to any matter under consideration by any such officer or employee, shall be guilty of a misdemeanor, and upon conviction thereof in any court of the United States of competent jurisdiction shall be punished by a fine of not more than $1,000 or by imprisonment for not more than one year, or by both such fine and imprisonment, in the discretion of the court.

SEC. 15. No alien seaman excluded from admission into the United States under the immigration laws and employed on board any vessel arriving in the United States from any foreign port or place shall be permitted to land in the United States, except temporarily for medical treatment or hospitalization to such extent and under such regulations as the Attorney General may prescribe for the removal or deportation of such alien from the United States from any place outside thereof, and any such alien seaman who shall land in the United States, except as provided in this section, shall be deported as provided in sections 19 and 20 of this Act. (39 Stat. 884; 8 U. S. C. 155.)

SEC. 16. (a) The owner, charterer, agent, consignee, or master of any vessel arriving in the United States from any place outside thereof who fails to detain on board any alien seaman employed on such vessel during the immigration officer in charge at the port of arrival any seaman (whether such seaman is employed in the capacity of a member of the crew or otherwise), or who fails to detain on board such alien seaman after such inspection or to deport such seaman if required by such immigration officer or the Attorney General to do so, shall pay to the collector of customs of the customs district in which the port of arrival is located the sum of $1,000 for each alien seaman in respect of whom such failure occurs. No vessel shall be granted clearance pending the determination of the liability to payment of such fine, or while the fine remains unpaid, except that clearance may be granted prior to the determination of such question upon the deposit of a sum sufficient to cover such fine, or of a bond with sufficient surety to secure the payment thereof approved by the collector of customs. The Attorney General may, upon application in writing therefor, mitigate such penalty to not less than $300 for each seaman in respect of whom such failure occurs, upon such terms as the Attorney General in his discretion shall think proper.

This section as amended shall apply to all beneficial alien embarkations on and after June 2, 1940.

(b) Every alien seaman who did not depart upon the outbound manifest of the vessel on which he arrived in the United States from any place outside thereof, or that he was detained by the master of such vessel as a deserter, shall be prima facie evidence of a failure to deport alien seamen by the immigration officer of the Attorney General.

(c) If the Attorney General finds that deportation of the alien seamen on the vessel on which he arrived or which he subsequently joined was impracticable, because such vessel has been sold or is not scheduled to depart from the United States within thirty days after the arrival of such alien seamen, he may cause such alien seamen to be detained on board or at the expense of the vessel on which he arrived, or which he subsequently joined, or cause such alien seamen to be deported on another vessel at the expense of the vessel on which he arrived, but such alien seamen shall not be granted clearance until such expense has been paid or its payment guaranteed to the satisfaction of the Attorney General.

IMPORTANT NOTICE TO MASTER

The list described below shall be prepared on blank forms approved by the Department and be ready for delivery to the immigration inspectors boarding the vessel as the boat of arrival, but shall not in no instance be taken from the principal immigration officer at the port or place of arrival (Form I–418) shall not be returned on board, but shall be delivered by the master to the immigration officer at the port. When an alternate manifest is required, "MONTANA" a notation to that effect should be made on the manifest. In order to facilitate inspection a notation to this effect should be made on the manifest as well as after each nationality.

EXTRACT FROM ACT OF CONGRESS OF FEBRUARY 5, 1917, AS AMENDED

SEC. 36. That from arrival to depart from the United States from any foreign port or place it shall be the duty of the owner, agent, consignee, or master thereof to report to such immigration officer in charge of the port of arrival the particulars of all alien passengers who were respectively shipped, engaged, or contracted for on board at any foreign port or place, or at any port or place in the United States from which such vessel may have come to the port of arrival; to furnish information in relation to the health, financial condition, nationality, last permanent residence, and destination of each such alien passenger; and to furnish such other information in regard to the same as may be required by the rules and regulations prescribed by the Commissioner General of Immigration with the approval of the Secretary of Labor. Any master, owner, agent, consignee, or person in charge of any such vessel who refuses or fails to furnish the information required by this section shall be punished by a fine of not more than $1,000 for each such offense. The Commissioner General of Immigration, with the approval of the Secretary of Labor, shall prescribe such rules and regulations as may be necessary for the enforcement of this section, and may employ such additional inspectors as may be necessary for the proper execution thereof, and may also, with the approval of the Secretary of Labor, designate and employ such surgeons, matrons, and other employees as may be necessary to assist in the examination of aliens arriving at ports of the United States, and shall fix their reasonable compensation for such services, to be paid out of the appropriation for the enforcement of this Act. The Commissioner General of Immigration shall have the power to enter into contracts with transportation lines for the detention of aliens duly certified by the immigration officers at ports of arrival pending examination by the boards of special inquiry, and for their maintenance for periods not exceeding five days after the decision of the boards in each case, at such rates as may be agreed upon and approved by the Secretary of Labor, and may pay the cost of their maintenance for longer periods when such detention is due to the fault of the transportation lines. All appropriations for the enforcement of the provisions of this Act shall be disbursed by the Commissioner General of Immigration under such rules and regulations as the Secretary of Labor may prescribe.

IMPORTANT NOTICE TO MASTER

The list described below shall be prepared on plain forms approved by the Department and be ready for delivery to the immigration inspector pointed the vessel at the port of arrival, but shall in no instance be taken from the vessel. The list of changes of alien members for the crews (Form I–418) shall not be furnished on board, but shall be delivered by the master to the principal immigration officer at the port. When an alternate seaman is a national of a foreign country, a notation to that effect should be made on the manifest. In order to facilitate inspection of alien seamen, include names of alternate American citizen seamen as well as aliens.

SEC. 36. That upon arrival of any vessel in the United States from any foreign port or place it shall be the duty of the owner, agent, consignee, or master thereof to deliver to the principal immigration officer in charge of the port of arrival lists containing the names of all alien members of the crew employed on such vessel, arranged in the manner prescribed by the Attorney General, and also a complete list of all persons employed thereon at the time of the arrival of such vessel, which lists shall be subscribed and sworn to before such immigration officer by the master of such vessel, and specifying those who have been naturalized, and those who have declared their intention to become citizens of the United States, and also the names of all alien members of the crew who have been discharged in the port of arrival; and there shall be furnished to such immigration officer at the time of the departure of any such vessel from a port in the United States a complete list of all persons employed thereon at the time of such departure, and a description of such alien, together with such information likely to be of help to him in the apprehension of any alien employed on such vessel, whether such alien has been discharged in the port of arrival or has absconded prior to the time of departure, and also the names of those, if any, who have been detained by the immigration officers, or reported to the United States Public Health Service for medical treatment, or because of insanity, mental defect, chronic alcoholism, tuberculosis in any form, leprosy, or any dangerous contagious disease, and shall pay a penalty of $10 for each alien concerning whom correct lists are not delivered to the customs district in which the port is located the sum of $10 for each alien concerning whom correct lists are not delivered to a like effect shall be made on the manifest. In order to facilitate inspection of alien seamen, the master, agent, consignee, or owner of any vessel shall furnish a complete list of all alien members of the crew employed on such vessel, arranged in the manner and containing the information required by the Attorney General, and shall pay a penalty

Sworn to before me this ..... day of ..... 19..

Immigration Inspector.

IMPORTANT NOTICE TO MASTER

The list described below shall be prepared on blank forms approved by the Department and be ready for delivery to the immigration inspector boarding the vessel at the port of arrival, and shall be delivered by the master to the principal immigration officer at the port. Arrival at any intermediate port will not be a "workaway," a duplication to that effect shall be made on the manifest. In order to facilitate inspection of aliens seaman, include names of returning American citizen seamen as well as aliens.

EXTRACT FROM ACT OF CONGRESS OF FEBRUARY 2, 1917, AS AMENDED

SEC. 3E. That upon arrival of any vessel in the United States from any foreign port to which vessels operate, all the crew, including officers, coming or arriving in the United States shall be inspected by the principal immigration officer or his assistants at the port of arrival. Any alien crewman ordered deported by the Secretary of Labor shall be detained on board or at such place as may be designated by the immigration officer at the port of arrival and shall be deported with the vessel on which he arrived, or on any vessel on which there is space available, upon the certification of the Secretary of Labor. Any master, agent, consignee, owner, or person in charge of any vessel who shall refuse to allow the inspection of the crew, or any member thereof, or who shall refuse to detain any alien crewman when ordered by the Secretary of Labor, or who shall refuse to deliver to the immigration officer at the port of arrival a correct list of the crew, or who shall refuse to permit any immigrant inspector to go on board of any vessel for the purpose of inspecting the crew, or who shall refuse to detain any alien crewman on board any vessel until the inspection of the crew is completed, or who shall refuse to deliver any alien crewman duly certified for deportation to the custody of the officer in charge of the immigration station at the port of arrival, or who shall refuse to pay the cost of the maintenance of any alien crewman while detained at a station, or who shall refuse to pay the cost of the return transportation of any alien crewman ordered deported, shall be deemed guilty of a misdemeanor and shall be punished by a fine of not more than $1,000 for each alien seaman in respect of whom any such failure occurs, or by imprisonment for a term of not more than one year, or by both such fine and imprisonment, in the discretion of the court. The Attorney General may prescribe rules and regulations governing the detention on board or at a station designated by the immigration officer of any alien crewman required by this section to be detained on board or at such station, and the owner, agent, master, or consignee of any vessel who shall refuse or fail to comply with any such rules and regulations shall be deemed guilty of a misdemeanor and shall be punished by a fine of not more than $300 for each alien seaman in respect of whom any such failure occurs. The Attorney General may, in his discretion, waive the application of this section to crews of vessels touching at ports of the United States solely for the purpose of taking on board bunkers, sailing under the provisions of section 4 of this Act, or landing sick or injured members of the crew, or for other reasons deemed sufficient by the Secretary of Labor, but no bunkers shall be laden on vessels while in dock or discharging cargo unless permission shall have been given by the immigration officer in charge, and then only under such conditions as he may prescribe. Nothing contained in this section shall be construed to amend, repeal, impair, or affect existing treaties of friendship, commerce, or navigation.

SEC. 18. No alien seaman excluded from admission into the United States under the immigration laws shall be permitted to land in the United States from any vessel until the immigration officer in charge at the port of arrival shall have been satisfied that such seaman intends to depart from the United States upon the vessel on which he arrived or upon some other vessel, shall be entered on the proper manifest by the master or commanding officer of the vessel bringing him to the United States, and shall be furnished with a certificate in writing by the master or commanding officer of the vessel stating the fact of the entry of such alien seaman, the vessel on which he is to depart, and the period of time allowed him for departure. Such certificate shall be delivered by the master or commanding officer of the vessel to the immigration officer in charge at the port of arrival at the time of the entry of such alien seaman. Any master, agent, consignee, owner, or person in charge of any vessel who shall refuse or fail to deliver to the immigration officer at the time of departure of such vessel from the United States any alien seaman duly certified for deportation, or who shall refuse or fail to detain any such seaman on board any such vessel until the departure of the vessel from the United States, or who shall refuse or fail to pay the cost of the maintenance of any such alien seaman while detained at a station, or who shall refuse or fail to pay the cost of the return transportation of any such alien seaman ordered deported, shall be deemed guilty of a misdemeanor and shall be punished by a fine of not more than $1,000 for each alien seaman in respect of whom any such failure occurs. (43 Stat. 164; 8 U. S. C. 199.)

SEC. 20. (a) The Attorney General may prescribe rules and regulations for the inspection, examination, and treatment of aliens arriving on vessels at ports of the United States, and shall prescribe rules governing the boarding of such vessels for such purposes. Any person, including any master, agent, consignee, or owner of any vessel, who violates any such rule shall be guilty of a misdemeanor and shall be punished by a fine of not more than $1,000 for each offense. (43 Stat. 164; 8 U. S. C. 199.)

ALIEN SEAMEN

SEC. 13. No alien seaman excluded from admission into the United States under the immigration laws and employed on board any vessel arriving in the United States from any place outside contest, shall be permitted to land in the United States, except temporarily for medical treatment, or urgent, or unforeseen reasons as the Attorney General may prescribe for the alternate deportee, removal, or deportation of such alien from the United States. (43 Stat. 164, 8 U. S. C. 166.)

SEC. 30. (a) The owner, charterer, agent, consignee, or master of any vessel arriving in the United States from any place outside contest other than a contest or possession of the United States shall pay to the collector of customs of the customs district in which the port of arrival is located the sum of $1,000 for each alien seaman in respect of whom such failure occurs. No vessel shall be granted clearance pending the determination of the liability to payment of such sum, or while the same remains unpaid, except that clearance may be granted prior to the determination of such dimension upon the deposit of a sum sufficient to cover such sum, or of a bond with sufficient surety to secure the payment thereof approved by the collector of customs. The Attorney General may, upon application in writing therein, mitigate such penalty or any part thereof. This section, as amended, shall apply to all penalties which have been incurred under section 2 of the Act of June 2, 1924 ($300 for each seaman in respect of whom such failure occurs; upon such terms as the Attorney General in his discretion shall think proper. This section, as amended, shall apply to all penalties which have been incurred under section 2 of the Act of June 2, 1924.

(b) Front that an alien seaman did not depart upon the outgoing manifest of the vessel on which he arrived in the United States from any place outside contest, or that he was rejected by the master of such vessel as a deserter, shall be prima facie evidence to a failure to depart after redirectment by the immigration officer or the Attorney General.

(c) If the Attorney General finds that deportation of the alien seaman on the vessel on which he arrived would cause undue hardship to such seaman he may cause him to be deported on another vessel at the expense of the vessel on which he arrived, but such vessel shall not be granted clearance until such expense has been paid or its payment guaranteed to the satisfaction of the Attorney General.

IMPORTANT NOTICE TO MASTER

The list described below shall be prepared on blank forms approved by the Department and be ready for delivery to the immigration inspector boarding the vessel at the port of arrival. Such list or manifest shall be signed by the master or the person in charge of the vessel. The list of members of alien members of the crew (Form I–418) shall not be returned on board, but shall be delivered by the master to the principal immigration officer at the port. When an alternate seaman is a "workaway," a notation to that effect should be made on the manifest. In order to facilitate inspection of aliens seaman, include names of alternate American citizen seamen as well as aliens.

EXTRACT FROM ACT OF CONGRESS OF FEBRUARY 5, 1917, AS AMENDED

SEC. 36. That upon arrival of vessel in the United States from any foreign port or place if shall be the duty of the owner, agent, consignee, or master thereof to deliver to the principal immigration officer in charge of the port of entry list or manifest of all the alien employees on such vessel, showing the positions they respectively hold in the ship's company, when and where they were respectively shipped or engaged, and specifying those to be held on board the vessel at the time of its entry into port, and such information as the Attorney General shall by regulation prescribe; and upon the arrival of such vessel it shall be the duty of such owner, agent, consignee, or master to report to such immigration officer, in addition to the number of aliens employed on such vessel, the name of each alien employee who will be discharged in the port of entry, together with such information as he may be required to furnish concerning the same; and it shall be the duty of such owner, agent, consignee, or master to deliver to such immigration officer, at the time of the entry of such vessel, a complete list containing the name of all alien employees who were not employed thereon at the time of the entry but who may be employed during the remainder of the period such vessel shall be in port; and it shall be the duty of such owner, agent, consignee, or master to deliver to such immigration officer, at the time of the departure of any such vessel, a list containing the names of all alien employees who were employed thereon at the time of the entry but who may have left the vessel, giving a description of such alien, together with such information likely to lead to his apprehension: and before the departure of any such vessel it shall be the duty of such owner, agent, consignee, or master to report to such immigration officer, in addition to the number of aliens employed, all cases in which any such alien has deserted, and to deliver to such immigration officer a duplicate list containing the names of all such deserting alien employees, and such information in regard to them as may be required by such officer. It shall be the duty of the master of any vessel arriving at a port of the United States from a foreign port or place, if any alien employee has been discharged, died, or deserted therefrom during the voyage, to report the fact, and also the names of such persons, and the cause of such discharge, death, or desertion, to the immigration officer at the port of entry, and to deliver to such officer all the money, baggage, and effects of such alien employee, unless the same be otherwise disposed of according to law. It shall be the duty of the master of any vessel bringing an alien to the United States from a foreign port or place, if such alien shall have been refused a landing at the port of arrival, to return such alien on the vessel which brought him to such port or place, or if that be impracticable, or inconvenient, or unreasonably delay the vessel, then on the vessel next sailing to the country whence she came, or to the country from which such alien embarked, to the port or place where such alien was taken on board. Such master shall not be entitled to demand or receive any payment or commutation for the return of such alien, but shall pay all costs, charges, and expenses of such return, including those of such alien while detained, and shall not be granted clearance from any port of the United States while any such alien remains on board his vessel, or until the immigration officer in charge of the port shall certify that the case of each such alien has been reported to him and that he has been granted or refused a landing or ordered returned to the country whence he came, or to the country from which he embarked, as the case may be. Any master who shall refuse or neglect to perform any of the duties imposed upon him by this section, or who shall violate any of the provisions thereof, shall be punished by a fine of not more than $1,000 for each such offense, or by imprisonment for not more than one year, or by both such fine and imprisonment, in the discretion of the court. (39 Stat. 878; 8 U. S. C. 1940 ed., 136.)

SEC. 18. (a) The owner, charterer, agent, consignee, or master of any vessel bringing to the United States from any place outside the contiguous territory of Canada, Mexico, Newfoundland, Cuba, Puerto Rico, the Virgin Islands of the United States, or the Panama Canal Zone any alien who is not in possession of a valid immigration visa and valid passport, or other travel document in lieu of passport, if required by the Immigration Act of 1924, as amended, or by any regulation made thereunder, or who is not in possession of a valid unexpired immigrant visa, reentry permit, border crossing identification card, or other travel document required by section 13 of the Immigration Act of 1924, as amended, or by any regulation made thereunder, shall pay to the collector of customs of the district in which the vessel shall arrive a penalty of $1,000 for each such alien, or the sum of $300 for each such alien who is a bona fide alien seaman serving as such on the vessel and who is not ineligible to permanent admission to the United States under the immigration laws, unless such seaman is destroyed or lost overboard during the voyage, or unless the inability of such alien to be so documented shall have been reported to the master of the vessel before the departure of the vessel from the last foreign port or place from which she sailed, and entered on the vessel's manifest. Clearance shall not be granted any vessel until the penalties imposed by this section have been paid or secured to be paid, or until the master shall have produced sufficient evidence to show, and has signed a declaration in writing before the collector of customs, that no such alien is on board the vessel. Such evidence may consist of certificates by the consular officers who have visaed the passports or other travel documents of such aliens that such aliens were not permitted to depart from the countries in which the visas were granted, or of certificates by the transportation lines that such aliens were not permitted to board the vessels on which passage had been booked for the reason that they were not in possession of valid passports or other travel documents required by this section. The Attorney General may, upon application in writing therefor, mitigate such penalty to not less than $300 for each such alien, or remit the same upon such terms and conditions as he may deem reasonable and proper, and may specially authorize clearance before the determination of the question of the remission or mitigation of such penalty in any case in which a bond shall be given in such sum and with such sureties as required by the collector of customs, conditioned for the payment of such penalty as may be finally determined by the Attorney General. The Attorney General may, upon like application and in his discretion, remit or mitigate any penalty incurred under this section upon the production of such evidence as may be required by the Attorney General in the case of any alien who was prevented from obtaining the documents required by this section by reason of the refusal of any consular officer to issue the same contrary to law.

(b) Every alien seaman who shall not depart from the United States with the vessel on which he arrived in the United States or who shall land from any vessel at any port in the United States otherwise than in pursuance of the regulations governing seamen, shall be deported as provided in sections 19 and 20 hereof. Any alien seaman who shall desert while his vessel is in port in the United States shall be deported on the vessel on which he arrived unless the master, agent, owner, or consignee of such vessel shall deposit with the Commissioner of Immigration and Naturalization a sum sufficient in the opinion of the Commissioner of Immigration and Naturalization to pay the cost of maintenance of such alien seaman for a period not exceeding five months and the cost of his passage to the port of departure, and shall obtain a certificate from the Commissioner of Immigration and Naturalization that such deposit has been made. Such deposit shall be refunded to the master, agent, owner, or consignee of such vessel upon the certificate of the Commissioner of Immigration and Naturalization that such alien seaman has departed from the United States on a vessel bound for a foreign port or place, or upon the certificate of the master of such vessel that such alien seaman has been duly shipped as a member of the crew of such vessel bound for a foreign port or place, and has left the United States on such vessel. Such deposit may be applied by the Commissioner of Immigration and Naturalization to the cost of maintenance and passage of such alien seaman. Any such alien seaman who shall desert from any vessel after such deposit has been made shall be deported at the expense of the fund so created. Any such deposit not required for the purposes specified in this section shall be refunded to the master, agent, owner, or consignee of the vessel who made the deposit. (39 Stat. 889; 8 U. S. C. 136.)

IMPORTANT NOTICE TO MASTER

The list described below of races or peoples, prepared on plank forms approved by the Department and by regulations prescribed by the Secretary of Labor, is furnished to the master of this vessel for the purpose of showing to the immigration inspector at the port of arrival the race or people to which each alien passenger on board belongs. The list is to be delivered by the master to the principal immigration officer at the port. When an alien passenger is a "non-quota" immigrant, as defined in section 4 (c) of the Immigration Act of 1924, as amended, such fact shall be ascertained and noted on the manifest. In order to facilitate inspection of aliens seamen, including seamen of African (black) race, as well as aliens.

EXTRACT FROM ACT OF CONGRESS OF FEBRUARY 2, 1917, AS AMENDED

SEC. 38. That upon arrival in the United States from a foreign port of a vessel in the possession of the master, agent, consignee, or owner thereof, every alien employed on such vessel, whether the position they temporarily hold in the ship's company when they were transferred to such vessel or subsequently thereto, shall be entered, and shall appear, in a manifest to be prepared by the master, as soon as practicable after the vessel's entry inwards at the port of arrival, in such form and manner as may be prescribed by the Secretary of Labor and approved by the Attorney General, and shall be delivered by the master to the immigration officer in charge at the port of arrival before any such alien shall be landed from such vessel. Such manifest shall contain a description of such alien, together with such information as may be required by the Attorney General for the identification of such alien, and shall also show the name of every alien employed on such vessel, whether such alien is destined to the United States or not, and such information as may be required by the Attorney General in the case of aliens in transit through the United States. Any master who shall refuse or fail to deliver such manifest at the time of port arrival, and any master who shall refuse or fail to enter on such manifest the name of any alien employed on such vessel, or who shall refuse or fail to furnish before the departure of such vessel from a port in the United States a correct list of all such aliens who have been employed on such vessel at any time during the period of such vessel's engagement at such port, and who shall refuse or fail to deliver such list to the immigration officer at the port of departure, or who shall refuse or fail to deliver to the immigration officer at the port of arrival a correct list of all such aliens employed on such vessel who have been discharged or have deserted therefrom during the period of such engagement, and who shall refuse or fail to report the cause for the discharge of each such alien, and the circumstances connected with each such desertion, so far as known to such master, agent, consignee, or owner, shall be punished by a fine of not more than $1,000 for each such offense. The Attorney General may, upon application in writing therefor, mitigate such penalty to not less than $300 for each seaman in respect of whom any default occurs. No vessel shall be cleared from any port of the United States while any penalty imposed by this section on the master thereof remains unpaid, except that clearance may be granted prior to the determination of such question upon the deposit with the collector of customs of a sum sufficient to cover such fine, or to the execution by the master of a bond with sufficient surety to secure the payment thereof, approved by the collector of customs. The Attorney General may, upon application in writing therefor, mitigate such penalty to not less than $1,000 for each alien seaman in respect of whom such default occurs. No vessel shall be cleared from any port of the United States while any fine for failure to deliver manifest, or for any part thereof, remains unpaid, except that clearance may be granted prior to the determination of such question upon the deposit with the collector of customs of a sum sufficient to cover such fine, or to the execution by the master of a bond with sufficient surety to secure the payment thereof, approved by the collector of customs. No vessel shall be cleared while any penalty for bringing into the United States any alien seaman who has deserted from any vessel is imposed upon the master thereof, or while any such penalty remains unpaid. The Attorney General may, upon application in writing therefor, mitigate such penalty to not less than $300 for each alien seaman in respect of whom such default occurs. (43 Stat. 162; 8 U. S. C. 101.)

SEC. 39. (a) The owner, charterer, agent, consignee, or master of any vessel from any place outside the United States, except temporarily for medical treatment, or pursuant to such regulations as the Attorney General may prescribe for the ultimate deportation of such alien from the United States or for such temporary detention as may be necessary to such deportation, shall be permitted to land in the United States from such vessel any alien employed on board thereof who shall have been inspected by the immigration officers at the port of arrival and shall have been certified by such officers to be entitled to land. (43 Stat. 164; 8 U. S. C. 106.)

(b) Every alien seaman excluded from admission into the United States under the immigration laws shall be deported on board the vessel in which he arrived at the port of entry, or on board any vessel which shall be owned by the same interests as the vessel in which he arrived at the port of entry, or on board any vessel which shall be operated by the same interests as the vessel in which he arrived at the port of entry, or on board any vessel which shall be operated by any interests which are controlled by the same interests as the vessel in which he arrived at the port of entry, or on board any vessel which shall be owned by any interests which are controlled

ALIEN SEAMEN

SEC. 13. No alien seaman excluded from admission into the United States under the immigration laws and employed on board any vessel arriving in the United States from any place outside the United States, or destined to depart therefrom, shall be permitted to land in the United States, except temporarily for medical treatment, or because of illness, injury, or quarantine, or for the purpose of obtaining surgical treatment not obtainable on board, after such inspection as the attorney general may prescribe for the alternate detention of deportation of such alien from the United States. (43 Stat. 164; 8 U. S. C. 166.)

SEC. 30. (a) The owner, charterer, agent, consignee, or master of any vessel arriving in the United States from any place outside thereof, except one liable to detain on board any alien seaman employed on such vessel until the immigration officer in charge at the port of arrival has inspected such seaman (which inspection in all cases shall include a personal physical examination by the medical officer of the service), or who fails to detain such seaman on board after such inspection or to deport such seaman if required by such immigration officer at the time of departure of the vessel from the United States, or who fails to report the illness or hospital treatment of such seaman, or who fails to deliver to such immigration officer a complete list of all seamen employed on board such vessel at the time of arrival at the port of arrival, shall pay to the collector of customs of the customs district in which the port of arrival is located the sum of $1,000 for each alien seaman in respect of whom such failure occurs. No vessel shall be granted clearance pending the determination of the liability to payment of such fine, or while the fine remains unpaid, except that clearance may be granted prior to the payment thereof upon the deposit of a sum sufficient to cover such fine, upon application in writing therefor, with such bonding to be approved by the collector of customs. The Attorney General may, upon a bond with sufficient surety to secure the payment thereof, remit the liability to payment of such fine, or any part thereof, in such amount and upon such terms as he shall deem just and reasonable, and shall apply to all pending claims under such terms as the Attorney General in his discretion shall think proper. The action of the Attorney General in remitting fines shall be independent of the action of the Secretary of Labor in the matter of the remission of penalties imposed under section 8 of this Act.

(b) That if any alien seaman did not appear upon the outgoing manifest of the vessel on which he arrived in the United States from any place outside thereof, or land in any territory of the United States, and such vessel departed from the United States without the consent of the Attorney General, the master, agent, owner, charterer, or consignee of such vessel shall be liable to a penalty of $300 for each seaman in respect of whom such failure occurs, upon such terms as the Attorney General in his discretion shall think proper. Such penalty is not less than $300 nor more than $1,000 for each seaman in respect of whom such failure occurs, upon application in writing therefor, within such period as the Attorney General may prescribe, except that clearance may be granted prior to the determination of the liability to the payment of such fine, or while the fine remains unpaid, upon the deposit of a sum sufficient to cover such fine, upon such terms as the Attorney General in his discretion shall think proper. The action of the Attorney General in remitting fines shall be independent of the action of the Secretary of Labor in the matter of the remission of penalties imposed under section 8 of this Act.

(c) If the Attorney General finds that deportation of the alien seamen on the vessel on which he arrived in the United States from any place outside thereof, or that he was removed by the immediate transportation of the vessel on which he arrived in the United States to a foreign port, or to a port in a territory of the United States other than one in which the vessel on which he arrived is owned, and such vessel is not shall not be granted clearance until such expense as

The list described below shall be prepared on blank forms approved by the Department and be ready for delivery to the immigration inspector posted at the vessel at the port of arrival and shall in no instance be taken from the vessel at the port of departure. The list of crewmen (Form I-418) shall not be delivered to aliens, a notation to that effect should be made on the manifest in order to facilitate inspection by the immigrant inspector. When an alien crewman is a "workaway," a notation to that effect should be made on the manifest. In order to facilitate inspection of aliens seamen, include names of arriving American citizen seamen as well as aliens.

SEC. 36. That upon arrival of any vessel in the United States from any foreign port or place it shall be the duty of the owner, agent, consignee, or master thereof to deliver to the principal immigration officer in charge of the port of arrival true lists containing the names of all persons employed on such vessel, stating the positions they respectively hold in the ship's company, when and where they were respectively applied to enlisted, and the capacity in which they are to be employed on the vessel, and also stating the names and last known addresses of all persons who have signed articles to proceed to sea in such vessel and who fail to report for duty, and the cause or reason, as far as known, for such failure; to make oath to the correctness of such lists before the officer to whom the same are delivered; and to produce and deliver up, on demand, to any immigrant inspector all such persons employed on such vessel as shall remain on board thereof at the time of such demand. Any master, owner, agent, consignee, or master of any such vessel who shall refuse or neglect to comply with the requirements of this section shall be punished by a fine of not more than $1,000 for each such offense. No vessel shall be granted clearance papers pending the compliance with the requirements of this section. Any person who shall knowingly make false oath to any matter under this section shall be deemed guilty of perjury, and shall be punished accordingly. The Commissioner of Immigration and Naturalization shall have power to remit fines and penalties incurred under this section or any part thereof whenever in his judgment such remission should be made.

ALIEN SEAMEN

SEC. 13. No alien seaman excluded from admission into the United States under the immigration laws may be employed on board any vessel arriving in the United States from any place outside the United States, except temporarily to the immigration officers, pending the final determination of such alien seaman's right to land in the United States, and shall be deported in the same manner as provided in the case of other aliens excluded from admission into the United States. (43 Stat. 164; 8 U. S. C. 166.)

SEC. 30. (a) The owner, charterer, agent, consignee, or master of any vessel bringing to the United States any alien seaman (which term when used in this section and in section 31 includes a seaman employed on such vessel) shall, prior to the departure of such vessel from the United States, deliver to the immigration officer in charge at the port of departure a manifest in triplicate, in such form as may be prescribed by the Commissioner General of Immigration, containing a complete list of the names of all such alien seamen employed on board such vessel, and such information concerning each such alien seaman as may be required by the Commissioner General of Immigration. Such manifest shall be subscribed and sworn to before the immigration officer by the master of such vessel. Any such owner, charterer, agent, consignee, or master who fails to deliver such manifest, or who refuses or neglects to deliver to any immigrant inspector any such alien seaman for inspection, or who refuses or neglects to detain any such alien seaman on board any vessel or at the dock at which such vessel is docked at any time before the departure of such vessel from the United States, or who refuses or neglects to report to the immigration officer in charge at the port of departure the illness or hospitalization of any such alien seaman, or who refuses or neglects to deliver to the immigration officer in charge at the port of departure any such alien seaman who has been ordered deported, shall pay a penalty of $1,000 for each such offense. The Attorney General may, upon application in writing therefor, remit or mitigate such penalty in such amount as he may deem appropriate. The decision of the Attorney General shall be final as to the remission or mitigation of such penalty. Clearance may be granted any vessel notwithstanding the provisions of this section upon the deposit of a sum sufficient to cover such penalty with the collector of customs, but such deposit shall not be considered a payment of such penalty except upon a remission thereof. Clearance may be granted to any vessel notwithstanding the provisions of this section upon the deposit of a sum sufficient to cover such penalty as a security for the payment thereof, which deposit shall be returned upon the payment of such penalty or upon the remission thereof. Clearance may be granted to any vessel notwithstanding the provisions of this section upon the deposit of a sum sufficient to cover such penalty as a security for the payment thereof, which deposit shall be returned upon the payment of such penalty or upon the remission thereof. Clearance may be granted to any vessel notwithstanding the provisions of this section upon the deposit of a sum sufficient to cover such penalty as a security for the payment thereof, which deposit shall be returned upon the payment of such penalty or upon the remission thereof.

(b) Proof that an alien seaman did not depart upon the outbound manifest of the vessel on which he arrived shall be prima facie evidence to a similar effect in any proceeding for the collection of the penalty provided for in this section. Any alien seaman who fails to depart from the United States shall be deported as provided in this act, and shall be ineligible to admission to the United States thereafter if application is made within five years after the date of such departure, unless prior to such application the Secretary of Labor shall have given his consent to the admission of such alien seaman. Any alien seaman who departs from the United States within the period fixed by the immigration officer in charge at the port of arrival and who fails to return to the United States for permanent residence within four months from the date of such departure shall be deported as an alien seaman who remained in the United States in violation of law. Any alien seaman who fails to depart from the United States within the period fixed by the immigration officer in charge at the port of arrival and who fails to return to the United States for permanent residence within four months from the date of such departure shall be deported as an alien seaman who remained in the United States in violation of law. Any alien seaman who fails to depart from the United States within the period fixed by the immigration officer in charge at the port of arrival and who fails to return to the United States for permanent residence within four months from the date of such departure shall be deported as an alien seaman who remained in the United States in violation of law. Any alien seaman who fails to depart from the United States within the period fixed by the immigration officer in charge at the port of arrival and who fails to return to the United States for permanent residence within four months from the date of such departure shall be deported as an alien seaman who remained in the United States in violation of law.

(c) If the Attorney General finds that a determination of the Attorney General is a detector, shall be prima facie evidence to a similar to deport after readmission to the immigration officer or the Attorney General.

(d) Proof that an alien seaman did not depart upon the outbound manifest of the vessel on which he arrived shall be prima facie evidence to a similar effect in any proceeding for the collection of the penalty provided for in this section. Any alien seaman who fails to depart from the United States within the period fixed by the immigration officer in charge at the port of arrival and who fails to return to the United States for permanent residence within four months from the date of such departure shall be deported as an alien seaman who remained in the United States in violation of law. Any alien seaman who fails to depart from the United States within the period fixed by the immigration officer in charge at the port of arrival and who fails to return to the United States for permanent residence within four months from the date of such departure shall be deported as an alien seaman who remained in the United States in violation of law.

SEC. 30. (a) The owner, charterer, agent, consignee, or master of any vessel bringing to the United States any alien seaman (which term when used in this section and in section 31 includes a seaman employed on such vessel) shall, prior to the departure of such vessel from the United States, deliver to the immigration officer in charge at the port of departure a manifest in triplicate, in such form as may be prescribed by the Commissioner General of Immigration, containing a complete list of the names of all such alien seamen employed on board such vessel, and such information concerning each such alien seaman as may be required by the Commissioner General of Immigration. Such manifest shall be subscribed and sworn to before the immigration officer by the master of such vessel. Any such owner, charterer, agent, consignee, or master who fails to deliver such manifest, or who refuses or neglects to deliver to any immigrant inspector any such alien seaman for inspection, or who refuses or neglects to detain any such alien seaman on board any vessel or at the dock at which such vessel is docked at any time before the departure of such vessel from the United States, or who refuses or neglects to report to the immigration officer in charge at the port of departure the illness or hospitalization of any such alien seaman, or who refuses or neglects to deliver to the immigration officer in charge at the port of departure any such alien seaman who has been ordered deported, shall pay a penalty of $1,000 for each such offense. The Attorney General may, upon application in writing therefor, remit or mitigate such penalty in such amount as he may deem appropriate. The decision of the Attorney General shall be final as to the remission or mitigation of such penalty. Clearance may be granted any vessel notwithstanding the provisions of this section upon the deposit of a sum sufficient to cover such penalty with the collector of customs, but such deposit shall not be considered a payment of such penalty except upon a remission thereof. Clearance may be granted to any vessel notwithstanding the provisions of this section upon the deposit of a sum sufficient to cover such penalty as a security for the payment thereof, which deposit shall be returned upon the payment of such penalty or upon the remission thereof. Clearance may be granted to any vessel notwithstanding the provisions of this section upon the deposit of a sum sufficient to cover such penalty as a security for the payment thereof, which deposit shall be returned upon the payment of such penalty or upon the remission thereof. Clearance may be granted to any vessel notwithstanding the provisions of this section upon the deposit of a sum sufficient to cover such penalty as a security for the payment thereof, which deposit shall be returned upon the payment of such penalty or upon the remission thereof.

(b) Proof that an alien seaman did not depart upon the outbound manifest of the vessel on which he arrived shall be prima facie evidence to a similar effect in any proceeding for the collection of the penalty provided for in this section. Any alien seaman who fails to depart from the United States within the period fixed by the immigration officer in charge at the port of arrival and who fails to return to the United States for permanent residence within four months from the date of such departure shall be deported as an alien seaman who remained in the United States in violation of law. Any alien seaman who fails to depart from the United States within the period fixed by the immigration officer in charge at the port of arrival and who fails to return to the United States for permanent residence within four months from the date of such departure shall be deported as an alien seaman who remained in the United States in violation of law.

(c) If the Attorney General finds that a determination of the Attorney General is a detector, shall be prima facie evidence to a similar to deport after readmission to the immigration officer or the Attorney General.

(d) Proof that an alien seaman did not depart upon the outbound manifest of the vessel on which he arrived shall be prima facie evidence to a similar effect in any proceeding for the collection of the penalty provided for in this section. Any alien seaman who fails to depart from the United States within the period fixed by the immigration officer in charge at the port of arrival and who fails to return to the United States for permanent residence within four months from the date of such departure shall be deported as an alien seaman who remained in the United States in violation of law. Any alien seaman who fails to depart from the United States within the period fixed by the immigration officer in charge at the port of arrival and who fails to return to the United States for permanent residence within four months from the date of such departure shall be deported as an alien seaman who remained in the United States in violation of law.

IMPORTANT NOTICE TO MASTER

The list described below shall be prepared on blank forms approved by the Department and be ready for delivery to the immigration inspectors promptly upon the vessel at the port of arrival, and shall in no instance be taken from the vessel. The list or duplicate of alien members of the crew (Form I-418) shall not be retained on board, but shall be delivered by the master to the principal immigration officer at the port. When an alternate manifest is required, a duplicate must be made on the manifold. In order to facilitate inspection, the names of aliens members of the crew must be entered on the manifest in a "workmanlike" manner. In order to facilitate inspection of alien members of crews, the nationality of each alien member should be shown on the manifest. In the case of citizens of the United States, the words "citizen" or "native" should be entered after the name.

EXTRACT FROM ACT OF CONGRESS OF FEBRUARY 5, 1917, AS AMENDED

SEC. 36. That every alien arriving at any seaport in the United States from any foreign port or place it shall be the duty of the owner, agent, consignee, or master thereof to deliver to the principal immigration officer in charge of the port of arrival lists containing the names of all aliens employed on such vessel, stating the positions they respectively hold in the ships crew, when and where they were respectively shipped or entered, and discharged, from the vessel, and the nationality, last permanent residence, and intended final destination of each alien employed on board, as far as known to the master, owner, agent, consignee, or master thereof, and also the name, age, calling, and last permanent residence of all aliens who may be carried in the steerage of such vessel, and the nationality, final destination, and last permanent residence of each such steerage passenger, as far as known to the master, owner, agent, consignee, or master thereof, and also the name, age, calling, nationality, and last permanent residence of each alien who may be a cabin passenger, as far as known to the master, owner, agent, consignee, or master thereof, and such other information relative to each of said alien members of the crew and cabin and steerage passengers as may be required by the Commissioner General of Immigration, with the approval of the Secretary of Commerce, or master to report to such immigration officer, at Honolulu, as soon as discovered, all cases in which any such alien has been found secreted on board, and such report shall be verified by the oath of the master, owner, agent, consignee, or master thereof, and also by the oath of the officer who may first find such secreted alien on board. Such master, owner, agent, consignee, or master shall also report the sickness or death of any such alien, with the cause thereof, if known, occurring on board such vessel, and shall deliver a list containing the names of all such aliens who may have been buried at sea, with the information required in the case of aliens who may have died and been buried in any port of the United States, and shall also report the cause of sickness of each sick alien, if known, and the condition of each sick alien at the time of the vessel's departure from each port, and shall deliver a list containing the names of all such aliens who may be destitute or insane, and shall report the cause of such destitution or insanity, if known, and the condition of each such alien at the time of the vessel's departure from each port. Such master, owner, agent, consignee, or master shall also report the name of each alien who may be suffering from any contagious disease, and shall furnish such information in regard to the same as may be required by the Commissioner General of Immigration, with the approval of the Secretary of Commerce, and shall deliver a list containing the names of all aliens who may be found on board who have been ordered deported from the United States, and shall furnish such information in regard to the same as may be required by the Commissioner General of Immigration, with the approval of the Secretary of Commerce. Such master, owner, agent, consignee, or master shall also report the name of each alien who may be found on board who is apparently under the age of sixteen years, and who is coming unaccompanied by parent or guardian, and shall furnish such information in regard to the same as may be required by the Commissioner General of Immigration, with the approval of the Secretary of Commerce. Such master, owner, agent, consignee, or master shall also report the name of each alien who may be found on board who is coming to a relative or friend, and shall furnish such information in regard to the same as may be required by the Commissioner General of Immigration, with the approval of the Secretary of Commerce. Such master, owner, agent, consignee, or master shall also report the name of each alien who may be found on board who has been refused a visa to his passport by a consular officer, and shall furnish such information in regard to the same as may be required by the Commissioner General of Immigration, with the approval of the Secretary of Commerce. Such master, owner, agent, consignee, or master shall also report the name of each alien who may be found on board who has been refused admission to the United States by an immigration officer, and shall furnish such information in regard to the same as may be required by the Commissioner General of Immigration, with the approval of the Secretary of Commerce. Such master, owner, agent, consignee, or master shall also report the name of each alien who may be found on board who has been arrested and deported from the United States within one year of the date of such vessel's departure from any port, and shall furnish such information in regard to the same as may be required by the Commissioner General of Immigration, with the approval of the Secretary of Commerce. Such master, owner, agent, consignee, or master shall also report the name of each alien who may be found on board who has been arrested and deported from the United States within five years of the date of such vessel's departure from any port, and shall furnish such information in regard to the same as may be required by the Commissioner General of Immigration, with the approval of the Secretary of Commerce. Such master, owner, agent, consignee, or master shall also report the name of each alien who may be found on board who has been arrested and deported from the United States within ten years of the date of such vessel's departure from any port, and shall furnish such information in regard to the same as may be required by the Commissioner General of Immigration, with the approval of the Secretary of Commerce. Such master, owner, agent, consignee, or master shall also report the name of each alien who may be found on board who has been arrested and deported from the United States within fifteen years of the date of such vessel's departure from any port, and shall furnish such information in regard to the same as may be required by the Commissioner General of Immigration, with the approval of the Secretary of Commerce. Such master, owner, agent, consignee, or master shall also report the name of each alien who may be found on board who has been arrested and deported from the United States within twenty years of the date of such vessel's departure from any port, and shall furnish such information in regard to the same as may be required by the Commissioner General of Immigration, with the approval of the Secretary of Commerce. ALIEN SEAMEN

SEC. 13. No alien seaman excluded from admission into the United States under the immigration laws and employed on board any vessel arriving in the United States from any place outside thereof, shall be permitted to land in the United States, except temporarily for medical treatment, or pursuant to such regulations as the Attorney General may prescribe for the ultimate departure, removal, or deportation of such alien from the United States. (43 Stat. 164; 8 U. S. C. 203.)

SEC. 30. (a) The owner, charterer, agent, consignee, or master of any vessel arriving in the United States from any place outside thereof, who fails to deport such alien seaman on board such vessel unless the immigration officer in charge at the port of arrival has endorsed such alien seaman (which inspection in all cases shall include a personal physical examination by the medical examiner), or who fails to deport any alien seaman on board after such inspection or to deport such seaman if required by such immigration officer at the time of departure of such vessel from such port, shall pay to the collector of customs of the customs district in which the port of arrival is located the sum of $1,000 for each alien seaman in respect of whom such failure occurs. No vessel shall be granted clearance pending the determination of the liability to payment of such fine, or while the fine remains unpaid, except that clearance may be granted prior to the determination of such question upon the deposit of a sum sufficient to cover such fine, or of a bond with sufficient surety to secure the payment thereof approved by the collector of customs. The Attorney General may, upon application in writing therefor, mitigate such penalty to not less than $300 for each seaman in respect of whom such failure occurs, upon such terms as the Attorney General in the discharge shall think proper.

This section as amended shall apply to all penalties which subsequent to June 2, 1924.

(b) Every alien seaman who did not depart upon the outbound manifest of the vessel on which he arrived in the United States from a foreign port or place outside thereof, or that he was temporarily by the master of such vessel as a deserter, shall be prima facie evidence of a failure to obtain or deport alien seaman pursuant to law, unless upon the outbound manifest of the vessel on which he arrived in the United States such alien seaman was specifically noted as left behind with the permission of the Attorney General.

(c) If the Attorney General finds that deportation of the alien seaman on the vessel on which he arrived would cause undue hardship to such seaman he may cause him to be deported on another vessel at the expense of the vessel on which he arrived, and such vessel shall not be granted clearance until such expense has been paid to the satisfaction of the Attorney General.

IMPORTANT NOTICE TO MASTER

The list described below shall be prepared on blank forms approved by the Department and be ready for delivery to the immigration inspector boarding the vessel at the port of arrival, and shall in no instance be taken from the vessel. The list or manifest of passengers of alien enemies (Form 1-420) shall not be destroyed on board, but shall be delivered by the master to the principal immigration officer at the port. When an alternate manifest is required, a duplicate shall be made on the manifest. In order to facilitate inspection of alien enemies, include names of attorney American citizen wherever as well as alien.

EXTRACT FROM ACT OF CONGRESS OF FEBRUARY 2, 1917, AS AMENDED

SEC. 36. That alien arrival of any vessel in the United States from any foreign port or place it shall be the duty of the owner, agent, consignee, or master thereof to deliver to the principal immigration officer in charge at the port of arrival a complete manifest of all aliens embarked on such vessel, stating the additional information called for by such manifest concerning each such alien, as may be required by the Commissioner General of Immigration and approved by the Secretary of Labor, which manifest shall be prepared and delivered at such time and place and in such manner as the Attorney General may by regulations prescribe. Said manifest shall be signed by the master, owner, agent, consignee, or master to deliver to such immigration officer, in writing, as soon as discovered, all cases in which any such alien may have been overlooked in the preparation of said manifest, and shall furnish such information as may be required by such immigration officer with respect to such alien. Any master, owner, agent, consignee, or master who shall refuse or fail to deliver such manifest, or who shall refuse or fail to furnish such information, or who shall refuse or fail to deliver to such immigration officer any such alien, or who shall refuse or fail to detain on board any such alien when required so to do by such immigration officer, or who shall refuse or fail to comply with the provisions of law relating to the removal of any such alien from the United States when ordered so to do by the Secretary of Labor, or any person who shall knowingly make any false statement in any such manifest concerning any such alien, shall be deemed guilty of a misdemeanor and shall be punished by a fine of not more than $1,000 for each such alien in respect to whom such violation occurs, or by imprisonment for not more than one year, or by both such fine and imprisonment, in the discretion of the court. Any such master, owner, agent, consignee, or master who shall refuse or fail to deliver to the proper immigration officer at the time of the departure of the vessel from the last port outside the United States any such alien as may be required by the Secretary of Labor to be specially inquired concerning, and any such master, owner, agent, consignee, or master who shall refuse or fail to deliver either of the certificates required by the provisions of section 19 of this Act, shall be deemed guilty of a misdemeanor and shall be punished by a fine of not more than $1,000 for each such alien in respect to whom such violation occurs. The Attorney General may, upon application in writing therefor, mitigate such penalty or any part thereof, and may remit the whole thereof upon the payment of such sum as he may deem reasonable, not less than the costs and expenses of the proceedings, and shall report to Congress at the beginning of each regular session thereof the name of each person whose penalty has been mitigated or remitted, and the sum paid in each case. Any such penalty may be recovered by the Attorney General, or his assistants, in the name of the United States, in any district in which the vessel may arrive or depart, or in which the master, owner, agent, consignee, or master may be found, and shall be paid into the Treasury of the United States. The Attorney General may, upon application in writing therefor, remit any such penalty or any part thereof upon the payment of such sum as he may deem reasonable, not less than the costs and expenses of the proceedings, and shall report to Congress at the beginning of each regular session thereof the name of each person whose penalty has been remitted, and the sum paid in each case. No vessel shall be cleared while the master, owner, agent, consignee, or master thereof is subject to the payment of any penalty under the provisions of this section, but the Secretary of the Treasury may, in his discretion, issue a pass for such vessel to go to a port of the United States and there be cleared. Nothing in this section shall be construed to relieve any vessel from the payment of any penalty or charge otherwise provided for by law or regulation.

(b) Every alien arriving at a port of the United States from any foreign port or place it shall be the duty of the master, owner, agent, consignee, or master of any vessel bringing to the United States any alien not in possession of a valid unexpired immigration visa, reentry permit, border crossing identification card, or other document required by the Immigration and Nationality Act, and valid passport, to present such alien for examination by an immigration officer at the port of arrival and to detain such alien on board or at such place in the United States as may be designated by the immigration officer pending such examination. Any such master, owner, agent, consignee, or master who shall refuse or fail to present any such alien for examination or to detain any such alien on board or at such place as may be designated by the immigration officer, or who shall refuse or fail to comply with the provisions of law relating to the removal of any such alien from the United States when ordered so to do by the Attorney General, shall be deemed guilty of a misdemeanor and upon conviction thereof shall be punished by a fine of not more than $1,000 for each such alien in respect to whom such violation occurs. The Attorney General may, upon application in writing therefor, mitigate such penalty or any part thereof, and may remit the whole thereof upon the payment of such sum as he may deem reasonable, not less than the costs and expenses of the proceedings, and shall report to Congress at the beginning of each regular session thereof the name of each person whose penalty has been mitigated or remitted, and the sum paid in each case. No vessel shall be cleared while the master, owner, agent, consignee, or master thereof is subject to the payment of any penalty under the provisions of this section, but the Secretary of the Treasury may, in his discretion, issue a pass for such vessel to go to a port of the United States and there be cleared. Nothing in this section shall be construed to relieve any vessel from the payment of any penalty or charge otherwise provided for by law or regulation.

(c) If the Attorney General finds that detention of the alien aboard on the vessel or waiver by the Attorney General, and such vessel may depart prior to such examination

IMPORTANT NOTICE TO MASTER

The list described below shall be prepared on blank forms approved by the Department and be ready for delivery to the immigration inspector boarding the vessel at the port of arrival, and shall in no instance be taken from the vessel. The list of changes of alien members of crew (Form I-418) shall not be returned on board, but shall be delivered by the master to the principal immigration officer at the port. When an alternate seaman is a "workaway," a notation to that effect should be made on the manifest. In order to facilitate inspection of alien seamen, including names of returning American citizen seamen as well as aliens.

EXTRACT FROM ACT OF CONGRESS APPROVED MAY 26, 1924, AS AMENDED

ALIEN SEAMEN

SEC. 13. No alien seaman excluded from admission into the United States under the immigration laws has employed on board any vessel arriving at a port of the United States from any place outside the contiguous countries to the United States, adjacent islands, territory, or waters of any vessel arriving in the United States from any place outside the United States, except upon the certificate of a medical officer at the port of arrival that such alien seaman has been treated in a hospital for such disease or has been found to be free therefrom; or to any alien seaman (except a citizen of the United States) employed on any vessel until the immigration officer in charge at the port of arrival shall have issued to such alien seaman a landing certificate, or permit to land in the United States, except temporarily for medical treatment, or pursuant to such regulations as the Attorney General may prescribe for the proper control of alien seamen employed on vessels touching at ports of the United States. Any alien seaman who shall land in the United States in violation of this section shall be deported in the manner provided in sections 19 and 20 of this Act. Any master, owner, agent, consignee, or charterer of any vessel who shall employ any alien seaman who has been refused a landing certificate or permit to land in the United States, except as provided in this section, shall be deemed guilty of a misdemeanor and upon conviction thereof shall be punished by a fine of not more than $1,000 or by imprisonment for not more than one year, or by both such fine and imprisonment, for each and every such alien seaman so employed. Clearance may be withheld or granted, in the discretion of the Secretary of the Treasury, from any vessel which has on board any alien seaman who has been refused a landing certificate or permit to land in the United States, except as provided in this section, until a bond in the penal sum of $300 for each such alien seaman has been deposited with the collector of customs. The Attorney General may, upon application in writing therefor, remit any such fine or cancel any such bond, if he is satisfied that the alien seaman was not employed contrary to the provisions of this section, or that the alien seaman has been returned to the country to which he belongs, or that the vessel has been unduly detained on account of the sickness of such alien seaman, or that such alien seaman has been taken from the vessel and hospitalized at the expense of the vessel or its owners. Any alien seaman who shall land in the United States in violation of this section shall be deported in the manner provided in sections 19 and 20 of this Act (39 Stat. 889; 8 U. S. C. 155). Any fine collected hereunder shall be paid into the Treasury of the United States and shall be used for the enforcement of the immigration laws. Any master, owner, agent, consignee, or charterer of any vessel who shall refuse to pay any fine imposed upon him by this section shall be punished by a fine of not more than $1,000 or by imprisonment for not more than one year, or by both such fine and imprisonment, in the discretion of the court.

(43 Stat. 154; 8 U. S. C. 180.)

SEC. 30. (a) The owner, charterer, agent, consignee, or master of any vessel bringing to the United States from any place outside the contiguous countries to the United States, except temporarily for medical treatment, or pursuant to such regulations as the Attorney General may prescribe for the proper control of alien seamen employed on vessels touching at ports of the United States, any alien seaman excluded from admission into the United States under the immigration laws and employed on board the vessel arriving in the United States from any place outside the contiguous countries to the United States, adjacent islands, territory, or waters of any vessel arriving in the United States from any place outside the United States, shall be fined in the sum of $1,000 for each alien seaman so employed, and in addition thereto shall be liable to a penalty of $1,000 for each alien seaman so employed, to be recovered by action in the name of the United States. Clearance shall not be granted to any vessel until the immigration officer in charge at the port of arrival has inspected such seamen (which inspection shall be made as soon as practicable after the vessel has been reported and entered), and has certified that each alien seaman employed on such vessel has been treated by a medical officer at the port of arrival for a disease found to exist on board, or has been found to be free therefrom, and has been granted a landing certificate or permit to land in the United States, except temporarily for medical treatment, or pursuant to such regulations as the Attorney General may prescribe for the proper control of alien seamen employed on vessels touching at ports of the United States. Any alien seaman who shall land in the United States in violation of this section shall be deported in the manner provided in sections 19 and 20 of this Act (39 Stat. 889; 8 U. S. C. 155). Any fine collected hereunder shall be paid into the Treasury of the United States and shall be used for the enforcement of the immigration laws. Any master, owner, agent, consignee, or charterer of any vessel who shall refuse to pay any fine imposed upon him by this section shall be punished by a fine of not more than $1,000 or by imprisonment for not more than one year, or by both such fine and imprisonment, in the discretion of the court.

(43 Stat. 154; 8 U. S. C. 180.)

SEC. 32. (a) The owner, charterer, agent, consignee, or master of any vessel bringing to the United States from any place outside the contiguous countries to the United States, except temporarily for medical treatment, or pursuant to such regulations as the Attorney General may prescribe for the proper control of alien seamen employed on vessels touching at ports of the United States, any alien seaman who has been refused a landing certificate or permit to land in the United States, except as provided in this section, shall be deemed guilty of a misdemeanor and upon conviction thereof shall be punished by a fine of not more than $1,000 or by imprisonment for not more than one year, or by both such fine and imprisonment, in the discretion of the court.

(b) Every such alien seaman shall be detained on board the vessel at the expense of the owner thereof until the departure of the vessel from the United States, or, if the Attorney General shall so direct, shall be detained in the custody of the owner of the vessel in a place certified to by the immigration officer in charge at the port of arrival, pending the determination of the question of the right of such alien seaman to enter the United States. Such detention shall be deemed to be detention on board the vessel within the meaning of section 20 of this Act. The Attorney General may, upon application in writing therefor, remit any such fine or cancel any such bond, if he is satisfied that the alien seaman was not employed contrary to the provisions of this section, or that the alien seaman has been returned to the country to which he belongs, or that the vessel has been unduly detained on account of the sickness of such alien seaman, or that such alien seaman has been taken from the vessel and hospitalized at the expense of the vessel or its owners. Any alien seaman who shall land in the United States in violation of this section shall be deported in the manner provided in sections 19 and 20 of this Act (39 Stat. 889; 8 U. S. C. 155). Any fine collected hereunder shall be paid into the Treasury of the United States and shall be used for the enforcement of the immigration laws. Any master, owner, agent, consignee, or charterer of any vessel who shall refuse to pay any fine imposed upon him by this section shall be punished by a fine of not more than $1,000 or by imprisonment for not more than one year, or by both such fine and imprisonment, in the discretion of the court.

IMPORTANT NOTICE TO MASTER

The list described below shall be prepared on blank forms approved by the Department and shall be ready for delivery to the immigrant inspector at the vessel at the port of arrival, but not in advance of taken from the vessel. The list of members of the crew to whom registers or certificates of service (Form I-254) shall not be required to be delivered by the master to the principal immigration officer at the port. When an alphabetical arrangement is desired, a notation to that effect should be made on the manifest. In order to facilitate inspection of alien seamen, lines should be drawn in ink between the names of alien seamen, and the letter A written opposite the name of each alien seaman, as well as on the outside of the list.

SEC. 36. That upon arrival in the United States from any foreign port or place if a part of the cargo of the vessel in which they arrive consists of unclaimed wages of seamen, the master of such vessel shall deliver to the collector of customs a list or manifest of all seamen employed on such vessel, and it shall be the duty of the master, before the vessel shall depart from any port or place in the United States, to report any additions to or changes in said list or manifest, and the cause therefor, which may have occurred by reason of death, desertion, or otherwise, since the vessel arrived at such port or place, and to make oath to the correctness of such list or manifest and of such additions or changes thereto before the collector of customs or his deputy. Such list or manifest shall contain the name, age, nationality, last domicile, and the capacity in which employed of each seaman employed on such vessel, and shall show specifically what disposition has been made of each seaman who has died or deserted or been discharged from such vessel since her last arrival at a port in the United States, and the cause of such death, desertion, or discharge, and the date thereof, and the name, age, nationality, last domicile, and capacity in which employed of each person who has been employed on such vessel since her last arrival at a port in the United States in place of any seaman who has died or deserted or been discharged from such vessel, and the cause of such death, desertion, or discharge, and the date thereof, and shall contain such other information relative to such seamen and such other persons who have been employed on such vessel in place of seamen who have died or deserted or been discharged from such vessel as the Secretary of Commerce may require. Such list or manifest shall be subscribed and sworn to by the master of such vessel before the commissioner of customs or other officer designated by the Secretary of Commerce for the purpose, and the certificate of such oath shall be entered on such list or manifest by the officer administering the same. Any master who shall fail to comply with the requirements of this section shall be liable to a penalty of $100 for each and every such failure, and no such vessel shall be granted clearance pending the determination of the question of the liability to the payment of such penalty and the payment of any penalty finally incurred thereunder; and no such vessel shall be granted clearance in any such case while it remains unpaid; nor shall such fine be remitted or refunded: Provided, That clearance may be granted prior to the determination of such question upon deposit of a sum sufficient to cover such fine. (39 Stat. 874; 8 U. S. C. 191.)

ALIEN SEAMEN

SEC. 13. (a) No alien seaman excluded from admission into the United States under the immigration laws may be employed on board any vessel arriving in the United States from any place outside the United States, except temporarily for medical treatment, or pursuant to such regulations as the Attorney General may prescribe for the sickness, repatriation of such alien from the United States. (43 Stat. 164; 8 U. S. C. 166.)

SEC. 30. (a) The owner, charterer, agent, consignee, or master of any vessel bringing to the United States from any place outside contiguous territory any alien seaman (which inspection in all cases shall include a personal physical examination by the medical examiners), shall pay to the collector of customs at the port of arrival a head tax of $8 for each such alien seaman, and a further sum sufficient to cover the cost of maintenance of each such alien seaman at a hospital, from the date certified by the medical examiners, to the date of the certificate of discharge, but not exceeding $8 per week, pending the certification of such alien seaman by the medical examiners. Any such alien seaman who is certified by the medical examiners to be afflicted with a loathsome or dangerous contagious disease shall be detained at the expense of the owner, charterer, agent, consignee, or master of the vessel bringing him to the United States until he is certified by the medical examiners to be free from such disease, and the cost of his maintenance shall be paid as provided in this section. Any such alien seaman who is certified by the medical examiners to be afflicted with any mental disease or defect existing prior to the time of his coming to the United States shall be deported as provided in sections 19 and 20 of this Act. Any such alien seaman who becomes a public charge within two years after his entry into the United States from causes existing prior to his entry shall be deported as provided in sections 19 and 20 of this Act. Any such alien seaman who is found on board any vessel after such inspection or to have deserted any vessel in the United States may be arrested without warrant by any officer designated by the Secretary of Labor for the purpose, in the manner provided for the arrest of aliens in section 19 of this Act, and shall be delivered to the master of the vessel on which he arrived in the United States, or to the master of any vessel which will accept him for transportation to the country whence he came, or to the master of any vessel which will accept him for transportation to any country which will receive him, at the option of the Secretary of Labor. The cost of maintenance of such alien seaman, pending his delivery to the master of such vessel, shall be paid by the owner, charterer, agent, consignee, or master of the vessel bringing him to the United States. If the master of such vessel shall refuse or neglect to receive such alien seaman when ordered so to do, or shall fail to pay the cost of maintenance as provided in this section, he shall be liable to a penalty of $1,000 for each alien seaman in respect of whom such failure occurs. No vessel shall be granted clearance pending the determination of the liability to payment of such penalty, except that clearance may be granted prior to the determination upon the deposit of a sum sufficient to cover such penalty. The Secretary of Labor may, upon application in writing therefor, mitigate such penalty to not less than $300 for each seaman in respect of whom such failure occurs, upon such terms as the Attorney General in the discretion shall think proper. (8 U. S. C. 166.)

(b) Every alien seaman shall not be allowed to land in the United States from any vessel on which he arrived in the United States from any place outside contiguous territory, or to land in any foreign port, unless a complete manifest of the vessel on which he arrived in the United States of the names of all persons on board, with such additional information concerning each person as may be required by the Secretary of Labor, shall be prior to the departure of the vessel from each such foreign port delivered by the master to the immigrant officer in charge at the port of departure, and a duplicate thereof delivered to the master of the vessel, who shall deliver it to the immigrant officer at the port of arrival in the United States. Any master who shall fail to deliver such manifest or duplicate thereof shall pay a penalty of $10 for each alien concerning whom correct information is not furnished, but such penalty shall not be remitted or refunded; and no such vessel shall be granted clearance pending the determination of the question of the liability to the payment of such penalty and the payment of any penalty finally incurred thereunder; and no such vessel shall be granted clearance until such penalty has been paid or its payment guaranteed to the satisfaction of the Attorney General.

(c) If the Attorney General finds that deportation of the alien seamen on the vessel on which he arrived would cause undue hardship to such seamen because of the immigration effect of the Attorney General.

(d) Every alien seaman shall not be allowed to land in the United States from any vessel at any port other than the one at which he was originally inspected by the immigrant inspectors, unless he has in his possession a permit issued by the Secretary of Labor, which permit shall be issued only upon the order of the Board of Special Inquiry at the port where the vessel first arrives, and only upon the condition that the alien seaman will depart on the vessel on which he arrived or on some other vessel within such time as may be fixed by the Secretary of Labor, not exceeding five days, unless in case of sickness or other cause beyond the control of the alien seaman the Secretary of Labor shall extend the time within which he may depart. Any alien seaman who fails to depart within the time limited in his permit shall be deported as provided in this section. (43 Stat. 164–165, 58 Stat. 818; 8 U. S. C. 191 (d), 191 (e).)

IMPORTANT NOTICE TO MASTER

The list described below shall be prepared on blank forms approved by the Department and be ready for delivery to the immigration inspector boarding the vessel at the port of arrival, but shall be delivered by the master to the principal immigration officer at the port of arrival (from 1–68 shall not be required on board, but shall be delivered by the master to the principal immigration officer at the port. "Motorways," a notation to that effect should be made on the manifest. In order to facilitate inspection of aliens seaman, include names of returning American citizen seamen as well as aliens.

EXTRACT FROM ACT OF CONGRESS OF FEBRUARY 2, 1917, AS AMENDED

SEC. 36. That upon arrival of vessel in the United States from any foreign port or place it shall be the duty of the owner, agent, consignee, or master thereof to deliver to the principal immigration officer in charge of the port of arrival list containing the names of all aliens employed on such vessel, stating the positions they respectively hold in the ship's company, when and where they were respectively shipped or engaged, and specifying those to be held on board at the time of such arrival; to list containing the names of all such aliens as the Attorney General shall by regulation prescribe; and such list shall be produced on board such vessel at the time of such arrival and then and there delivered to the immigrant inspector or such other officer as the Attorney General may designate, and such list shall be corrected, if necessary, by erasing therefrom the name of any alien who shall have left the vessel, and by adding thereto the name of any alien who shall have joined the vessel subsequent to the preparation of the original list, and the reasons for such additions and erasures, so far as known. Before any such alien shall be landed from such vessel it shall be the duty of such owner, agent, consignee, or master to deliver to the immigrant inspector a certificate that the names of all aliens employed on such vessel at the time of its arrival at such port have been correctly entered on such list, and that no member of the crew of such vessel has been discharged or left behind in such port except as specified and reported to the immigrant inspector at the time of such arrival, and that no alien has been allowed to land from such vessel except as provided by law. Any owner, agent, consignee, or master of any such vessel who shall refuse or neglect to deliver such list, or who shall refuse or neglect to make such certificate, or who shall refuse or neglect to make any such report, or who shall make any false statement in connection therewith, shall pay to the collector of customs for the district in which the port of arrival is located the sum of $10 for each alien concerning whom correct lists are not delivered to a true report is not made as above as above required; and no such vessel shall be granted clearance papers until the determination of the question of the liability to the payment of such fines, and in the event such fine is imposed, while it remains unpaid no vessel shall be permitted to leave such port or place for the determination of such question upon deposit of a sum sufficient to cover such fine. (39 Stat. 888–889; 8 U. S. C. 171.)

EXTRACT FROM 8 CFR 150

SEC. 150.15. Lists of alien employees; when clearance of vessel denied. Clearance shall not be granted any vessel until the lists required by section 36 of the Immigration Act of 1917 (39 Stat. 886; 8 U. S. C. 171), have been furnished, and not then unless notice of intention to the administrative fine prescribed by said section or to fines prescribed by section 32 of said Act (39 Stat. 886; 8 U. S. C. 168) prior have been served, the deposit specified in 11.150.13–150.17, has been made.

ALIEN SEAMEN

EXTRACT FROM ACT OF CONGRESS APPROVED MAY 26, 1924, AS AMENDED

SEC. 13. No alien seaman excluded from admission into the United States under the immigration laws shall be employed on board any vessel arriving in the United States from any place outside thereof, shall be permitted to land in the United States, except temporarily for medical treatment, or pursuant to such regulations as the Attorney General may prescribe for the ultimate departure, removal, or deportation of such alien from the United States. (43 Stat. 164; 8 U. S. C. 168.)

SEC. 50. (a) The owner, charterer, agent, consignee, or master of any vessel arriving in the United States from any place outside thereof, shall pay for each alien seaman (under immigration) to be employed on board such vessel until the immigration officer in charge at the port of arrival has inspected such seaman (which inspection in all cases shall include a personal physical examination by such immigration officer at the port of arrival), or has caused such seaman to be inspected by such other officer as the Attorney General may designate for the determination of whether such alien seaman is entitled to land in the United States, except that clearance may be granted prior to the determination of the inadmissibility of such alien seaman if the owner, charterer, agent, consignee, or master of such vessel deposits with the collector of customs for the customs district in which the port of arrival is located the sum of $1,000 for each alien seaman in respect of whom such failure occurs. No vessel shall be granted clearance pending the determination of the inadmissibility of any alien seaman, except that clearance may be granted prior to the determination upon the deposit with the collector of customs. The Attorney General may, upon application in writing therefor, withdraw such deposit or any portion thereof or any interest or income thereon, if he is satisfied that such alien seaman has been properly treated while in the United States. Any such withdrawal shall be made only upon the certificate of the Attorney General that such alien seaman has complied with the conditions of his admission into the United States, or upon the certificate of the Attorney General that such alien seaman has been deported at the expense of the vessel or owner, or that such alien seaman has been granted permission to land temporarily or permanently in the United States, or has died, or has been taken from the vessel for hospitalization, and that no charge for the maintenance, hospitalization, burial, or deportation of such alien seaman is outstanding against the vessel or owner

EXTRACT FROM ACT OF CONGRESS OF FEBRUARY 5, 1917, AS AMENDED

SEC. 38. That upon arrival of any vessel in the United States from any foreign port or place it shall be the duty of the owner, agent, consignee, or master thereof to deliver to the principal immigration officer in charge of the port of arrival a complete manifest of all persons on board such vessel, stating the positions they respectively occupy on board such vessel, stating the particulars required by such immigration officer in regard to each and every person on board, before the departure of any such vessel from the port or place at which such manifest is required. Such manifest shall be signed by the master of such vessel, and delivered to such immigration officer at the time of the vessel's entry. Any master, owner, agent, consignee, or master of any such vessel who refuses to deliver to the immigration officer such manifest, or who knowingly and willfully delivers a false manifest, or who refuses to allow such immigration officer to enter and search such vessel, or who refuses to deliver to such immigration officer any person on board such vessel, or who refuses to detain any person on board such vessel when required to do so by such immigration officer, or who refuses to allow such immigration officer to take such person or persons from such vessel, or who refuses to pay the head tax provided for in section 2 of this Act for each and every alien on board such vessel, or who refuses to deliver to such immigration officer any letter, paper, or document touching the right of any alien to enter the United States which may be in his possession or under his control on board such vessel, or who refuses to truthfully answer such questions as may be propounded by such immigration officer touching the right of any alien to enter the United States, shall be deemed guilty of a misdemeanor, and shall be punished by a fine not exceeding $1,000 or by imprisonment for a term not exceeding one year, or by both such fine and imprisonment, in the discretion of the court. Such vessel shall be required to remain at the port of arrival pending the determination of the question of the right of any alien to land, and such determination shall be made within four days after the inspection of such alien has been completed, unless the immigration officer in charge of the port shall extend the time in his discretion. Pending such determination, such alien shall be detained in such manner as the immigration officer in charge of the port may direct. All aliens ordered excluded shall be kept in the custody of the master of the vessel on board the vessel on which they arrived, and the cost of their detention and maintenance while on board shall be paid by the master of the vessel. The cost of their detention on land after they have been removed from the vessel shall be paid from the appropriation for the enforcement of this Act. Any master who shall refuse to receive any such alien back on board his vessel or to detain him thereon during the period of his detention on shore, or who shall refuse to pay the cost of such detention on shore, shall be liable to a penalty of $300 for each alien with respect to whom such violation occurs. The Attorney General may, upon application in writing therefor, mitigate such penalty to not less than $1,000 for each alien seaman in respect of whom such violation occurs. No vessel shall be granted clearance pending the determination of such question of law or fact, or while the fine remains unpaid, except that clearance may be granted prior to the determination upon the deposit by the master of a sum sufficient to cover such fine, or of a bond with sufficient surety to secure the payment thereof approved by the collector of customs. The Attorney General may, upon application in writing therefor, mitigate such penalty to not less than $300 for each seaman in respect of whom such violation occurs. No vessel shall be granted clearance pending the determination of such question of law or fact, or while the fine remains unpaid, except that clearance may be granted prior to the payment thereof upon the deposit

IMPORTANT NOTICE TO MASTER

The list described below shall be prepared on blank forms approved by the Department and be ready for delivery to the immigration inspector boarding the vessel at the port of arrival, and shall in no instance be taken from the vessel. The list of changes of alien members of crews (Form I-418) shall not be returned on board, but shall be delivered by the master to the principal immigration officer at the port. When an arriving seaman is a "workaway," a notation to that effect should be made on the manifest. In order to facilitate inspection of alien seamen, including names of arriving American citizen seamen as well as aliens.

EXTRACT FROM ACT OF CONGRESS OF FEBRUARY 5, 1917, AS AMENDED

SEC. 36. That upon arrival of any vessel in the United States from any foreign port or place it shall be the duty of the master, owner, agent, consignee, or master thereof to deliver to the principal immigration officer in charge of the port or district at which the vessel shall first arrive a complete list or manifest of all aliens employed on such vessel, showing the position which they respectively hold in the ship's company, when and where they were respectively shipped or engaged, and the object for which they have come to the United States, and such other information as the Attorney General may require. Such list or manifest shall be in such form and contain such particulars as the Attorney General shall by regulation prescribe; and after the arrival of any such vessel it shall be the duty of such master, owner, agent, consignee, or master to report to such immigration officer, in writing, as soon as discovered, all cases in which any alien employed on such vessel has illegally landed from the vessel, giving a description of such alien, together with any information likely to lead to his apprehension; and before the departure of any such vessel it shall be the duty of such master, owner, agent, consignee, or master to deliver to such immigration officer a further list containing the names of all alien employees who were not employed thereon at the time of the arrival and who have been employed thereon at any time during the period intervening between the time of the arrival and the time of the departure of such vessel, and also the names of those, if any, who have been discharged, and the cause, if any, for such discharge, respectively, so far as known or ascertained by the master, owner, agent, consignee, or master of such vessel. Any master, owner, agent, consignee, or master of any such vessel who shall refuse or neglect to deliver such list or manifest, or to report any such case of desertion or discharge, or who shall knowingly and willfully report falsely or make any false statement in any such report, or who shall refuse to answer any question put to him by any such immigration officer touching any matter or thing concerning the right of any alien to enter the United States, or who shall refuse to detain in custody or on board such vessel any alien when ordered so to do by such immigration officer, or who shall refuse to permit any such immigration officer to go on board such vessel for the purpose of examining any alien thereon, or who shall refuse to carry any such alien to the port from which such vessel came to the United States, when ordered so to do by such immigration officer, shall be deemed guilty of a misdemeanor, and upon conviction thereof shall be punished by a fine of not more than $1,000 or by imprisonment for not more than one year, or by both such fine and imprisonment, for each and every such offense. (39 Stat. 884, 8 U. S. C. 180.)

SEC. 37. (a) The owner, charterer, agent, consignee, or master of any vessel bringing to the United States from any place outside thereof (other than from Canada or Mexico) any alien (which immigration officer in charge at the port of arrival may have inspected such alien on board such vessel) who is afflicted with any loathsome or dangerous contagious disease, shall pay to the collector of customs of the district in which the port of arrival is located the sum of $1,000 for each alien so afflicted, unless such alien shall have been in the United States for one year prior to the date of his arrival. No vessel shall be granted clearance papers from the port of arrival pending the determination of the question of the payment of such fine, or while the fine remains unpaid, except that clearance may be granted prior to the determination upon the deposit of a bond with sufficient surety to secure the payment thereof, approved by the collector of customs. The Attorney General may, upon application in writing therefor, mitigate such penalty to not less than $300 for each alien in respect of whom such fine occurs. Upon such refund the Attorney General is authorized to pay a like sum.

The section, as amended, shall apply to all immigrant aliens irrespective of the vessel on which they arrived in the United States from any place outside thereof, or shall have been brought to the United States from any foreign port or place by the master or owner of such vessel as a steerage passenger or a member of the crew thereof, shall be prima facie evidence of a failure to deport such alien.

(b) Proof that an alien seaman did not appear upon the outgoing manifest of the vessel on which he arrived in the United States from any place outside thereof, or that such alien has been reported by the master of such vessel as a deserter, shall be prima facie evidence of a failure to deport such alien.

(c) If the Attorney General finds that deportation of the alien seaman on the vessel on which he arrived, has been prevented by reason of the refusal of the master, owner, agent, consignee, or master of such vessel to pay the tax provided for in section 2 hereof, the Attorney General is authorized to withhold clearance until such tax has been paid or its payment guaranteed to the satisfaction of the Attorney General.

SEC. 150.15. Liens of alien employees: when clearance of vessel denied. Clearance shall not be granted any vessel until the liens created by section 30 of the Immigration Act of 1917 (39 Stat. 886; 8 U. S. C. 171), have been furnished, and not then unless notice of withdrawal of the application therefor has been received, or the deposit specified in §§ 150.21–150.24, has been made.

ALIEN SEAMEN

SEC. 18. No alien seaman excluded from admission into the United States under the immigration laws has employed on board any vessel arriving in the United States from any place outside thereof, shall be permitted to land in the United States, except temporarily for medical treatment, or pursuant to such regulations as the Attorney General may prescribe for the ultimate deportation of such alien from the United States. (43 Stat. 164, 8 U. S. C. 168.)

SEC. 20. (a) The owner, charterer, agent, consignee, or master of any vessel bringing to the United States from any place outside thereof (other than from Canada or Mexico) any alien seaman (which immigration officer in charge at the port of arrival has inspected such seaman (which inspection in all cases shall include a personal physical examination by the medical examiner), for whom there is held a certificate of the Public Health Service that such alien seaman is suffering from any of the diseases or mental defects specified in section 2 of the Immigration Act of 1917, shall pay to the collector of customs of the district in which the port of arrival is located the sum of $1,000 for each alien seaman in respect of whom such failure occurs. No vessel shall be granted clearance pending the determination of the question of the payment of such fine, or while the fine remains unpaid, except that clearance may be granted prior to the determination upon the deposit of a bond with sufficient surety to secure the payment thereof, approved by the collector of customs. The Attorney General may, upon application in writing therefor, mitigate such penalty to not less than $300 for each seaman in respect of whom such failure occurs. Upon such refund the Attorney General is authorized to pay a like sum.

The section, as amended, shall apply to all immigrant aliens irrespective of the vessel on which he arrived in the United States from any place outside thereof, or shall have been brought to the United States from any foreign port or place by the master or owner of such vessel as a steerage passenger or a member of the crew thereof, shall be prima facie evidence of a failure to deport such alien.

(d) Proof that an alien seaman did not appear upon the outgoing manifest of the vessel on which he arrived in the United States from any place outside thereof, or that such alien has been reported by the master of such vessel as a deserter, shall be prima facie evidence of a failure to deport such alien.

(e) If the Attorney General finds that deportation of the alien seaman on the vessel on which he arrived, has been prevented by reason of the refusal of the master, owner, agent, consignee, or master of such vessel to pay the tax provided for in section 2 hereof, the Attorney General is authorized to withhold clearance until such tax has been paid or its payment guaranteed to the satisfaction of the Attorney General.

ALIEN SEAMEN

SEC. 13. No alien seaman excluded from admission into the United States under the immigration laws but employed on board a vessel entering in the United States from a place outside thereof, shall be permitted to land in the United States, except temporarily for medical treatment, or pursuant to such regulations as the Attorney General may prescribe for the adjudicate deportation, removal, or deportation of such alien from the United States. (43 Stat. 164, 8 U. S. C. 180.)

SEC. 20. (a) The owner, charterer, agent, consignee, or master of any vessel bringing to the United States from any place outside thereof (other than Canada or Mexico) any alien (which term when used in this section includes a person of African nativity and of the Negro race) who is destined to a port thereof in the United States, shall be responsible for the payment of the head tax and the immigrant's fee required in the case of such alien by section 2 of the Act of February 5, 1917, and for the expenses of the maintenance, medical treatment, and burial of such alien, while he is a member of the crew of such vessel and until the departure of such vessel from the port of arrival, and for the return of such alien to the place from which he came to the port of arrival, or to the place from which such vessel sailed to such port, or to any other place to which the payment of his transportation is agreed to by the owner, charterer, agent, consignee, or master of such vessel, and for the payment of the hospital expenses of such alien after his departure from the port of arrival, if he is certified by the Public Health Service to be suffering from a disease or condition which is likely to lead to his becoming a public charge within one year after his arrival in the United States. Such head tax shall be paid before the vessel on which such alien arrives shall depart from the port of arrival, and such expenses of maintenance, medical treatment, burial, and return shall be paid before the departure of the vessel from any port in the United States on which such alien may be employed as a member of the crew or otherwise. Such head tax and such expenses shall be a lien upon such vessel, which may be enforced by libel in the district court of the United States for the district in which such vessel may arrive, depart, or be found, and clearance may be withheld from any vessel upon which such head tax or such expenses remain unpaid. The Attorney General may, upon application in writing therefor, mitigate such penalty or cancel the same in whole or in part under such conditions as he may deem just and proper. The decision of the Attorney General shall be final as to the facts to be found by him and the amount of penalty to be remitted or canceled. The Attorney General may, upon application in writing therefor, remit the head tax provided for in this section in the case of any alien who is in possession of a valid nonimmigrant visa and who is in transit through the United States to a foreign contiguous territory or adjacent island and who establishes to the satisfaction of the Attorney General that he intends in good faith to depart from the United States within thirty days after his arrival at a port of the United States, and that he is unable to depart within such period because of conditions which could not reasonably be foreseen before the departure of the vessel from the last foreign port at which it touched, and that he has sufficient funds to depart from the United States within such period, and that he will depart within such period unless prevented from so doing by such conditions.

(b) Any such head tax, hospital expenses, or expenses of maintenance, medical treatment, burial, and return, for the payment of which the master, agent, consignee, or owner of any vessel is liable, may be remitted or canceled by the Attorney General in his discretion, upon the application of such master, agent, consignee, or owner, if it is shown to the satisfaction of the Attorney General that such master, agent, consignee, or owner has complied with such rules and regulations governing the administration of this section as may be prescribed by the Attorney General, and that such master, agent, consignee, or owner has not connived at or consented to the illegal landing of such alien, and that such master, agent, consignee, or owner has not been negligent in the performance of any duty imposed upon him by this section or by the immigration laws or the rules and regulations made pursuant thereto, and that such master, agent, consignee, or owner has in all other respects acted in good faith in the premises. The decision of the Attorney General shall be final as to the facts to be found by him and the amount of penalty to be remitted or canceled. The Attorney General may prescribe the conditions upon which applications for the remission of penalties may be made, and may withhold action upon any such application pending the production of such witnesses or the taking of such depositions as he may deem necessary. (43 Stat. 164, 8 U. S. C. 180.)

EXTRACT FROM 8 CFR 150

SEC. 150.15. Libels of alien embryos: when clearance of vessel denied. Clearance shall not be granted any vessel until the libel required by section 36 of the Immigration Act of 1917 (39 Stat. 886; 8 U. S. C. 171), have been finished, and not then unless notice of libel is served upon the master of such vessel by the marshal of the district in which the port of arrival is located, and a certificate of the marshal filed with the collector of customs of the customs district in which the port of arrival is located to the effect that the amount of the bond required by section 36 of the Act of May 26, 1924 (39 Stat. 888; 8 U. S. C. 181), has been made.

EXTRACT FROM ACT OF CONGRESS OF FEBRUARY 5, 1917, AS AMENDED

SEC. 36. That upon arrival of any vessel in the United States from any foreign port or place it shall be the duty of the owner, agent, consignee, or master thereof to deliver to the principal immigration officer in charge of the port of arrival lists containing the names of all aliens employed on such vessel, arranged the positions they respectively hold in the ship's company, when and where they were respectively shipped or engaged, and specifying those to be held on board in the port of arrival; or lists containing so much of such information as may be required by regulations prescribed by the Immigration Service; and after the arrival of the vessel it shall be the duty of such owner, agent, consignee, or master to report to such immigration officer, in writing, as soon as discovered, all cases in which any such alien has illegally landed from the vessel, giving a description of such alien, together with such information likely to lead to his apprehension; and before the departure of such vessel from any port of the United States it shall be the duty of such owner, agent, consignee, or master to deliver to such immigration officer a further list containing the names of those, if any, who have been hired on board at the time of the departure of the vessel from such port, and also the names of those, if any, who have been discharged, and the cause of such discharge, and the names of those, if any, who have deserted or left the vessel, and the circumstances connected therewith, so far as known to the master, agent, consignee, or owner. Such lists shall be in such form and contain such further information as may be required by regulations prescribed by the Immigration Service. Any such master, agent, consignee, or owner who refuses or neglects to deliver such lists, or who refuses to report any such case of desertion or landing, shall, upon conviction thereof, be punished by a fine of not more than $1,000 for each such offense, or by imprisonment for not more than one year, or by both such fine and imprisonment, and the vessel shall be liable for the payment of any such fine, or may be libeled for the same and seized and sold to pay the amount thereof, which shall constitute a lien upon the vessel, and clearance may be withheld from any vessel upon which such fine has been imposed, until it is paid or a sufficient sum deposited to cover such fine. (39 Stat. 888–890; 8 U. S. C. 171.)

IMPORTANT NOTICE TO MASTER

The list described below shall be prepared on blank forms approved by the Department and be ready for delivery to the immigration inspector pending the vessel at the port of arrival, and shall in no instance be taken from the vessel. The list of changes of alien members, if any, shall not be required to be delivered by the master to the principal immigration officer at the port thereof. When an alien seaman is a "workaway" a notation to that effect should be made on the manifest. In order to facilitate inspection of alien seamen, include names of native American citizen seamen as well as aliens.

_____
Immigrant Inspector.

IMPORTANT NOTICE TO MASTER

The list described below shall be prepared on blank forms approved by the Department and be ready for delivery to the immigration inspector boarding the vessel at the port of arrival, and shall in no instance be taken from the vessel. The list of changes of alien members of the crew (Form I–95A) shall not be furnished on board, but shall be delivered by the master to the principal immigration officer at the port. When an alternate seaman is a "motorman," a notation to that effect should be made on the manifest. In order to facilitate inspection of alien seamen, include names of alternate American citizen seamen as well as aliens.

SEC. 30. Time upon arrival of any vessel in the United States from any foreign port or place it shall be the duty of the owner, agent, consignee, or master thereof to deliver to the principal immigration officer in charge at the port of arrival like manifest of all the alien members of the crew of such vessel, arranging the positions they respectively hold in the ship's company, where and where they were respectively shipped or engaged, and specifying those of the said alien seamen employed on such vessel until the immigration officer in charge at the port of arrival or like officer to whom the master, agent, consignee, or owner has been required to deliver the list shall have consented in writing to the departure of such alien seamen, which consent may be given at any time after the vessel has been admitted to entry, and shall be delivered by the master to the collector of customs upon the vessel's clearance. Any master, agent, consignee, or owner who shall refuse or neglect to deliver such list, or who shall fail to report the illness or hospital treatment of any alien seaman, or who shall fail to detain any alien seaman specified in such list, or who shall fail to deliver him on board the vessel before the departure of the vessel from each port, or who shall fail to report the cause of any vacancy occurring otherwise than by discharge in such list, shall be liable to a penalty of $300 for each such offense: Provided, That the penalty shall not attach in case of the failure of any alien seaman to join the vessel at any port or place where the vessel touches in the regular course of her voyage if the master, agent, consignee, or owner of such vessel shall prove to the satisfaction of the Secretary of Labor that such failure was not caused by any fault or negligence on the part of the master, agent, consignee, or owner, and that he has used due diligence to secure the return on board of such seaman: Provided, That the Secretary of Labor may, in his discretion, remit any penalty or portion thereof incurred under the provisions of this section when it appears that the same was incurred through inadvertence and without wilful intent to evade the requirements of this section. (39 Stat. 888–889; 8 U. S. C. 171.)

EXTRACT FROM 8 CFR 150

SEC. 150.15. Limit of alien employees; new clearance of vessel denied. Clearance shall not be granted any vessel until the limit fixed by section 30 of the immigration act of 1917 (39 Stat. 888; 8 U. S. C. 171),[1] have been complied; and not then unless notice of intention to the administrative fine prescribed by said section or to fine prescribed by section 35 of said Act (39 Stat. 888; 8 U. S. C. 168) penalty need waived, the deposit specified in 8 CFR 150.13–150.17, has been made.

EXTRACT FROM ACT OF CONGRESS APPROVED MAY 26, 1924, AS AMENDED

ALIEN SEAMEN

SEC. 18. No alien seaman excluded from admission into the United States under the immigration laws shall be employed on board any vessel arriving in the United States from any place outside thereof, shall be permitted to land in the United States, except temporarily for medical treatment, or pursuant to such regulations as the Attorney General may prescribe for the ultimate departure, removal, or deportation of such alien from the United States. (43 Stat. 164; 8 U. S. C. 188.)

SEC. 30. (a) The owner, charterer, agent, consignee, or master of any vessel arriving in the United States from any place outside thereof who fails to deport on board any vessel such inspected alien seaman employed on such vessel until the immigration officer in charge at the port of arrival has inspected such seaman (which inspection he is hereby required to do upon such seaman's arrival), and has delivered to such immigration officer a certificate of the medical examiner, to the effect that such seaman (which inspection he is hereby required to do upon such seaman's arrival) and has delivered to such immigration officer a certificate of the medical examiner, to the effect that such seaman has been found free from any of the diseases or mental or physical defects which would be the cause of his exclusion from the United States under the provisions of section 2 of this Act, shall be deemed guilty of a misdemeanor, and upon conviction thereof shall be punished by a fine of not more than $1,000 for each alien seaman in respect of whom such failure occurs: Provided, That the Attorney General may, upon application in writing therefor, in his discretion, and upon the deposit of such sum, not exceeding $300 for each seaman in respect of whom such failure occurs, as he may require to insure the return of such seaman, grant a permit to any master, agent, consignee, or owner to take from the United States to a foreign port any seaman who is a native of the country to which such vessel belongs, or who has been in the United States for a period of less than five years, or who has a wife or child in such country, or who has previously declared his intention to become a citizen of the United States, or who is destitute, or who, in the opinion of the Attorney General, is not likely to become a public charge, or who is desirous of shipping to such country in order to secure employment thereon, upon the production of such evidence as may be required by the Attorney General, and upon the execution by the master, agent, consignee, or owner of a bond with sufficient surety in such sum, not exceeding $1,000 for each alien seaman in respect of whom such failure occurs, as the Attorney General may require, conditioned that such seaman will depart from the United States within such period as may be fixed by the Attorney General, and will comply with all the requirements of the immigration laws with respect to the departure of aliens from the United States, and upon the further condition that such seaman will not become a public charge before the departure of the vessel from the port of arrival: Provided, That the Attorney General may, upon application in writing therefor, in his discretion, and upon the deposit of such sum, not exceeding $300 for each seaman in respect of whom such failure occurs, upon such terms as the Attorney General in his discretion shall think proper. The section, as amended, shall apply to all immigration matters wholly independent of June 2, 1924.

(b) Proof that an alien seaman did not depart upon the outbound manifest of the vessel on which he arrived in the United States from a place outside thereof, or that he was reported by the master of such vessel as a deserter, shall be prima facie evidence to a failure to obtain or deposit alien's readmittance by the immigration officer or the Attorney General.

(c) If the Attorney General finds that deportation of the alien seaman on the vessel on which he arrived would cause undue hardship to such seaman he may cause him to be deported on another vessel at the expense of the vessel on which he arrived, and such seaman shall not be granted clearance until such expense has been paid or its payment guaranteed to the satisfaction of the Attorney General. (43 Stat. 164–165; 38 Stat. 610; 8 U. S. C. 161 (a), 161 (c).)

I, Andrew Hansen, Master, of the USNS General Leroy Eltinge do declare that the foregoing is a full and true list of all the crew promptly in said vessel from and port or place quoting per present voyage. I have noted the coin of section 38 of the Act of February 2, 1917, extract from Title 8, Code of Federal Regulations, and coin of sections 13 and 50, Act of May 26, 1924, supra appear below.

Andrew Hansen, Master, Chief or Second Officer.

Sworn to before me this 12th day of December 20 61

Immigrant Inspector.

IMPORTANT NOTICE TO MASTER

The list described below shall be prepared on blank forms approved by the Department and be ready for delivery to the immigration inspector boarding the vessel at the port of arrival, and shall in no instance be taken from the vessel. The list of changes of alien members of crews (Form I-418) shall be delivered by the master to the principal immigration officer at the port. When an alternate seaman is to effect shoulk be made on the manifest. In order to facilitate inspection of alien seamen, include names of alternate American citizen seamen as well as aliens.

EXTRACT FROM ACT OF CONGRESS OF FEBRUARY 5, 1917, AS AMENDED

SEC. 38. That upon arrival of any vessel in the United States from any foreign port or place it shall be the duty of the owner, agent, consignee, or master thereof to deliver to the principal immigration officer in charge of the port of arrival a list containing the names of all aliens employed or shipped or engaged, and specifying those of the said aliens who are destined to the port of arrival; or state contained on board of such vessel; and such list shall be subscribed and sworn to before the said immigration officer, in writing, as soon as discovered, all cases in which any such alien may have been landed at or removed from such vessel, stating a description of such alien, together with the information likely to lead to his apprehension; and before the departure of any such vessel it shall be the duty of such owner, agent, consignee, or master to deliver to such immigration officer a further list containing the names of all aliens employed who were not employed thereon at the time of the arrival but who may have been taken on board at the time of port departure, and also the names of those, if any, who have been left behind, whether in hospital or otherwise, if any, who were known to be destined to the United States, and such other information in regard to such aliens as the Attorney General may require. Such lists shall be in such form and contain such particulars as the Attorney General may prescribe; and after the arrival of any such vessel it shall be the duty of such owner, agent, consignee, or master to report to such immigration officer, in writing, as soon as discovered, all cases in which any such alien may have illegally landed from the vessel, giving a description of such alien, together with any

IMPORTANT NOTICE TO MASTER

The list described below will be prepared on blank forms approved by the Department and be ready for delivery to the immigration inspector nearest the vessel at the port of arrival, and will in no instance be taken from the vessel. The list of changes of alien members, "crew" is defined (Form I–84) shall not be detached or mailed, but shall be delivered by the master to the principal immigration officer at the port. When an alternate address is given it should be made on the manifest. In order to facilitate inspection of aliens seaman, include names of alternate American citizen seamen as well as aliens.

SEC. 36. That upon arrival of any vessel in the United States from any foreign port or place it shall be the duty of the owner, agent, consignee, or master thereof to deliver to the principal immigration officer in charge at the port of arrival a complete and accurate list of all persons employed on such vessel, stating the positions they respectively hold in the ship's company, when and where they were respectively shipped or engaged, and specifying those who are to be paid off at the port of arrival; to make oath to the correctness of such list before the principal immigration officer, or his assistant, as soon as practicable; to report to such immigration officer, at the time of the vessel's departure from the port, the names of all persons employed as members of the crew of such vessel who have been left behind on account of illness or injury, and the name and last known address of the next of kin of each; to report the names of all persons who were employed as members of the crew of such vessel at the time of arrival but who have since been discharged, and the time, place, and cause of their discharge; and to report the name of every person who shall join the vessel in any port or place in the United States, and the cause, time, and place of his employment, and to make oath to such report. Any master, owner, agent, consignee, or person in charge of any vessel who shall refuse or neglect to deliver such list, or to report the name of any person who shall join such vessel, or to make oath to the correctness of such list and report, shall be punished by a fine of not more than $1,000 for each person concerning whom such correct list and report are not delivered or to whom such oath is not made as above required, or imprisoned not more than one year, or both such fine and imprisonment, in the discretion of the court. (8 U. S. C. 136.)

SEC. 13. (a) The owner, charterer, agent, consignee, or master of any vessel arriving in the United States from any place outside the Panama Canal Zone, or any territory or insular possession of the United States (except Guam, Samoa, and the Virgin Islands of the United States), with intent to land any alien (whether an immigrant or a nonimmigrant) at any port in the United States, except upon the written permit of the immigration officer in charge at the port of landing, or except as otherwise provided by regulations prescribed by the Secretary of Labor, shall cause such alien to be detained on board the vessel or at such dock or other place as may be designated by the immigration officer in charge at the port of landing until such alien shall have been duly examined by an immigration officer at the port of landing, unless the master, owner, agent, consignee, or charterer of such vessel shall deposit with the Commissioner of Immigration and Naturalization a sum sufficient to cover the cost of such detention, not exceeding $5 per day for each such alien, pending the completion of the examination, or shall furnish a bond in such sum as may be required by the Commissioner of Immigration and Naturalization, with sufficient surety, conditioned upon the payment of such cost of detention. The Attorney General may, upon application in writing therefor, withdraw such deposit or cancel such bond upon the payment of the cost of such detention or any part thereof found by him to be unnecessary. Such deposits shall be covered into the Treasury of the United States as miscellaneous receipts. Any money deposited under the provisions of this section and remaining unclaimed for one year after the final adjudication of the case shall be paid over to the Treasury of the United States and shall be carried to the credit of the appropriation from which expenses of detention may be paid. Any suit or proceeding for the recovery of any deposit or bond made under the provisions of this section shall be instituted within two years after the date of the final adjudication of the case, and thereafter all such claims shall be barred.

(b) The Attorney General may, upon application in writing therefor, withdraw such deposit or cancel such bond upon the payment of the cost of such detention or any part thereof found by him to be unnecessary. No vessel shall be cleared pending the determination of the question whether one is required to be detained by reason of the provisions of this section, except upon the deposit of a sum sufficient to cover such cost, or of a bond with sufficient surety to secure the payment thereof approved by the collector of customs. The Attorney General may, upon application in writing therefor, withdraw such bond upon the payment of the cost of such detention or any part thereof found by him to be unnecessary, except that clearance may be granted prior to the determination of the liability to payment of such cost, or while the case remains pending, except that clearance granted pursuant to this proviso shall not relieve any person from liability for such cost. Any vessel which shall depart from the port of arrival before the completion of the examination of the persons detained thereon, without the permission of the immigration officer in charge at the port of landing, shall be liable to a penalty of $1,000 for each alien detained on board at the time of departure, except that clearance may be granted prior to the determination of the liability to payment of such cost, or while the case remains pending, except that clearance granted pursuant to this proviso shall not relieve any person from liability for such cost. The Attorney General may, upon application in writing therefor, withdraw such bond upon the payment of the cost of such detention or any part thereof found by him to be unnecessary. No vessel shall be cleared pending the determination of the question whether one is required to be detained by reason of the provisions of this section, except upon the deposit of a sum sufficient to cover such cost, or of a bond with sufficient surety to secure the payment thereof approved by the collector of customs. The Attorney General may, upon application in writing therefor, withdraw such bond upon the payment of the cost of such detention or any part thereof found by him to be unnecessary, except that clearance may be granted prior to the determination of such question upon deposit of a sum sufficient to cover such cost. (8 U. S. C. 137.)

ALIEN SEAMEN

SEC. 13. No alien seaman excluded from admission into the United States under the immigration laws and employed on board any vessel arriving in the United States from any place outside thereof, shall be permitted to land in the United States, except temporarily for medical treatment, or because of illness of such alien seaman, or to secure other employment, removal, or repatriation of such alien seaman, or pursuant to such regulations as the Attorney General may prescribe for the ultimate deportation, removal, or other departure of such alien from the United States. (43 Stat. 164; 8 U. S. C. 166.)

SEC. 30. (a) The owner, charterer, agent, consignee, or master of any vessel arriving in the United States from any place outside thereof, any inspector, or other immigration officer in charge at the port of arrival, shall cause such seaman examined by the medical examiner, and if such seaman is found to be afflicted with any loathsome or dangerous contagious disease, shall cause such seaman to be detained on board or at quarantine until a certificate from the Public Health Service is procured stating that such seaman is free from such disease, and such certificate shall be delivered to the immigration officer in charge at the port. Any master, owner, agent, consignee, or charterer who shall refuse or neglect to comply with the provisions of this section shall be liable to a penalty of $1,000 for each alien seaman in respect of whom such failure occurs. No vessel shall be cleared pending the determination of the question whether one is required by reason of the provisions of this section, except upon the deposit of a sum sufficient to cover such cost, or of a bond with sufficient surety to secure the payment thereof approved by the collector of customs. The Attorney General may, upon application in writing therefor, withdraw such deposit or cancel such bond upon the payment of the cost of such detention or any part thereof found by him to be unnecessary. Such deposits shall be covered into the Treasury of the United States as miscellaneous receipts. Any money deposited under the provisions of this section and remaining unclaimed for one year after the final adjudication of the case shall be paid over to the Treasury of the United States and shall be carried to the credit of the appropriation from which expenses of detention may be paid. Any suit or proceeding for the recovery of any deposit or bond made under the provisions of this section shall be instituted within two years after the date of the final adjudication of the case, and thereafter all such claims shall be barred.

(c) If the Attorney General finds that a master has failed to perform the duties imposed upon him by section 2 of the Act of December 13, 1920 (U. S. C., title 8, sec. 142), or by the rules and regulations made thereunder, or has connived at or willfully failed to prevent the illegal landing of any alien, or has knowingly or willfully failed to report or has concealed the illegal landing of any alien, or has knowingly or willfully failed to detain any alien on board vessel after notification not to land such alien, or has willfully failed to deliver any such alien to the custody of the Attorney General pursuant to the warrant of arrest, or has failed to comply with any regulation issued under the provisions of this section, he shall be fined not more than $1,000 for each such alien in respect to whom any such violation occurs. Clearance may be withheld from any vessel the master of which is reported by the Attorney General as having been guilty of failure to comply with the provisions of this section until the Secretary of Labor certifies that the fine has been paid or sufficient security given therefor.

(d) Every master shall, on demand of any immigrant inspector, produce and deliver to him a full and complete list of the crew then on board the vessel, specifying therein the name of each person who has been discharged from the vessel in any foreign port or place since it last left the port of the United States, the cause and circumstances of the discharge, and the last known address of such person. Every master who refuses or neglects to produce and deliver such list shall be punished by a fine of not more than $1,000 for each person concerning whom such correct list and report are not delivered or to whom such oath is not made as above required, or imprisoned not more than one year, or both such fine and imprisonment, in the discretion of the court. (8 U. S. C. 137.)

EXTRACT FROM ACT OF CONGRESS OF FEBRUARY 5, 1917, AS AMENDED

SEC. 36. That upon arrival of any vessel in the United States from any foreign port or place it shall be the duty of the master, agent, consignee, or master (owner) to deliver to the boarding immigration officer in charge of the port of arrival lists containing the names of all aliens employed on such vessel, stating the nationality, last permanent residence, and final destination of each alien, the calling in which employed, and the port at which such alien was original shipped or engaged, and whether accompanied by wife or children, and if in a company, when and where they were respectively examined by a United States immigrant inspector. And in the case of the failure of such master, agent, consignee, or master (owner) to deliver such lists to the boarding officer at the time of the arrival of the vessel at the port of first arrival, or if any additional alien employed on such vessel arrives at any port before the departure of the vessel from the United States a description of such alien, together with such information likely to lead to his apprehension as may be required by the Commissioner General of Immigration, shall be the duty of such master, agent, consignee, or master (owner) to deliver to the boarding officer a further list containing the names of all aliens employed upon such vessel since the last preceding list was delivered, and also the names of those, if any, who have been discharged or have died since the last list was delivered, and the cause of their discharge, and the final destination of each alien so discharged, and such information as may be required by the Commissioner General of Immigration with respect to such aliens. Any master, agent, consignee, or master (owner) of any such vessel who shall refuse or neglect to deliver the lists required by this section, or who shall refuse or neglect to report the illness or hospital treatment of any alien employed on such vessel, or who shall refuse or neglect to deliver such further information in regard to such aliens as may be required by the Commissioner General of Immigration, shall pay to the collector of customs for the district in which the port of arrival is located the sum of $10 for each alien concerning whom correct lists are not delivered or a true report is not made as above required; and no such vessel shall be granted clearance papers from the collector of customs of the customs district in which the port of arrival is located the sum of $10 for each alien concerning whom correct lists are not delivered or a true report is not made as above required; and no such vessel shall be granted clearance papers from the collector of customs of the customs district in which the port of departure is located the sum of $10 for each alien concerning whom correct lists are not delivered or a true report is not made as above required, or for each and every alien not included in the manifest or lists required by this section who shall depart from the United States on such vessel, unless it be proved to the satisfaction of the collector of customs that such alien could not have been included in the lists required by this section, or that he had been specially detained on board the vessel by the order of the master, agent, consignee, or master (owner) thereof, and that reasonable efforts had been made to present him for inspection. The Commissioner General of Immigration, subject to the approval of the Secretary of Labor, is authorized and empowered to make such rules and regulations as may be necessary for the proper execution of the provisions of this section, and to prescribe such forms and issue such instructions not inconsistent herewith as may be necessary to secure the efficient administration and enforcement of the provisions of this section. ALIEN SEAMEN

SEC. 18. No alien seaman excluded from admission into the United States under the immigration laws and employed on board any vessel arriving in the United States from any place outside the United States, or engaged on board any such vessel while in any port of the United States, except temporarily to unload his vessel or pursuant to such regulations as the Attorney General may prescribe for the protection of seamen who have been lawfully admitted to the United States, shall be permitted to land in the United States from such vessel, unless such seaman establishes to the satisfaction of the immigration officer in charge at the port of arrival that he is not a member of any of the classes excluded from admission to the United States by the immigration laws, or unless such seaman is in possession of a valid passport viséed by the American consul at the port or place from which the vessel sailed for the United States, or unless such seaman is in transit through the United States to a foreign country and is in possession of a valid passport viséed by the American consul at the port or place from which he last arrived in the United States, or unless such seaman is a citizen of a country contiguous to the United States and is in possession of such identification papers as may be prescribed by the Commissioner General of Immigration. Any alien seaman employed on such vessel until the immigration officer in charge at the port of arrival shall have been notified of the intention to discharge such seaman, and shall have been given a reasonable opportunity to be examined by a medical officer of the United States Public Health Service, unless such seaman has been previously so examined. Any alien seaman who shall land in the United States from any vessel arriving in the United States from any place outside the United States, except temporarily to unload his vessel or pursuant to such regulations as the Attorney General may prescribe for the protection of seamen who have been lawfully admitted to the United States, shall be deported in the manner provided by law to the country to which he belongs, unless (1) at the time of his application for admission he establishes to the satisfaction of the immigration officer in charge at the port of arrival that he is not a member of any of the classes excluded from admission to the United States by the immigration laws, or (2) he is in possession of a valid passport viséed by the American consul at the port or place from which the vessel sailed for the United States, or (3) he is in possession of a valid passport viséed by the American consul at the port or place from which he last arrived in the United States, or (4) he is a citizen of a country contiguous to the United States and is in possession of such identification papers as may be prescribed by the Commissioner General of Immigration. Any alien seaman employed on such vessel who is not required by this section to be examined by a medical officer of the United States Public Health Service, or who has been so examined and certified to by such medical officer, may be required by the immigration officer in charge at the port of arrival to be so examined and certified to by such medical officer before being permitted to land in the United States. Any alien seaman who shall land in the United States in violation of this section, as amended, shall apply to all immigrant inspectors for examination and shall be subject to all the provisions of the immigration laws relating to the examination of aliens seeking admission to the United States. Any alien seaman who shall land in the United States from any vessel arriving in the United States from any place outside the United States, or who shall land in the United States from any vessel while in any port of

The list described below shall be prepared on blank forms approved by the Department and be ready for delivery to the immigration inspector boarding the vessel at the port of arrival, and shall in no instance be taken from the vessel. The list of changes of alien members of crews (Form I–418) shall not be furnished on board, but shall be delivered by the master to the principal immigration officer at the port. When an arriving seaman is a "nonresident alien seaman" in addition to that entry shall be made on the manifest. In order to facilitate inspection of alien seamen, include names of arriving American citizen seamen as well as aliens.

EXTRACT FROM ACT OF CONGRESS OF FEBRUARY 5, 1917, AS AMENDED

SEC. 38. That upon arrival of any vessel in the United States from any foreign port or place it shall be the duty of the owner, agent, consignee, or master thereof to deliver to the principal immigration officer in charge of the port of arrival a list containing the names of all aliens employed on such vessel, showing the positions they respectively hold in the ship's company, where born and where they were respectively shipped or engaged, and specifying those to be paid off in the port of arrival; or if there continue on board of such vessel, agent, consignee, or master to report to such immigration officer, at or before the departure of any such vessel if such be the duty of such owner, agent, consignee, or master to deliver to such immigration officer a further list containing the names of all such aliens, together with such information likely to lead to his apprehension; and before the departure of any such vessel it shall be the duty of such owner, agent, consignee, or master to deliver to such immigration officer a further list containing the names of all aliens employed thereon at the time of the arrival but who will leave port thereon at the time of such departure, and also the names of those, if any, who have been paid off and discharged, and of those, if any, who have deserted or landed; and in case of the failure of such owner, agent, consignee, or master to deliver either of the said lists of such alien arriving and departing, respectively, or to so to report such cases of desertion or landing, such owner, agent, consignee, or master shall pay to the Alienage Contractor, for the collector of customs of the customs district in which the port of arrival is located the sum of $10 for each alien concerning whom correct lists are not delivered or a true report is not made as above required: and no such vessel shall be granted clearance pending the determination of the customs district in which the port of any, and in the event such fine is imposed, while it remains pending, such clearance by the collector of customs of the customs district to the limit of the fine. Provided, That clearance may be granted prior to the determination of such question upon deposit of a sum sufficient to cover such fine. (39 Stat. 888–890.; 8 U. S. C. 171.)

ALIEN SEAMEN

SEC. 13. No alien seaman excluded from admission into the United States under the immigration laws has employed on board any vessel arriving in the United States from any place outside contiguous territory, shall be permitted to land in the United States, except temporarily for medical treatment, or because of shipwreck or other casualty or for such time as the immigration officer in charge at the port of arrival may specify, or pending removal or hospital treatment, or pending departure on any vessel other than the vessel on board which he arrived, or pending the decision of any alien from the United States. (43 Stat. 164, 8 U. S. C. 188.)

SEC. 30. (a) The owner, charterer, agent, consignee, or master of any vessel arriving in the United States from any place outside contiguous territory with any alien seaman employed on such vessel until the immigration officer in charge at the port of arrival has inspected such seaman (which inspection in all cases shall include a personal physical examination by the medical examiner), or who fails to detain such seaman on board after such inspection or to deport such seaman if required by such immigration officer or the Attorney General to do so, shall pay to the collector of customs of the customs district in which the port of arrival is located the sum of $1,000 for each alien seaman in respect of whom such failure occurs. No vessel shall be granted clearance pending the determination of the liability to payment of such fine, or while the same remains unpaid, except that clearance may be granted prior to the determination upon the deposit of a sum sufficient to cover such fine, or of a bond with sufficient surety to secure the payment thereof approved by the collector of customs. The Attorney General may, upon application in writing therefor, mitigate such penalty to not less than $300 for each seaman in respect of whom such failure occurs, upon such terms as the Attorney General in his discretion shall think proper. This section, as amended, shall apply to all branches of the service during such time as the Attorney General shall find that the provisions thereof may thereby obtain foreign seamen not otherwise available.

(b) Every alien seaman who has not been lawfully admitted to the United States for permanent residence who shall remain in the United States for a period in excess of twenty days, or who shall depart from the United States within twenty days after his arrival on board any vessel, shall be deported as an alien who entered the United States without inspection and may be arrested and deported at any time within five years after entry in the manner provided by sections 19 and 20 hereof, and shall be deported as provided in such sections. Deportation under this subdivision shall not be limited to the foreign port from which the alien seaman was brought to the United States.

(c) If the Attorney General finds that deportation of the alien seamen on the vessel on which he arrived would cause undue hardship to such seamen he may cause him to be deported on another vessel at the expense of the vessel on which he arrived, but such vessel shall not be granted clearance until such expense has been paid or its payment guaranteed to the satisfaction of the Attorney General. (43 Stat. 164–165, 58 Stat. 818, 8 U. S. C. 191 (a), 191 (c).)

EXTRACT FROM ACT OF CONGRESS OF FEBRUARY 5, 1917, AS AMENDED

SEC. 36. That upon arrival of any vessel in the United States from any foreign port or place it shall be the duty of the owner, agent, consignee, master, or commanding officer to deliver to the principal immigration officer in charge of the port of arrival immediately upon completion of the discharge of the passengers and crew, a complete list or manifest of all persons, including the members of the crew and passengers, on board such vessel, stating the nationality, last permanent residence, and final destination of each person who intends to land in the United States, and such additional information relative thereto as may be required by the Commissioner General of Immigration, which list or manifest shall be certified to by the master of such vessel and by the surgeon, if there be one, and shall be in such form as may be prescribed by the Commissioner General of Immigration with the approval of the Secretary of Labor. Such list or manifest shall be prepared as to each individual person listed thereon, by writing or typewriting such information in the English language, and the entries shall be signed and certified to by the master of such vessel and by the surgeon, if there be one, at the time of the departure of such vessel from the last foreign port or place, and at the time of the arrival of such vessel at the first port or place in the United States. Such list or manifest shall be prepared in quadruplicate, and delivered as above provided, to the immigration officer in charge at the port of arrival: Provided, That in the case of the failure of any owner, agent, consignee, master, or commanding officer of any vessel to deliver to any such immigration officer a manifest that contains the names of all aliens employees duly shipped to sail on board such vessel, or the names of all aliens employees duly discharged from such vessel, or the names of all aliens who have been treated on board such vessel during the period of such vessel's last voyage, or the names of all aliens who have been left behind at the last port of departure, and also the names of all aliens who have been destroyed or landed: and in case of the failure of any owner, agent, consignee, master, or commanding officer of any vessel to deliver to any such immigration officer a complete manifest containing the names of all aliens who have been treated on board such vessel during the period of such vessel's last voyage, or the names of all aliens who have been left behind at the last port of departure, and also the names of all aliens who have been destroyed or landed, or to report such cause of omission to immigration officers, or to make any false statement in any such report, each such owner, agent, consignee, master, or commanding officer shall be deemed guilty of a misdemeanor and upon conviction thereof shall be punished by a fine of not more than $1,000 for each alien concerning whom any such failure occurs, or by imprisonment for a term not exceeding one year, or by both such fine and imprisonment, in the discretion of the court: Provided, That the master of any vessel shall not be required to report the names of any alien employees who shall have been duly discharged in accordance with the immigration laws of the United States during the period of such vessel's last voyage, or any alien who shall have been duly accepted for admission to the United States by an immigration officer at the port of arrival: Provided further, That the master of any vessel shall not be required to report the name of any alien who shall have been duly admitted to

EXTRACT FROM ACT OF CONGRESS OF FEBRUARY 5, 1917, AS AMENDED

SEC. 36. That upon arrival of vessel in the United States from any foreign port to which it belongs, the master, purser, or other person in charge thereof shall deliver to the principal immigration officer in charge at the port of arrival a complete list of the crew, which list shall be verified by the master, purser, or person in charge thereof, in the following manner: He shall affix his name to the list on the line following the last name appearing thereon, and shall make oath before a duly authorized immigration officer to the effect that the list contains a full, true, and correct manifest of the crew, including the name of every person employed on board said vessel in any capacity, the name of every person who has signed articles to proceed to sea with said vessel, although not then on board, and the name of every person who has been on board said vessel during her present voyage, and that the list contains the name of every alien seaman employed on board said vessel during her present voyage, whether he has been discharged or has died, and the cause of death of any such alien seaman so discharged or dying, so far as known to the master, purser, or person in charge. All aliens in transit through the United States shall be listed separately from aliens coming to the United States to reside therein. The list shall show the full name of every person on board, whether passenger, member of the crew, or otherwise, the age, sex, nationality, last permanent residence, calling or occupation, final destination, whether he has been in the United States previously, and if so, when and where, whether he has been in prison or almshouse or an institution for the insane or supported by charity, whether he is a polygamist, whether he is an anarchist, whether he believes in or advocates the overthrow by force or violence of the Government of the United States or of all forms of law, whether he is coming in pursuance of any previous promise, agreement, or contract to perform labor in the United States, whether he has a ticket through to his destination, whether he has paid his own passage or has had it paid by others, whether he has any money and how much, whether he is married or single, the height, complexion, color of hair and eyes, and any visible distinguishing marks of the alien. The list shall also show the nearest relative or friend of the alien in the country whence he came, and the name of the person in the United States to whom he is going, and his address. The list shall also show whether the alien is going to join a relative or friend, and if so, what relative or friend, and whether he intends to become a citizen of the United States. The list shall also show whether the alien has a ticket to his final destination, and whether his passage has been paid by himself or by others, and if by others, by whom. The list shall also show whether the alien is in possession of $50 in money, and if he is not in possession of $50 he shall state the amount he has. The list shall also show whether the alien is coming by reason of any offer, solicitation, promise, or agreement, express or implied, to perform labor in the United States, and if so, what the nature of the work is and how much he has been promised per month for such work, and whether his passage is paid or in part by the person who has promised him employment. The list shall also show the race of every alien, and the last residence of every alien, according to the nearest political division recognized as a country by the United States. The list shall also show whether the alien has been in the United States before, when he came, where he landed, how long he remained, and whether he has been deported or has ever been refused admission, and if so, why. The list shall also show whether the alien is a polygamist, an anarchist, or a believer in or advocate of the overthrow by force or violence of the Government of the United States or of all forms of law, or a member of or affiliated with any organization entertaining or teaching disbelief in or opposition to organized government, or a member of or affiliated with any organization or body of persons teaching disbelief in or opposition to organized government, or a person who advocates or teaches the duty, necessity, or propriety of the unlawful assaulting or killing of any officer or officers, either of specific individuals or of officers generally, of the Government of the United States or of any other organized government, because of his or their official character, or who advocates or teaches the unlawful destruction of property, and the list shall show whether the alien is coming to the United States to engage in any such principles or in any such teaching, and whether he has ever been connected with any society or body of persons teaching such principles or disbelief or opposition, and whether he has been an inmate of or connected with the management of a prison, almshouse, asylum, or hospital for the insane or feebleminded, and whether he is coming to the United States in pursuance of a previous order of deportation or removal. The list shall also show whether the alien is a person who has been deported and who may now be returned without further hearing or examination by the Secretary of Labor, and whether the alien intends to return to his native country after temporary residence in the United States, and whether he is a person who has been convicted of or admits having committed a felony or other crime or misdemeanor involving moral turpitude, and the date of such conviction, and the nature of the crime, felony, or misdemeanor, and whether the alien is a person who has been deported and who has come in violation of the law, and the date of the previous deportation and the cause thereof. The list shall also show whether the alien is a person who has been deported at the expense of the United States Government, or of any State, municipality, or charitable organization, and whether the alien is a person who has been deported as an assisted alien, and whether the alien is a person who has been deported as an alien certified in connection with the settlement of a labor dispute, and whether the alien is a person who has been deported as an alien who arrived in the United States after the passage of the act of October 3, 1917, and who was not lawfully admitted for permanent residence at the time of last arrival in the United States, and whether the alien is a person who has been deported as an alien who arrived in the United States after the passage of the act of October 3, 1917, and who was not in possession of a valid unexpired immigration visa, reentry permit, border crossing identification card, or other document required by the President under the provisions of section 2 of the act of May 22, 1918, as amended by section 2 of the act of October 16, 1918, at the time of last arrival in the United States, and whether the alien is a person who has been deported and who has come in violation of section 19 of the act of February 5, 1917, and the date of such deportation and the cause thereof. SEC. 36. That upon arrival of any vessel in the United States from any foreign port or place it shall be the duty of the owner, agent, consignee, or master thereof to deliver to the principal immigration officer in charge of the port of arrival a complete and accurate list or manifest of all persons on board such vessel, stating the nationality, last residence, and destination of each person who is to be landed in the United States, and such additional information relative to such persons as the Secretary of Labor may prescribe; but alien transit passengers who will depart from the United States with the same vessel on which they arrived may be identified in such manner as may be prescribed by the Secretary of Labor. Such list or manifest shall be delivered or transmitted by the master, agent, consignee, or owner of such vessel to the immigration officer at the port of arrival before any passenger is landed or any application is granted for the admission of any alien to the United States. Such list or manifest shall be prepared and delivered or transmitted in such form and detail as may be prescribed by the Secretary of Labor, and shall be verified by the signature of the master and surgeon of such vessel. Any master, agent, consignee, or owner of any such vessel who refuses or fails to deliver such list or manifest, or who delivers a list or manifest which is incorrect or incomplete in the opinion of the Secretary of Labor or any person designated by him, shall pay to the collector of customs for the district in which the port of arrival is located the sum of $10 for each alien concerning whom correct information is not furnished, unless it is shown to the satisfaction of the Secretary of Labor that the master, agent, consignee, or owner of such vessel had complied as nearly as practicable with the requirements of this section with respect to such alien and had no reason to believe that any such information was incorrect or incomplete: Provided, That clearance may be granted prior to the determination of such question upon deposit of a sum sufficient to cover such fine. (39 Stat. 888–890; 8 U. S. C. 1171.)

EXTRACT FROM 8 CFR 150

SEC. 150.15. Lists of aliens employees: when clearance of vessel denied. Clearance shall not be granted upon request until the lists required by section 36 of the immigration Act of 1917 (39 Stat. 888; 8 U. S. C. 171), have been furnished, and not then unless notice of intention to file administrative fine prescribed by said section or to final prescribed by section 36 of said Act (39 Stat. 888; 8 U. S. C. 168) penalty been served, the deposit specified in §§ 150.13–150.17, has been made.

ALIEN SEAMEN

SEC. 18. No alien seaman excluded from admission into the United States under the immigration laws shall be employed on board any vessel arriving in the United States from any place outside the United States (except Canada, Newfoundland, Mexico, Cuba, Panama, or the Canal Zone), or proceeding from any port of the United States to any place outside the United States (except Canada, Newfoundland, Mexico, Cuba, Panama, or the Canal Zone), or transmit to any such vessel in the service thereof, or to obtain employment on board thereof, unless such alien seaman shall have been registered and shall have been granted by the Secretary of Labor a certificate of identity, which certificate shall be issued only upon the application of such alien seaman, and upon the production by him of such evidence as may be required by the Secretary of Labor, and upon the payment by such alien seaman of a fee of $10 for such certificate. Such certificate of identity shall be valid for a period of five years from the date of issuance thereof, unless sooner revoked by the Secretary of Labor, and shall be subject to such rules and regulations as may be prescribed by the Secretary of Labor. Such certificate of identity shall be presented by such alien seaman to the master or person in charge of such vessel before such alien seaman shall be employed on board thereof, and shall be delivered by such master or person in charge to the immigration officer in charge at the port at which such alien seaman shall be discharged from such vessel. Such certificate of identity shall be prima facie evidence that the person in whose name it was issued is entitled to the privilege of employment as a seaman on board a vessel arriving in the United States, and in any proceeding before any court in which the right of any alien seaman to enter the United States shall be in question the burden of proof shall be upon such alien seaman to show that he is entitled to such privilege notwithstanding the certificate of identity issued to him. Any such certificate of identity may be revoked by the Secretary of Labor upon the deportation of the alien seaman to whom such certificate was issued, upon the application of the alien seaman on the vessel on which he arrives at the port of departure, or upon the failure of such alien seaman to report for examination when required so to do by the Secretary of Labor or his authorized representative. Any alien seaman who shall land in the United States during the period his certificate of identity is in force shall report to the Secretary of Labor or his authorized representative for examination at such time and place as may be prescribed by the Secretary of Labor, and shall furnish to the Secretary of Labor such information as he may require concerning the movements of such alien seaman. Any alien seaman who fails to report as required by the Secretary of Labor shall be deported in the manner provided by section 19 of this Act, unless such alien seaman establishes to the satisfaction of the Secretary of Labor that such failure to report was excusable or was not the result of wilful disregard of the provisions of this section. Any alien seaman who shall desert from any vessel in which he arrives in the United States or who fails to depart on the vessel or some other vessel within a period of time deemed sufficient by the Secretary of Labor after the date of such alien seaman's arrival in the United States, shall be deported in the manner provided by section 19 of this Act, unless such alien seaman establishes to the satisfaction of the Secretary of Labor that such failure to depart was occasioned by circumstances beyond the power of such alien seaman to prevent or control. Any alien seaman who shall be deported under the provisions of this section shall be deported to the country in which he was born or of which he was a subject at the time of his last entry into the United States, unless such alien seaman, at the time of shipping, shall have declared his intention to become a citizen of another country and shall be shipped to such country, or unless such alien seaman shall be deported to the country in which he resided prior to coming to the United States, or unless such alien seaman shall be deported to the country in which the vessel on which he arrived in the United States is registered, or unless such alien seaman shall be deported to the country in which the vessel on which he shipped in a foreign port is registered. The cost of maintenance of any alien seaman detained under the provisions of this section shall be paid out of the appropriation for the enforcement of this Act. Any master or person in charge of any vessel who shall refuse or fail to comply with the requirements of this section, or who shall refuse or fail to detain any alien seaman on board when required so to do by the Secretary of Labor, or who shall refuse or fail to deliver to the immigration officer in charge at the port any alien seaman who has been ordered deported under the provisions of this section, or who shall refuse or fail to pay the cost of maintenance of any alien seaman detained on board his vessel, or who shall refuse or fail to pay any fine imposed upon any alien seaman employed on board his vessel, shall pay a fine of not more than $1,000 for each such refusal or failure, and shall be liable to the United States for the cost of maintenance of any alien seaman detained on board his vessel, and for any fine imposed upon any alien seaman employed on board his vessel, and such vessel shall be liable to the United States for the amount of such cost and fine, and may be libeled therefor in any district court of the United States within the jurisdiction of which such vessel may be found. The Attorney General may, upon application in writing therefor, remit any fine imposed upon any master or person in charge of any vessel under the provisions of this section, or may authorize the payment of any such fine or any part thereof from the appropriation for the enforcement of this Act. (a) No passenger vessel shall be granted clearance papers by the collector of customs of the customs district in which the port is located if there is reported against the name of the master of such vessel the failure to deport any alien seaman on board such vessel when ordered deported by the Secretary of Labor, unless the master of such vessel shall have given a bond with sufficient surety to secure the payment of a sum equal to $1,000 for each such alien seaman, or to deposit with the collector of customs a sum sufficient to cover such fine, or to secure the payment thereof in such manner as may be agreed upon between the master of such vessel and the Secretary of Labor. No vessel shall be granted clearance papers by the collector of customs in any district in which the port is located if there is reported against the name of the master of such vessel the failure to deport any alien seaman who has been ordered deported, except that clearance papers may be granted prior to the determination of such question upon the deposit of a sum sufficient to cover such fine, or to secure the payment thereof in such manner as may be agreed upon between the master of such vessel and the Secretary of Labor. The Attorney General may, upon application in writing therefor, remit any fine imposed upon any master or person in charge of any vessel under the provisions of this section, or may authorize the payment of any such fine or any part thereof from the appropriation for the enforcement of this Act. (b) No vessel shall be granted clearance papers pending the determination of the question of the liability of the master to the payment of a fine imposed, while it remains pending, or while an appeal is pending, or while the master is in custody charged with a criminal offense in connection with the case, or while any alien seaman employed on board such vessel is detained as a witness in connection with any such case. (c) If the Attorney General finds that deportation of the alien seaman on the vessel on which he arrived in the United States to obtain or deport such seaman at the expense of the vessel on which he arrived in the United States is impracticable or inconvenient by reason of the refusal of the master of such vessel to receive such alien seaman on board, but that such alien seaman may be otherwise returned to the country to which he is to be deported without expense to the United States, he may cause him to be deported on another vessel at the expense of the vessel on which he arrived, but such alien seaman shall not be granted clearance until such expense has been paid to the Attorney General or the satisfaction of the Attorney General.

IMPORTANT NOTICE TO MASTER

The list described below shall be prepared on plain forms approved by the Department and be ready for delivery to the immigration inspector boarding the vessel as the ship is entering the harbor, and shall not be removed from the vessel. The list is open to inspection by the immigration officers at the port. When an alien (form 1-88) shall not be furnished on board, but shall be delivered by the master to the principal immigration officer at the port. When an alien assigned to a "steerage" accommodation shall enter any other part of the vessel, he shall be deemed to have violated the immigration laws.

EXTRACT FROM ACT OF CONGRESS OF FEBRUARY 5, 1917, AS AMENDED

SEC. 36. That upon arrival of any vessel in the United States from any foreign port or place it shall be the duty of the master, agent, consignee, or owner of such vessel, and of the officer in charge of the customs and immigration service on board thereof, respectively, to deliver to the immigration officers in charge of the port of arrival lists or manifests of all persons on board such vessel, whether cabin passengers or steerage passengers, which lists or manifests shall be prepared in the port of departure, when practicable, and in such form as may be prescribed by the Secretary of Labor, and shall contain such information as may be required by the regulations thereof, touching each and every person on board such vessel, whether citizen or alien, his or her age, sex, calling, last residence, seaport for landing in the United States, final destination, whether he or she has a ticket through to such destination, whether the passage is paid by himself or herself or by other persons or by the government, whether in possession of money, and if so how much, whether going to join relatives or friends, and if so what relatives or friends, and their names and complete addresses, whether ever before in the United States, and if so when and where, whether ever in prison or almshouse or supported by charity, whether a polygamist, whether coming by reason of any offer, solicitation, promise, or agreement, expressed or implied, to perform labor in the United States, his or her calling and occupation, whether able to read or write, nationality, race, and last country or place of abode. The master, agent, consignee, or owner of such vessel shall also report at the time of departure of such vessel from any foreign port or place the names of all aliens employed on board such vessel, their duties during the voyage, and the wages paid to each, and shall furnish to the immigration officers at the port of arrival a full and complete list of the crew employed on board such vessel, containing the names of all members of the crew, their nationality, last permanent residence, calling, and intended final destination if destined to the United States, and shall report at the time of departure of such vessel from any port in the United States the names of any persons who have become members of the crew since the arrival of such vessel and the cause of the change in the crew. The master, agent, consignee, or owner of such vessel shall furnish to the immigration officers at the port of arrival a correct list of the names of all persons employed on board such vessel who are not citizens of the United States, showing the last known residence and the intended destination of each

IMPORTANT NOTICE TO MASTER

The list described below shall be attached to and made a part of the affidavit and be sworn to before the immigration inspector boarding the vessel at the port of arrival, and shall in no instance be taken from the vessel. The list of members of alien members of the crew (Form I-418) shall not be furnished on board, but shall be delivered by the master to the principal immigration officer at the port. When an alternate seaman is a "nonresident" alien seaman who is not entitled to land in the United States, a notation to that effect should be made on the manifest. In order to facilitate inspection of alien seamen, include names of alternate American citizen seamen as well as aliens.

SEC. 36. That upon arrival of any vessel in the United States from any foreign port or place it shall be the duty of the owner, agent, consignee, or master thereof to deliver to the principal immigration officer in charge of the port of arrival lists containing the names of all alien members of the crew, whether they intend to land or not, and whether they have been granted shore leave or not, and to furnish such other information in regard to each alien seaman as may be required by the Attorney General. Such lists shall be prepared at such time before arrival at the port of arrival as the Attorney General may prescribe, and shall be subject to such changes as may be required by the immigration officer in charge of the port. Any master, agent, consignee, or owner who shall refuse or fail to deliver such lists, or to furnish such information, or who shall refuse or fail to detain any alien seaman on board after such detention has been required by the Attorney General, or who shall refuse or fail to deliver any such alien seaman who has been granted shore leave to the custody of the immigration officer when required so to do, shall be deemed guilty of a misdemeanor and upon conviction thereof shall be punished by a fine of not more than $1,000 for each alien seaman in respect of whom such failure occurs. The Attorney General may in his discretion remit any penalty in whole or in part. Clearance may be withheld by the collector of customs from any vessel failing to deliver such lists or to detain any alien seaman required by the Attorney General to be detained on board, except that clearance may be granted prior to the determination of the liability to the payment of such fine or any part thereof upon the deposit of a sum sufficient to cover such fine. The Attorney General may prescribe the conditions governing the detention of alien seamen on board vessels arriving at ports of the United States, and the delivery of such seamen to the immediate custody of the master, agent, consignee, or owner of any vessel, and may issue such rules and regulations as may be necessary to carry out the provisions of this section. Any master, agent, consignee, or owner of any vessel who shall refuse or fail to comply with any such rules and regulations shall be fined not more than $1,000 for each such offense. (8 June 1940, ch. 278, 54 Stat. 283; 8 U. S. C. 142.)

SEC. 20. (a) The owner, charterer, agent, consignee, or master of any vessel bringing to the United States from any place outside the Western Hemisphere any alien (which term when used in this section includes any person not a native, citizen, subject, or national of the United States), who arrives by water at a port of the United States shall be liable to a penalty of $1,000 for each such alien, unless prior to the alien's embarkation at the last port outside the Western Hemisphere foreign port or place from which he sails to the United States he has been granted a visa and his passport has been visaed by the American consular officer at such port or place, or unless he is in possession of a valid unexpired immigration visa and is otherwise admissible under the immigration laws and is entitled to enter the United States without a visa, or unless he is a bona fide seaman entering the United States solely in pursuance of the business of his vessel and is not employed on board any vessel while in the United States, or unless he is in transit through the United States and has been duly admitted thereto under the immediate and continuous transit provisions of the immigration laws and regulations and holds a valid passport issued by a foreign government which he has been instructed by the consular officer at the port of departure outside the Western Hemisphere to present to the immigration officer at the port of arrival, and in the case of an alien crewman, has been issued a conduct permit as provided in section 3 of the Act of May 22, 1918 (40 Stat. 559; 8 U. S. C. 223), as amended by section 5 of the Act of June 21, 1941 (55 Stat. 252; 8 U. S. C. Supp. IV, 223), and has been duly admitted thereunder. Clearance shall not be granted any vessel until the master produces to the immigration officer at the port of departure a list or manifest of all the crew members on board the vessel, which list or manifest shall be prepared at such time before departure as the Attorney General may prescribe, and shall be subject to such changes as may be required by the immigration officer in charge of the port. Any master, agent, consignee, or owner who shall refuse or fail to deliver such list or manifest, or who shall refuse or fail to detain any alien crewman on board after such detention has been required by the Attorney General, or who shall refuse or fail to deliver any such alien crewman who has been granted shore leave to the custody of the immigration officer when required so to do, shall be deemed guilty of a misdemeanor and upon conviction thereof shall be punished by a fine of not more than $1,000 for each alien crewman in respect of whom such failure occurs. No vessel shall be granted clearance pending the determination of the liability to the payment of such fine, or while the fine remains unpaid, except that clearance may be granted prior to the determination upon the deposit of a sum sufficient to cover such fine, or of a bond with sufficient surety to secure the payment thereof approved by the collector of customs. The Attorney General may prescribe the conditions governing the detention of alien crewmen on board vessels arriving at ports of the United States, and the delivery of such crewmen to the immediate custody of the master, agent, consignee, or owner of any vessel, and may issue such rules and regulations as may be necessary to carry out the provisions of this section. Any master, agent, consignee, or owner of any vessel who shall refuse or fail to comply with any such rules and regulations shall be fined not more than $1,000 for each such offense. (As amended by sec. 5, Act June 21, 1941, 55 Stat. 252; 8 U. S. C. Supp. IV, 223.)

(b) Every alien seaman who shall not depart upon the conditions mentioned in section 3 of the Act of June 21, 1941 (55 Stat. 252; 8 U. S. C. Supp. IV, 223), as amended, shall apply to all immigration officials designated by the Attorney General in the discretion shall think proper from any place outside the United States as a deserter, shall be prima facie evidence of a failure to obtain or deliver landing certificates by the immigration officer at the port of arrival, and shall be in addition to any other penalty or liability imposed by law. Any such seaman who may be required by the master of any vessel on which he arrived to the United States to depart therein, and who refuses to depart therein, or who secures his discharge from such vessel without the consent of the master, shall not be entitled to any wages which may be due him at the time of his departure, and shall be liable to the master for any reasonable expenses incurred in obtaining his return to the vessel or in securing his replacement

The list or manifest shown above shall be prepared on blank forms approved by the Department and be ready for delivery to the immigration inspector boarding the vessel at the port of arrival, and shall in no instance be taken from the vessel. The list or manifest should be made out in the order shown above, beginning with the first cabin passenger, if any, and then the second cabin passengers, if any, and then the steerage passengers. Where there are no passengers of any class, a line should be drawn across the proper space on the manifest. In order to facilitate inspection, the Attorney General may require certain persons to be examined by medical officers of the United States Public Health Service before the vessel is admitted to pratique. Such persons will be designated by the immigration officer at the port of arrival.

SEC. 36. That upon arrival of any vessel in the United States from any foreign port or place it shall be the duty of the master, agent, consignee, or owner of any vessel in the United States from any foreign port or place to deliver to the immigrant inspector at the port of arrival a manifest containing the names of all aliens employed on such vessel, stating the positions they respectively hold in the alien's country, when and where they were respectively shipped or engaged, and their destination, and such additional information relative thereto as may be required by the Commissioner General of Immigration, approved by the Secretary of Labor, and prescribed in the rules and regulations made by the Attorney General to carry out the provisions of this Act. Such manifest shall be prepared on blank forms furnished by the United States Government, and a like manifest shall be prepared by the master, agent, consignee, or owner of any vessel clearing therefrom for any foreign port or place, containing the names of all aliens employed on such vessel and destined to the United States, and such additional information relative thereto as may be required by the Commissioner General of Immigration, approved by the Secretary of Labor, and prescribed in the rules and regulations made by the Attorney General to carry out the provisions of this Act. Such manifest shall be produced and delivered upon demand to any immigrant inspector or other officer of the United States Government authorized to examine the same, and a true copy thereof shall be filed with the commissioner of immigration at the port of departure at the time of the departure of the vessel from such port. Any master, agent, consignee, or owner of any such vessel who shall refuse or neglect to deliver such manifest or copy thereof, or who shall refuse or neglect to answer truly any question concerning the matters required to be specified therein touching each alien on board his vessel, shall pay to the collector of customs of the customs district in which the port of arrival is located the sum of $1,000 for each alien concerning whom such refusal or neglect occurs. No vessel shall be cleared pending the determination of the liability to payment of such sum, or while the sum remains unpaid, except that clearance may be granted prior to the determination upon the deposit of a sum sufficient to cover such sum, or of a bond with sufficient surety to secure the payment thereof approved by the collector of customs. The Attorney General may, upon application in writing therefor, mitigate such penalty or remit the same. The section, as amended, shall apply to all immigrant aliens arriving subsequent to June 2, 1940.

(b) Proof that an alien seaman did not depart upon the outbound manifest of the vessel on which he arrived in the United States from any place outside thereof, or that he was rejected by the master of such vessel as a deserter, shall be prima facie evidence of a failure to deport after reimbursement by the immigration officer or the Attorney General.

(c) If the Attorney General finds that deportation of the alien seaman on the vessel on which he arrived would cause undue hardship to such seaman he may cause him to be deported on another vessel at the expense of the vessel on which he arrived, but such reimbursement shall not be granted if clearance shall have been paid or its payment guaranteed to the satisfaction of the Attorney General.

ALIEN SEAMEN

SEC. 13. No alien seaman excluded from admission into the United States under the immigration laws and employed on board any vessel arriving in the United States from any place outside thereof, shall be permitted to land in the United States, except temporarily for medical treatment, or pursuant to such regulations as the Attorney General may prescribe for the allowance thereof, or in case of the emergency destruction of such vessel, or for the sole purpose of rendering assistance to other vessels in distress, or for such other cause as the Secretary of Labor may deem sufficient, but shall be deported in the manner provided in sections 19 and 20 hereof to the country from which he came to the United States or to the country of which he is a subject, citizen, or national, at the option of the master, agent, consignee, or owner of the vessel on which he arrived. Such deportation shall be a condition precedent to the granting of clearance papers to such vessel, and the master, agent, consignee, or owner of such vessel shall be liable to a penalty of $1,000 for each such alien employed on board his vessel at the time of her departure, whether such alien has been granted a landing certificate or not, and such penalty shall be a lien upon the vessel, which may be enforced by libel in rem. Such penalty shall not be remitted or refunded: Provided, That clearance may be granted prior to the determination of such question upon deposit of a sum sufficient to cover such fine. (39 Stat. 884, 887, 8 U. S. C. 171.)

SEC. 150.13. Limit of alien employees; when clearance of vessel denied. Clearance shall not be granted any vessel until the alien employees, if any, have been reported, the deposit specified in § 150.13–150.17, if any, has been made, or the bond executed, as required by section 13 of the Act (39 Stat. 888; 8 U. S. C. 173), unless the provisions of section 38 of the Immigration Act of 1917 (39 Stat. 889; 8 U. S. C. 171), have been fulfilled, and not then unless notice of intention to file the administrative fine prescribed by said section or to limit prescribed by section 35 of said Act (39 Stat. 888; 8 U. S. C. 168) prescribed has been served, the deposit specified in § 150.13–150.17, if any, has been made.

SEC. 36. That upon arrival of any vessel in the United States from any foreign port or place it shall be the duty of the master, agent, consignee, or owner of any vessel in the United States from any foreign port or place to deliver to the principal immigration officer in charge of the port of arrival lists containing the names of all aliens employed on such vessel, stating the positions they respectively hold in the alien's country, when and where they were respectively shipped or engaged, and their destination, so far as known, and such additional information relative thereto as may be required by the Commissioner General of Immigration, approved by the Secretary of Labor, and prescribed in the rules and regulations made by the Attorney General to carry out the provisions of this Act. Such lists shall be prepared on blank forms furnished by the United States Government, and a like list shall be prepared by the master, agent, consignee, or owner of any vessel clearing therefrom for any foreign port or place, containing the names of all aliens employed on board such vessel and destined to the United States, and such additional information relative thereto as may be required by the Commissioner General of Immigration, approved by the Secretary of Labor, and prescribed in the rules and regulations made by the Attorney General to carry out the provisions of this Act. Such lists shall be produced and delivered upon demand to any immigrant inspector or other officer of the United States Government authorized to examine the same, and a true copy thereof shall be filed with the commissioner of immigration at the port of departure at the time of the departure of the vessel from such port. Any master, agent, consignee, or owner of any such vessel who shall refuse or neglect to deliver such lists or copy thereof, or who shall refuse or neglect to answer truly any question concerning the matters required to be specified therein touching each alien on board his vessel, shall pay to the collector of customs of the customs district in which the port of arrival is located the sum of $10 for each alien concerning whom correct lists are not delivered or a true copy if not made as above required; and no such vessel shall be cleared pending the determination of the question of the liability to the payment of such sum, and, in the event such sum is imposed, while it remains unpaid; nor shall such sum be remitted or refunded: Provided, That clearance may be granted prior to the determination of such question upon deposit of a sum sufficient to cover such sum. IMPORTANT NOTICE TO MASTER

The list described below shall be prepared on blank forms approved by the Department and be ready for delivery to the immigration inspector boarding the vessel at the port of arrival, but shall not be delivered on board, but shall be delivered by the master to the principal immigration officer at the port. When an alien seaman is a "workaway", a notation to that effect should be made on the manifest. In order to facilitate inspection of alien seamen, include names of native American citizen seamen as well as aliens.

EXTRACT FROM ACT OF CONGRESS OF FEBRUARY 5, 1917, AS AMENDED

SEC. 36. That upon arrival of any vessel in the United States from foreign port or place it shall be the duty of the owner, agent, consignee, or master thereof to deliver to the principal immigration officer in charge of the port of arrival lists containing the names of all aliens employed on such vessel, stating the position therein, the last permanent foreign address, the intended address in the United States, and whether or not in possession of an unexpired immigration visa, and specifying those to be landed in the port, and the ports in which the remainder intend to land; and upon the departure of such vessel from the last port in the United States, a list containing the names of all aliens employed thereon, specifying the manner in which each alien has been employed, the length of time employed, and the consideration received therefor, and the intended future residence or destination of each alien, together with such information likely to lead to the apprehension of any alien illegally landed from the vessel, giving a description of such alien, as soon as discovered, all cases in which such alien has secreted himself or herself on board such vessel, and the circumstances connected therewith, and such other information as the Attorney General shall by regulation prescribe: and after the arrival of such vessel it shall be the duty of such owner, agent, consignee, or master to report to such immigration officer, in writing, as soon as discovered, all cases in which such alien has deserted or attempted to desert such vessel, stating the circumstances connected therewith, and also the name of any such alien found on board after the departure of such vessel, together with such information likely to lead to the apprehension of such alien, and to pay the cost of his detention and the return passage money of such alien to the port from which he was originally brought by such vessel, and to indemnify such transportation company against any fine which may be imposed upon it by reason of the presence on board its vessel of such alien: Provided, That the Attorney General may, in his discretion, waive the payment of the cost of detention in the case of any alien who shall have been in the United States for a period of not less than one year next preceding the departure of the vessel from a port in the United States, and who shall have been employed on board such vessel during such period, and who shall have been lawfully admitted to the United States upon the return of such vessel from such foreign port or place: Provided further, That the master, agent, consignee, or owner of any such vessel shall not be required to detain any alien on board thereof as a witness in connection with the prosecution of any person or persons charged with violating the provisions of this section, but such witness may be required to give his deposition before the proper officer in charge of the port, and such deposition may be used in the prosecution of such case, and thereupon such witness shall be returned to the country from which he came with the least practicable delay, at the expense of the appropriation for the enforcement of this section: And provided further, That the Secretary of Labor may, in his discretion, permit the master, agent, consignee, or owner of any vessel to retain on board such vessel any alien seaman employed thereon who has been duly certified by a medical officer of the United States Public Health Service as suffering from any contagious disease, the nature of which shall be stated in the certificate, when in the opinion of such medical officer the detention of such alien seaman on board is necessary to prevent the spread of such disease into the United States, and such alien seaman may be detained on board or in such hospital as may be designated by the Secretary of Labor until a certificate shall be issued by such medical officer that in his opinion such alien seaman may be landed without danger of spreading such disease, and the cost of such detention shall be paid by the master, agent, consignee, or owner of such vessel.

ALIEN SEAMEN

SEC. 18. No alien seaman excluded from admission into the United States under the immigration laws shall be employed on board any vessel arriving in the United States from any place outside thereof, shall be permitted to land in the United States, except temporarily for medical treatment, or because of shipwreck or other casualty, or by reason of the necessity to secure other seamen in his place, or pursuant to such regulations as the Attorney General may prescribe for the sufferance of aliens employed on board vessels touching at ports of the United States, and shall be deported in the manner provided in sections 19 and 20 of this Act. (43 Stat. 164; 8 U. S. C. 166.)

SEC. 30. (a) The owner, charterer, agent, consignee, or master of any vessel arriving in the United States from any place outside thereof, or any transportation company operating any railway entering the United States from any place outside thereof, shall before any alien seaman employed on such vessel shall include a personal physical examination by a medical officer in charge at the port of arrival and inspected such seaman (which inspection shall be in all cases made before the immigration officer in charge at the port of arrival), or, if the Attorney General so do so, shall pay to the collector of customs of the customs district in which such inspection or so to deport such seaman if reported by such immigration officer at the time of his departure, the sum of $10 for each alien seaman in respect of whom such failure occurs. No vessel shall be cleared while it is detained for the payment of such fine, and in the event such fine is imposed, suits it remains unpaid: nor shall such fine be remitted or refunded: Provided, That clearance may be granted prior to the determination of such question upon deposit of a sum sufficient to cover such fine.

(b) Every alien seaman shall be deported at the expense of the appropriation for the enforcement of this section in the manner provided by section 20 of said Act, (39 Stat. 888; 8 U. S. C. 156) unless he shall have been granted clearance by the Attorney General pursuant to the provisions of section 30 of said Act, or shall have been granted a visa by a consular officer, or shall have been granted permission to land temporarily by the Secretary of Labor, or shall have been granted permission to land temporarily by the Attorney General.

(c) If the Attorney General finds that deportation of the alien seaman on the vessel on which he arrived will cause undue hardship to such seaman he may cause him to be deported on another vessel at the expense of the vessel on which he arrived, and such expense shall be treated as part of the appropriation for the enforcement of this section.

(d) Every alien seaman who shall not depart upon the outbound manifest of the vessel on which he arrived in the United States or to whom a landing shall be granted temporarily as provided in this section, shall be deported as in the case of other aliens unlawfully in the United States.

(e) Nothing in this section shall be construed to repeal, amend, or modify the provisions of section 19 of the Immigration Act of 1917 (39 Stat. 889; 8 U. S. C. 137), and the penalties provided by section 38 of the Immigration Act of 1917 (39 Stat. 889; 8 U. S. C. 151), have been and are hereby continued in force and effect.

IMPORTANT NOTICE TO MASTER

The list described below shall be prepared on blank forms approved by the Department and be ready for delivery to the immigration inspector nearest the vessel at the port of arrival, and shall in no instance be taken from the vessel. The list of changes of alien members of crews (Form 583) shall not be furnished on board, but shall be delivered by the master to the principal immigration officer at the port. When an arriving alien is a "workaway," a notation to that effect should be made on the manifest.

EXTRACT FROM ACT OF CONGRESS OF FEBRUARY 2, 1917

SEC. 38. That upon arrival of any vessel in the United States from any foreign port or place it shall be the duty of the owner, agent, consignee, or master thereof to deliver to the principal immigration officer in charge of the port of arrival lists containing the names of all alien members of the crew and all alien passengers who may be on board the vessel at the time of its arrival at the port, specifying the nationality, last permanent residence, and final destination of each such alien, so far as the same can be ascertained by reasonable inquiry and diligence on the part of the master, and stating whether they have been previously in the United States or not, and whether they have been registered under the provisions of section 4 of the Act entitled "An Act to regulate the immigration of aliens into the United States," approved May 19, 1921, as amended, and the number of the certificate issued to each such registered alien. The master shall also report the names of all alien members of the crew who may desert or be left behind at any port or place in the United States, the cause of their failure to proceed on the vessel, and the final destination of each such alien so far as known or ascertained by reasonable inquiry. Such lists shall be subscribed and sworn to before the immigration officer at the port of arrival by the master, and the information required therein shall be recorded by the immigration officer at the time the lists are delivered. Any master who fails to deliver such lists, or who refuses to subscribe and swear to the same, or who fails to report and deliver for each alien any information required by this section, or who refuses to permit any immigration officer to board the vessel for the purpose of inspecting the crew list and determining the number of aliens entitled to land, shall pay to the collector of customs a penalty of $10 for each alien concerning whom correct lists are not delivered to a time report is not made as above provided: Provided, That clearance may be granted prior to the determination of such question upon deposit of a sum sufficient to cover such fine, and in the event such fine is imposed, while it remains unpaid; nor shall such fine be remitted or refunded: Provided further, That clearance shall not be granted pending the determination of the question of the imposition of such fine if the master of the vessel deposits with the collector of customs a bond with sufficient surety to secure the payment thereof.

EXTRACT FROM SUBDIVISION B, RULE 7

PAR. 3. Clearance shall not be granted any vessel until the lists required by section 38 of the Act of February 2, 1917, have been furnished, and not then unless notice of liability to the administrative fine prescribed by said section or to fine prescribed by section 38 of said Act remains open, the deposit specified in rule 23 has been made.

EXTRACT FROM ACT OF CONGRESS APPROVED MAY 26, 1924

ALIEN SEAMEN

SEC. 10. No alien seaman excluded from admission into the United States under the immigration laws employed on board any vessel arriving in the United States from any place outside the United States, except temporarily for medical treatment, or pursuant to such regulations as the Secretary of Labor may prescribe for the alternate detention and deportation of such alien from the United States, or to transfer to any vessel departing from the United States, except for the purpose of entering the service of the United States, shall be permitted to land in the United States. Any master who lands or attempts to land any alien seaman in violation of this section shall pay a penalty of $1,000 for each alien seaman in respect of whom such failure occurs. No vessel shall be granted clearance pending the determination of the liability to payment of such fine, or while the fine remains unpaid, except that clearance may be granted prior to the determination of such question upon the deposit of a sum sufficient to cover such fine, or to a bond with sufficient surety to secure the payment thereof approved by the collector of customs.

(d) Front and rear on which seamen shall not appear upon the outbound manifest of the vessel in the United States from any place outside thereof, or shall be left behind, upon the departure of such vessel as a deserter, shall be prima facie evidence of a failure to deliver such seamen on board such vessel at the time of departure from the United States, unless the master produces the certificate of the Secretary of Labor that such deportation of the alien seamen on the vessel on which he arrived, and such vessel has been granted clearance that the expense of the vessel on account of such deportation has been paid to its payment thereof to the satisfaction of the Secretary of Labor.

AFFIDAVIT OF THE MASTER OR COMMANDING OFFICER, OR FIRST OR SECOND OFFICER

I, E. L. HALLAM, Master, of the A.M. Dennis, 2222 do declare that the foregoing is a full and true list of all the crew properly in said vessel from and port or place during her present voyage. I have noted the copy of section 38 of the Act of February 2, 1917, extract from subdivision B, rule 7, and copy of sections 21 and 50, Act of May 26, 1924, which appear below.

IMPORTANT NOTICE TO MASTER

The list described below shall be prepared on blank forms approved by the Department and be ready for delivery to the immigration inspector boarding the vessel at the port of arrival and shall not be destroyed or removed from the vessel by any person until after the vessel shall have been admitted to entry or cleared from the port. The list or manifest of aliens required to be delivered by the master, owner, agent, consignee, charterer, or commanding officer of any vessel bringing aliens to the United States from any foreign port or place shall be signed by the master, owner, agent, consignee, charterer, or commanding officer of the vessel and verified and sworn to before the immigration officer at the port of arrival. When no alien is carried on board, a list to that effect shall be prepared. Such list or manifest shall be prepared in the following form: Port of ..., ..., 19..., List or manifest of aliens destined to ports in the United States, who sailed from ... on the ... day of ..., 19..., on the ... vessel, ... master, bound for ... Such list or manifest shall contain the following information concerning each alien who may be admitted to the United States: Last name, first name, and middle name; age; sex; married or single; calling or occupation; whether able to read or write; nationality; race; last permanent residence; final destination, if not to the United States; whether in possession of a ticket to final destination; whether in possession of $50 and if not, by whom furnished; whether ever before in the United States, and if so, when, where, and how long ago; whether ever before refused admission to the United States, and if so, when and where; whether ever before deported from the United States or removed at public expense, and if so, when and where; whether going to join a relative or friend, and if so, what relative or friend, name and complete address of such relative or friend; whether coming to join a husband, wife, father, mother, child, brother, or sister, and if so, what relative; whether coming for work, and if so, whether a definite job is promised, and if so, what job; whether in good health, mental and physical; whether deformed or crippled, and if so, how; height; complexion; color of hair and eyes; identification marks. Such list or manifest shall also contain a statement by the master, owner, agent, consignee, charterer, or commanding officer of the vessel as to the number of aliens on board who have been examined by medical officers of the United States Public Health Service, and the number who have been certified by such medical officers to be suffering from any of the diseases or mental or physical defects or disorders set forth in section 3 of the Immigration Act of 1917, and the number who have been certified by such medical officers to be suffering from any form of tuberculosis, so developed as to be regarded as dangerous to the public health. Every such list or manifest shall be subscribed and sworn to before the immigration officer at the port of arrival by the master, owner, agent, consignee, charterer, or commanding officer of the vessel, and the oath may be administered by any such officer. Any master, owner, agent, consignee, charterer, or commanding officer of any vessel who refuses or neglects to deliver such list or manifest, or who refuses or neglects to answer truthfully and completely any and all questions touching the matters and things required to be stated therein, shall be guilty of a misdemeanor and shall be punished by a fine of not more than $1,000 for each alien concerning whom such refusal or neglect occurs, or by imprisonment for not more than one year, or by both such fine and imprisonment, in the discretion of the court. Any such master, owner, agent, consignee, charterer, or commanding officer who knowingly or willfully lands or permits to land in the United States from any vessel any alien not listed in the list or manifest delivered to the immigration officer at the port of arrival, or who knowingly or willfully lands or permits to land in the United States from any vessel any alien who has been certified by the medical officers of the United States Public Health Service, except for emergency reasons, shall be guilty of a misdemeanor and shall be punished by a fine of not more than $1,000 for each alien so landed, or by imprisonment for not more than one year, or by both such fine and imprisonment, in the discretion of the court. Any such master, owner, agent, consignee, charterer, or commanding officer who knowingly or willfully lands or permits to land in the United States from any vessel any alien who has been certified by the medical officers of the United States Public Health Service, except for emergency reasons, shall be guilty of a misdemeanor and shall be punished by a fine of not more than $1,000 for each alien so landed, or by imprisonment for not more than one year, or by both such fine and imprisonment, in the discretion of the court. Any such master, owner, agent, consignee, charterer, or commanding officer who knowingly or willfully lands or permits to land in the United States from any vessel any alien who has been deported from the United States, unless such alien shall have been specially permitted to reapply for admission by the Secretary of Labor, shall be guilty of a misdemeanor and shall be punished by a fine of not more than $1,000 for each alien so landed, or by imprisonment for not more than one year, or by both such fine and imprisonment, in the discretion of the court. Any such master, owner, agent, consignee, charterer, or commanding officer who knowingly or willfully lands or permits to land in the United States from any vessel any alien who has been excluded from admission into the United States under the immigration laws, except for emergency reasons, shall be guilty of a misdemeanor and shall be punished by a fine of not more than $1,000 for each alien so landed, or by imprisonment for not more than one year, or by both such fine and imprisonment, in the discretion of the court. Any such master, owner, agent, consignee, charterer, or commanding officer who knowingly or willfully lands or permits to land in the United States from any vessel any alien who is afflicted with any loathsome or dangerous contagious disease, and who it shall be shown to the satisfaction of the court before the vessel left the foreign port from which she sailed that such disease could have been detected by the medical officers of the United States Public Health Service at the port of departure by the use of reasonable care, shall be guilty of a misdemeanor and shall be punished by a fine of not more than $1,000 for each alien so landed, or by imprisonment for not more than one year, or by both such fine and imprisonment, in the discretion of the court. Any such master, owner, agent, consignee, charterer, or commanding officer who knowingly or willfully lands or permits to land in the United States from any vessel any alien who is afflicted with any loathsome or dangerous contagious disease, and who it shall be shown to the satisfaction of the court before the vessel left the foreign port from which she sailed that such disease could have been detected by the medical officers of the United States Public Health Service at the port of departure by the use of reasonable care, shall be guilty of a misdemeanor and shall be punished by a fine of not more than $1,000 for each alien so landed, or by imprisonment for not more than one year, or by both such fine and imprisonment, in the discretion of the court. Any such master, owner, agent, consignee, charterer, or commanding officer who knowingly or willfully lands or permits to land in the United States from any vessel any alien who has been deported from the United States, unless such alien shall have been specially permitted to reapply for admission by the Secretary of Labor, shall be guilty of a misdemeanor and shall be punished by a fine of not more than $1,000 for each alien so landed, or by imprisonment for not more than one year, or by both such fine and imprisonment, in the discretion of the court. Any such master, owner, agent, consignee, charterer, or commanding officer who knowingly or willfully lands or permits to land in the United States from any vessel any alien who has been excluded from admission into the United States under the immigration laws, except for emergency reasons

SEC. 36. That upon arrival of any vessel in the United States from any foreign port or place it shall be the duty of the owner, agent, consignee, or master thereof to deliver to the principal immigration officer in charge of the port of arrival lists containing the names of all aliens employed on such vessel, showing the nationality, last permanent residence, and final destination of each alien employee, and specifying the vessel on which each alien arrived in the United States, the date of such arrival, the railroad ticket number, if any, and the amount of money in possession of each alien employee, and such other information relative to the history, occupation, and intentions of such employees as may be required by the Commissioner General of Immigration and approved by the Secretary of Labor. Such lists shall be delivered by the master, agent, consignee, or owner of such vessel before any alien employee shall be allowed to land from such vessel, and the master, agent, consignee, or owner of such vessel shall be liable to a penalty of $10 for each alien employee with respect to whom he fails to deliver such list or with respect to whom the list delivered by him does not contain the information required herein, to be recovered by the collector of customs within whose district the port of arrival is located: Provided, That clearance may be granted prior to the determination of such question upon deposit of a sum sufficient to cover such fine. (39 Stat. 889, 890; 8 U. S. C. 171.)

SEC. 10. No alien seaman excluded from admission into the United States under the immigration laws and employed on board any vessel arriving in the United States from any place outside thereof, shall be permitted to land in the United States, except temporarily for medical treatment, or because of such regulations as the Attorney General may prescribe for the ultimate departure, removal, or deportation of such alien from the United States. (43 Stat. 164, 8 U. S. C. 166.)

SEC. 20. (a) The owner, charterer, agent, consignee, or master of any vessel arriving in the United States from any place outside thereof, who lands or permits to land on shore any alien seaman employed on such vessel until the immigration officer in charge at the port of arrival has inspected such seaman (which inspection in all cases shall include a personal physical examination by the medical examiners), or who fails to detain such seaman on board after such inspection or to deport such seaman if required by such immigration officer or the Attorney General to do so, shall be paid by the collector of customs of the customs district in which the port of arrival is located the sum of $1,000 for each alien seaman in respect of whom such failure occurs. No vessel shall be cleared while any penalty so incurred remains unpaid, and no such vessel shall be granted clearance pending the determination of the liability to payment of such sum, or while the sum remains unpaid, except that clearance may be granted prior to the determination of such question upon the deposit of a sum sufficient to cover such sum, or of a bond with sufficient surety to secure the payment thereof approved by the collector of customs. The Attorney General may, upon application in writing therefor, mitigate such penalty to not less than $300 for each seaman in respect of whom such failure occurs, upon such terms as the Attorney General in his discretion shall think proper. The section, as amended, shall apply to all deserters seamen subsequent to June 2, 1940.

(b) Proof that an alien seaman did not depart upon the outbound manifest of the vessel on which he arrived in the United States shall be prima facie evidence of a failure from any place outside thereof, or that he was rejected by the master of such vessel as a deserter, shall be prima facie evidence of a failure to detain or deport after treatment by the immigration officer or the Attorney General.

(c) If the Attorney General finds that deportation of the alien seaman on the vessel on which he arrived would cause undue hardship to such seaman he may cause him to be deported on another vessel at the expense of the vessel on which he arrived, and such vessel shall not be granted clearance until such expense has been paid or the payment guaranteed to the satisfaction of the Attorney General. SEC. 13. No alien seaman excluded from admission into the United States under the immigration laws and employed on board any vessel arriving in the United States from any place outside the United States. (43 Stat. 164, 8 U. S. C. 166.)

SEC. 30. (a) The owner, charterer, agent, consignee, or master of any vessel arriving in the United States from any place outside the United States, except temporarily for medical treatment, or because of illness, or because of shipwreck, or other casualty, shall be prohibited to land in the United States from such vessel any alien seaman (which term as used in this section and section 31 shall include a person employed on board in any capacity on board such vessel) unless and until the immigration officer in charge at the port of arrival shall have inspected such seaman (which inspection in all cases shall include a personal physical examination by the medical examiner), or shall be satisfied that such seaman has been duly inspected and certified by a medical officer of the United States Public Health Service at the last port at which such seaman landed from such vessel, and shall have delivered to such seaman a certificate to that effect. The Attorney General may prescribe rules governing the inspection of alien seamen and the issuance of certificates in lieu of inspection hereunder, and may employ for the purpose of such inspection any suitable agency or person: Provided, That the Attorney General is authorized to enter into contracts with appropriate officials of any foreign contiguous territory to provide for the inspection in such territory of alien seamen who intend to depart from the United States to such territory, which inspection shall be in lieu of inspection at a port of arrival.

(b) Any alien seaman who shall land in the United States in violation of this section, and any master, agent, owner, or consignee of the vessel on which such alien seaman arrived who shall cause or permit such alien seaman to land in violation of this section, shall be guilty of a misdemeanor and upon conviction thereof shall be punished by a fine of not more than $1,000 for each alien seaman in respect of whom such failure occurs. No vessel shall be granted clearance pending the determination of the liability to payment of such fine, or while the fine remains unpaid, except that clearance may be granted prior to the determination of the liability to payment of such fine, or while the fine remains unpaid, except that clearance may be granted prior to the determination of such question upon the deposit of a sum sufficient to cover such fine or of a bond with sufficient surety to secure the payment thereof approved by the collector of customs. The Attorney General may, upon application in writing therefor, mitigate such penalty to not less than $300 for each seaman in respect of whom such failure occurs, upon such terms as the Attorney General in the discretion shall think proper. The section, as amended, shall apply to all immigration arrival inspections on and after June 2, 1924.

(c) If the Attorney General finds that any deportation of the alien seamen on the vessel on which he arrived would cause undue hardship to such seaman he may cause him to be deported on another vessel at the expense of the vessel or which he arrived, but such deportation shall not be granted clearance until such expense has been paid or its payment guaranteed to the satisfaction of the Attorney General.

VERIFIAT OF THE MASTER OR COMMANDING OFFICER, OR FIRST OR SECOND OFFICER

I, STUART A LULLOCH MASTER, of the AMERICAN OIL SCREW INDIAN, do declare that the foregoing is a full and true list of all the crew promptly in said vessel from and port or place during her present voyage.

I have noted the copy of section 30 of the Act of February 3, 1917, extract from Title 8, Code of Federal Regulations, and copy of sections 13 and 50, Act of May 26, 1924, supra appear below.

Master, First or Second Officer

Sworn to before me this 4 day of DECEMBER, 19 50

Immigrant Inspector.

IMPORTANT NOTICE TO MASTER

The list described below shall be prepared in plain terms sufficiently explicit to enable the immigration inspector at the port of arrival to ascertain whether any person on board belongs to any of the classes excluded from admission into the United States under the immigration laws. The list or manifest must be signed and sworn to by the master or commanding officer of the vessel at the time of the last departure of the vessel from a foreign port or place before sailing for the United States. (43 Stat. 162, 8 U. S. C. 180.)

SEC. 30. (a) The owner, charterer, agent, consignee, or master of any vessel bringing to the United States any alien not in possession of an unexpired immigration visa or other travel document required by the Immigration Act of 1924, as amended, or by the Passport Act of 1918, as amended, or by regulations issued thereunder, or not in possession of a valid unexpired passport issued by the government of the country of which he claims nationality, or which country includes the territory in which he was born, if a passport is required by the government of such country, shall pay a penalty of $1,000 for each such alien, and in addition, a sum sufficient to cover the cost of the maintenance of each such alien during the period he is detained by the immigration authorities, not exceeding five days, pending the determination of the question whether he may be admitted to the United States or shall be deported, which cost of maintenance shall be determined by the Commissioner of Immigration and Naturalization, but shall not be less than $3 per day for each such alien. Clearance may be withheld from any vessel upon which an alien is required by this section to pay a penalty or sum for maintenance, or upon which such alien may be, until the payment thereof is approved by the Commissioner of Immigration and Naturalization or by the collector or customs officer to whom such approval may be delegated by the Commissioner of Immigration and Naturalization. The Commissioner of Immigration and Naturalization may, upon application in writing received prior to the departure of such vessel from a foreign port or place, issue a permit in duplicate for the removal of any such alien to a vessel bound for the United States, which permit shall be delivered to the master or commanding officer of such vessel and shall entitle such alien to be admitted to the United States, subject to the other provisions of this Act, notwithstanding the provisions of section 13 hereof. The Commissioner of Immigration and Naturalization may, in his discretion, refund any head tax collected in connection with the admission of any alien who is subsequently refused admission to the United States, but such refund shall be made only upon the application of the person who paid the tax or his legal representatives, and no such refund shall be made unless application therefor is made within two years after the date of payment of the tax. Any person who violates any of the provisions of this section shall be fined not more than $1,000 or imprisoned not more than one year, or both.

(b) The master, commanding officer, purser, surgeon, or agent of any vessel specified in subdivision (a) of this section shall deliver to the immigrant inspection officer at the port of arrival a complete list or manifest of all persons on board such vessel, whether destined to the United States or not, and whether citizens of the United States or not, before any such person shall be allowed to land from such vessel. Such list or manifest shall be made at the time of sailing from the last foreign port or place, or if the vessel has no list or manifest, the master, commanding officer, purser, surgeon, agent, or consignee of such vessel shall be severally liable to the penalty provided in subdivision (a) of this section. Such list or manifest shall contain such information as may be required by the Commissioner of Immigration and Naturalization, and the refusal of any master, commanding officer, purser, surgeon, agent, or consignee to deliver such list or manifest when demanded, or the failure to include therein the name of any alien on board such vessel, or the making of any false statement in relation thereto, shall be punished by a fine of not more than $1,000 for each such alien, or imprisonment for not more than one year, or both, in the event such alien is not produced. Clearance may be withheld from any vessel failing to deliver such list or manifest, or to include therein the name of any such alien, or making any false statement in relation thereto, until such penalty has been paid or remitted. Masters of vessels may be required to detain any alien on board their vessels until the inspection of such alien has been completed, and the cost of such detention shall not be considered a fine or penalty. Masters of vessels shall not be required to detain in confinement any alien entitled to enter the United States, except pursuant to regulations prescribed by the Commissioner of Immigration and Naturalization, approved by the Secretary of Labor. (43 Stat. 164, 8 U. S. C. 180.)

SEC. 18. No alien seaman excluded from admission into the United States under the immigration laws shall be employed on board any vessel arriving in the United States from any place outside thereof, or shall be permitted to land in the United States, except temporarily for medical treatment, or temporarily in case of shipwreck or other casualty rendering necessary such action, or as a member of a crew destined to a foreign port or place other than the United States, or for the purpose of receiving and shipping as a member of a crew destined to a foreign port or place, or for the purpose of being discharged in the United States, or for the purpose of being treated in a hospital as a patient, or for the purpose of being detained by the immigration officers at a station designated by the Commissioner of Immigration and Naturalization, or for the purpose of being detained in the custody of the United States Marshal, or for the purpose of being detained by the Commissioner of Immigration and Naturalization at a place of his designation, or for the purpose of being transported to the port of departure on the vessel on which he arrived in the United States or on any other vessel. Any alien seaman who shall land in the United States from any vessel arriving in the United States from any place outside thereof, except as permitted by this section, shall be deported as provided in sections 19 and 20 hereof. (43 Stat. 164, 8 U. S. C. 188.)

SEC. 20. (a) The owner, charterer, agent, consignee, or master of any vessel bringing to the United States any alien not in possession of an unexpired immigration visa or other travel document required by the Immigration Act of 1924, as amended, or by the Passport Act of 1918, as amended, or by regulations issued thereunder, or not in possession of a valid unexpired passport issued by the government of the country of which he claims nationality, or which country includes the territory in which he was born, if a passport is required by the government of such country, shall pay a penalty of $1,000 for each alien so brought, and in addition, a sum sufficient to cover the cost of the maintenance of each such alien during the period he is detained by the immigration authorities, not exceeding five days, pending the determination of the question whether he may be admitted to the United States or shall be deported, which cost of maintenance shall be determined by the Commissioner of Immigration and Naturalization, but shall not be less than $3 per day for each such alien. No vessel shall be cleared while any penalty provided by this section remains unpaid, except that clearance may be granted prior to the determination of the question of the liability of the vessel to pay a penalty, upon the deposit with the collector of customs of a sum sufficient to cover such fine, or of a bond duly executed by a surety company organized under the laws of the United States or of any State, Territory, or District thereof, and approved by the collector of customs. The Attorney General may, upon application in writing therefor, authorize any master of a vessel to proceed on a voyage without the inspection of any alien member of the crew who is ill, injured, or detained for the purpose of being treated in a hospital as a patient, or who is detained by the immigration authorities, or who is under the custody of the United States Marshal, or who is detained by the Commissioner of Immigration and Naturalization at a place of his designation, or who is being transported to the port of departure on the vessel on which he arrived in the United States or on any other vessel, and such vessel shall not be granted clearance until such inspection has been completed or such alien has been delivered to the custody for which he was detained or to the immigration officers at the port of departure. Any person who violates any of the provisions of this section shall be fined not more than $1,000 or imprisoned not more than one year, or both. Any alien seaman who shall land in the United States from any vessel arriving in the United States from any place outside thereof, except as permitted by this section, shall be deported as provided in sections 19 and 20 hereof. (43 Stat. 164–165, as amended by 44 Stat. 818; 8 U. S. C. 181 (a), 181 (c).)

(b) Every alien seaman who shall not depart from the United States with the vessel on which he arrived, or on some other vessel, within the period of time specified by the Attorney General, shall be deported as provided in sections 19 and 20 hereof, and shall be deemed to have failed to depart with the vessel on which he arrived unless he establishes to the satisfaction of the Attorney General that his failure to depart was occasioned by reasons beyond his control or by the action of the master of the vessel on which he arrived. (43 Stat. 165, as amended by 44 Stat. 818; 8 U. S. C. 181 (b), 181 (c).)

(c) If the Attorney General finds that deportation of any alien seaman on any vessel on which he arrived will cause undue hardship to the master or owner of such vessel, or that the vessel is necessary to the maintenance of the service in which it is employed, he may, in his discretion, permit such alien seaman to remain in the United States for a period not exceeding five days, and may extend such period for not more than five days in any case, under such conditions as he may prescribe; and while such alien seaman is so permitted to remain in the United States he shall not be required to be detained in the custody of the immigration officers at the port of arrival. Any alien seaman who shall remain in the United States for a longer period than permitted by the Attorney General, or who shall depart from the United States without the permission of the Attorney General, shall be deported as provided in sections 19 and 20 hereof, and shall be deemed to have failed to depart with the vessel on which he arrived unless he establishes to the satisfaction of the Attorney General that his failure to depart was occasioned by reasons beyond his control or by the action of the master of the vessel on which he arrived. (43 Stat. 165, as amended by 44 Stat. 818; 8 U. S. C. 181 (a), 181 (c).)

IMPORTANT NOTICE TO MASTER

The list described below shall be prepared on blank forms approved by the Department and be ready for delivery to the immigration inspector boarding the vessel at the port of arrival, and shall in no instance be taken from the vessel. The list of changes or alien members of crews (Form I 418) shall not be furnished on board, but shall be delivered by the master to the principal immigration officer at the port. When an alternate address is a "workaway," a notation to that effect should be made on the manifest. In order to facilitate inspection of alien seamen, include names of alternate American citizen seamen as well as aliens.

EXTRACT FROM ACT OF CONGRESS OF FEBRUARY 2, 1917, AS AMENDED

SEC. 38. That upon arrival of any vessel in the United States from any foreign port or place it shall be the duty of the owner, agent, consignee, or master thereof to deliver to the principal immigration officer in charge of the port of arrival lists containing the names of all alien members of the crew, and full information concerning each, which lists shall be verified by the oath of such owner, agent, consignee, or master, and shall be in such form and contain such information as the Attorney General shall by regulation prescribe; and after the arrival of any such vessel it shall be the duty of such owner, agent, consignee, or master to report to such immigration officer, in writing, as soon as discovered, all cases in which any such alien has subscribed or executed, and subsequently failed to deliver, the certificate provided for in the next preceding section; and before the departure of any such vessel it shall be the duty of such owner, agent, consignee, or master to deliver to such immigration officer, in writing, a description of such alien, together with such information likely to lead to his apprehension; and illegally landed from the vessel, giving a description of such alien, together with such information likely to lead to his apprehension; and before the departure of any such vessel it shall be the duty of such owner, agent, consignee, or master to deliver to such immigration officer a further list containing the names of all alien employees who were not employed thereon at the time of the arrival but who will leave port thereon at the time of departure, and also the names of those, if any, who have been hired on and discharged, and of the cause, if any, for such discharge; and in case of the failure of such owner, agent, consignee, or master so to deliver either of the lists herein required; and on such vessel shall be granted clearance pending the determination of the question of the liability to the payment of such fine, and in the event such fine is imposed, while it remains unpaid; nor shall such fine be remitted or refunded: Provided, That clearance may be granted prior to the determination of such question upon deposit of a sum sufficient to cover such fine. (39 Stat. 888, 892; 8 U. S. C. 171.)

ALIEN SEAMEN

SEC. 19. No alien seaman excluded from admission into the United States under the immigration laws and employed on board any vessel arriving in the United States from any place outside thereof shall be permitted to land in the United States, except temporarily for medical treatment, or treatment as may be necessary in order to secure his return on board, or because of such illness or injury as may necessitate his detention, or for such time as may be necessary to secure his repatriation, or to such seaman who has been granted a visa by the Secretary of Labor for the purpose of entering the United States solely in pursuance of a bona fide contract to serve on board a vessel engaged in the foreign trade of the United States for a period not exceeding eighteen months, which contract has been approved by the Secretary of Labor, and who intends to depart from the United States upon the vessel for which he shall have contracted. Any alien seaman who shall land in the United States, except temporarily for medical treatment, or treatment as may be necessary in order to secure his return on board, or because of such illness or injury as may necessitate his detention, or for such time as may be necessary to secure his repatriation, or to such seaman who has been granted a visa by the Secretary of Labor for the purpose of entering the United States solely in pursuance of a bona fide contract to serve on board a vessel engaged in the foreign trade of the United States, which contract has been approved by the Secretary of Labor, and who intends to depart from the United States upon the vessel for which he shall have contracted, shall be deported in the manner provided in section 14 hereof, and the cost of his maintenance while detained and of his deportation shall be borne by the owner of the vessel on which he arrived in the United States. (43 Stat. 164, 169.)

SEC. 20. (a) The owner, charterer, agent, consignee, or master of any vessel arriving in the United States from any place outside thereof who fails to detain on board such alien seaman employed on such vessel until the immigration officer in charge at the port of arrival has inspected such seaman (which inspection in all cases shall include a personal physical examination by the medical examiner), or who fails to detain such seaman on board after such inspection or to deport such seaman if required by such immigration officer to the extent of his ability to do so, shall be the collector of customs of the customs district in which the port of arrival is located the sum of $1,000 for each alien seaman in respect of whom such failure occurs. No vessel shall be granted clearance pending the determination of the liability to payment of such sum, or while the same remains unpaid, except that clearance may be granted prior to the determination of such question upon the deposit of a sum sufficient to cover such sum, or of a bond with sufficient surety to secure the payment thereof approved by the collector of customs. The Attorney General may, upon application in writing therefor, mitigate such penalty to not less than $300 for each seaman in respect of whom such failure occurs, upon such terms as the Attorney General in his discretion shall think proper. This section, as amended, shall apply to all penalties which shall accrue independent of June 2, 1924.

(b) Front sums so collected or deducted from the wages of any seaman shall be paid into the Treasury of the United States as a receipt, shall be prima facie evidence of a failure to deport such seaman by the master of such vessel, and shall be remitted by the Attorney General.

(c) If the Attorney General finds that deportation of the alien seaman on the vessel on which he arrived would cause undue hardship to such seaman he may cause him to be deported on another vessel at the expense of the vessel on which he arrived, but such expense shall not be charged against the vessel unless and until such expense has been paid to its payment Enforced to the satisfaction of the Attorney General.

IMPORTANT NOTICE TO MASTER. . .

The list described below shall be prepared on plank forms approved by the Department and be ready for delivery to the immigration inspector posting the vessel at the port of arrival, and shall not be delivered by the master to the principal immigration officer at the port of arrival (Form I–418) shall not be returned on board, but shall be delivered by the master to the principal immigration officer at the port. "Men in alphabetical sequence" is a notation to that effect should be made on the manifest. In order to facilitate inspection of alien seamen, include names of arriving American citizen seamen as well as aliens.

EXTRACT FROM ACT OF CONGRESS OF FEBRUARY 5, 1917, AS AMENDED

SEC. 36. That upon arrival of any vessel in the United States from any foreign port or place it shall be the duty of the owner, agent, consignee, or master thereof to deliver to the principal immigration officer in charge of the port of arrival lists correctly and completely containing the information required by this section concerning all aliens employed on such vessel, whether they are to land or remain on board, and specifying the positions they respectively hold in the ship's company, whether they were born in the United States, and their intended final destination, and whether they have been in the United States before, and if so, when and where they were respectively admitted to or departed therefrom, and whether they have been in possession of certificates of registry, and where and when issued, and whether they have been naturalized, and if so, when and where, and whether they have been in the military or naval service of the United States, and if so, when, where, and in what capacity they served, and whether they have been in receipt of or have applied for any pension from the United States, and if so, when and where, and whether they have been deported or have ever been refused admission to the United States or have ever been in custody, and if so, when and where, and the reasons therefor, and whether they have been connected with the business of importing contract laborers, and if so, in what capacity, and whether they intend to return to the United States, and whether they are willing to be employed on board vessels during their stay in the United States, and if so, what occupations they are fitted to perform, and whether they intend to become citizens of the United States, and whether they are able to read or write, and whether they are polygamists, and whether they believe in or advocate the overthrow by force or violence of the Government of the United States or of all forms of law, and whether they are anarchists, and whether they have ever been connected with any society, association, or group entertaining or teaching such disbelief in or opposition to organized government, and whether they have ever been members of or affiliated with any such society, association, or group, and whether they have ever been previously refused admission to the United States or deported therefrom, and if so, how many times and the cause or causes thereof, and whether they have ever been engaged or interested in the importation into the United States of any alien for the purpose of prostitution or for any other immoral purpose, and whether they have ever been convicted of any crime or misdemeanor, and if so, how many times and the cause or causes thereof, and whether they have ever been imprisoned or confined in any penal institution or reformatory, and if so, how many times and the cause or causes thereof, and whether they have ever been supported by charity, and if so, how and the circumstances thereof, and whether they are coming to the United States in pursuance of a previously existing contract or agreement, parol or special, to perform labor, and if so, what the nature and terms of such contract or agreement are, and whether they have paid their own passage or have been assisted by others, and if assisted by others, by whom they were assisted, and whether they are connected with any criminal or immoral organization, and whether they are coming for any purpose or object other than to seek employment, and whether they have been guilty of any other crime or misdemeanor not specifically mentioned herein, and whether they are married or single, and the age, sex, nationality, race, and last occupation of every alien so reported. Said lists shall contain such additional information as may be required by the Commissioner General of Immigration, with the approval of the Secretary of Labor, touching the right of any alien to enter the United States, and such other information regarding the identity, nationality, and status of any alien named therein as may be required by the Commissioner General of Immigration or the Secretary of Labor. The said lists shall be signed by the master, agent, consignee, or purser of the vessel, and shall be sworn to before the immigration officer at the port of arrival, and shall be prima facie evidence of the matters therein stated. The master, agent, consignee, or purser of every such vessel shall deliver to the said immigration officer at the time of the departure of the vessel from the last foreign port or place where such lists are required by this section to be delivered a correct list of all aliens employed on such vessel who are reported at the time of departure as sick or injured, and shall also report in writing the name of every alien who may die on board during the voyage, and the cause of death in each case, and shall deliver to the said immigration officer at the port of arrival a full and complete list of all aliens who may have been employed on such vessel who may have been left behind on account of illness, injury, or any other cause, and shall furnish the said immigration officer with such information as he may require concerning the same. Upon the refusal of any master, agent, consignee, or purser of any vessel to deliver the lists required by this section, or to answer any question truly pertaining to the matters about which he is required by this section to report, or upon the refusal of any such master, agent, consignee, or purser to pay the tax imposed by this section, such master, agent, consignee, or purser shall be deemed guilty of a misdemeanor and shall be punished by a fine not exceeding $1,000 for each refusal, and shall, moreover, pay to the collector of customs of the customs district in which the port of arrival is located the sum of $10 for each alien concerning whom correct lists are not delivered or a true report is not made as above provided: Provided, That clearance may be granted prior to the determination of such disputed question upon deposit of a sum sufficient to cover such fine. (39 Stat. 888–890; 8 U. S. C. 171.)

EXTRACT FROM 8 CFR 150

SEC. 150.18 Liens of alien employees: when clearance of vessel denied. Clearance shall not be granted via a landing station to any vessel until the liens required by section 36 of the Immigration Act of 1917 (39 Stat. 888; 8 U. S. C. 171),' have been terminated, and not then unless notice to liquidate to the administrative authority prescribed by this section or to any proceeding and not then unless notice to penalty need served, the deposit specified in § 150.13–150.17, has been made.

ALIEN SEAMEN

SEC. 18. No alien seaman excluded from admission into the United States under the immigration laws may be employed on board any vessel arriving in the United States from any place outside the United States, except temporarily for medical treatment, or pursuant to such regulations as the Attorney General may prescribe for the alternate deportation of such alien from the United States. (42 Stat. 164; 8 U. S. C. 166.)

SEC. 30. (a) The owner, charterer, agent, consignee, or master of any vessel arriving in the United States from any place outside the United States shall be permitted to land in the United States, except temporarily for medical treatment, or pursuant to such regulations as the Attorney General may prescribe for the alternate deportation of such alien from the United States, a seaman employed on such vessel until the immigration officer in charge at the port of arrival shall have inspected such seaman (which inspection in all cases shall include a personal physical examination by the medical examiner), and shall have delivered to the Attorney General or to any immigration officer in charge at the port of arrival a list containing such information in respect of such seaman as the Attorney General may require. Such list shall be prepared and delivered by the master, agent, consignee, or purser of the vessel, and shall be sworn to before the immigration officer at the port of arrival. Such list shall contain a statement that each seaman named therein has been personally inspected by the master, agent, consignee, or purser of the vessel, and that to the best of his knowledge and belief each seaman named therein is not a member of any class of aliens prohibited from entering the United States under the immigration laws. Such list shall be prima facie evidence that each seaman named therein was personally inspected by the master, agent, consignee, or purser of the vessel, and that to the best of his knowledge and belief each seaman named therein is not a member of any class of aliens prohibited from entering the United States under the immigration laws.

(b) Any seaman who shall land in the United States from any vessel at any port in violation of subdivision (a) of this section shall be taken on board such vessel by the master, agent, consignee, or purser thereof, before such vessel departs from such port, unless the Attorney General shall have granted to such seaman a permit to land temporarily in the United States, and such seaman shall have been issued a certificate of identification in accordance with the provisions of section 6 of this Act. Any master, agent, consignee, or purser of any vessel who shall fail to comply with the provisions of this subdivision shall pay to the collector of customs of the customs district in which the port of arrival is located the sum of $1,000 for each alien seaman in respect of whom such failure occurs. No vessel shall be granted clearance pending the determination of the question of the liability to the payment of the penalty, or while the same remains unpaid, or pending an application or petition for remission or mitigation thereof, but clearance may be granted prior to the determination upon the deposit of a sum sufficient to cover the same, or a bond with sufficient surety to secure the payment thereof approved by the collector of customs. The Attorney General may, upon application in writing therefor, mitigate such penalty to not less than $300 for each seaman in respect of whom such failure occurs, upon such terms as he may deem just. The Attorney General in his discretion shall limit the amount of the penalty to be imposed upon any vessel which, prior to the arrival of such vessel at a port of the United States, has been required by the immigration authorities at any foreign port to detain one or more seamen who have been refused admission into the United States solely because of physical disability certified by the examining surgeon at the time of the vessel's departure from such foreign port, or to remove such seamen from the vessel and return them to the country from which they came, or to the country in which the vessel has its home port, at the option of the master, agent, consignee, or purser of the vessel, and to pay the cost of their maintenance while detained at such port, and the cost of their removal from the vessel and their return to such country. (c) If the Attorney General finds that deportation of the crew of any vessel will cause undue hardship to the owners of such vessel, or will unreasonably delay the vessel, he may, in his discretion, waive the deportation of such seamen, but the vessel may be required to furnish a bond or undertaking in such amount and with such sureties as may be required by the Attorney General, conditioned that such seamen shall not become a public charge, and that they will depart from the United States when required to do so. Such bond or undertaking shall be discharged after the lapse of one year from the date of the departure of the vessel from the port at which the seamen were left behind, unless any of such seamen shall have become a public charge within such year. (43 Stat. 161–162, as amended; 8 U. S. C. 191 (a), (c).)

ATTENTION OF THE MASTER OR COMMANDING OFFICER, OR FIRST OR SECOND OFFICER

I, [illegible], of the [illegible], do declare that the foregoing is a full and true list of all the crew promptly in said vessel from any port or place outside the United States on the date of her last arrival at a port in the United States, and that I have made a personal examination of each member of the crew named therein, and I have noted the color of each person's eyes, hair, complexion, height, and build, and the marks of identification of each person whose description is required by section 4 of the Act of February 5, 1917, as amended by the Act of May 26, 1924, and that the description of each person named therein is correct, and that the photograph affixed to the certificate of identity issued to each person whose description is required by said Act is a likeness of the person to whom it was issued, and that each such certificate was issued to the person whose description it purports to describe, and that I have compared the signature of each person whose description is required by said Act with the signature written by him on his certificate of identity, and that each such signature is genuine, and that I have returned each such certificate to the person to whom it was issued.

[illegible], Master, First or Second Officer.

Sworn to before me this [illegible] day of [illegible], 19[illegible].

IMMIGRATION SERVICE
DEC 30 1954
PORT OF SAN FRANCISCO

EXTRACT FROM ACT OF CONGRESS OF FEBRUARY 5, 1917, AS AMENDED

SEC. 36. That upon arrival of any vessel in the United States from any foreign port or place it shall be the duty of the master, purser, commander, or master thereof to deliver to the immigrant inspector at the principal immigration officer in charge at the port of arrival lists containing the names of all aliens embarked on such vessel, stating the position they respectively hold in the ship's company, when and where they were respectively examined and admitted to enter, and whether they have been in the United States before, and if so, how long previously, and whether they have been in prison or almshouses or institutions for the care of the insane or supported by charity, and whether they have a ticket entitling them to transportation to the place of their destination, and whether they have been deported or excluded and the cause thereof, and whether they have been in a penitentiary, or jail, or reformatory, or workhouse within the three years next preceding the date of their application for admission to the United States, and whether they have been connected with any criminal institution or institution for the care of the insane or other institution, and whether they are coming in pursuance of a previous promise, engagement, or request of any person or persons in the United States, and if so, what person or persons, and their occupation, ability to read and write, nationality, race, last residence, and whether they are married or single, and the name and complete address of the nearest relative or friend in the country whence they came, and whether they have a ticket through to their ultimate destination, and whether their transportation is paid in whole or in part by any corporation, association, society, municipality, or government, and if so, which one, and whether they have been assisted to come by any of the foregoing, and whether they have been solicited by any agent to induce them to emigrate, and what their occupation is, and whether skilled or unskilled, and whether they are in possession of $50 in money, and if under sixteen years of age, whether in charge of parents or guardians, and whether they are joining relatives or friends, and if so, what relatives or friends, and the name, complete address, and relationship of such relatives or friends, and whether they intend to remain permanently or temporarily in the United States, and whether they intend to become citizens of the United States, and whether they are coming by reason of any offer, solicitation, promise, or agreement, expressed or implied, to perform labor in the United States, and what is the condition of their health, mental and physical, and whether deformed or crippled, and if so, how, and whether they have been rejected as immigrants within the previous year, and whether they have ever been in prison or supported by charity, and whether they are under contract or agreement, express or implied, to labor for any person or persons, company, partnership, or corporation in the United States, and the condition, location, and occupation of such person, persons, company, partnership, or corporation, and whether they have a relative or friend (and, if so, which relative or friend and the name and complete address of such relative or friend) who has sent for them, and whether they have the means and intend to go to the place to which they are destined, and their final destination. Every such master, purser, commander, or agent shall truly answer in writing each question so asked concerning each and every alien on board his vessel, and shall sign his name to the answers thereto. Such answers shall be prima facie evidence of the right of the aliens therein named to enter the United States, except as to such matters as are not required to be inquired into by immigrant inspectors. Such master, purser, commander, or agent shall deliver to the immigrant inspector at the port of arrival a separate list containing the names of all aliens employed on board the vessel who are destined to the United States, and shall indicate on such list which of such aliens are in the steerage or other compartments of the vessel. Such list shall be delivered before the vessel shall be granted entry, and before the immigrant inspector shall go on board the vessel for the purpose of inspecting the alien passengers thereon. Such master, purser, commander, or agent shall also deliver to such inspector lists containing the names of all aliens who have been ordered deported from the United States who are on board such vessel, and shall indicate on such lists the cases in which such aliens have been certified to be insane persons, or persons afflicted with loathsome or dangerous contagious diseases, or criminals, or who have been convicted of felonies or other crimes or misdemeanors involving moral turpitude, or who have been deported as witnesses, or as alien contract laborers, or who have been certified by the Surgeon General of the Public Health Service as mentally or physically defective, such certificate having been based upon a personal examination by one medical officer of the Service or a board of medical officers. Such master, purser, commander, or agent shall also furnish to the immigrant inspector at the port of arrival information in writing in answer to such questions as may be prescribed by the Commissioner General of Immigration, touching the persons named in the lists aforesaid, and shall indorse on the lists the name of each alien who is not admitted into the United States and shall report the cases of aliens who become ill or die on board such vessel before the inspection of such vessel is completed and the vessel granted entry. Such master, purser, commander, or agent shall, when required by the Commissioner General of Immigration, cause to be detained on board such vessel any alien who has been ordered to appear before a special board of inquiry for examination, and shall prevent any such alien from landing in the United States from such vessel until a final decision has been rendered in the case of such alien by such board of special inquiry. Such master, purser, commander, or agent shall, when required by the Commissioner General of Immigration, furnish a sufficient number of suitable persons to assist in the inspection of such vessel by the immigrant inspectors at the port of arrival. Such persons shall be subject to the direction of the immigrant inspectors in charge, and shall perform such duties as may be required of them in connection with the inspection of such vessel. Such persons shall be paid by the master, purser, commander, or agent of such vessel at the rate of $3 per day for the time employed, and shall be conveyed to and from such vessel without charge. Such master, purser, commander, or agent who shall refuse or neglect to comply with the provisions of this section shall pay a penalty of $300 for each alien in respect of whom such failure occurs. Upon such failure of any master, purser, commander, or agent to comply with the provisions of this section, or upon the refusal of any alien to be examined, such vessel shall be detained at the expense of the master, purser, commander, or agent thereof until such inspection is completed, and no such vessel shall be granted clearance papers pending the detention of any alien for examination. The Attorney General may, upon application in writing therefor, remit the fines provided for in this section, or any part thereof, upon the production of satisfactory evidence that the vessel could not have been detained in port by the exercise of reasonable diligence, or that the fines were incurred without fault on the part of the master, purser, commander, or agent of the vessel, or that the vessel arrived in distress, or that the master, purser, commander, or agent was ignorant of the provisions of this section, and had no reasonable means of knowing the same. The Attorney General may, upon such terms as he shall deem just, cancel any fine incurred under the provisions of this section, and any bond given to insure the performance of any act required by this section may be sued upon and recovered as a debt due the United States notwithstanding such cancellation.

(b) Front first an alien seaman did not appear upon the originally manifest of the vessel on which he arrived in the United States from any place outside thereof, or first came within the United States under the immigration laws and employed on board the vessel without having been inspected and admitted by an immigrant inspector, or subsequently to June 2, 1940.

(c) If the Attorney General finds that a master, purser, commander, or agent of any vessel is a member of, affiliated with, or under the control directly or indirectly of any person or persons who advocate the overthrow by force or violence of the Government of the United States or of all forms of law, or who disbelieve in or are opposed to all organized government, or who advocate the assassination of public officials, or who advocate or teach the unlawful destruction of property, or who are members of or affiliated with any organization entertaining, advocating, or teaching any of the doctrines above specified, he shall refuse to grant clearance papers to such vessel until the master, purser, commander, or agent thereof has been specifically authorized to do so by the Attorney General. Any master, purser, commander, or agent who knowingly violates the provisions of this subdivision shall be punished by a fine of not more than $1,000 or by imprisonment for not more than one year, or by both such fine and imprisonment.

(d) Front first an alien seaman did not appear upon the originally manifest of the vessel on which he arrived in the United States from a foreign contiguous territory, or first came within the United States under the immigration laws at a time or place other than as designated by immigrant inspectors, or subsequently to June 2, 1940.

(e) If the Attorney General finds that a master, purser, commander, or agent of any vessel is a member of, affiliated with, or under the control directly or indirectly of any person or persons who practice the overthrow by force or violence of the Government of the United States or of all forms of law, or who disbelieve in or are opposed to all organized government, or who advocate the assassination of public officials, or who advocate or teach the unlawful destruction of property, or who are members of or affiliated with any organization entertaining, advocating, or teaching any of the doctrines above specified, he shall refuse to grant clearance papers to such vessel until the master, purser, commander, or agent thereof has been specifically authorized to do so by the Attorney General. Any master, purser, commander, or agent who knowingly violates the provisions of this subdivision shall be punished by a fine of not more than $1,000 or by imprisonment for not more than one year, or by both such fine and imprisonment.

SEC. 36. That upon arrival of a vessel in the United States from any foreign port or place it shall be the duty of the master, agent, consignee, or master thereof to deliver to the principal immigration officer in charge of the port of arrival a list containing the names of all aliens employed on such vessel, showing the position they respectively hold in the ship's company, where they were born, where they were respectively shipped or engaged, and the destination of each such alien. Such list shall be delivered to the immigration officer at the time of arrival, and no such vessel shall be granted clearance papers by the collector of customs or other officer authorized to grant clearance papers until the master, agent, consignee, or master thereof has delivered to the immigration officer the list required by this section, and has certified to the correctness thereof by his oath or affirmation, administered by such immigration officer. Such list shall be prepared in quadruplicate, and the immigration officer shall, upon request, furnish the master, agent, consignee, or master thereof with a sufficient number of copies of such list for the use of the officers required to execute the same. Such list shall be in such form and contain such other information relative to such employees as may be required by the Commissioner General of Immigration with the approval of the Secretary of Labor. Any master, agent, consignee, or master of any such vessel who refuses to deliver to the immigration officer such list, or who fails to deliver with such list the certificate required by this section, or who refuses to grant to any such immigration officer the right to search the vessel, or who refuses to detain any alien on board when required so to do by such immigration officer, or who refuses to deliver to such immigration officer any alien on board concerning whom such officer may demand delivery, or who refuses to carry any alien back to the port from which he came, or who refuses to pay the head tax provided for in section 2 of this Act, shall be guilty of a misdemeanor and shall be punished by a fine not exceeding $1,000 for each offense. No vessel shall be granted clearance papers pending the determination of the question of the liability to the payment of such fine, and such vessel may be libeled for the collection thereof. The Attorney General may, upon application in writing therefor, remit or mitigate such fine, or any part thereof, upon such terms and conditions as he may deem just, and may ascertain and fix the facts upon which any such fine is remitted or mitigated. Whenever any fine imposed under this section has been remitted in full, the master of the vessel in connection with which such fine was imposed, upon application therefor, shall be given a certificate to that effect, and clearance papers shall not thereafter be withheld from such vessel on account of such fine. Upon the refusal of the Secretary of Labor to remit or mitigate such fine, or any part thereof, application may be made to the Commissioner of Customs, whose duty it shall be to review the findings of the Secretary of Labor, and he may remit or mitigate such fine upon the same terms and conditions as are provided herein for remission or mitigation by the Secretary of Labor.

(c) If the Attorney General finds that a transportation company has failed to prevent the entry of any alien as to whom a fine has been imposed against it, because such alien has secreted himself upon a vessel and concealed himself therein before such vessel has departed from a foreign port or place, or because such alien was not afforded reasonable opportunity by such company to detect the presence of such alien aboard such vessel prior to departure, or because of the failure of the master to exercise due diligence in the search of his vessel before departure, the Attorney General may remit or cancel any such fine. Clearance may be granted to any vessel against which a fine has been imposed under this section pending application to the Attorney General for remission or mitigation thereof, upon the deposit with the collector of customs of a sum sufficient to pay such fine after the same shall be finally determined, or upon the giving of a bond with sufficient surety to be approved by such collector in such sum and conditioned for the payment of such fine after the same shall be finally determined. Fines imposed under this section shall be a lien upon the vessel with respect to which they were incurred, and such vessel may be libeled therefor in the district court of the United States for the district in which she may be found. Such fines may be remitted, mitigated, or refunded upon the same terms and conditions as are provided in the case of fines imposed under the provisions of section 2 of this Act.

SEC. 150.15. Liens of alien employees; navy clearance of vessel denied. Clearance shall not be granted any vessel until the master thereof by section 36 of the Immigration Act of 1917 (39 Stat. 888; 8 U. S. C. 171), shall have been furnished, and has not been refused by the administrative authorities any information required by said section or to state thereon that no such information has been requested, the master of any vessel shall file with the collector of customs at the port of departure, before clearance is granted, a statement under oath that no alien employee has been employed on board the vessel during the period of his service thereon, or if any alien employee has been employed, a statement under oath setting forth the name of each such alien employee, the capacity in which employed, the length of time employed, the wages paid, and the amount of head tax required by section 2 of the Immigration Act of 1917 (39 Stat. 874; 8 U. S. C. 172), and the vessel may be granted clearance pending the determination of the question of the liability to the payment of such head tax: Provided, That clearance may be granted prior to the determination of such question upon deposit of a sum sufficient to cover such tax. ALIEN SEAMEN

SEC. 16. No alien seaman entering the United States from adjacent foreign territory, shall be permitted to land in the United States, except temporarily to the extent and under such conditions as may be prescribed by the Commissioner General of Immigration, with the approval of the Secretary of Labor, and no alien seaman shall be employed on board any vessel arriving in the United States from any place outside thereof unless there is on board such vessel at the time of her departure from each such place a list containing the name, nationality, last permanent residence, and such other particulars concerning each alien seaman employed as may be required by the Commissioner General of Immigration, with the approval of the Secretary of Labor. Such list shall be prepared in quadruplicate, and delivered to the collector of customs of the district in which the vessel shall first arrive in the United States, and a certified copy thereof shall be delivered to the master of each such alien seaman at the time of his discharge in the United States. Any master who violates any of the provisions of this section shall be punished by a fine of not more than $500 for each alien seaman in respect of whom such violation occurs. No vessel shall be granted clearance papers by the collector of customs while any fine imposed under this section remains unpaid, except that clearance may be granted prior to the determination of such question upon the deposit with the collector of customs of the sum of $300 for each alien seaman in respect of whom such violation occurs, or the deposit of a bond with sufficient surety to be approved by such collector in such sum and conditioned for the payment of such fine after the same shall be finally determined, or upon the giving of a bond with sufficient surety to be approved by the Commissioner General of Immigration, with the approval of the Secretary of Labor, conditioned for the payment of such fine after the same shall be finally determined by the Secretary of Labor. Fines imposed under this section shall be a lien upon the vessel with respect to which they were incurred, and such vessel may be libeled therefor in the district court of the United States for the district in which she may be found. Such fines may be remitted, mitigated, or refunded upon the same terms and conditions as are provided in the case of fines imposed under the provisions of section 2 of this Act.

(b) Proof shall be filed with the Commissioner General of Immigration, within three months after the departure of any vessel from a port of the United States, that no alien seaman has been employed on board such vessel at such port in violation of this section, or that any alien seaman employed on board such vessel at such port in violation of this section has been apprehended in the United States, or has been accounted for to the satisfaction of the Commissioner General of Immigration, with the approval of the Secretary of Labor, by the production of a certificate or other evidence of his discharge in a foreign country, or has died, or has been forcibly detained on board a vessel of war of a foreign country, or has been granted permission to land temporarily for the purpose of medical treatment, or has been granted permission to land temporarily in the discretion of the Commissioner General of Immigration, with the approval of the Secretary of Labor, upon the giving of a bond with sufficient surety in such sum, not exceeding $1,000 for each alien seaman in respect of whom such bond is given, and upon such conditions as may be prescribed by the Commissioner General of Immigration, with the approval of the Secretary of Labor, or has been otherwise lawfully accounted for to the satisfaction of the Commissioner General of Immigration, with the approval of the Secretary of Labor. Clearance may be granted to any vessel against which a fine has been imposed under this section pending application to the Attorney General for remission or mitigation thereof, upon the deposit with the collector of customs of a sum sufficient to pay such fine after the same shall be finally determined, or upon the giving of a bond with sufficient surety to be approved by such collector in such sum and conditioned for the payment of such fine after the same shall be finally determined by the Secretary of Labor. Fines imposed under this section shall be a lien upon the vessel with respect to which they were incurred, and such vessel may be libeled therefor in the district court of the United States for the district in which she may be found. Such fines may be remitted, mitigated, or refunded upon the same terms and conditions as are provided in the case of fines imposed under the provisions of section 2 of this Act.

(c) If the Attorney General finds that a transportation company has failed to prevent the entry of any alien as to whom a fine has been imposed against it, because such alien has secreted himself upon a vessel and concealed himself therein before such vessel has departed from a foreign port or place, or because such alien was not afforded reasonable opportunity by such company to detect the presence of such alien aboard such vessel prior to departure, or because of the failure of the master to exercise due diligence in the search of his vessel before departure, the Attorney General may remit or cancel any such fine. Clearance may be granted to any vessel against which a fine has been imposed under this section pending application to the Attorney General for remission or mitigation thereof, upon the deposit with the collector of customs of a sum sufficient to pay such fine after the same shall be finally determined, or upon the giving of a bond with sufficient surety to be approved by such collector in such sum and conditioned for the payment of such fine after the same shall be finally determined by the Secretary of Labor. Fines imposed under this section shall be a lien upon the vessel with respect to which they were incurred, and such vessel may be libeled therefor in the district court of the United States for the district in which she may be found. Such fines may be remitted, mitigated, or refunded upon the same terms and conditions as are provided in the case of fines imposed under the provisions of section 2 of this Act.

SEC. 150.13. Limit of alien employees: when clearance of vessel denied. Clearance shall not be granted the master of any vessel until the limit specified by section 36 of the immigration Act of 1917 (39 Stat. 888; 8 U. S. C. 171) upon such employment of aliens as is therein prescribed has been complied with, or until the master has submitted to the administrative authorities a statement showing the name, nationality, and last foreign residence of each alien employee who has been employed on board the vessel and who is not included in the crew list, and the reason why such alien will not depart on the vessel. Such statement shall be verified by the master's oath and shall contain the information required by section 4 of the act of May 22, 1924 (43 Stat. 159; 8 U. S. C. 204), and shall be accompanied by the immigration visa of each alien employee who is required by such act to obtain a visa. Such statement shall be filed in duplicate with the collector of customs at the customs district in which the port of departure is located, and the master shall, if required by the Secretary of Labor, deliver to a duly authorized immigrant inspector such additional information concerning such employees as may be required. Clearance may be granted prior to the determination of such disposition upon deposit of a sum sufficient to cover such tax. (39 Stat. 888, 889; 8 U. S. C. 171.)

ALIEN SEAMEN

SEC. 13. No alien seaman excluded from admission into the United States under the immigration laws but employed on board any vessel arriving in the United States from any place outside the contiguous territory of North America, shall be permitted to land in the United States, except temporarily for medical treatment, or because of injury or illness requiring his detention, or unless specifically certified by the Secretary of Labor to be a nonquota immigrant entitled to enter the United States, or unless he is in possession of a valid nonquota immigration visa. Any such alien seaman employed on board any vessel may be required by the immigration officer in charge at the port of arrival to give a bond in such sum and with such sureties as the Secretary of Labor may prescribe, conditioned that such alien seaman will depart from the United States in pursuance of law on board the vessel on which he arrived or some other vessel, and will not become a public charge. (43 Stat. 164, 8 U. S. C. 166.)

SEC. 20. (a) The owner, charterer, agent, consignee, or master of any vessel arriving in the United States from any place outside the contiguous territory of North America shall be required to detain on board the vessel such alien seaman employed on such vessel until the immigration officer in charge at the port of arrival has inspected such seaman (which inspection it shall cause to be made as soon as practicable), and has granted him a permit to land, or has certified that such inspection is unnecessary, or has issued a certificate in lieu of a permit, or has refused to issue such permit or certificate, or has taken such seaman on board for special inquiry under the provisions of section 16 of this Act. Any such alien seaman may be required by the immigration officer to deposit with the collector of customs or the customs district in which the port of arrival is located the sum of $10 for each alien seaman in respect of whom such inspection or to deport such seaman is to be performed, to guarantee the payment of such expenses as may be incurred in connection with such inspection or deportation, including maintenance, and the head tax if such alien seaman is not in possession of a valid immigration visa, unless specifically exempted by the Secretary of Labor. Clearance may be granted prior to the determination of the inspection or deportation of such seaman upon the deposit of a sum sufficient to cover such tax, or to the giving of a bond with sureties satisfactory to the collector of customs in a penal sum sufficient to cover such expenses and head tax, conditioned upon the departure of such seaman on the vessel on which he arrived or some other vessel, or upon the payment of such expenses and head tax if he shall remain in the United States. The Secretary of Labor may, upon application in writing therefor, withdraw such bond or cancel any such bond upon the deposit of a sum sufficient to cover such tax, or to the giving of a bond with sureties satisfactory to the collector of customs. The Secretary of Labor may, upon the recommendation of the immigration officer in charge at the port of arrival, in his discretion, waive the requirement of such bond in the case of any such seaman who is found by the immigration officer at the time of the vessel's arrival at such port to be suffering from an illness which requires his detention in a hospital, and may, upon the certification by the medical officer in charge of the hospital that such seaman has sufficiently recovered to proceed on board his vessel or to depart from the United States, cancel any bond given with respect to such seaman. Upon the failure of any master to deliver any seaman for whom a deposit has been required, upon the departure of the vessel from the port, or upon the failure of any seaman to depart from the United States on the vessel on which he arrived or some other vessel within such time as may be specified by the immigration officer in charge at the port of arrival, or within such further time as may be allowed by the Secretary of Labor, the sum deposited for the maintenance of such seaman shall be forfeited to the United States, except that if such seaman shall have been treated in a hospital at the expense of the master, such sum shall be returned to the extent necessary to reimburse the master for the amount paid by him for such hospital treatment. Any sum forfeited under the provisions of this section shall be covered into the Treasury as a head tax collected from such seaman.

(b) Unless otherwise specified by the Secretary of Labor, the provisions of this section shall not apply to any seaman employed on board any vessel touching at ports in the United States solely for the purpose of taking on board passengers destined to foreign countries, or solely for the purpose of discharging passengers arriving from foreign countries, or solely for the purpose of doing both such things, if such seaman is employed on board such vessel at the time of her arrival at the first port in the United States and remains on board such vessel while she remains in such ports.

(c) If the Attorney General finds that deportation of the alien seaman on the vessel on which he arrived in the United States from a place outside the contiguous territory of North America is impracticable or inadvisable, he may cause such alien seaman to be taken from the vessel by the immigration officer at the port of arrival and cause him to be detained in a hospital, or otherwise detained, pending the completion of his medical treatment, or pending his deportation to any country willing to receive him, at a cost not to exceed $5 per day for such detention, which cost shall be paid by the master of the vessel on which such alien seaman arrived. Such alien seaman shall be deported on the vessel on which he arrived or on any other vessel which will take him to the country to which he is deported, or on such other vessel as the Secretary of Labor may direct. The cost of maintenance of such alien seaman and of his deportation, if he is deported on any vessel other than the vessel on which he arrived, shall be paid out of the appropriation for the enforcement of the immigration laws. The cost of maintenance of such alien seaman shall be a lien against the vessel on which he arrived, which may be enforced by libel in rem in the district court of the United States in the district in which such vessel may be found. Clearance may be granted such vessel notwithstanding the pendency of such libel or the failure or refusal of the master to deposit sufficient security therefor, upon the deposit with the collector of customs of the sum demanded or the filing of a bond with sureties satisfactory to such collector in such sum. The Secretary of Labor may, upon the recommendation of the immigration officer in charge at the port of arrival, in his discretion, waive the requirement of such bond in the case of any such seaman who is found by the immigration officer at the time of the vessel's arrival at such port to be suffering from an illness which requires his detention in a hospital, and may, upon the certification by the medical officer in charge of the hospital that such seaman has sufficiently recovered to proceed on board his vessel or to depart from the United States, cancel any bond given with respect to such seaman. Upon the failure of any master to deliver any seaman for whom a bond has been required, upon the departure of the vessel from the port, or upon the failure of any seaman to depart from the United States on the vessel on which he arrived or some other vessel within such time as may be specified by the immigration officer in charge at the port of arrival, or within such further time as may be allowed by the Secretary of Labor, the sum deposited for the maintenance of such seaman shall be forfeited to the United States, except that if such seaman shall have been treated in a hospital at the expense of the master, such sum shall be returned to the extent necessary to reimburse the master for the amount paid by him for such hospital treatment. Any sum forfeited under the provisions of this section shall be covered into the Treasury as a head tax collected from such seaman.

(d) Front chart on alien seamen did not appear upon the outgoing manifest of the vessel on which he arrived in the United States from a place outside the contiguous territory of North America, or if he was not then a member of the crew, or if he has been transferred by the master to the vessel on which he is to depart from the United States, or to obtain other alien seamen to complete the crew of such vessel, or for any other reason, the master of such vessel shall report the name of such alien seaman, together with the name of the vessel on which he arrived, the date of his arrival, and the reason why he did not depart on such vessel, to the immigration officer in charge at the port of arrival, and shall deliver to such officer the certificate issued to such alien seaman by the United States consular officer at the port from which he arrived, and such other information relative to such alien seaman as may be required by such immigration officer.

(e) If the Attorney General finds that deportation of the alien seaman on the vessel on which he arrived in the United States from a place outside the contiguous territory of North America is impracticable or inadvisable, he may cause such alien seaman to be taken from the vessel by the immigration officer at the port of arrival and cause him to be detained in a hospital, or otherwise detained, pending the completion of his medical treatment, or pending his deportation to any country willing to receive him, at a cost not to exceed $5 per day for such detention, which cost shall be paid by the master of the vessel on which such alien seaman arrived. Such alien seaman shall be deported on the vessel on which he arrived or on any other vessel which will take him to the country to which he is deported, or on such other vessel as the Secretary of Labor may direct. The cost of maintenance of such alien seaman and of his deportation, if he is deported on any vessel other than the vessel on which he arrived, shall be paid out of the appropriation for the enforcement of the immigration laws. The cost of maintenance of such alien seaman shall be a lien against the vessel on which he arrived, which may be enforced by libel in rem in the district court of the United States in the district in which such vessel may be found. Clearance may be granted such vessel notwithstanding the pendency of such libel or the failure or refusal of the master to deposit sufficient security therefor, upon the deposit with the collector of customs of the sum demanded or the filing of a bond with sureties satisfactory to such collector in such sum. The Secretary of Labor may, upon the recommendation of the immigration officer in charge at the port of arrival, in his discretion, waive the requirement of such bond in the case of any such seaman who is found by the immigration officer at the time of the vessel's arrival at such port to be suffering from an illness which requires his detention in a hospital, and may, upon the certification by the medical officer in charge of the hospital that such seaman has sufficiently recovered to proceed on board his vessel or to depart from the United States, cancel any bond given with respect to such seaman. Upon the failure of any master to deliver any seaman for whom a bond has been required, upon the departure of the vessel from the port, or upon the failure of any seaman to depart from the United States on the vessel on which he arrived or some other vessel within such time as may be specified by the immigration officer in charge at the port of arrival, or within such further time as may be allowed by the Secretary of Labor, the sum deposited for the maintenance of such seaman shall be forfeited to the United States, except that if such seaman shall have been treated in a hospital at the expense of the master, such sum shall be returned to the extent necessary to reimburse the master for the amount paid by him for such hospital treatment. Any sum forfeited under the provisions of this section shall be covered into the Treasury as a head tax collected from such seaman.

IMPORTANT NOTICE TO MASTER

The list described below shall be prepared on blank forms approved by the Department and be ready for delivery to the immigration inspector boarding the vessel at the port of arrival; and shall in no instance be taken from the vessel. The list of changes of alien members, if any, shall be delivered to the immigration officer in charge of the port of arrival; the completed list shall be delivered by the master to the principal immigration officer at the port. When an alternate seaman is a "workaway," a notation to that effect should be made on the manifest. In order to facilitate inspection of alien seamen, include names of alternate American citizen seamen as well as aliens.

EXTRACT FROM ACT OF CONGRESS OF FEBRUARY 5, 1917, AS AMENDED

SEC. 36. That upon arrival of any vessel in the United States from any foreign port or place it shall be the duty of the owner, agent, consignee, or master thereof to deliver to the principal immigration officer in charge of the port of arrival a list containing the names of all aliens employed on such vessel, stating the position they respectively hold in the ship's company, when and where they were respectively shipped or engaged, and description of such aliens as may be required by the Commissioner General of Immigration, and such other information in regard to them as the Attorney General shall by regulation prescribe; and after the arrival of such vessel it shall be the duty of such owner, agent, consignee, or master to report to such immigration officer, in writing, as soon as discovered, all cases in which any such alien has illegally landed from the vessel, giving a description of such alien, together with such information likely to lead to his apprehension; and before the departure of any vessel it shall be the duty of such owner, agent, consignee, or master to deliver to such immigration officer a further list containing the names of all alien employees who were not employed thereon at the time of the arrival but who have since joined the vessel, and also the names of such of them who have left the vessel, and the cause of their leaving, so far as known; and it shall be the duty of the master of any vessel bound to a port in the United States from a foreign port, before the departure of the vessel from such foreign port, to report to the immigration officer at the port of arrival in the United States the name of each alien employee who shall desert while in such port, and the last known address in the United States of such deserting employee, and to give information in regard to the cause of such desertion, if known. Any master, agent, consignee, or owner of any vessel who shall refuse or neglect to report, list, or deliver any such alien employee, or to give information in respect to any such alien employee, or who shall refuse to answer any question put to him by any immigrant inspector or other officer of the United States in relation to any such alien employee, shall pay to the collector of customs of the district in which the port of arrival is located the sum of $10 for each alien concerning whom correct lists are not delivered or a true report is not made as aforesaid: Provided, That the Secretary of the Treasury may, in his discretion, remit or mitigate any penalty or forfeiture provided for by this section or section 37 of this Act: And provided further, That no such vessel shall be granted clearance pending the determination of the question of the liability to the payment of such penalty or forfeiture, or pending the application for remission or mitigation thereof, nor shall such clearance be granted in the case of any vessel from which a seaman shall desert until the master shall have secured a substitute or the consul of the country to which the vessel belongs shall have certified in writing that no substitute is required. Nothing in this section shall be construed to require masters of vessels touching at ports in the United States from foreign ports to report the illness or death of any seaman occurring on the high seas and buried at sea. (39 Stat. 888–890; 8 U. S. C. 151.)

EXTRACT FROM 8 CFR 150

SEC. 150.13. Lists of alien employees: when clearance of vessel denied. Clearance shall not be granted any vessel until the list required by section 36 of the Immigration Act of 1917 (39 Stat. 888; 8 U. S. C. 151), when such list has been delivered, and pending the administrative fine prescribed by said section or to final prescribed by section 38 of said Act (39 Stat. 888; 8 U. S. C. 153). Application for the remission or mitigation of such fine may be made to the Commissioner of Immigration and Naturalization, but no such application will stay the collection of such fine unless specifically directed by the Commissioner of Immigration and Naturalization. Applications for remission or mitigation of fines, penalties, and forfeitures shall be governed by the provisions of 8 CFR 1.1(f), 103.1–103.7, and 103.8, and shall be decided by the Commissioner of Immigration and Naturalization. Such applications must be filed with the district director having jurisdiction over the port at which the fine was imposed, and must be verified by the person making the application or by his attorney or agent. Such applications may be supported by affidavits or other documentary evidence. The decision of the Commissioner of Immigration and Naturalization will be communicated to the applicant by the district director having jurisdiction over the port at which the fine was imposed. (39 Stat. 888–890; 8 U. S. C. 151.)

ALIEN SEAMEN

SEC. 13. No alien seaman excluded from admission into the United States under the immigration laws has employed on board any vessel arriving in the United States from any place outside thereof, shall be permitted to land in the United States, except temporarily for medical treatment, or pursuant to such regulations as the Attorney General may prescribe for the safekeeping of aliens detained for deportation of such alien from the United States. (43 Stat. 164, 8 U. S. C. 166.)

SEC. 30. (a) The owner, charterer, agent, consignee, or master of any vessel arriving in the United States from any place outside thereof, shall be responsible for the payment of the cost of maintenance and treatment (while a patient in all cases after January 1, 1925, a hospital) in the United States public-health service hospital to which he may be sent, of any alien seaman employed on such vessel (including a temporary physical examination by the medical examiner), arriving after the date of the approval of this Act, who is certified by the immigration officer in charge at the port of arrival to be afflicted with a loathsome or dangerous contagious disease, until such alien seaman has been certified by the medical officer of the United States Public Health Service at such port to be free from such disease, or to have recovered therefrom, or to have left the United States, or has been otherwise disposed of in conformity with the immigration laws, or has been removed from the United States pursuant to law, whichever shall first occur. The Attorney General may, upon application in writing by the owners, agents, consignees, or masters of vessels, authorize the substitution of other seamen for such alien seamen, and the vessels may then depart from the United States without being detained on account of such alien seamen. Upon the refusal or neglect of the owners, agents, consignees, or masters of vessels to comply with the requirements of this section, clearance may be withheld from such vessels by the collector of customs. The Attorney General may, upon application in writing by the owners, agents, consignees, or masters of vessels, cancel any certificate issued under the provisions of this section, and no fee shall be charged for the issuance of such certificate or for the cancellation thereof. This section shall not be construed to repeal, amend, or affect existing laws or treaties relative to the immigration, exclusion, or deportation of aliens, or the powers, duties, and obligations of public officers charged with the administration or enforcement of such laws. IMPORTANT NOTICE TO MASTER

The list described below shall be prepared on blank forms approved by the Department and be kept for delivery to the immigration inspector boarding the vessel at the port of entry. One list of changes to the original list shall be delivered by the master to the principal immigration officer at the port. When an alternate seaman is at the port of entry, the list shall be delivered by the master to the principal immigration officer at the port. When an alternate seaman is signed on a vessel, a notation to that effect should be made on the manifest. In order to facilitate inspection of alien seamen, include names of alternate American citizen seamen as well as aliens.

EXTRACT FROM ACT OF CONGRESS OF FEBRUARY 5, 1917, AS AMENDED

SEC. 36. That upon arrival of any vessel in the United States from any foreign port or place it shall be the duty of the owner, agent, consignee, or master thereof to deliver to the immigrant inspector at the port of arrival a complete list or manifest of all persons on board such vessel, showing the number thereof, and stating the name, nationality, last residence, calling, and destination of every alien who may be found on board. Such list shall be subdivided in such manner as may be prescribed by the Commissioner General of Immigration, with the approval of the Secretary of Labor, so as to show clearly the facts concerning each alien listed therein in accordance with the requirements of this Act and the regulations made pursuant thereto. Such list shall be signed by the master or commanding officer of the vessel, who shall make oath before the immigrant inspector to the truthfulness and accuracy of the same to the best of his knowledge, information, and belief. Any master or commanding officer who knowingly fails to deliver such list, or who refuses to subscribe to the oath required with respect thereto, or who knowingly or willfully delivers a false list or manifest, or who refuses to deliver to the immigrant inspector any additional information in his possession demanded by such inspector, or who refuses to permit any such inspector to come aboard such vessel for the purpose of inspection, or who refuses to detain any alien on board when ordered so to do by such inspector, shall be guilty of a misdemeanor and shall be punished by a fine not exceeding $1,000 or by imprisonment for not more than one year, or both, at the discretion of the court.

SEC. 18. No alien seaman excluded from admission into the United States under this Act shall be permitted to land in the United States, except temporarily because of illness as certified by the public health officer at the port of arrival, or because of an emergency as certified by the commissioner of immigration at such port, or unless he is in possession of a valid passport viséed by the consular officer at the port in the country where such alien seaman was last admitted to land, if such country is signatory to the international agreement relative to the admission of aliens to the United States. (42 Stat. 164, 8 U. S. C. 166.)

SEC. 30. (a) The owner, charterer, agent, consignee, or master of any vessel arriving in the United States from any place outside thereof, who shall be required to land in the United States, except temporarily because of illness as certified by the public health officer at the port of arrival, any alien seaman employed on board such vessel, shall be permitted to land in the United States, except temporarily because of illness as certified by the public health officer at the port of arrival, any alien seaman employed on board such vessel, shall be permitted to land in the United States under such regulations as the Attorney General may prescribe for the control and removal of such alien seamen, and shall pay to the collector of customs of the customs district in which the port of arrival is located the sum of $300 for each alien seaman so required to be landed, and shall furnish a bond with sufficient surety to secure the payment thereof conditioned upon the deportation of each alien seaman for whom such bond is given, or the payment of the sum required to be paid in lieu of deportation of such alien seaman, within such time, not exceeding six months, as the Attorney General may direct. The Attorney General may, upon the recommendation of the immigrant inspector in charge at the port of arrival, cancel the bond upon the deportation of such alien seaman, or upon the payment of the sum required to be paid in lieu of deportation of such alien seaman, if such deportation or payment is effected within the time limited. If any such alien seaman is not deported within the time limited, or any extension thereof granted by the Attorney General, the sum required to be paid in lieu of deportation shall be collected by suit on the bond. All moneys received under the provisions of this section, as amended, shall be paid to the Treasurer of the United States and be covered into the general fund of the Treasury.

(b) Proof shall be filed with the immigrant inspector in charge at the port of arrival of each alien seaman employed on board such vessel, showing the date of the arrival of such alien seaman at such port, the date of the departure of such alien seaman from the United States, and the cause of his departure therefrom. Such proof shall consist of the certificate of the master or commanding officer of the vessel on which such alien seaman departed from the United States, or, if such alien seaman departed on a vessel of a foreign country, the certificate of the master or commanding officer of such vessel, or the certificate of the consular officer of the United States at the port where such alien seaman shipped on such vessel, stating the name of such alien seaman, the vessel on which he departed, the date of his departure, and the port to which he went. If such proof is not furnished, or if it appears therefrom that such alien seaman departed from the United States prior to the date of his arrival in the United States, or if such alien seaman is found in the United States, the master, agent, consignee, or owner of the vessel on which such alien seaman arrived in the United States shall pay to the collector of customs of the customs district in which the port of arrival is located the sum of $300 for each alien seaman so found in the United States, and such sum shall be a lien upon the vessel, which may be enforced by libel in rem. The Attorney General may, upon application in writing therefor, mitigate such penalty to not less than $1,000 for each alien seaman in respect of whom such failure occurs, when such failure is due to sickness or accident and not to the fault of the master, owner, agent, consignee, or charterer of the vessel. The Attorney General may, upon remission or mitigation of such penalty, in his discretion, pay to the master, owner, agent, consignee, or charterer of such vessel a sum sufficient to cover such sum, or so much thereof as may be remitted, and the sum required to be paid to the collector of customs to secure the payment thereof shall be adjusted accordingly. No vessel shall be cleared pending the determination of the question of remission or mitigation of any penalty incurred under this section, as amended, nor shall any vessel be granted clearance pending the determination of the question of the remission or mitigation of any penalty incurred under this section, as amended, while the master, owner, agent, consignee, or charterer of such vessel is applying for remission or mitigation of such penalty, but clearance may be granted upon the deposit with the collector of customs of a sum sufficient to cover such penalty or the amount which may be imposed thereunder. The payment of such penalty or deposit of such sum shall not bar a further penalty for the subsequent failure of any alien seaman to depart from the United States in accordance with the provisions of this section, as amended, nor relieve the vessel from seizure and libel therefor.

(c) If the Attorney General finds that deportation of the alien seamen on the vessel on which he arrived will be unreasonably burdensome, he may cause such alien seamen to be deported on another vessel at the expense of the vessel on which he arrived, but such deportation shall be effected before the departure of any other vessel from the port, unless clearance shall have been granted such vessel prior to the institution of proceedings for the deportation of such alien seamen. Any master, agent, consignee, or owner of any vessel who refuses to deport any alien seaman as required by the Attorney General shall pay a penalty of $300 for each such refusal, and no clearance shall be granted such vessel while such penalty remains unpaid. (43 Stat. 164–165, 8 U. S. C. 167 (a), (c).)

SEC. 13. (a) [Temporary admission of nonimmigrants.] The Secretary of Labor may, under such conditions, including the giving of bond, as he may prescribe, admit an alien temporarily to the United States if he is satisfied that the alien is coming temporarily for business or pleasure and not with the intention of abandoning the residence which he has in a foreign country and of becoming a permanent resident of the United States, or that the alien is coming in transit to a foreign country, or that there are other reasons sufficient to justify the temporary admission of the alien. The Secretary of Labor may by regulations limit the classes of aliens who may be admitted under this subdivision and prescribe the terms and conditions of their admission, and may require or accept security sufficient in his judgment to ensure that they will depart from the United States when the purpose for which they were admitted shall have been accomplished, and may prescribe a form of bond to be executed by the alien and by a surety or sureties approved by the Secretary of Labor, and may provide for the breach or cancellation of such bond and the recovery of the amount thereof as liquidated damages.

(b) Under such regulations as the Secretary of Labor may prescribe, an alien crewman may be granted a conditional permit to land temporarily in the United States solely for the purpose of obtaining medical treatment, or solely because of sickness, injury, or medical treatment which will not endanger the welfare of the public and not solely or principally to perform skilled or unskilled labor, if the immigration officer is satisfied that the crewman is not a member of a class excluded from admission to the United States under section 3 of this Act. Such conditional permit may be granted outside the limits of the port of arrival and may be revoked in the discretion of the Secretary of Labor or any immigration officer at any time and the alien removed in pursuance of law.

(c) Nothing contained in this section shall make admissible any alien who is excluded by section 3 of this Act, except as specifically provided by this section, or who is excluded by any law relating to the immigration, exclusion, or expulsion of aliens, or to the conditions under which aliens may be admitted or excluded, except as specifically provided by this section.

(d) The Commissioner General of Immigration, with the approval of the Secretary of Labor, may establish such regulations, prescribe such forms of bond, manifest, and other papers, and issue such instructions, not inconsistent with this Act, as he deems necessary to prevent the admission to the United States of any alien who is not entitled thereto under this Act.

(e) Any person who knowingly aids or assists any alien to enter the United States in violation of this section, or who connives or conspires with any person or persons to bring any alien into the United States in violation of this section, or who takes or assumes to take any alien into the United States knowing or having reason to believe that such alien is not entitled to enter the United States under this section, shall be guilty of a misdemeanor and upon conviction thereof shall be punished by a fine not exceeding $1,000 or by imprisonment for not more than one year, or both.

(f) Any alien who enters the United States in violation of this section shall be deported in the manner provided by section 19 of this Act.

(g) Nothing contained in this section shall be construed to entitle any alien crewman to whom a permit to land temporarily has been granted hereunder to remain in the United States for permanent residence without complying with the requirements of section 4 of this Act relating to the numerical limitation of immigration.

(h) Any alien crewman who shall be permitted to land temporarily in the United States under the provisions of this section and who shall remain therein for a period of time longer than that for which he was granted permission to land, or who shall violate any of the terms or conditions under which he was granted such permission, shall be deported in the manner provided by section 19 of this Act. (43 Stat. 162–163, 8 U. S. C. 203 (a)–(h).)

SEC. 150.15. Liens of alien employees; when clearance to vessel denied. Clearance shall not be granted to any vessel until the master thereof has complied with the requirements of section 36 of the Immigration Act of 1917 (39 Stat. 888; 8 U. S. C. 131), as amended, and has paid all sums found to be due any alien employee as wages, or has deposited sufficient money with the collector of customs to cover such sums, or has furnished a bond with sufficient surety to secure the payment thereof, or has otherwise secured the payment of such wages to the satisfaction of the Commissioner of Immigration and Naturalization. Clearance shall not be granted until the master has complied with the requirements of section 36 of the Immigration Act of 1917, as amended, and has paid all fines imposed, which it remains unpaid; not shall such fine be remitted or refunded: Provided, That clearance may be granted prior to the determination of such question upon deposit of a sum sufficient to cover such fine. IMPORTANT NOTICE TO MASTER

The list described below shall be prepared on blank forms approved by the Department and be ready for delivery to the immigrant inspector boarding the vessel at the port of arrival, and shall in no instance be taken from the vessel. The list of changes of alien members of crews (Form I-418) shall not be required on board, but shall be delivered by the master to the principal immigration officer at the port. When an alternate vessel is named, a notation to that effect should be made on the manifest. In order to facilitate inspection of alien seamen, include names of alternate American citizen seamen as well as aliens.

SEC. 28. That upon arrival of any vessel in the United States from any foreign port or place it shall be the duty of the owner, agent, consignee, or master thereof to deliver to the principal immigration officer in charge of the port of arrival lists containing the names of all aliens employed on such vessel, stating the positions they respectively hold in the vessel's company, where and where they were respectively shipped or entered, and description of such aliens, together with information likely to lead to the identification of any such alien, which lists shall be certified by the master of the vessel to be true to the best of his information and belief as to the Arrivals General Shall by regulation prescribe; and after the arrival of the said vessel it shall be the duty of such master, consignee, or agent, to report to such immigration officer, in writing, the name as discovered, all cases in which any such alien illegally landed from the vessel, giving a description of such alien, together with information likely to lead to his identification; and before the departure of any such vessel it shall be the duty of such owner, agent, consignee, or master to deliver to such immigration officer a further list containing the names of all alien employees who were not employed thereon at the time of the arrival but who while in the service of such vessel have deserted or landed; and in case of the failure of such owner, agent, consignee, or master so to deliver either of the lists aforesaid, if any, who have been landed or discharged, such owner, agent, consignee, or master shall be subject to a penalty of $10 for each alien concerning whom correct lists are not delivered or a true report is not made as above required: and no such vessel shall be granted clearance pending the determination of the question of the liability to the payment of such penalty, and, in the event such fine is imposed, while it remains unpaid; nor shall such fine be remitted or refunded: Provided, That clearance may be granted prior to the determination of such question upon deposit of a sum sufficient to cover such fine. (39 Stat. 880-70; 8 U. S. C. 171.)

SEC. 150.15. Lists of alien employees: when clearance of vessel denied. Clearance shall not be granted via vessel until the lists required by section 28 of the Immigration Act of 1917 (39 Stat. 888; 8 U. S. C. 171)', have been examined by an immigrant inspector, and found to conform to the requirements of that section or to any prescribed by section 38 of said Act (39 Stat. 888; 8 U. S. C. 169). Inspectors will note on the lists the date of examination, and the fact that no alien employee of the vessel has been found to be afflicted with any of the physical or mental defects or diseases specified in the said section 28 of the Immigration Act of 1917, or that any such alien has been found to be so afflicted and has been certified to the Secretary of Labor for his decision thereon, and that no alien employee has been found to be afflicted with any of the said physical or mental defects or diseases, or that any such alien has been found to be so afflicted and has been certified to the Secretary of Labor for his decision thereon, but that the Secretary of Labor has decided that such alien may be admitted, or that any such alien has been found to be so afflicted and has been certified to the Secretary of Labor for his decision thereon, but that the Secretary of Labor has not rendered his decision thereon. ALIEN SEAMEN

SEC. 10. No alien seaman excluded from admission into the United States under the immigration laws has employed on board any vessel arriving in the United States from any place outside thereof, shall be permitted to land in the United States except temporarily for medical treatment, or because of illness, injury, or distress, or for the sole purpose of removal, or deportation of such alien from the United States, except reimbursement.

SEC. 30. (a) The owner, charterer, agent, consignee, or master of any vessel arriving in the United States from any place outside thereof who fails to detain on board such vessel any alien seaman employed on such vessel until the immigration officer in charge at the port of arrival has inspected such seaman (which inspection in all cases shall include a personal physical examination by the medical examiner), or who fails to detain such seaman on board after such inspection or to deport such seaman if required by such immigration officer or the Attorney General so to do, shall pay to the collector of customs of the customs district in which the port of arrival is located the sum of $1,000 for each alien seaman in respect of whom such failure occurs. No vessel shall be granted clearance pending the determination of the liability to payment of such fine, or while the fine remains unpaid, except that clearance may be granted prior to the determination of such question upon the deposit of a sum sufficient to cover such fine, or of a bond with sufficient surety to secure the payment thereof approved by the collector of customs. The Attorney General may, upon application in writing therefor, mitigate such penalty to not less than $300 for each seaman in respect of whom such failure occurs. Upon such remission as to the Attorney General in his discretion shall finally appear. This section, as amended, shall apply to all penalties arising subsequent to June 2, 1924.

(b) Front fines an alien seaman did not appear upon the outgoing manifest of the vessel on which he arrived in the United States from any place outside thereof, or that he was reported by the master of such vessel as a deserter, shall be prima facie evidence of a failure to obtain at the time of departure a certificate from an immigration officer or the Attorney General.

(c) If the Attorney General finds that deportation of the alien seaman on the vessel on which he arrived would cause undue hardship to such seaman he may cause him to be deported on another vessel at the expense of the vessel on which he arrived and such seaman shall not be granted clearance until such expense has been paid or its payment guaranteed to the satisfaction of the Attorney General. (43 Stat. 164-165, 38 Stat. 818; 8 U. S. C. 101 (a), 101 (c).)

IMPORTANT NOTICE TO MASTER

The list described below shall be prepared on blank forms approved by the Department and be ready for delivery to the immigration inspector posted at the port of arrival, but shall not be delivered on board, but shall be retained from the vessel. The list of changes of alien members of crew (Form I–418) shall not be retained on board, but shall be delivered by the master to the principal immigration officer at the port. When an alternate manner is a "MOVEMENT" a notation to that effect should be made on the manifest. In order to facilitate inspection of aliens members, include names of territory American citizen seamen as well as aliens.

EXTRACT FROM ACT OF CONGRESS OF FEBRUARY 5, 1917, AS AMENDED

SEC. 36. That upon arrival of any vessel in the United States from any foreign port or place it shall be the duty of the owner, agent, consignee, or master thereof to deliver to the principal immigration officer in charge of the port of arrival a list containing the names of all aliens who are members of the crew or other persons employed on such vessel, stating the position then occupied by each alien, the nationality of such alien, the last country from which such alien came to the United States, and such other information as the Attorney General shall by regulation prescribe; and while the vessel is in port no member of the crew or other person shall be employed to perform the duties of any such alien until a permit so to do has been granted by the principal immigration officer or his assistant, except in case of sickness or injury to such alien, or unless such alien is a citizen of the United States. Any person who violates any provision of this section shall be fined not more than $1,000 or imprisoned for not more than one year, or both. Any master of any vessel who refuses or neglects to deliver to any immigration officer any list required by this section, or who refuses to allow any immigration officer to enter any part of such vessel for the purpose of examining the list of the crew thereof, shall be fined not more than $1,000 or imprisoned for not more than one year, or both. Any master of any vessel who shall land or permit to be landed any alien from such vessel at any port in the United States in violation of the provisions of this section shall be fined not more than $1,000 or imprisoned for not more than one year, or both, for each such alien so landed. (8 U. S. C. 136.)

SEC. 37. (a) The owner, charterer, agent, consignee, or master of any vessel bringing an alien to the United States from any place outside the United States (other than an alien crewman employed on board a vessel touching in good faith at ports of the United States solely for the purpose of taking on board passengers destined to foreign ports) shall be liable to a penalty of $1,000 for each alien so brought, unless such alien (1) is in possession of a valid unexpired immigration visa and passport, or border crossing identification card, if such visa, passport, or card is required by this Act or regulations made thereunder, or (2) is not required by any law or regulation in force at the time of such alien's application for admission to the United States to obtain a visa, passport, or border crossing identification card, or (3) is a bona fide resident of Canada, Newfoundland, Mexico, Cuba, Central America, South America, the Canal Zone, Haiti, or the Dominican Republic, coming directly to the United States from foreign contiguous territory, and is found to be admissible under this Act, or (4) is in transit through the United States and has been admitted by the Attorney General under such conditions as he may prescribe, or (5) is an alien lawfully admitted to the United States returning from a temporary visit abroad, or (6) is an alien who has served in the armed forces of the United States during the present war, and who is seeking admission within six months after his discharge from the armed forces of the United States, or (7) is an alien who has served in the armed IMPORTANT NOTICE TO MASTER

The list described below shall be printed on plain white approved by the Department and be ready for delivery to the immigration inspector (Form I-418) shall not be required on board, but shall be delivered by the master to the principal immigration officer at the port. When an alleged possible type vessel at the port of arrival. Such list shall be in as nearly as practicable the form and contain the information indicated, alphabetically arranged, and additional type vessel, and shall be delivered by the master to the principal immigration officer at each such port. Any person who knowingly or willfully fails to deliver such list, or who knowingly or willfully delivers a false or incomplete list, shall be punished by a fine of not more than $1,000 for each such offense.

SEC. 36. That upon arrival of any vessel in the United States from any foreign port or place it shall be the duty of the owner, agent, consignee, or master thereof to deliver to the principal immigration officer in charge of the port of arrival like information with respect to all aliens employed on board such vessel, whether as members of the crew or otherwise, and to all aliens who may have been originally destined to the United States on board such vessel, although they may have changed their destination en route, as may be required by such officer, and to deliver to such officer a complete list of the names of all such aliens, the last country of which they are severally citizens, the country from which they severally last came to the port of arrival, the number of pieces of baggage belonging to each, and the amount of money in the possession of each, respectively, and to answer such questions in relation to such aliens as may be required by the Secretary of Labor, whether such aliens are in possession of passports or not, and to produce such passports when demanded. Any person who knowingly or willfully fails to deliver such list, or who knowingly or willfully delivers a false or incomplete list, or who knowingly or willfully fails to answer such questions, or who knowingly or willfully answers such questions falsely, shall be punished by a fine of not more than $1,000 for each such offense, or by imprisonment for not more than one year, or by both such fine and imprisonment: and before the departure of any such vessel it shall be the duty of the master thereof to deliver to each such alien a certificate of the payment of the head tax herein provided for, and no master of any such vessel shall allow any such alien to land from such vessel until and unless he shall have procured such certificate or the same shall have been delivered to him by the immigrant inspector in charge at the port of arrival. Such certificate shall be in such form as may be prescribed by the Secretary of Labor, and shall be signed by the master of the vessel and by the alien to whom it is issued, and shall be prima facie evidence of the payment of the head tax by such alien. Such certificate shall not be required of any alien who shall establish to the satisfaction of the Secretary of Labor that he is entitled to enter the United States without payment of the head tax, or who is a bona fide resident of Canada, Newfoundland, Mexico, Cuba, Porto Rico, the Canal Zone, Hawaii, Alaska, the Philippine Islands, Guam, Tutuila, or Panama, and who intends to remain in one of such countries for a period of at least six months. The Secretary of Labor shall prescribe such rules and regulations as he may deem necessary for the enforcement of this section, and may refuse clearance to any vessel violating the provisions thereof or of section 2 hereof. Any person who knowingly or willfully violates any of the provisions of this section shall be punished by a fine of not more than $1,000 for each such offense, or by imprisonment for not more than one year, or by both such fine and imprisonment. The Secretary of Labor may, upon the recommendation of the immigrant inspector in charge at any port of arrival, remit any fine, penalty, or forfeiture provided for by this section where it shall appear to his satisfaction that the same was incurred through inadvertence or error and without wilful negligence or intent, or that the ends of justice do not require the enforcement thereof.

(a) Every alien who shall be excluded from admission into the United States under the immigration laws, or who shall be found unlawfully in the United States or who shall have entered the United States in violation of any such laws, shall, upon the warrant of the Secretary of Labor, be taken into custody and returned to the country whence he came, or to the country from which he sailed, or to the country in which he resided, which country he may designate, at the option of the transportation company bringing him, and at the expense of the appropriation for the enforcement of the immigration laws, or of the appropriation for the expenses of the Department of Labor, next available after his deportation is ordered, unless the Secretary of Labor shall report to Congress that sufficient funds are not available for such purpose, in which case deportation shall be made as soon as funds are available therefor. If the alien to be deported has been convicted of a crime or crimes for the commission of which subsequent to his entry a term of imprisonment is imposed by law, he shall be returned only after the completion of such imprisonment. If the alien to be deported is insane at the time he is ordered deported, he shall be returned to the country whence he came when sufficiently recovered, unless sooner returned to his relatives or friends in the United States. If the alien to be deported is afflicted with a loathsome or dangerous contagious disease, he shall be returned to the country whence he came when cured, unless sooner returned to his relatives or friends in the United States. If the alien to be deported is a stowaway, he shall be returned to the country whence he came or to the country from which he sailed, or to the country in which he resided, which country he may designate, at the option of the transportation company bringing him, and at the expense of the appropriation for the enforcement of the immigration laws, or of the appropriation for the expenses of the Department of Labor, next available after his deportation is ordered, unless the Secretary of Labor shall report to Congress that sufficient funds are not available for such purpose, in which case deportation shall be made as soon as funds are available therefor. If the alien to be deported has been convicted of a crime or crimes for the commission of which subsequent to his entry a term of imprisonment is imposed by law, he shall be returned only after the completion of such imprisonment. If the alien to be deported is insane at the time he is ordered deported, he shall be returned to the country whence he came when sufficiently recovered, unless sooner returned to his relatives or friends in the United States. IMPORTANT NOTICE TO MASTER

The list described below shall be prepared on plain white paper by the Department and be ready for delivery to the immigration inspector posted the vessel at the port of arrival, and in no instance be taken from the vessel. The list of changes of alien members of the crew on arrival shall not be returned on board, but shall be delivered by the master to the principal immigration officer at the port. When an arriving alien seaman is a "workaway," a notation to that effect should be made on the manifest. In order to facilitate inspection of alien seamen, include names of arriving American citizen seamen as well as aliens.

EXTRACT FROM ACT OF CONGRESS OF FEBRUARY 5, 1917, AS AMENDED

SEC. 36. (a) The master, owner, agent, charterer, or consignee of any vessel bringing to the United States from any place outside the Canal Zone any alien, whether in transit through the United States or destined for a port therein, shall before the departure of such vessel from such port deliver to the immigrant inspector at the port of arrival a list or manifest containing such information in regard to each such alien as may be required by the Commissioner General of Immigration with the approval of the Secretary of Labor, and shall pay to the collector of customs of the customs district in which such port is located a head tax of $8 for each such alien, except those specifically exempted from the payment of such tax by the provisions of this Act, and except those who have been lawfully admitted to the United States and are returning from a temporary visit abroad. Such master, owner, agent, charterer, or consignee shall also furnish to the immigrant inspector at the port of arrival such information as may be required by the Commissioner General of Immigration for the proper enforcement of the immigration laws and rules and regulations made in pursuance thereof, and any such master, owner, agent, charterer, or consignee who refuses or fails to furnish such information, or who refuses or fails to deliver such list or manifest, or who refuses or fails to pay the head tax as herein provided, shall be guilty of a misdemeanor and shall be punished by a fine of not more than $1,000 for each alien concerning whom such information is required to be furnished, or who refuses or fails to pay the head tax as herein provided, or by imprisonment for a term not exceeding one year, or by both such fine and imprisonment, in the discretion of the court. Any such master, owner, agent, charterer, or consignee may appeal from the decision of the immigrant inspector as to the payment of such head tax to the Secretary of Labor, whose decision thereon shall be final: Provided, That clearance may be granted prior to the determination of such question upon deposit of a sum sufficient to cover such tax. (39 Stat. 890–892; 8 U. S. C. 1351.)

EXTRACT FROM 8 CFR 150

SEC. 150.13. Lists of alien employees; when clearance of vessel denied. Clearance shall not be granted via freight vessel until the list required by section 36 of the Immigration Act of 1917 (39 Stat. 888; 8 U. S. C. 171),' when such information has been furnished, but not then unless notice of intention to file administrative time prescribed by section 36 of said Act (39 Stat. 888; 8 U. S. C. 169) penalty need served, the deposit specified in 150.13–150.71, has been made.

ALIEN SEAMEN

SEC. 18. No alien seaman excluded from admission into the United States under the immigration laws has been employed on board any vessel arriving in the United States from any place outside thereof, shall be permitted to land in the United States except temporarily for medical treatment, or pursuant to such regulations as the Attorney General may prescribe for the safekeeping of such alien from the time the vessel arrives at the port of arrival until such alien has been inspected and admitted, or has been otherwise lawfully permitted to land in the United States, or has been removed from the United States. (43 Stat. 164, 8 U. S. C. 166.)

SEC. 30. (a) The owner, charterer, agent, consignee, or master of any vessel arriving in the United States from any place outside thereof who fails to detain on board the vessel any alien seaman employed on such vessel until the immigration officer in charge at the port of arrival has inspected such seaman (which inspection shall include a personal physical examination by the medical examiner), or who fails to detain such seaman on board the vessel after such inspection or to deport such seaman in accordance with the directions of the Attorney General, shall be punished by a fine of not more than $1,000 for each alien seaman in respect of whom such failure occurs. No vessel shall be granted clearance until such fine has been paid to the collector of customs or a bond with sufficient surety to secure the payment thereof approved by the collector of customs. The Attorney General may, upon application in writing therefor, withdraw such bond and cancel any such fine, or any part of such amount, in such cases as he may deem proper. (43 Stat. 164, 8 U. S. C. 166.)

(b) Every alien seaman who does not depart from the United States with the vessel on which he arrived or on some other vessel within 29 days after the date of such vessel's departure, or within such further time as may be allowed by the Attorney General, shall be deported as provided in sections 19 and 20 of the Immigration Act of 1917, as amended, and the cost of his maintenance while detained and of his deportation shall be paid from the appropriation for the enforcement of the Immigration Act of 1917. Any such alien seaman who refuses to be deported shall be liable to the penalties provided in section 20 of said Act for aliens remaining unlawfully in the United States. (43 Stat. 164–165, 8 U. S. C. 167 (a), 167 (c).)

In order to facilitate inspection of alien seamen, including masters of American citizen seamen as well as aliens.

EXTRACT FROM ACT OF CONGRESS OF FEBRUARY 5, 1917, AS AMENDED

SEC. 36. That upon arrival of any vessel in the United States from any foreign port or place it shall be the duty of the owner, agent, consignee, or master thereof to deliver to the principal immigration officer in charge of the port of arrival a list containing the names of all aliens employed on such vessel, stating the nationality, last residence, calling, and intended final destination of each such alien as the Attorney General shall by regulation prescribe; and after the arrival of any such vessel it shall be the duty of the owner, agent, consignee, or master to report to such immigration officer, in writing, as soon as discovered, all cases in which any such alien has illegally landed from the vessel, giving a description of such alien, together with any information likely to lead to his apprehension; and before the departure of any such vessel it shall be the duty of the owner, agent, consignee, or master thereof to deliver to such immigration officer a list containing the names of all such aliens employed on the vessel who have not been reported previously, and who have been discharged in the port of arrival; or have continued in the service of the vessel, and shall furnish such information in regard to the movements of such aliens as the Attorney General may prescribe; and such officer shall have the right to go on board of such vessel at any time for the purpose of examining the crew, and the master, agent, consignee, or owner of such vessel shall furnish a competent interpreter for such examination. Any master, agent, consignee, or owner of any such vessel who refuses to deliver to such immigration officer any list required by this section, or who refuses to report or to furnish information in relation to any alien employed on such vessel, or who refuses to allow such officer to go on board such vessel for the purpose of examining the crew, shall pay to the collector of customs of the customs district in which the port of arrival is located the sum of $1,000 for each alien seaman in respect of whom such failure occurs. No vessel shall be granted clearance papers pending the determination of the liability to payment of such fine, or while the fine remains unpaid, except that clearance may be granted prior to the determination upon the deposit with the collector of customs of a sum sufficient to cover such fine, or of a bond with sufficient surety to secure the payment thereof approved by the collector of customs. The Attorney General may, upon application in writing therein, mitigate such penalty to not less than $500 for each seaman in respect of whom such failure occurs, upon such terms as the Attorney General shall think proper.

The section, as amended, shall apply to all penalties which shall have accrued at the time of the passage thereof, and such penalties may be sued for and recovered in the name of the United States by the Attorney General, or such person as he may designate for the purpose, in any district in which the master, agent, consignee, or owner of the vessel on which the alien seaman was employed may be found.

(b) That such fine as shall be imposed under section 36 of the Act of February 5, 1917, as amended by this Act, upon the master of any vessel arriving in the United States from any foreign port or place with any alien seaman employed on such vessel, shall be remitted to such master upon the deportation of such alien from the United States, except that in the case of any alien seaman employed on board any vessel which shall have arrived at a port of the United States from any place outside thereof who fails to depart from the United States (49 Stat. 164, 8 U. S. C. 166.)

SEC. 30. (a) The owner, charterer, agent, consignee, or master of any vessel arriving in the United States from any place outside thereof, removal, or medical treatment, or detention on board any alien seaman employed on such vessel until the immigration officer in charge at the port of arrival has inspected such seaman (which inspection in all cases shall include a personal physical examination by the medical examiner), or who fails to detain such seaman on board after such inspection or to deport such seaman if required by such immigration officer or the Attorney General so to do, shall pay to the collector of customs of the customs district in which the port of arrival is located the sum of $1,000 for each alien seaman in respect of whom such failure occurs. No vessel shall be granted clearance papers pending the determination of the liability to payment of such fine, or while the fine remains unpaid, except that clearance may be granted prior to the determination of such question upon the deposit with the collector of customs of a sum sufficient to cover such fine, or of a bond with sufficient surety to secure the payment thereof approved by the collector of customs. The Attorney General may, upon application in writing therein, mitigate such penalty to not less than $500 for each seaman in respect of whom such failure occurs, upon such terms as the Attorney General shall think proper.

The section, as amended, shall apply to all penalties which shall have accrued at the time of the passage thereof, and such penalties may be sued for and recovered in the name of the United States by the Attorney General, or such person as he may designate for the purpose, in any district in which the master, agent, consignee, or owner of the vessel on which the alien seaman was employed may be found.

(b) That such fine as shall be imposed under section 36 of the Act of February 5, 1917, as amended by this Act, upon the master of any vessel arriving in the United States from any foreign port or place with any alien seaman employed on such vessel, shall be remitted to such master upon the deportation of such alien from the United States, except that in the case of any alien seaman employed on board any vessel which shall have arrived at a port of the United States from any place outside thereof who fails to depart from the United States (49 Stat. 164, 8 U. S. C. 166.)

SEC. 19. No alien seaman excluded from admission into the United States under the immigration laws and employed on board any vessel arriving in the United States from any place outside thereof, shall be permitted to land in the United States, except temporarily for medical treatment, or because so much thereof as the Attorney General may prescribe for the ultimate departure, removal, or deportation of such alien from the United States, counsel, or master of any vessel arriving in the United States from any place outside thereof, or such vessel may be required to detain such seaman on board after such inspection or to deport such seaman if required by such immigration officer or the Attorney General so to do, shall pay to the collector of customs of the customs district in which the port of arrival is located the sum of $1,000 for each alien seaman in respect of whom such failure occurs. No vessel shall be granted clearance papers pending the determination of the liability to payment of such fine, or while the fine remains unpaid, except that clearance may be granted prior to the determination of such question upon the deposit with the collector of customs of a sum sufficient to cover such fine, or of a bond with sufficient surety to secure the payment thereof approved by the collector of customs. The Attorney General may, upon application in writing therein, mitigate such penalty to not less than $500 for each seaman in respect of whom such failure occurs, upon such terms as the Attorney General shall think proper.

(c) If the Attorney General finds that deportation of the alien seaman on the vessel on which he arrived would cause undue hardship to such seaman he may cause him to be deported on another vessel at the expense of the vessel on which he arrived, and such vessel shall not be granted clearance until such expense has been paid or its payment guaranteed to the satisfaction of the Attorney General. (43 Stat. 164–165, 24 Stat. 414; 8 U. S. C. 193 (a), 193 (c).)

ALIEN SEAMEN

SEC. 19. No alien seaman excluded from admission into the United States under the immigration laws and employed on board a vessel arriving in the United States from any place outside thereof, shall be permitted to land in the United States, except temporarily for medical treatment, or tuntanent to such regulations as the Attorney General may prescribe for the ultimate deportation, removal, or deportation of such alien from the United States. (43 Stat. 164, 8 U. S. C. 166.)

SEC. 20. (a) The owner, charterer, agent, consignee, or master of any vessel bringing to the United States from any place outside thereof any alien who is excluded from admission into the United States by section 3 of the immigration act of 1924 (43 Stat. 153, 8 U. S. C. 203) or by any other law, shall detain such alien on board such vessel at such port of entry as may be designated by the Attorney General, until such alien shall have been duly admitted by an immigration officer or the Attorney General or shall have been removed from the United States by the owner, charterer, agent, consignee, or master of such vessel within the period allowed by the immigration officer or the Attorney General for the removal of such alien. Any such owner, charterer, agent, consignee, or master who shall fail to detain on board any such alien, or who shall fail to remove such alien from the United States within the period allowed for such removal, shall pay to the collector of customs of the customs district in which the port of entry is located the sum of $1,000 for each alien so detained on board or removed or whose removal within such period is prevented by reason of the action or inaction of the owner, charterer, agent, consignee, or master of the vessel on which such alien arrived in the United States or on which he had been detained pursuant to the provisions of this section, unless a different period is prescribed by the Attorney General, in which case the Attorney General's action shall govern in respect of the amount to be paid hereunder: Provided, That clearance may be granted prior to the determination of any such question upon the deposit of a sum sufficient to cover such fine, or of a bond with sufficient surety to secure the payment thereof approved by the collector of customs. The Attorney General may, upon application in writing therefor, mitigate such penalty to not less than $300 for each seaman in respect of whom such failure occurs. Upon such remission the Attorney General in his discretion shall remit such proceeding.

(b) Proof that an alien seaman did not appear upon the onboard manifest of the vessel on which he arrived in the United States from any place outside thereof, or that he was reported by the master of such vessel as a deserter, shall be prima facie evidence of a failure to detain or deport after readmittance by the immigration officer or the Attorney General.

(c) If the Attorney General finds that deportation of the alien seaman on the vessel on which he arrived would cause undue hardship to such seaman he may cause him to be deported on another vessel at the expense of the vessel on which he arrived, but such vessel shall not be granted clearance until such expense has been paid or its payment guaranteed to the satisfaction of the Attorney General.

AFFIDAVIT OF THE MASTER OR COMMANDING OFFICER, OR FIRST OR SECOND OFFICER

I, ... of the town of ..... do declare that the foregoing is a full and true list of all the crew, brought in said vessel from said Port or place during the present voyage. I have noted the copies of section 30 of the Act of February 2, 1917, extract from Title 8, Code of Federal Regulations, and copy of sections 13 and 50, Act of May 26, 1924, which others below.

Master, First or Second Officer.

Sworn to before me this ..... day of ..... 19..

Immigrant Inspector.

IMPORTANT NOTICE TO MASTER

The list described below shall be prepared on blank forms approved by the Department and be ready for delivery to the immigration inspector boarding the vessel at the port of arrival, and shall in no instance be taken from the vessel. The list of changes of alien members of crews (Form I–418) shall not be required on board, but shall be delivered by the master to the principal immigration officer at the port. When an arriving seaman is a "workaway," a notation to that effect should be made on the manifest. In order to facilitate inspection of alien seamen, include names of arriving American citizen seamen as well as aliens.

EXTRACT FROM ACT OF CONGRESS OF FEBRUARY 5, 1917, AS AMENDED

SEC. 30. (a) The owner, charterer, agent, consignee, or master of any vessel arriving in the United States from any place outside the contiguous territory of Canada, Mexico, Newfoundland, the Panama Canal Zone, the Republic of Cuba, the Republic of Haiti, the Dominican Republic, the Republic of Panama, the Commonwealth of Puerto Rico, the Virgin Islands of the United States, or the islands adjacent to the continental territory of the United States enumerated in this section, shall before the departure of any such vessel from the port at which she shall have arrived, deliver to the immigrant inspector at such port a list or manifest containing the name of all persons employed thereon at the time of the arrival of such vessel at such port, and all persons who were employed thereon at the time of the departure of such vessel from the last foreign port or place at which such vessel touched in the course of her voyage to the United States, and such list or manifest shall state the number of such persons who were not employed thereon at the time of the arrival of such vessel at such port, and the reason for the absence of each person so employed, and shall contain such additional information relative to each person employed thereon at the time of the arrival of such vessel at such port as may be required by the Commissioner General of Immigration, with the approval of the Secretary of Labor, and shall be subscribed and sworn to before the immigrant inspector at the port of arrival by the master or commanding officer of such vessel, or by the first or second officer thereof, who shall have been in command of such vessel during the voyage next preceding the arrival of such vessel at such port, or in case of the illness of such master, agent, consignee, or officer, by the person who shall have been in charge of such vessel during such voyage, and who shall be able to answer such questions touching the matters aforesaid as may be put to him by the immigrant inspector. Such list or manifest shall be prepared in quadruplicate, and the original thereof, when subscribed and sworn to as aforesaid, shall be delivered to the immigrant inspector at the port of arrival, and the duplicate thereof shall be delivered to the collector of customs at the port of departure from the United States of such vessel, or if there be no collector at such port of departure, then to the collector of customs at the port nearest to the boundary line between the United States and the adjacent foreign country on the route of such vessel, and the triplicate thereof shall be retained by the master or commanding officer of such vessel, and the quadruplicate thereof shall be delivered by him to the owner, agent, consignee, or charterer of such vessel, or if there be no owner, agent, consignee, or charterer of such vessel in the United States, then to the consignee of the cargo carried thereby, or if there be no consignee of such cargo, then to the master of such vessel, and a copy of the list or manifest of the persons employed on board of such vessel at the time of the departure of such vessel from the last foreign port or place at which such vessel touched in the course of her voyage to the United States, certified by the master or commanding officer of such vessel, or by the first or second officer thereof, shall be delivered by him to the immigrant inspector at the port of arrival before the departure of such vessel from such port, unless for satisfactory reasons the immigrant inspector at such port shall consent to the departure of such vessel before the delivery to him of such list or manifest, in which case such list or manifest shall be delivered by the master or commanding officer of such vessel, or by the first or second officer thereof, to the collector of customs at the port of departure, or to the collector of customs at the port nearest to the boundary line between the United States and the adjacent foreign country on the route of such vessel, as hereinbefore provided, or to the owner, agent, consignee, or charterer of such vessel in the United States, or to the consignee of the cargo carried thereby, or to the master of such vessel, as hereinbefore provided, before the departure of any such vessel from the United States. Any person who shall violate any of the provisions of this section shall be punished by a fine of not more than $1,000 for each offense, or by imprisonment for not more than one year, or by both such fine and imprisonment, in the discretion of the court.

(b) The master, agent, consignee, charterer, or commanding officer of any vessel arriving in the United States from any place outside the contiguous territory of Canada, Mexico, Newfoundland, the Panama Canal Zone, the Republic of Cuba, the Republic of Haiti, the Dominican Republic, the Republic of Panama, the Commonwealth of Puerto Rico, the Virgin Islands of the United States, or the islands adjacent to the continental territory of the United States enumerated in this section, shall be permitted to land in the United States, except temporarily for the ultimate departure, removal, or deportation of such alien from the United States, or for medical treatment, or pursuant to such regulations as the Attorney General may prescribe, for the ultimate departure of any alien seaman employed on board any vessel until the immigration officer in charge at the port of arrival shall have inspected such seaman (which inspection in all cases shall include a personal physical examination by the medical examiner), or two hours after such seaman on board such vessel shall have been reported by such immigration officer to the Attorney General as to be, and shall be, to the collector of customs of the customs district in which the port of arrival is located the sum of $1,000 for each alien seaman in respect of whom such failure occurs. No vessel shall be granted clearance papers during the detention of any such alien seaman by reason of the provisions of this section, except that clearance may be granted prior to the determination of the inquiry to any such seaman on posting a bond with sufficient surety to secure the payment thereof in such amount as may be required by the collector of customs. The Attorney General may, upon application in writing therefor, cancel any such bond upon the deposit of a sum sufficient to cover such tax, or of a bond with sufficient surety in a sum sufficient to cover such tax, or upon the production of such vessel to the port from which she sailed with all such seamen on board as were originally employed thereon, or upon the payment of $300 for each seaman in respect of whom such failure occurs. Upon such refund as the Attorney General may direct, upon application in writing therefor, the head tax shall be refunded by the collector of customs. The Attorney General may, upon application in writing therefor, cancel any such bond upon the deposit of a sum sufficient to cover such tax, or of a bond with sufficient surety to secure the payment thereof

IMPORTANT NOTICE TO MASTER

The list described below shall be prepared on blank forms approved by the Department and be ready for delivery to the immigration inspectors boarding the vessel as the port of arrival, and shall in no instance be taken from the vessel. The list of changes or alien members of crew (Form I-418) shall not be detained on board, but shall be delivered by the master to the principal immigration officer at the port. When an alternate address is entered, a notation to that effect should be made on the manifest. In order to facilitate inspection of alien seamen, include names of alternate American citizen seamen as well as aliens.

EXTRACT FROM ACT OF CONGRESS OF FEBRUARY 5, 1917, AS AMENDED

SEC. 36. That upon arrival of any vessel in the United States from any foreign port or place it shall be the duty of the owner, agent, consignee, or master, thereof to deliver to the principal immigration officer in charge of the port of arrival a list or manifest of all the persons, whether passengers or members of the crew, on board such vessel, stating the positions they respectively hold in the ship's company, when and where they were respectively shipped or engaged, and specifying also the ports at which they severally embarked and intend to disembark; and no such vessel shall be granted clearance papers by the collector or other officer of the customs until the master thereof shall have delivered to the principal immigration officer a list or manifest as aforesaid, and shall have obtained from said officer a permit stating that the list or manifest has been delivered as required by law and specifying the number of aliens, if any, who have been passed to be landed; but in case of the illness of such owner, agent, consignee, or master so as to deliver either of the lists aforesaid, it may, upon proof satisfactory to the Secretary of Labor be delivered by the attending physician and verified by the oath of such physician; and in case of the death of such owner, agent, consignee, or master, the list or manifest may be delivered and verified by the oath of the person performing the duties of such owner, agent, consignee, or master, or by the oath of the master of the vessel, if the master shall have been left in charge of the vessel by such owner, agent, consignee, or master. Any master, owner, agent, consignee, or person in charge of any vessel who refuses or neglects to deliver such list or manifest, or who knowingly or willfully lands or causes to be landed any alien from such vessel, or who knowingly or willfully delivers a false list or manifest, or who refuses to allow any immigrant inspector to go on board of such vessel for the purpose of inspecting the same, or who refuses to detain on board such vessel any alien when ordered by the principal immigration officer at the port of arrival, or who refuses to deliver to the proper immigration officer any alien ordered to be detained on board or at the port of arrival, or who refuses to carry back any alien when ordered by the principal immigration officer, or who refuses to pay the head tax provided for by this Act, shall be deemed guilty of a misdemeanor and shall be punished by a fine of not more than $1,000 or by imprisonment for not more than one year, or both, at the discretion of the court. Any master, owner, agent, consignee, or person in charge of any vessel who violates any of the provisions of this section shall be liable to a penalty of $300 for each offense. No such vessel shall be granted clearance papers pending the determination of the question of the liability to the payment of such penalty, and in the event such fine is imposed, while it remains unpaid, no such vessel shall be granted clearance papers pending the payment of such fine, and, in the event such fine is not paid, the same shall be recovered, with costs of suit, in an action of debt in the name of the United States. The Secretary of Labor shall have the power to remit fines and penalties in such manner and upon such terms as he may deem just and proper. (39 Stat. 880–886; 8 U. S. C. 171.)

SEC. 150.13. Lists of alien employees; when clearance of vessel denied. Clearance shall not be granted any vessel until the lists required by section 36 of the Immigration Act of 1917 (39 Stat. 886; 8 U. S. C. 171), have been furnished, and not then unless notice of liability to the administrative fine prescribed by said section 36 of said Act (39 Stat. 886; 8 U. S. C. 168) have been served, the deposit specified in §§ 150.12–150.17, and paid or made.

ALIEN SEAMEN

SEC. 18. No alien seaman excluded from admission into the United States under the immigration laws and employed on board any vessel entering in the United States from any place outside thereof, shall be permitted to land in the United States, except temporarily for medical treatment, or because of illness requiring his detention in the United States for hospital treatment, or pursuant to such regulations as the Attorney General may prescribe for the allowance of aliens employed on such vessel, during the period of her stay in port, to go ashore for the purpose of shopping or sightseeing, under such guards as the Commissioner of Immigration may deem necessary. Any alien seaman who shall land in the United States from any vessel during her stay in port, or who shall land in the United States from any place outside thereof, and who is not shown by the manifest of the vessel on which he arrived to have been duly admitted, may be detained on board or at the port of arrival pending inquiry into his right to land, and shall be deported in the same manner as stowaways are deported under section 19 of this Act. Any master, owner, agent, consignee, or person in charge of any vessel bringing to the United States any alien seaman who is excluded from admission into the United States under the immigration laws, or who is not shown by the manifest of the vessel on which he arrived to have been duly admitted, shall be required to remove such alien seaman from the United States, except temporarily for medical treatment, or because of illness requiring his detention in the United States for hospital treatment, or pursuant to such regulations as the Attorney General may prescribe for the allowance of aliens employed on such vessel, during the period of her stay in port, to go ashore for the purpose of shopping or sightseeing, under such guards as the Commissioner of Immigration may deem necessary, and shall pay the cost of his maintenance while detained and the expenses incident to his removal. Any master, owner, agent, consignee, or person in charge of any vessel who violates any of the provisions of this section shall be liable to a penalty of $1,000 for each alien seaman in respect of whom such failure occurs. No vessel shall be granted clearance pending the determination of the question of the liability to payment of such fine, or while the fine remains unpaid, except that clearance may be granted prior to the determination of such question upon deposit of a sum sufficient to cover such fine, or while the payment of such fine is secured to the satisfaction of the collector of customs. The Attorney General may, upon application in writing therefor, mitigate such penalty to not less than $300 for each seaman in respect of whom such failure occurs, upon such terms as the Attorney General in the discretion shall think proper. The section, as amended, shall apply to all beneficiaries similarly circumstanced, on and after January 1, 1940.

(b) Proof that an alien seaman did not depart from the contiguous territory or adjacent islands named in section 3 of this Act from a foreign contiguous territory or adjacent islands shall be prima facie evidence to a similar effect.

(c) If the Attorney General finds that deportation of the alien seaman on the vessel on which he arrived would cause undue hardship to such seaman he may cause him to be deported on another vessel at the expense of the vessel on which he arrived, but such expense shall not be charged against the head tax provided for by this Act.

(43 Stat. 164–165, 58 Stat. 818; 8 U. S. C. 101 (a), 101 (c).)

That upon arrival of any vessel in the United States from any foreign port or place it shall be the duty of the owner, agent, consignee, or master thereof to deliver to the principal immigration officer in charge of the port of arrival lists containing the names of all aliens employed on such vessel, stating the positions they respectively hold in the ship's company, whether they were respectively shipped or engaged, and specifying those to be held on and discharged in the port of arrival; or lists containing so much of such information as the Attorney General shall by regulation prescribe; and after the arrival of any such vessel at the first port of entry in the United States from any foreign port or place, it shall be the duty of the master thereof to deliver to the immigrant inspector boarding the vessel at the port, a list containing the names of all aliens employed on such vessel, stating the positions they respectively hold in the ship's company, whether they were respectively shipped or engaged, and specifying those to be held on and discharged in the port of arrival; and before the departure of any such vessel it shall be the duty of such master to furnish the proper immigration officer at the port of arrival with a correct list of all the members of the crew employed on such vessel at the time of the departure of such vessel from any foreign port or place, and a description of such alien, together with any information likely to facilitate the search for and identification of such alien, and also the names of all aliens employed on such vessel at the time of the departure of such vessel from any foreign port or place, and before the departure of any such vessel it shall be the duty of such master to furnish a correct list of all persons employed on such vessel at the time of the departure, and also the names of all persons who will leave such vessel at the time of her departure, and also the names of persons who were not employed thereon at the time of the arrival but who will leave such vessel at the time of her departure, and also the names of all persons employed on such vessel at the time of the departure, and the cause of the absence of such persons, if any, who have been paid off and discharged, and of those, if any, who have deserted, and before the departure of any such master to any foreign port or place, and before the departure of any such vessel it shall be the duty of such master to deliver to the immigrant inspector boarding the vessel at the port, a list containing the names of all aliens who were not employed thereon at the time of the arrival but who will leave such vessel at the time of her departure, and also the names of persons who were not employed thereon at the time of the arrival but who will join such vessel at any subsequent port or place, and the cause of the absence of such persons, if any, who have been paid off and discharged, and of those, if any, who have deserted, respectively, or so far as to report such cases of desertion or muster, such owner, agent, consignee, or master shall, in lieu of the entries required by the preceding provisions of this section, report to the Attorney General, by the first mail after the departure of the vessel from the port, the name of every alien employed on such vessel who shall have deserted or shall have been left behind at such port, together with such information likely to facilitate the search for and identification of such alien as shall be required by the Attorney General; and before the departure of any such vessel from the United States from any port or place outside thereof, or, if the Attorney General shall so direct, before the departure of any such vessel from any port or place in the United States, the master thereof shall deliver to the immigrant inspector boarding the vessel a list containing the names of all persons employed on board who have been left behind at such port or place since the departure of the vessel from the last port or place at which a list was required to be delivered by the provisions of this section, and the cause of the absence of such persons, and the names of all persons who have joined such vessel at such port or place, and the cause of their employment thereon, and the names of all persons who have died on board such vessel since the departure from the last port or place at which a list was required to be delivered by the provisions of this section, and the cause of their death, and the names of all persons who have been born on board such vessel since the departure from the last port or place at which a list was required to be delivered by the provisions of this section, and the cause of the absence of such persons, if any, who have been paid off and discharged, and of those, if any, who have deserted, respectively, or so far as to report such cases of desertion or muster, such owner, agent, consignee, or master shall, in lieu of the entries required by the preceding provisions of this section, report to the Attorney General, by the first mail after the departure of the vessel from the port, the name of every alien employed on such vessel who shall have deserted or shall have been left behind at such port, together with such information likely to facilitate the search for and identification of such alien as shall be required by the Attorney General; and before the departure of any such vessel

IMPORTANT NOTICE TO MASTER

The list described below shall be prepared on blank forms approved by the Department and be ready for delivery to the immigration inspectors boarding the vessel at the port of arrival, but shall in no instance be taken from the vessel. The list or manifest of aliens required by the master (form 524) shall not be destroyed on board, but shall be delivered by the master to the principal immigration officer at the port. When an arriving alien is a "stowaway," a notation to that effect should be made on the manifest.

EXTRACT FROM ACT OF CONGRESS OF FEBRUARY 2, 1917

SEC. 38. That upon arrival of any vessel in the United States from any foreign port or place it shall be the duty of the owner, agent, consignee, or master thereof to deliver to the principal immigration officer in charge of the port of arrival lists containing the names of all aliens employed on such vessel, stating the positions they respectively hold in the ship's company, when and where they were respectively shipped or engaged, and absolutely those to be held on the said steamship in the port of arrival; or lists containing no such information, as the Secretary of Labor shall by regulation prescribe; and after the arrival of any such vessel it shall be the duty of such owner, agent, consignee, or master to report to such immigration officer, in writing, as soon as discovered, all cases in which the said master or officer of the vessel has concealed the names of all aliens employed who were not employed thereon at the time of the arrival but who left the vessel from the time of such arrival and before the departure of the vessel from the port, and also the names of those, if any, who were paid off and discharged, and the cause or reason for such action. Any master, owner, agent, consignee, or person in charge of any vessel who shall refuse or neglect to deliver lists as herein required, or who shall refuse or neglect to report any such case of desertion or discharge, shall pay to the Secretary of Labor, for the benefit of the immigrant fund, a sum not exceeding $10 for each alien concerning whom correct lists are not delivered or a true report is not made as above required: and no such vessel shall be granted clearance papers by the collector of customs of the customs district in which the port of arrival is located the said master, owner, agent, consignee, or person in charge of such vessel shall be granted clearance papers by the collector of customs of the customs district in which the port of departure is located until the said master, owner, agent, consignee, or person in charge of such vessel shall have delivered to the commissioner of immigration at the port of arrival a certificate from the Secretary of Labor that the lists required by this section have been received and that the said master, owner, agent, consignee, or person in charge of such vessel has complied with the requirements of this section and with the rules and regulations made by the Secretary of Labor in pursuance thereof: and no such vessel shall be granted clearance papers by the collector of customs of the customs district in which the port of departure is located until the said master, owner, agent, consignee, or person in charge of such vessel shall have delivered to the collector of customs a certificate from the Secretary of Labor that the said master, owner, agent, consignee, or person in charge of such vessel has complied with the requirements of this section and with the rules and regulations made by the Secretary of Labor in pursuance thereof: Provided, That the Secretary of Labor may, in his discretion, permit masters of vessels to omit the report required by this section in the case of any alien employed on board any vessel touching at a port of the United States solely for the purpose of taking on board fuel, supplies, or sick or injured members of the crew, or the case of any alien employed on board any vessel touching at a port of the United States because of stress of weather or other necessary cause, when such alien shall not be entitled to land in the United States and the immigration officer in charge at the port of arrival shall be notified by the master, owner, agent, consignee, or person in charge of the vessel before departure from the port.

SEC. 39. (a) That any master, owner, agent, consignee, or person in charge of any vessel bringing an alien who is not lawfully entitled to enter the United States shall be required to take such alien back to the port from which such alien came to the United States, or to any other foreign port which will accept such alien, and the cost of the maintenance while in the United States and of the transportation of such alien shall be paid by the master, owner, agent, consignee, or person in charge of the vessel bringing such alien to the United States: Provided, however, That the Secretary of Labor may, in his discretion, authorize the return of such alien to any country contiguous to the United States, or adjacent thereto, which such alien may select.

(b) Any such alien shall be deported in the manner provided by law to the country whence he came, at the expense of the appropriation for the enforcement of this Act, if the Secretary of Labor shall within two years after his entry into the United States cause such alien to be taken into custody and shall make a determination after hearing that such alien entered the United States in violation of law, or that he is unable to support himself and will probably become a public charge, or that he belongs to any of the classes excluded by law, or that he was found in the United States in violation of this Act, or any other law subsequently enacted regulating the admission of aliens to the United States: Provided, That the decision of the Secretary of Labor shall be final as to the findings of fact upon which the warrant of deportation is based: Provided further, That no alien shall be deported by reason of being unable to support himself and will probably become a public charge if he shall become a public charge within one year after his entry into the United States from any cause not existing at the time of his entry into the United States.

(c) If the Secretary of Labor shall fail to make a determination as to the cause for detaining any alien other than one certified by a medical officer within ten days after the date of such certification, or within ten days after the receipt of the certificate of the Board of Special Inquiry in case of an appeal from the decision of a medical officer, or within such further time as may be allowed by the Secretary of Labor not exceeding ten days in any case, such alien shall be immediately reported to the Secretary of Labor and his case given preference by the Secretary of Labor over all other cases pending for deportation, and the decision of the Secretary of Labor shall be final as to the findings of fact upon which the warrant of deportation is based.

(d) Every alien arriving in the United States from any foreign port or place, and every alien who has been naturalized, who shall come into the United States from any place outside thereof, shall be required to file with the immigration officer in charge at the port of arrival a statement, under such rules and regulations as may be prescribed by the Secretary of Labor, setting forth or containing such information required by the Secretary of Labor touching the right of such alien to enter the United States as may be required by the Secretary of Labor, and such alien shall be examined by an immigrant inspector touching his right to enter the United States, which examination shall be conducted in writing, and a record thereof filed with the said inspector's certificate in each case. Any alien who shall refuse to file such statement or submit to such examination shall be refused admission to the United States and deported in accordance with the provisions of this Act. Any alien who shall willfully make false or misleading statements or shall willfully conceal a material fact in such statement shall be deported in accordance with the provisions of this Act. Any alien who shall have been admitted to the United States shall not be required to file such statement or submit to such examination unless specially ordered by the Secretary of Labor after a hearing that such action is necessary in the case of any alien or class of aliens because of the existence of reasonable grounds for believing that such alien or class of aliens is subject to deportation.

(e) Any alien who shall willfully fail or refuse to file such statement or submit to such examination shall be taken into custody and deported in accordance with the provisions of this Act, unless he shall establish to the satisfaction of the Secretary of Labor that his failure was excusable or was not willful.

(f) Any alien who shall willfully make false or misleading statements or representations in such statement or in his testimony before the immigrant inspector or who shall knowingly and willfully fail to disclose therein a fact material to the correct statement of the facts which he may lawfully be required to state therein shall be deported in accordance with the provisions of this Act.

(g) Any person who knowingly or willfully assists, abets, or counsels, or attempts to assist, abet, or counsel any alien in the preparation of such statement shall be fined not more than $1,000 or imprisoned not more than one year, or both.

(h) Any person who knowingly or willfully furnishes to any alien any certificate or other document which may be required by the Secretary of Labor under the provisions of this Act, or who knowingly or willfully makes under oath any statement with respect to any such certificate or document or with respect to the application therefor which is false in any material particular, or who knowingly or willfully presents any such certificate or document which is false in any material particular, shall be fined not more than $1,000 or imprisoned not more than one year, or both.

(i) Any person who knowingly or willfully forges, counterfeits, alters, or falsely makes any certificate or document prescribed by the Secretary of Labor under the provisions of this Act, or who knowingly or willfully uses, accepts, or has in his possession any such certificate or document so forged, counterfeited, altered, or falsely made, shall be fined not more than $1,000 or imprisoned not more than one year, or both.

(j) Any person who shall bring into the United States any alien who has been excluded from admission into the United States under the immigration laws and who may be found to be unlawfully within the United States shall be deported as in the case of aliens who have entered the United States in violation of law.

SEC. 40. No alien seaman excluded from admission into the United States under the immigration laws and employed on board any vessel arriving in the United States from any place outside thereof, shall be permitted to land in the United States, except temporarily for medical treatment, or because of such temporary physical disability as in the judgment of the Secretary of Labor may prescribe for the ultimate deportation of such alien from the United States.

SEC. 50. (a) The owner, charterer, agent, consignee, or master of any vessel bringing in the United States from any place outside thereof any alien who has been refused a visa by the consular officer in charge at the port of departure, because such alien is afflicted with a loathsome or dangerous contagious disease, shall pay to the collector of customs at the port of arrival the sum of $200 for each and every such alien, and no such vessel shall be granted clearance papers pending the determination of the question of the admissibility of the alien, and during the further period of one week after such determination, unless such alien shall sooner be removed from the vessel. Such payment shall be refunded if the said alien is found admissible, but shall be forfeited if he is found inadmissible and deported. Any such vessel which shall depart without the payment of the said sum of $200 for each and every such alien, and without the consent of the collector of customs, shall be refused clearance papers until such payment shall be made, and in addition thereto shall be liable to a penalty of $300 for each and every such alien.

(b) Every alien who shall come to the United States in violation of any law, treaty, or convention regulating the admission of aliens to the United States, or who shall enter the United States at any time or place other than as designated by immigration officers, or who shall enter the United States by means of any false or fraudulent papers, or by concealing himself or herself on board, or who shall come in transit through the United States in violation of contract or agreement made in advance of his or her coming to the United States, shall be deported as provided in this Act. The list of charges of alien immigrants prescribed by the Department and to be used by the immigration officers at the ports of arrival (Form 524) shall not be destroyed on board, but shall be delivered by the master to the principal immigration officer at the port. When an arriving alien is a "stowaway," a notation to that effect should be made on the manifest.

SEC. 14. No alien seaman excluded from admission into the United States under the immigration laws and employed on board any vessel arriving in the United States from any foreign port or place, or any port or place in the United States destined to any foreign port or place, may be granted a conditional permit to land temporarily in the United States, except in the event of sickness, injury, or detention by quarantine, or for the purpose of obtaining surgical treatment, or hospital treatment, or because of the necessity for repairing the vessel on which he arrived, or for such other reasons as may be satisfactory to the Commissioner General of Immigration, but the period of temporary detention shall be considered as part of the period allowed for his departure from the United States. (43 Stat. 164, 8 U. S. C. 166.)

SEC. 50. (a) The owner, charterer, agent, consignee, or master of any vessel arriving in the United States from any place outside the contiguous territory of Canada, Mexico, Newfoundland, or the adjacent islands, except temporarily for medical treatment, or because of the necessity for repairing the vessel on account of damage or distress, or for such other reasons as may be satisfactory to the Commissioner General of Immigration, shall be required to detain any alien seaman employed on board such vessel until the immigration officer in charge at the port of arrival has inspected such seaman (which inspection in all cases shall include a personal physical examination by the medical examiners), and has delivered to the master a certificate stating that such seaman has been found admissible, or has been granted a conditional permit to land temporarily, or has been certified to the Secretary of Labor for special inquiry, as the case may be. The Attorney General may by regulation prescribe the conditions upon which such certificates may be issued, and the fees to be charged therefor, not to exceed $10 for each seaman in respect of whom such certificate occurs. Upon such refusal by the master to detain any such seaman, or upon the failure of the master to deliver such seaman for medical examination, or upon the failure of the master to present such seaman for such special inquiry, or upon the failure of such seaman to depart from the United States, the master shall be liable to a penalty of $300 for each seaman in respect of whom such failure occurs. Upon such refusal by the Attorney General in the discretion shall refer the case to the Commissioner of Immigration for the collection of the penalty, or any part thereof, out of any moneys due or to become due to the master, owner, agent, charterer, or consignee of the vessel, and the payment of such penalty to the Commissioner of Immigration shall relieve the master from further liability therefor. The Attorney General may, upon application in writing received prior to the expiration of six months from the date of the refusal to detain any such seaman, remit the penalty or any part thereof upon the production of such seaman or other satisfactory proof that the seaman was not employed contrary to law, and upon such terms and conditions as he may deem just and proper. The Attorney General may, upon application in writing received prior to the expiration of six months from the date of the refusal to detain any such seaman, remit the penalty or any part thereof upon the production of such seaman or other satisfactory proof that the seaman was not employed contrary to law, and upon such terms and conditions as he may deem just and proper.

(b) Every alien seaman, while employed on board any vessel arriving in the United States from any place outside the contiguous territory of Canada, Mexico, Newfoundland, or the adjacent islands, except temporarily for medical treatment, or because of the necessity for repairing the vessel on account of damage or distress, or for such other reasons as may be satisfactory to the Commissioner General of Immigration, shall be required to report on board such vessel at the time of her departure from each port in the United States, and at the time of her departure from the United States, to the immigration officer in charge at the port of departure, or such other officer as may be designated by the Commissioner General of Immigration, and shall be required to depart on such vessel or some other vessel leaving such port, unless specially permitted by the Commissioner General of Immigration to depart on another vessel or specially permitted to remain in the United States for a definite period. Every such alien seaman who fails to report or to depart on such vessel shall be deemed to be unlawfully remaining in the United States, and shall be deported as provided in sections 19 and 20 of this Act. Every such alien seaman who fails to report or to depart on such vessel shall be deemed to be unlawfully remaining in the United States, and shall be deported as provided in sections 19 and 20 of this Act.

(c) If the Attorney General finds that deportation of the alien seaman on the vessel on which he arrived would cause undue hardship to such alien seaman he may cause him to be deported on another vessel at the expense of the vessel on which he arrived, and such vessel shall not be granted clearance until such expense has been paid or its payment guaranteed to the satisfaction of the Attorney General.

SEC. 36. That upon arrival of any vessel in the United States from any foreign port or place it shall be the duty of the owner, agent, consignee, or master thereof to deliver to the principal immigration officer in charge of the port of arrival a list containing the names of all aliens employed on such vessel, stating the position they respectively hold in the grade of the department, and where and where they were respectively shipped or entered, and specifying those to be paid off and discharged in the port of arrival; or list containing no names of such aliens if illegally landed from the vessel, giving a description of such alien, together with any information likely to lead to his apprehension; and no such vessel shall depart from the port of arrival until the master, owner, agent, consignee, or master of such vessel shall have delivered to such immigration officer, in writing, a description of each alien member of the crew who may desert from such vessel while in port, together with any information likely to lead to his apprehension; and before the departure of any such vessel it shall be the duty of such owner, agent, consignee, or master to deliver to such immigration officer a like description of any such alien member of the crew who may be discharged, or who may leave the vessel at the time of her departure, and the cause or reason for the discharge or leaving behind, so far as the same may be known or can be ascertained by the exercise of due diligence. It shall be the duty of the master of each vessel arriving in the United States from any foreign port to report and deliver to the immigration officer at the port of arrival the number of aliens employed on board such vessel, and the nature of the employment in which they were engaged, and the number of such aliens who have been discharged in each district during the period intervening between the time of the last report and the time of the arrival of such vessel at such port, and in the event such vessel is intending, while in transit between such time and the time of arrival at such port, to touch at any other port or place in the United States, to report the number of such aliens who will leave such vessel at each such port or place, and the number who will remain on board. SEC. 150.15. Limit of alien employees; when clearance of vessel denied. Clearance shall not be granted to any vessel until the master thereof has complied with the requirements of section 36 of the immigration Act of 1917 (39 Stat. 888; 8 U. S. C. 171), when such information is required by section 36 of the immigration Act of 1917 (39 Stat. 888; 8 U. S. C. 171), and no alien employed on board any vessel shall be permitted to land in the United States, except temporarily in case of medical treatment, or because of such illness as in the opinion of the master, surgeon, or chief medical officer of the vessel renders such removal necessary, unless and until a certificate shall have been issued by the immigration officer in charge at the port of deportation of such alien from the United States. (39 Stat. 164, 8 U. S. C. 166.)

SEC. 20. (a) The owner, charterer, agent, consignee, or master of any vessel bringing to the United States from any place outside the foreign contiguous territory of Canada, Mexico, Newfoundland, Cuba, Puerto Rico, the Virgin Islands of the United States, or adjacent islands belonging to the United States any alien (whether in transit through the United States or not) who is destined to the United States or who is to be detained on board the vessel while in port, shall cause such alien to be examined by the medical officer of the port. Such examination shall be made at such time and place as may be designated by the immigration officer in charge at the port of arrival, and shall include a personal physical examination by the medical examiner(s). Failure to present any alien for such examination or to report such alien prior to such inspection at the port of arrival shall be prima facie evidence of a violation of this section. The Attorney General may, upon application in writing therefor, in cases where such person is destined to a point within the United States not readily accessible to a medical officer of the United States, or for other reasons, permit such examination to be made by a medical officer of the country from which such alien is destined to the United States. Any person who shall violate any of the provisions of this section shall be guilty of a misdemeanor and upon conviction thereof shall be punished by a fine of not more than $1,000 for each alien with respect to whom such violation occurs. No passenger shall be finally discharged from the vessel at the port of arrival if he is found to be afflicted with any of the diseases or mental or physical defects or disabilities set forth in section 3 of the Act of February 5, 1917, or is found to be a member of any of the classes excluded by section 3 of said Act, unless such passenger is in possession of a certificate issued by the Public Health Service to the effect that such passenger has been found to be not so afflicted, or that he is then in the course of treatment therefor and may be permitted to land within the United States without danger to the public health. Any steamship company which shall violate any of the provisions of this section shall be liable to a penalty of $300 for each passenger in respect of whom such failure occurs. Upon such refusal to land a passenger, the master of the vessel shall cause such passenger to be detained on board while in port, and shall cause such passenger to be removed in the vessel on which he arrived or on the vessel on which he sailed from the United States to the country whence he came, or to the country of which he is a subject or citizen, at the option of the master of the vessel, and shall pay the cost of his maintenance while detained on board and of his removal. The Attorney General may, upon application in writing therefor, in cases where it is shown to his satisfaction that no reasonable ground exists to believe that any person will become a public charge, and that the transportation of such person otherwise than on the vessel on which he arrived will not result in his becoming a public charge, or that the refusal to permit such person to land would result in exceptional hardship, permit such person to land temporarily under bond in such sum and with such conditions as he may prescribe, but not to exceed $500, or to such person to go in transit to a country other than the country from which he arrived, under bond in such sum as he may prescribe, but not to exceed $500, and with sufficient sureties to insure that such person will depart from the United States within the time specified by the Attorney General. (39 Stat. 164–165, as amended by 40 Stat. 559; 8 U. S. C. 167 (a), 167 (c).)

(b) Proof that an alien assumed his name or any part thereof at the request or suggestion of the master or owner of any vessel or any agent of the United States from which he arrived, or any person interested in such vessel, or in case he is a deserter, shall be prima facie evidence of a failure to declare at depart from the United States, notwithstanding the alien may have been lawfully admitted to the United States, and such alien may be refused clearance until such evidence has been laid to the satisfaction of the Attorney General.

(c) If the Attorney General finds that deportation of the alien assumed on the vessel or shifted by such vessel cause undue delay to such vessel, he may cause such alien to be deported on another vessel at the expense of the vessel on which he arrived, but such vessel shall not be detained clearance until such expense has been paid to the Attorney General. (40 Stat. 164–165, as amended; 39 Stat. 878; 8 U. S. C. 167 (a), 167 (c).)

ALIEN SEAMEN

SEC. 13. No alien seaman excluded from admission into the United States under the immigration laws and no alien employed on board any vessel arriving in the United States from any place outside thereof, shall be permitted to land in the United States, except temporarily for medical treatment, or because of such illness as in the opinion of the master, surgeon, or chief medical officer of the vessel renders such removal necessary, unless and until a certificate shall have been issued by the immigration officer in charge at the port of deportation of such alien from the United States. (43 Stat. 164, 8 U. S. C. 166.)

Any owner, charterer, agent, consignee, or master of any vessel bringing to the United States from any place outside thereof, who fails to detain on board any alien seaman employed on such vessel until the immigration officer in charge at the port of arrival has inspected such seaman (which inspection in all cases shall include a personal physical examination by the medical examiner), or who fails to detain such seaman on board after such inspection or to report such seaman to the immigration officer at the time of his departure, shall pay a penalty of $1,000 for each such failure. The Attorney General may, upon application in writing therefor, remit or mitigate such penalty or any part thereof. The Attorney General may, upon such terms as he may prescribe, authorize the payment thereof to the collector of customs. The Attorney General may, upon application in writing therefor, mitigate such penalty to not less than $300 for each seaman in respect of whom such failure occurs. Upon such refusal to land a seaman, the master of the vessel shall cause such seaman to be detained on board while in port, and shall cause such seaman to be removed in the vessel on which he arrived or on the vessel on which he sailed from the United States to the country whence he came, or to the country of which he is a subject or citizen, at the option of the master of the vessel, and shall pay the cost of his maintenance while detained on board and of his removal. The Attorney General may, upon application in writing therefor, in cases where it is shown to his satisfaction that no reasonable ground exists to believe that any person will become a public charge, and that the transportation of such person otherwise than on the vessel on which he arrived will not result in his becoming a public charge, or that the refusal to permit such person to land would result in exceptional hardship, permit such person to land temporarily under bond in such sum and with such conditions as he may prescribe, but not to exceed $500, or to such person to go in transit to a country other than the country from which he arrived, under bond in such sum as he may prescribe, but not to exceed $500, and with sufficient sureties to insure that such person will depart from the United States within the time specified by the Attorney General. (43 Stat. 164–165, as amended by 40 Stat. 559; 8 U. S. C. 167 (a), 167 (c).)

(d) Proof that an alien assumed his name or any part thereof at the request or suggestion of the master or owner of any vessel or any agent of the United States from which he arrived, or any person interested in such vessel, or in case he is a deserter, shall be prima facie evidence of a failure to declare at depart from the United States, notwithstanding the alien may have been lawfully admitted to the United States, and such alien may be refused clearance until such evidence has been laid to the satisfaction of the Attorney General.

(e) If the Attorney General finds that deportation of the alien assumed on the vessel or shifted by such vessel cause undue delay to such vessel, he may cause such alien to be deported on another vessel at the expense of the vessel on which he arrived, but such vessel shall not be detained clearance until such expense has been paid to the Attorney General. No alien seaman excluded from admission into the United States under the immigration laws and no alien employed on board any vessel arriving in the United States from any place outside thereof, shall be permitted to land in the United States, except temporarily for medical treatment, or because of such illness as in the opinion of the master, surgeon, or chief medical officer of the vessel renders such removal necessary, unless and until a certificate shall have been issued by the immigration officer in charge at the port of deportation of such alien from the United States. (43 Stat. 164, 8 U. S. C. 166.)

Any owner, charterer, agent, consignee, or master of any vessel bringing to the United States from any place outside thereof, who fails to detain on board any alien seaman employed on such vessel until the immigration officer in charge at the port of arrival has inspected such seaman (which inspection in all cases shall include a personal physical examination by the medical examiner), or who fails to detain such seaman on board after such inspection or to report such seaman to the immigration officer at the time of his departure, shall pay a penalty of $1,000 for each such failure. The Attorney General may, upon application in writing therefor, remit or mitigate such penalty or any part thereof. The Attorney General may, upon such terms as he may prescribe, authorize the payment thereof to the collector of customs. The Attorney General may, upon application in writing therefor, mitigate such penalty to not less than $300 for each seaman in respect of whom such failure occurs. Upon such refusal to land a seaman, the master of the vessel shall cause such seaman to be detained on board while in port, and shall cause such seaman to be removed in the vessel on which he arrived or on the vessel on which he sailed from the United States to the country whence he came, or to the country of which he is a subject or citizen, at the option of the master of the vessel, and shall pay the cost of his maintenance while detained on board and of his removal. The Attorney General may, upon application in writing therefor, in cases where it is shown to his satisfaction that no reasonable ground exists to believe that any person will become a public charge, and that the transportation of such person otherwise than on the vessel on which he arrived will not result in his becoming a public charge, or that the refusal to permit such person to land would result in exceptional hardship, permit such person to land temporarily under bond in such sum and with such conditions as he may prescribe, but not to exceed $500, or to such person to go in transit to a country other than the country from which he arrived, under bond in such sum as he may prescribe, but not to exceed $500, and with sufficient sureties to insure that such person will depart from the United States within the time specified by the Attorney General. (43 Stat. 164–165, as amended by 40 Stat. 559; 8 U. S. C. 167 (a), 167 (c).)

(d) Proof that an alien assumed his name or any part thereof at the request or suggestion of the master or owner of any vessel or any agent of the United States from which he arrived, or any person interested in such vessel, or in case he is a deserter, shall be prima facie evidence of a failure to declare at depart from the United States, notwithstanding the alien may have been lawfully admitted to the United States, and such alien may be refused clearance until such evidence has been laid to the satisfaction of the Attorney General.

(e) If the Attorney General finds that deportation of the alien assumed on the vessel or shifted by such vessel cause undue delay to such vessel, he may cause such alien to be deported on another vessel at the expense of the vessel on which he arrived, but such vessel shall not be detained clearance until such expense has been paid to the Attorney General. (40 Stat. 164–165, as amended; 39 Stat. 878; 8 U. S. C. 167 (a), 167 (c).)

ALIEN SEAMEN

SEC. 18. No alien seaman excluded from admission into the United States under the immigration laws and employed on board any vessel arriving in the United States from any place outside the limits of the United States, except temporarily for medical treatment, or because of stress of weather, or other cause beyond his control, shall be permitted to land in the United States, except temporarily for the purpose and in accordance with such regulations as the Attorney General may prescribe for the safekeeping, control, and removal of such alien from the United States. (43 Stat. 164, 8 U. S. C. 188.)

SEC. 20. (a) The owner, charterer, agent, consignee, or master of any vessel arriving in the United States from any place outside contiguous territory, shall be required to pay to the collector of customs of the customs district in which the port of arrival is located the sum of $1,000 for each alien seaman in respect of whom such failure occurs. No vessel shall be granted clearance pending the determination of the liability to payment of such fine, or while the fine remains unpaid, except that clearance may be granted prior to the determination of such question upon the deposit of a sum sufficient to cover such fine, or of a bond with sufficient surety to secure the payment thereof approved by the collector of customs. The Attorney General may, upon application in writing therefor, mitigate such penalty or not less than $500 for each seaman in respect of whom such failure occurs, upon such remission as the Attorney General in his discretion shall think proper. This section, as amended, shall apply to all penalties arising subsequent to June 2, 1924.

(b) Proof that an alien seaman did not depart upon the outgoing manifest of the vessel on which he arrived in the United States from any place outside thereof, or that he was reported by the master of such vessel as a deserter, shall be prima facie evidence of a failure to obtain or deport alien seaman, notwithstanding by the immigration officer of the Attorney General.

(c) If the Attorney General finds that deportation of the alien seaman on the vessel on which he arrived would cause undue hardship to such seaman he may cause him to be deported on another vessel at the expense of the vessel on which he arrived but such vessel shall not be granted clearance until such expense has been paid to its pertinent Engineered to the satisfaction of the Attorney General. (43 Stat. 164–165, 38 Stat. 816; 8 U. S. C. 191 (a), 191 (c).)

IMPORTANT NOTICE TO MASTER

The list described below shall be prepared on blank forms approved by the Department and be ready for delivery to the immigration inspector boarding the vessel at the port of arrival, and shall in no instance be taken from the vessel. The list or manifest of aliens or alien members of the crew (Form I–418) shall not be returned on board, but shall be delivered by the master to the principal immigration officer at the port. When an alternate seaman is a native American citizen seaman as well as alien.

EXTRACT FROM ACT OF CONGRESS OF FEBRUARY 2, 1917, AS AMENDED

SEC. 36. That upon arrival of any vessel in the United States from any foreign port or place it shall be the duty of the owner, agent, consignee, or master thereof to deliver to the principal immigration officer in charge of the port of entry lists containing the names of all aliens employed on such vessel, stating the positions they respectively hold in the ship's company, their nationality, the ports they were respectively shipped or engaged, the specific ports to be paid off at in the port of arrival; or list containing no such information as may be required by the Attorney General shall make report and furnish information prescribed; and state the list of aliens shall be delivered by the master to the principal immigration officer at the port of arrival, and shall not be returned on board, but shall be delivered by the master to the immigrant inspector boarding the vessel at the port of arrival; and every master, agent, consignee, or owner of any such vessel who shall refuse or neglect to deliver such list, or who shall fail to report and furnish information required by the Attorney General in pursuance of the provisions of this section, or who shall report or furnish false or incomplete information in respect thereto, shall be punished by a fine not exceeding $1,000 for each and every such offense; and no such vessel shall be granted clearance papers pending the determination of the question of the infliction of the fine or the giving of a bond as hereinafter provided, or while the same remains unpaid, except that clearance may be granted prior to the determination upon the deposit with the collector of customs of a sum sufficient to cover such fine or of a bond with sufficient surety to secure the payment thereof approved by the collector of customs. The Attorney General may, upon application in writing therefor, mitigate such penalty or any part thereof, and may direct the refunding of any moneys which have been paid in excess of the sum finally determined upon. (39 Stat. L., 889.)

SEC. 37. That the Attorney General may prescribe such additional rules and regulations governing the admission of aliens to the United States, not inconsistent with the terms of this Act, as he shall deem necessary; and may prescribe the form of and issue to masters of vessels manifests of alien passengers brought to the United States from foreign ports, and require the masters of vessels to deliver lists containing such information in respect of each of such passengers as may be required by him, and may prescribe the number of copies of such lists and manifests and the time of delivery thereof and the ports at which delivery shall be made. (39 Stat. L., 889.)

SEC. 38. That the Attorney General shall have the power and duty to control and guard the admission and inspection of aliens to the United States, and shall establish such regulations, prescribe such forms of bond, make such agreements, and issue such orders as may be necessary to carry out the provisions of this Act. He shall have charge of the administration of all laws, not specifically applicable to other officers, regulating the immigration of aliens to the United States, and shall establish such regulations, prescribe such forms of bond, make such agreements, and issue such orders as may be necessary to carry out the provisions of this Act. He shall have charge of all matters concerning the transportation of aliens who become public charges or who are deported under the provisions of this Act, or who enter or remain unlawfully in the United States, and shall establish such regulations

The list described below shall be printed on plank forms approved by the Department and be ready for delivery to the immigration inspectors boarding the vessel at the port of arrival. and shall in no instance be taken from the vessel. The list of changes of alien inhabitants of vessels (Form I-418) shall not be furnished on board, but shall be delivered by the masters to the principal immigration officer at the port. When an arriving alien is a "stowaway," a notation to that effect should be made on the manifest. In order to facilitate inspection of aliens examined, include names of arriving American citizen seamen as well as aliens.

EXTRACT FROM ACT OF CONGRESS OF FEBRUARY 5, 1917, AS AMENDED

SEC. 36. That upon arrival of any vessel in the United States from any foreign port or place it shall be the duty of the owner, agent, consignee, or master thereof to deliver to the principal immigration officer in charge at the port of arrival like manifest of all the aliens employed on board such vessel, similar the positions they respectively hold in the engine department; when and where they were respectively shipped or engaged, and when entitled; those to be paid off at the port of arrival; to like information as may be required by the Attorney General shall by regulations prescribe; and after the arrival of any such vessel it shall be the duty of the master thereof to report to such immigration officer, in writing, as soon as discovered, all cases in which any such alien has illegally landed from the vessel, giving a description of such alien, together with any information likely to lead to his apprehension; and before the departure of any such vessel it shall be the duty of such owner, agent, consignee, or master to deliver to such immigration officer in writing a like report concerning all aliens employed upon the vessel at the time of the arrival but who will leave port thereon at the time of her departure, and also the names of those, if any, who have been discharged, and the cause, if any, who have deserted, and the last known place of abode in the United States of each such person. Any person who shall violate any of the provisions of this section shall be punished by a fine of not more than $1,000 for each offense, or imprisonment for a term not exceeding one year, or both such fine and imprisonment, in the discretion of the court. Any fine imposed hereunder shall be a lien upon the vessel, and may be collected by proceedings in admiralty against the vessel, her tackle, apparel, and furniture, in the district in which she may be found. (43 Stat. 161; 8 U. S. C. 136.)

SEC. 18. (a) The owner, charterer, agent, consignee, or master of any vessel arriving in the United States from any place outside the contiguous territory of Canada or Mexico, or any vessel departing from the United States for any place outside the United States, shall be permitted to land in the United States, except temporarily for medical treatment, or because of an emergency affecting the safety of the vessel, only such alien seaman employed on board such vessel as shall be certified by the immigration officer in charge at the port of arrival to be a bona fide alien seaman coming to the United States temporarily and solely in pursuance of his calling as a seaman, and who intends to depart from the United States in pursuance of such calling on board the vessel on which he arrived or some other vessel, and who is in possession of a valid seaman's passport or other travel document satisfactory to the Secretary of State, and who is not a member of a class of aliens excluded from admission to the United States under section 3 of this Act, as amended, unless specifically admitted in the discretion of the Secretary of Labor, and who is not afflicted with any of the diseases or mental or physical defects or disorders set forth in section 3 of this Act, as amended, except that the Secretary of Labor may, in his discretion, waive the provisions of section 3 of this Act, as amended, relative to the payment of the head tax and the physical and mental examination of any such alien seaman who is destined to a port in the contiguous territory of Canada or Mexico and who is in possession of a valid unexpired immigration visa, if such alien seaman is otherwise admissible under this Act. Such alien seaman shall be immune from the operation of all laws, rules, regulations, or orders, heretofore or hereafter promulgated, relative to the exclusion or deportation of aliens from the United States, except as to laws, rules, regulations, or orders, heretofore or hereafter promulgated, relating to the payment of head taxes, the physical and mental examination of aliens prior to the granting of visas, and the certification of the same, and except as to such laws, rules, regulations, or orders, hereafter promulgated, as may be applicable to alien seamen employed on board vessels arriving at ports of the United States. Such alien seaman may be granted a conditional permit to enter the United States for the period of his vessel's stay in port, or for a period not exceeding five days, whichever period is shorter, subject to such rules and regulations as may be prescribed by the Secretary of Labor, and upon the deposit by the master, agent, consignee, or owner of the vessel on which such alien seaman arrived of a sum sufficient in the opinion of the Secretary of Labor to insure that such alien seaman will depart from the United States on said vessel or some other vessel within the period for which he was granted a conditional permit, which sum shall be refunded upon the departure of such alien seaman within the period for which he was granted a conditional permit. Such deposit shall be forfeited to the United States if such alien seaman fails to depart within the period for which he was granted a conditional permit, unless such failure is occasioned by reasons beyond his control. Such deposit shall be forfeited if such alien seaman accepts employment in the United States or fails to report for departure within twenty-four hours after notice and demand for departure. Such alien seaman shall be deported in the same manner as provided for the deportation of other aliens. Any such alien seaman who remains in the United States for a longer period than permitted by the Secretary of Labor shall be deported as provided by section 19 of this Act, as amended, and shall be refused admission to the United States as an immigrant or nonimmigrant alien. Any master, agent, consignee, or owner of any vessel who violates any of the provisions of this section shall be fined not more than $1,000 for each offense. (43 Stat. 164; 8 U. S. C. 188.)

SEC. 20. (a) The owner, charterer, agent, consignee, or master of any vessel arriving in the United States from any place outside the contiguous territory of Canada or Mexico shall be required to detain on board or at the vessel's dock at the discretion of the immigration officer in charge at the port of arrival any alien stowaway found on board such vessel, and such alien stowaway shall be treated in accordance with the provisions of section 19 of this Act, as amended, and deported in the same manner as provided for aliens who have been refused admission to the United States. The cost of detaining such alien stowaway on board vessel or at the vessel's dock shall be paid by the owner, agent, consignee, or master of the vessel before such vessel shall be granted clearance, and clearance may be withheld pending the payment of such cost. Any master, agent, consignee, or owner of any vessel failing to detain any alien stowaway on board such vessel or at the vessel's dock, as required by this section, or who shall refuse to pay the cost of detaining such alien stowaway, shall be guilty of a misdemeanor and shall be punished by a fine not exceeding $1,000 for each offense. (43 Stat. 164; 8 U. S. C. 188.)

EXTRACT FROM 8 CFR 150

SEC. 150.15. Lists of alien employees; when clearance of vessel denied. Clearance shall not be granted any vessel until the lists required by section 33 of the Immigration Act of 1917 (39 Stat. 888; 8 U. S. C. 171), have been furnished, and not then unless notice of hearings has been waived, the reports specified in §§ 150.13–150.17, inclusive, have been made.

ALIEN SEAMEN

SEC. 13. No alien seaman excluded from admission into the United States under the immigration laws and employed on board any vessel arriving in the United States from any place outside thereof, shall be permitted to land in the United States, except temporarily for medical treatment, or because of an emergency affecting the safety of the vessel, only such alien seaman employed on board such vessel as shall be certified by the immigration officer in charge at the port of arrival to be a bona fide alien seaman coming to the United States temporarily and solely in pursuance of his calling as a seaman, and who intends to depart from the United States in pursuance of such calling on board the vessel on which he arrived or some other vessel, and who is in possession of a valid seaman's passport or other travel document satisfactory to the Secretary of State, and who is not a member of a class of aliens excluded from admission to the United States under section 3 of this Act, as amended, unless specifically admitted in the discretion of the Secretary of Labor, and who is not afflicted with any of the diseases or mental or physical defects or disorders set forth in section 3 of this Act, as amended, except that the Secretary of Labor may, in his discretion, waive the provisions of section 3 of this Act, as amended, relative to the payment of the head tax and the physical and mental examination of any such alien seaman who is destined to a port in the contiguous territory of Canada or Mexico and who is in possession of a valid unexpired immigration visa, if such alien seaman is otherwise admissible under this Act. Such alien seaman shall be immune from the operation of all laws, rules, regulations, or orders, heretofore or hereafter promulgated, relative to the exclusion or deportation of aliens from the United States, except as to laws, rules, regulations, or orders, heretofore or hereafter promulgated, relating to the payment of head taxes, the physical and mental examination of aliens prior to the granting of visas, and the certification of the same, and except as to such laws, rules, regulations, or orders, hereafter promulgated, as may be applicable to alien seamen employed on board vessels arriving at ports of the United States. Such alien seaman may be granted a conditional permit to enter the United States for the period of his vessel's stay in port, or for a period not exceeding five days, whichever period is shorter, subject to such rules and regulations as may be prescribed by the Secretary of Labor, and upon the deposit by the master, agent, consignee, or owner of the vessel on which such alien seaman arrived of a sum sufficient in the opinion of the Secretary of Labor to insure that such alien seaman will depart from the United States on said vessel or some other vessel within the period for which he was granted a conditional permit, which sum shall be refunded upon the departure of such alien seaman within the period for which he was granted a conditional permit. Such deposit shall be forfeited to the United States if such alien seaman fails to depart within the period for which he was granted a conditional permit, unless such failure is occasioned by reasons beyond his control. Such deposit shall be forfeited if such alien seaman accepts employment in the United States or fails to report for departure within twenty-four hours after notice and demand for departure. Such alien seaman shall be deported in the same manner as provided for the deportation of other aliens. Any such alien seaman who remains in the United States for a longer period than permitted by the Secretary of Labor shall be deported as provided by section 19 of this Act, as amended, and shall be refused admission to the United States as an immigrant or nonimmigrant alien. Any master, agent, consignee, or owner of any vessel who violates any of the provisions of this section shall be fined not more than $1,000 for each offense. (43 Stat. 164; 8 U. S. C. 188.)

SEC. 20. (a) The owner, charterer, agent, consignee, or master of any vessel arriving in the United States from any place outside the contiguous territory of Canada or Mexico shall be required to detain on board or at the vessel's dock at the discretion of the immigration officer in charge at the port of arrival any alien stowaway found on board such vessel, and such alien stowaway shall be treated in accordance with the provisions of section 19 of this Act, as amended, and deported in the same manner as provided for aliens who have been refused admission to the United States. The cost of detaining such alien stowaway on board vessel or at the vessel's dock shall be paid by the owner, agent, consignee, or master of the vessel before such vessel shall be granted clearance, and clearance may be withheld pending the payment of such cost. Any master, agent, consignee, or owner of any vessel failing to detain any alien stowaway on board such vessel or at the vessel's dock, as required by this section, or who shall refuse to pay the cost of detaining such alien stowaway, shall be guilty of a misdemeanor and shall be punished by a fine not exceeding $1,000 for each offense. (43 Stat. 164; 8 U. S. C. 188.)

(b) Proof that an alien seaman did not depart upon the outbound manifest of the vessel on which he arrived in the United States from any place outside thereof, or that he was otherwise by the master of such vessel as a deserter, shall be prima facie evidence of a failure to detain or depart after readmission by the immigration officer of the Attorney General.

(c) If the Attorney General finds that deportation of the alien seaman on the vessel on which he arrived or on any vessel which sails from the United States to which the vessel is destined will result in undue hardship to such seaman by reason of his inability to obtain employment on another vessel at the expense of the vessel on which he arrived, and such vessel shall not be granted clearance until such expense has been paid or its payment guaranteed to the satisfaction of the Attorney General. (43 Stat. 164–165; 8 U. S. C. 188 (a), 188 (b).)

SEC. 36. That upon arrival of any vessel in the United States from any foreign port or place it shall be the duty of the owner, agent, consignee, or master thereof to deliver to the principal immigration officer in charge of the port of arrival lists containing the names of all aliens employed on such vessel, stating the positions they respectively hold in the ship's company, when and where they were respectively shipped or engaged, and specifying those to be held on board when discharged in the port of arrival; or lists containing so much of such information as may be required by regulations prescribed and rules and orders issued by the Attorney General. It shall be the duty of such owner, agent, consignee, or master to report to such immigration officer, in writing, as soon as discovered, all cases in which any such alien has illegally landed from the vessel, giving a description of such alien, together with any information likely to lead to his apprehension; and before the departure of any such vessel it shall be the duty of such owner, agent, consignee, or master to deliver to such immigration officer a written list containing the names of all alien employees who were not employed thereon at the time of the arrival but who will leave port thereon at the time of the departure, and also the names of those, if any, who have been hired on and discharged, and of those, if any, who have deserted the vessel; and in case of the failure of such owner, agent, consignee, or master so to deliver either of the lists required, such owner, agent, consignee, or master shall pay to the collector of customs of the customs district in which the port of arrival is located the sum of $10 for each alien concerning whom correct lists are not delivered or a true report is not made as above required; and no such vessel shall be granted clearance pending the determination of the question of the liability to the payment of such penalty: Provided, That clearance may be granted prior to the determination of such question upon deposit of a sum sufficient to cover such fine. (39 Stat. 889–892; 8 U. S. C. 171.)

ALIEN SEAMEN

SEC. 13. No alien seaman excluded from admission into the United States under the immigration laws and employed on board any vessel arriving in the United States from any place outside thereof, or proceeding to any foreign port or place in the United States, except temporarily for medical treatment, or pursuant to such regulations as the Attorney General may prescribe for the ultimate departure, removal, or deportation of such alien from the United States. (43 Stat. 164, 8 U. S. C. 166.)

SEC. 30. (a) The owner, charterer, agent, consignee, or master of any vessel arriving in the United States from any place outside thereof, or proceeding to any foreign port or place in the United States, shall be permitted to land in the United States, except temporarily for medical treatment, or pursuant to such regulations as the Attorney General may prescribe for the ultimate departure, removal, or deportation of such alien from the United States. (43 Stat. 164, 8 U. S. C. 166.)

SEC. 30. (a) The owner, charterer, agent, consignee, or master of any vessel arriving in the United States from any place outside thereof, or proceeding to any foreign port or place in the United States, shall not permit any alien passenger (which term shall include a person in all cases shall include a personal physical examination by the medical examiners) arriving at any time or place in addition to the regularly scheduled immigration inspection at the port of arrival and specified in the manifest required to be delivered by the master to the principal immigration officer at the port, to land in the United States, except at such port or place as may be designated by the Attorney General, under such conditions and for such time as he may prescribe, unless such alien has been duly admitted by an immigration officer or is lawfully entitled to enter the United States under an exemption provided by this Act or regulations made thereunder, or unless such alien is in possession of a valid unexpired immigration visa, if such visa is required by this Act or regulations made thereunder, and has been duly viséed by a United States consular officer, and has been found upon such inspection and examination by an immigration officer at the port of arrival to be not inadmissible to the United States under this Act or regulations made thereunder, and has been certified by such officer at the time of inspection and admission to the United States. Clearance shall not be granted any vessel until the master has delivered to the immigration officer in charge at the port of arrival a list or manifest of all aliens employed on board the vessel, which list or manifest shall include the name of every alien employed on board any vessel in any capacity, the last permanent residence of such alien, and such other facts concerning each such alien as may be required by the Attorney General. The master of any vessel who shall refuse or fail to deliver such list or manifest, or who shall refuse or fail to detain any alien on board when ordered so to do, or who shall refuse or fail to deliver any such alien on board such vessel upon which he arrived in the United States to the custody of the immigration officer or other person authorized to take such alien into custody, or who shall refuse or fail to comply with the requirements of the immigration laws or regulations with respect to such alien, shall pay to the collector of customs a sum not exceeding $1,000 for each alien as to whom such violation occurs. No vessel shall be granted clearance pending the determination of the liability to payment of such fine, or while the fine remains unpaid, except that clearance may be granted prior to the determination of such question upon the deposit of a sum sufficient to cover such fine, or of a bond with sufficient surety to secure the payment thereof approved by the collector of customs. The Attorney General may, upon application in writing therefor, mitigate such penalty to not less than $300 for each seaman in respect of whom such violation occurs, upon such terms as the Attorney General in his discretion shall think proper. This section, as amended, shall apply to all penalties thereafter incurred, irrespective of the date of the passage of the Act of June 2, 1924.

(b) Every alien seaman who shall not depart with the vessel on which he arrived in the United States from any place outside thereof, or from any place in the United States to which he came as a passenger, shall be taken into custody and detained on board or at such other place as may be designated by the Attorney General pending the departure of such vessel from the United States, unless such alien seaman shall be lawfully permitted to enter the United States by an immigration officer or shall be granted a temporary permit to go ashore under such regulations as may be prescribed by the Attorney General, or shall be required as a witness on behalf of the United States in any case or proceeding arising under the immigration laws, or shall be taken on board a vessel or aircraft for departure from the United States under the direction of an immigration officer. Any alien seaman who shall be detained on board or at such other place as may be designated by the Attorney General, and who shall not depart with the vessel on which he arrived in the United States, or who shall be granted a temporary permit to go ashore under such regulations as may be prescribed by the Attorney General, and who shall not return to such vessel or to another vessel or aircraft departing for a foreign port or place within such time as may be fixed by the Attorney General, shall be deemed to be a person who has entered the United States unlawfully within the meaning of section 19 of this Act (39 Stat. 889; 8 U. S. C. 155).

(c) If the Attorney General finds that deportation of the alien seaman on the vessel on which he arrived would cause undue hardship to such seaman he may cause him to be deported on another vessel at the expense of the vessel on which he arrived, and such vessel shall not be granted clearance until such expense has been paid or its payment guaranteed to the satisfaction of the Attorney General. (43 Stat. 164–165, 58 Stat. 746; 8 U. S. C. 161 (a), 161 (c).)

ALIEN SEAMEN

SEC. 19. No alien seaman excluded from admission into the United States under the immigration laws shall be employed on board any vessel arriving at a port in the United States unless such alien has been lawfully admitted to the United States or shall be in possession of a valid passport issued by the country to which he belongs, and a valid nonimmigrant visa issued by an American consular officer, except that a seaman who is a native of the Dominion of Canada, Newfoundland, Mexico, Cuba, or an island adjacent to the United States, except Haiti, may be admitted to the United States without a passport upon the production of such evidence of nationality as may be required by the Commissioner General of Immigration. Any alien seaman employed on any vessel arriving at a port of the United States from any place outside thereof who fails to depart on board such vessel or some other vessel, unless such failure is due to causes beyond his control or to the action of the immigration officers, shall be deported to the country to which he belongs, or in which he resided prior to entering the United States, at the expense of the appropriation for the enforcement of the immigration laws. Any alien seaman who shall land in the United States from any vessel arriving at a port therein from any place outside thereof, and who shall secure such landing by fraud

SEC. 36. That upon arrival of any vessel in the United States from any foreign port at which it shall be the duty of the master, agent, consignee, or owner of such vessel, another list of the persons employed on board, and the capacity in which employed, of all persons on board such vessel, except cabin passengers, and a description of the baggage belonging to such persons, shall be prepared in the form of the master's copy, and delivered by the master to the principal immigration officer, or his assistant, at the port of the first arrival in the United States; and no person shall be allowed to land from any such vessel at such port until the list required by this section shall have been delivered as herein provided: Provided, That the master of any such vessel shall not be required to deliver at the port of arrival a list containing the name of any alien employed on board such vessel who is destined to some foreign port, and who shall continue in such employment until such vessel shall depart from the United States: Provided further, That the master of any vessel shall not be required to deliver to such immigration officer a list containing the name of any alien employed on board such vessel who is a native of the United States, or who has been lawfully admitted to the United States for permanent residence, unless such master shall have reason to believe that any such person is not entitled to land upon his return to the United States after a temporary absence: And provided further, That the master of any vessel bound for a port adjacent to the land frontier between the United States and British North America, and who is in the employment of the United States or Canada in connection with the operation of the customs, immigration, or quarantine service of either country, and who is known to the immigration officer at the port of arrival to be in such employment, shall not be required to deliver the list provided for by this section, but in lieu thereof shall report to such immigration officer the name and official character of each such person employed on board his vessel. (39 Stat. 886–888; 8 U. S. C. 171.)

SEC. 130.13. Lists of alien employees; name, character of vessel landed. Conveyance shall not be granted upon application by the master, owner, agent, charterer, or consignee of any vessel [illegible] to land in the United States any alien seaman employed on board such vessel, unless such alien seaman shall have been identified by the immigration officer in charge at the port of arrival in the United States from any place outside thereof, who shall require such alien seaman to sign and deliver to him a written application for a conveyance, stating the name, nationality, last permanent residence, and personal description of such alien seaman, the name of the vessel on board which he arrived, and the date of such arrival, and shall have taken his photograph in duplicate, the fingerprints of both his hands, and such other means of identification as may be prescribed by the Commissioner of Immigration and Naturalization. Such application shall be executed in duplicate, and one copy shall be delivered to the alien seaman at the time of the taking of his photograph and fingerprints. The immigration officer in charge shall also require such alien seaman to submit to a physical examination by a medical officer of the United States Public Health Service, or by a civil surgeon designated by the Commissioner of Immigration and Naturalization, and shall not grant such conveyance unless such alien seaman shall have been certified by such medical officer to be free from any disease in a communicable form, and from any mental defect, and to be otherwise physically fit to land in the United States. (39 Stat. 886; 8 U. S. C. 171.)

ALIEN SEAMEN

SEC. 13. (a) No alien seaman excluded from admission into the United States under the immigration laws shall be permitted to land in the United States except temporarily for medical treatment, or except in case of [illegible] to the Attorney General, and then only under such conditions as the Attorney General may prescribe for the alien's departure, removal, or deportation at such time as he may be ordered deported or required to depart from the United States under this Act, or any law or treaty now or hereafter in force in the United States. Any alien seaman who shall land in the United States from any place outside thereof who is not in possession of a valid unexpired immigration visa, if such a visa is required by this Act, or who is not in possession of a valid unexpired passport, if a passport is required by the regulations of the country to which such alien seaman belongs, shall be deported in the manner provided in section 14 hereof, unless such alien seaman establishes to the satisfaction of the Attorney General that he is unable to obtain a passport through no fault or neglect of his own or the consul of the country to which he belongs, and the Attorney General, in his discretion, and under such conditions as he may prescribe, authorizes his landing. No alien seaman shall be granted a conditional landing privilege who is afflicted with any of the diseases or mental or physical defects or disabilities set forth in section 3 hereof, or who is a member of any of the classes excluded by section 3 hereof, unless the Attorney General, in his discretion, waives such disease or defect: Provided, That no alien seaman shall be granted a conditional landing privilege who is afflicted with tuberculosis in any form or who is a member of the class excluded by section 3 (c) hereof, unless such alien seaman establishes to the satisfaction of the Attorney General that he is not likely to become a public charge. No alien seaman shall be granted a conditional landing privilege who is afflicted with a loathsome or dangerous contagious disease, unless the Attorney General finds that the danger of the spread of such disease will be sufficiently guarded against during the period of such conditional landing privilege.

(b) Every alien seaman granted a conditional landing privilege shall depart from the United States from the port at which he was granted such privilege, on the vessel on which he arrived, or on any other vessel or vessels, destined to foreign ports, at the expense of the transportation company on which he arrived, unless the Attorney General shall extend the time within which he may depart. The Attorney General may, in his discretion, require a bond with adequate surety to secure the performance of any condition upon which a conditional landing privilege is granted, and may prescribe that such bond be deposited with the collector of customs of the customs district in which the port is located. The sum of $1,000 (or such other sum as may be fixed by the Attorney General in his discretion) shall be required for each alien seaman in respect of whom such bond is given, unless the Attorney General in any particular case shall fix a different amount. No bond shall be required in respect of any alien seaman who is a native of the United States, or who has been lawfully admitted to the United States for permanent residence, or who is a member of the class excluded by section 3 (c) hereof, unless such alien seaman establishes to the satisfaction of the Attorney General that he is unable to obtain a passport through no fault or neglect of his own or the consul of the country to which he belongs, and the Attorney General, in his discretion, and under such conditions as he may prescribe, authorizes his landing. No bond shall be required in respect of any alien seaman who is afflicted with any of the diseases or mental or physical defects or disabilities set forth in section 3 hereof, or who is a member of any of the classes excluded by section 3 hereof, unless the Attorney General, in his discretion, waives such disease or defect. Every bond shall be conditioned for the faithful performance by the master of the provisions of this section and of the rules and regulations made hereunder, and for the payment of the hospital dues and other charges provided for in section 16 hereof. Suit for the recovery of the penalty or penalties incurred by the master for the violation of the conditions of any such bond may be brought in the name of the United States in any district court of the United States within the district in which the port is located at which the violation occurred, or in which the master may be found. The Attorney General may, in his discretion, cancel any such bond at any time and require the master to deposit with the collector of customs a sum of money not exceeding the amount of the bond canceled, to be held by the United States for the purposes for which the bond was required, and to be returned to the master when, in the opinion of the Attorney General, the purposes of the bond have been fulfilled. Any such deposit may be withdrawn by the master at any time within one year after the date of the cancelation of the bond, upon the production of the receipt issued therefor and the surrender thereof to the collector of customs. The Attorney General may, in his discretion, require any such deposit to be made in connection with the giving of a conditional landing privilege to any alien seaman who is a native of the United States, or who has been lawfully admitted to the United States for permanent residence, or who is a member of the class excluded by section 3 (c) hereof, unless such alien seaman establishes to the satisfaction of the Attorney General that he is unable to obtain a passport through no fault or neglect of his own or the consul of the country to which he belongs, and the Attorney General, in his discretion, and under such conditions as he may prescribe, authorizes his landing. No deposit shall be required in respect of any alien seaman who is afflicted with any of the diseases or mental or physical defects or disabilities set forth in section 3 hereof, or who is a member of any of the classes excluded by section 3 hereof, unless the Attorney General, in his discretion, waives such disease or defect. Every deposit shall be conditioned for the faithful performance by the master of the provisions of this section and of the rules and regulations made hereunder, and for the payment of the hospital dues and other charges provided for in section 16 hereof. Suit for the recovery of the penalty or penalties incurred by the master for the violation of the conditions of any such deposit may be brought in the name of the United States in any district court of the United States within the district in which the port is located at which the violation occurred, or in which the master may be found. The Attorney General may, in his discretion, cancel any such deposit at any time and require the master to deposit with the collector of customs a sum of money not exceeding the amount of the deposit canceled, to be held by the United States for the purposes for which the deposit was required, and to be returned to the master when, in the opinion of the Attorney General, the purposes of the deposit have been fulfilled. Any such deposit may be withdrawn by the master at any time within one year after the date of the cancelation of the deposit, upon the production of the receipt issued therefor and the surrender thereof to the collector of customs. The Attorney General may, in his discretion, require any such deposit to be made in connection with the giving of a conditional landing privilege to any alien seaman who is a native of the United States, or who has been lawfully admitted to the United States for permanent residence, or who is a member of the class excluded by section 3 (c) hereof, unless such alien seaman establishes to the satisfaction of the Attorney General that he is unable to obtain a passport through no fault or neglect of his own or the consul of the country to which he belongs, and the Attorney General, in his discretion, and under such conditions as he may prescribe, authorizes his landing. No deposit shall be required in respect of any alien seaman who is afflicted with any of the diseases or mental or physical defects or disabilities set forth in section 3 hereof, or who is a member of any of the classes excluded by section 3 hereof, unless the Attorney General, in his discretion, waives such disease or defect. Every deposit shall be conditioned for the faithful performance by the master of the provisions of this section and of the rules and regulations made hereunder, and for the payment of the hospital dues and other charges provided for in section 16 hereof. Suit for the recovery of the penalty or penalties incurred by the master for the violation of the conditions of any such deposit may be brought in the name of the United States in any district court of the United States within the district in which the port is located at which the violation occurred, or in which the master may be found. The Attorney General may, in his discretion, cancel any such deposit at any time and require the master to deposit with the collector of customs a sum of money not exceeding the amount of the deposit canceled, to be held by the United States for the purposes for which the deposit was required, and to be returned to the master when, in the opinion of the Attorney General, the purposes of the deposit have been fulfilled. Any such deposit may be withdrawn by the master at any time within one year after the date of the cancelation of the deposit, upon the production of the receipt issued therefor and the surrender thereof to the collector of customs. The Attorney General may, in his discretion, require any such deposit to be made in connection with the giving of a conditional landing privilege to any alien seaman who is a native of the United States, or who has been lawfully admitted to the United States for permanent residence, or who is a member of the class excluded by section 3 (c) hereof, unless such alien seaman establishes to the satisfaction of the Attorney General that he is unable to obtain a passport through no fault or neglect of his own or the consul of the country to which he belongs, and the Attorney General, in his discretion, and under such conditions as he may prescribe, authorizes his landing. No deposit shall be required in respect of any alien seaman who is afflicted with any of the diseases or mental or physical defects or disabilities set forth in section 3 hereof, or who is a member of any of the classes excluded by section 3 hereof, unless the Attorney General, in his discretion, waives such disease or defect. Every deposit shall be conditioned for the faithful performance by the master of the provisions of this section and of the rules and regulations made hereunder, and for the payment of the hospital dues and other charges provided for in section 16 hereof. Suit for the recovery of the penalty or penalties incurred by the master for the violation of the conditions of any such deposit may be brought in the name of the United States in any district court of the United States within the district in which the port is located at which the violation occurred, or in which the master may be found. The Attorney General may, in his discretion, cancel any such deposit at any time and require the master to deposit with the collector of customs a sum of money not exceeding the amount of the deposit canceled, to be held by the United States for the purposes for which the deposit was required, and to be returned to the master when, in the opinion of the Attorney General, the purposes of the deposit have been fulfilled. Any such deposit may be withdrawn by the master at any time within one year after the date of the cancelation of the deposit, upon the production of the receipt issued therefor and the surrender thereof to the collector of customs. The Attorney General may, in his discretion, require any such deposit to be made in connection with the giving of a conditional landing privilege to any alien seaman who is a native of the United States, or who has been lawfully admitted to the United States for permanent residence, or who is a member of the class excluded by section 3 (c) hereof, unless such alien seaman establishes to the satisfaction of the Attorney General that he is unable to obtain a passport through no fault or neglect of his own or the consul of the country to which he belongs, and the Attorney General, in his discretion, and under such conditions as he may prescribe, authorizes his landing. No deposit shall be required in respect of any alien seaman who is afflicted with any of the diseases or mental or physical defects or disabilities set forth in section 3 hereof, or who is a member of any of the classes excluded by section 3 hereof, unless the Attorney General, in his discretion, waives such disease or defect. Every deposit shall be conditioned for the faithful performance by the master of the provisions of this section and of the rules and regulations made hereunder, and for the payment of the hospital dues and other charges provided for in section 16 hereof. IMPORTANT NOTICE TO MASTER

The list described below shall be furnished on blank forms approved by the Department and be ready for delivery to the immigration inspectors boarding the vessel at the port of arrival, and shall in no instance be taken from the vessel upon which it is made out. The list of aliens or alien immigrants for whom an arriving alien is a "nonquota" immigrant as well as aliens.

EXTRACT FROM ACT OF CONGRESS OF FEBRUARY 5, 1917, AS AMENDED

SEC. 36. That upon arrival of any vessel in the United States from any foreign port or place it shall be the duty of the master, agent, consignee, or owner thereof to deliver to the immigrant inspector at the port of arrival a list containing as many of such aliens as may be destined to the United States, and the names of all aliens employed on such vessel, which list shall be prepared in the form and manner and contain the matters and things required by the regulations thereto; and if any such master, agent, consignee, or owner of any such vessel or any person knowingly or willfully acting for or employed by any such master, agent, consignee, or owner shall refuse or neglect to deliver such list or to answer truthfully and completely all questions propounded to him concerning the same, or shall refuse to any such immigrant inspector the right to come on board such vessel for the purpose of inspecting the same or to examine the master, agent, consignee, or owner thereof or any officer or member of the crew upon oath touching any matter or question pertaining to such inspection, every such master, agent, consignee, or owner shall pay to the collector of customs for the district in which the port of arrival is located the sum of $300 for each and every such refusal, neglect, or failure, and in addition thereto shall be liable to a penalty of not more than $1,000 for each alien concerning whom complete information is not furnished as herein required, to be recovered by the United States in an action to be brought by the Attorney General of the United States in the district court of the district in which the port of arrival is located: Provided, That clearance may be granted prior to the determination of the question of the liability to the payment of such penalties; but no such vessel shall have clearance granted by the collector of customs during the pendency of such question or while the master, agent, consignee, or owner thereof is in default in the payment of such penalties: And provided further, That clearance may be granted prior to the payment of such penalties in such sum as may be determined by the Secretary of Labor upon the deposit with the collector of customs of a sum sufficient to cover such penalties. (39 Stat. 886; 8 U. S. C. 150.)

SEC. 150.13. Lists of alien employees: When clearance of vessel denied. (Clearance shall not be granted any vessel until the lists required by section 36 of the immigration Act of 1917 (39 Stat. 886; 8 U. S. C. 141), have been furnished by section 36 of said Act (39 Stat. 886; 8 U. S. C. 191) as amended by section 28 of the Act of May 26, 1924 (43 Stat. 164; 8 U. S. C. 201), and the master, agent, consignee, or owner of the vessel has complied with the requirements of section 36 of said Act as amended, and has not been notified by the Commissioner of Immigration that any question upon which the decision of a court is required, has been referred to a court for its decision, and a sufficient amount to cover such fine (39 Stat. 886; 8 U. S. C. 191) as may be granted prior to the determination of such question upon deposit of a sum sufficient to cover such fine, and, in the event such fine is imposed, while it remains unpaid; but shall such fine be remitted or refunded; Provided, That clearance granted prior to the determination of the question of the liability to the payment of such fine, or the remission or refunding thereof by the Attorney General, shall not be construed to be a final decision of such question; and Provided further, That clearance may be granted prior to the determination of such question upon deposit of a bond with sufficient surety to cover such fine, in the form prescribed by section 38 of said Act (39 Stat. 886; 8 U. S. C. 191) as amended by section 28 of the Act of May 26, 1924 (43 Stat. 164; 8 U. S. C. 201), and has been approved by the Commissioner of Immigration.

IMPORTANT NOTICE TO MASTER

The list described below shall be prepared on blank forms approved by the Department and be ready for delivery to the immigration inspector boarding the vessel at the port of arrival, and shall in no instance be taken from the vessel. The list of changes or other memoranda shall be prepared on Form I-418 [8 CFR 231.1(a)(1)], and shall not be delivered by the master to the principal immigration officer at the port of arrival. When an alternate manifest is used, a notation to that effect should be made on the manifest. In order to facilitate inspection at the port, the names of all persons employed on board the vessel shall be printed by the master on the manifest, the names of officers and members of the crew shall be entered on pages separate from those containing the names of passengers, and the names of persons employed on board the vessel in each department shall be entered in a group by themselves. Members of the crew (Form I-418) shall not be required to land in the United States under the immigration laws and employed on board vessels engaged in the coastwise trade between ports of the United States, including Alaska, Hawaii, Puerto Rico, and the Virgin Islands, unless the immigration officer in charge at the port of arrival has reason to believe that any such person is not a bona fide member of the crew or is an alien who intends to land unlawfully at that port.

SEC. 13.15. Lists of alien employees: When clearance of vessel denied. Clearance shall not be granted any vessel until the list required by section 32 of the Immigration Act of 1917 (39 Stat. 898; 8 U. S. C. 171), have been transmitted, and not then unless notice of intention to the administrative fine prescribed by said section 32 to that prescribed by section 32 of said Act (39 Stat. 898; 8 U. S. C. 169) thereof have been served, the deposit specified in 8 CFR 231.3(a)(1)–231.7, and been made.

EXTRACT FROM 8 CFR 150

EXTRACT FROM ACT OF CONGRESS APPROVED MAY 26, 1924, AS AMENDED

SEC. 14. No alien seaman excluded from admission into the United States under the immigration laws and employed on board any vessel arriving in the United States from any place outside the foreign contiguous territory, shall be permitted to land in the United States, except temporarily for medical treatment, or pursuant to such regulations as the Attorney General may prescribe for the ultimate departure, removal, or deportation of such alien from the United States. (43 Stat. 164; 8 U. S. C. 188.)

SEC. 30. (a) The owner, charterer, agent, consignee, or master of any vessel arriving in the United States from any place outside foreign contiguous territory to deliver to the principal immigration officer in charge at the port of arrival and inspection of such vessel all the manifests required by such immigration officer to the master of the vessel, and to answer truthfully all questions touching the persons on board such vessel until the immigration officer in charge at the port of arrival and inspection of such vessel shall have given a permit to land. Any person who violates any of the provisions of this subdivision shall be punished by a fine of not more than $1,000 for each alien concerning whom any such violation occurs. No vessel shall be granted clearance pending the determination of the liability to payment of such fine, or while the fine remains unpaid, except that clearance may be granted prior to the determination of such question upon the deposit of a sum sufficient to cover such fine, or of a bond with sufficient surety to secure the payment thereof approved by the collector of customs. The Attorney General may, upon application in writing therefor, mitigate such penalty to not less than $300 for each seaman in respect of whom such failure occurs, upon such terms as the Attorney General in his discretion shall think proper. This section as amended, shall apply to all penalties which subsequent to June 2, 1924.

(b) Front fine as alien seaman did not depart upon the outgoing manifest of the vessel on which he arrived in the United States from any place outside foreign contiguous territory by the immigration officer or the Attorney General.

(c) If the Attorney General finds that deportation of the alien seaman on the vessel on which he arrived would cause undue hardship to the master or owner of such vessel as a condition to such finding he may require the master or owner to furnish a bond in such sum not exceeding $500 for each alien seaman as he may deem necessary, conditioned upon the return of such alien seaman on demand for deportation within such period of time as he may specify. Such bond may be sued for the recovery of the penalty prescribed in subdivision (a) of this section. (43 Stat. 164–165, 58 Stat. 810; 8 U. S. C. 191 (a), 191 (c).)

IMPORTANT NOTICE TO MASTER

The list described below shall be prepared on blank forms approved by the Department and be ready for delivery to the immigration inspector boarding the vessel at the port of arrival, and shall in no instance be taken from the vessel. The list of persons of alien nationality (Form I-418) shall not be required on board, but shall be delivered by the master to the principal immigration officer at the port. When an alternate address is a "motorway," a notation to that effect should be made on the manifest. In order to facilitate inspection of aliens address, include names of alternate American citizen address as well as alien.

SEC. 38. That upon arrival of any vessel in the United States from any foreign port or place it shall be the duty of the owner, agent, consignee, or master, operator, or person in charge of the port of arrival: or into the immediately following the arrival of such vessel, a list or manifest of all persons on board such vessel, whether they are passengers or members of the crew, and shall report the number of such persons who have been stricken with any such alien disease, and shall furnish such additional information regarding them as may be required by the Attorney General and prescribe rules and regulations for the enforcement of the provisions of this section. Such list or manifest shall be prepared at such time and place and in such manner, and contain such particulars concerning each person therein listed, as may be prescribed by the Attorney General, but no more particulars shall be required in the case of aliens in transit through the United States to foreign countries, or aliens who have been lawfully admitted to the United States and who are returning from a temporary visit abroad, than are required by the immigration officers at the ports of entry to be furnished by such aliens. Upon the arrival of any such vessel it shall be the duty of the master or commanding officer, and the owner, agent, consignee, or operator of such vessel, to deliver to the immigration officer at the port of arrival a true and correct list or manifest of all aliens employed on board such vessel, which list or manifest shall show the full name, age, sex, marital status, calling or occupation, nationality, last permanent residence, and final destination of each such alien, whether in transit through the United States or destined to some foreign country, the port at which such alien embarked, and the country of which he is a citizen or subject, as far as known to the master or commanding officer, or to the owner, agent, consignee, or operator of such vessel, and such other information as the Attorney General may deem necessary for the proper administration of the immigration laws and the efficient conduct of the United States consular service. The Attorney General may prescribe rules and regulations for the inspection of aliens employed on board vessels arriving at ports of the United States from foreign countries, and for the detention on board or at the port of arrival of such aliens pending such inspection, and for the performance by masters, owners, agents, consignees, or operators of such vessels of such duties and the furnishing of such information as he may deem necessary for the proper enforcement of the immigration laws. Any master, owner, agent, consignee, or operator of any such vessel who shall refuse or fail to comply with the requirements of this section or with any such rules and regulations shall pay to the collector of customs a penalty of $300 for each alien concerning whom such refusal or failure occurs. No vessel shall be cleared while any penalty incurred by the master, owner, agent, consignee, or operator thereof remains unpaid, except that clearance may be granted prior to the determination of the question of the liability to the payment of such penalty upon the deposit with the collector of customs of a sum sufficient to cover such fine or of a bond satisfactory to the Secretary of the Treasury in such amount as may be required by the Attorney General. The Attorney General may, upon application in writing therefor, mitigate such penalty to not less than $1,000 for each alien concerning whom such failure occurs. Any fine imposed under this section shall be a lien upon the vessel, which may be enforced by libel in the district court of the United States for the district in which the port of arrival is located. The Attorney General is authorized to make such rules and regulations as may be necessary for the enforcement of this section, and may employ such additional inspectors for the proper execution hereof as may be necessary, and may pay the expenses thereof out of moneys appropriated for the enforcement of the immigration laws.

(b) Proof that an alien seaman did not depart upon the outbound manifest of the vessel on which he arrived in the United States from any place outside thereof, or that he was refused a visa by a consular officer, shall be prima facie evidence that such alien seaman remained in the United States beyond the period authorized by the Attorney General.

(c) If the Attorney General finds that deportation of the alien seaman on the vessel on which he arrived in the United States would be unreasonable, he may cause such alien seaman to be granted a conditional permit to land temporarily in the United States under such bond and such regulations as he may prescribe. Such bond may be forfeited and such alien seaman deported in the manner provided for the deportation of other aliens illegally in the United States. (43 Stat. 161, 8 U. S. C. 166.)

SEC. 20. (a) The owner, charterer, agent, consignee, or master of any vessel arriving in the United States from any place outside thereof, shall not be permitted to land in the United States, except temporarily for medical treatment, or because of shipwreck or other casualty, any alien seaman employed on such vessel until the immigration officer in charge at the port of arrival has inspected such seaman or has caused such seaman to be inspected by a surgeon of the United States Public Health Service, and has delivered to such master, owner, agent, consignee, or operator a certificate that such seaman has been inspected and found not to be afflicted with any of the diseases or mental or physical defects or disabilities for the exclusion of which aliens are required to be examined, or a certificate from a medical officer of the United States Public Health Service that such seaman has been treated for any such disease or defect found and that in his opinion such seaman may be landed without danger to the public health. Such certificate shall be issued by the immigration officer or medical officer at the time of inspection of such seaman, and a duplicate thereof shall be delivered to the Commissioner General of Immigration. Such inspection shall be made under such rules and regulations as may be prescribed by the Secretary of the Treasury, the Attorney General, and the Surgeon General of the Public Health Service. Such rules and regulations may provide for the inspection of seamen at places other than ports of arrival, and for the certification of seamen employed on vessels touching at such ports for the purpose of taking on board passengers destined to the United States.

(b) Any alien seaman who shall land in the United States in violation of this section shall be deported in the manner provided by section 19 of this Act (39 Stat. 888; 8 U. S. C. 155).

SEC. 150.15. Lists of alien employees: when clearance of vessel denied. Clearance shall not be granted any vessel until the list required by section 38 of the Immigration Act of 1917 (39 Stat. 898; 8 U. S. C. 171), where such information is required, has been furnished, and for such further information as the Commissioner may prescribe by this section or to that prescribed by section 38 of said Act (39 Stat. 888; 8 U. S. C. 158) shall have been served, the master, owner, agent, consignee, or operator of such vessel has been notified by the Commissioner that such list is satisfactory to the administrative requirements of the immigration laws, and the master has received notice of such notification. Such information, in addition to that prescribed by section 38 of said Act, as may be required by the Commissioner, shall be prescribed by regulations in 8 CFR (1949 Supp.) 150.15–150.17, and has been made.

ALIEN SEAMEN

SEC. 18. No alien seaman excluded from admission into the United States under the immigration laws and employed on board any vessel arriving in the United States from any place outside thereof, shall be permitted to land in the United States, except temporarily for medical treatment, or because of shipwreck or other casualty, and no alien seaman employed on board any vessel arriving in the United States from any place outside thereof, or any alien seaman who has been refused a visa by a consular officer, shall be granted a permit to go on board any vessel while such vessel is in port, except upon the certificate of the immigration officer in charge at the port of arrival that such alien seaman has been inspected and found not to be afflicted with any of the diseases or mental or physical defects or disabilities for the exclusion of which aliens are required to be examined, or a certificate from a medical officer of the United States Public Health Service that such alien seaman has been treated for any such disease or defect found and that in his opinion such alien seaman may be landed without danger to the public health. Such certificate shall be issued by the immigration officer or medical officer at the time of inspection of such alien seaman, and a duplicate thereof shall be delivered to the Commissioner General of Immigration. Such inspection shall be made under such rules and regulations as may be prescribed by the Secretary of the Treasury, the Attorney General, and the Surgeon General of the Public Health Service. Such rules and regulations may provide for the inspection of alien seamen at places other than ports of arrival, and for the certification of alien seamen employed on vessels touching at such ports for the purpose of taking on board passengers destined to the United States. The Attorney General may, upon application in writing therefor, mitigate such penalty to not less than $300 for each seaman in respect of whom such failure occurs. Nine such returns as the Attorney General in the execution thereof may require. The Attorney General may, upon application in writing therefor, mitigate such penalty to not less than $1,000 for each alien seaman in respect of whom such failure occurs. No vessel shall be cleared while any penalty incurred by the master, owner, agent, consignee, or operator thereof remains unpaid, except that clearance may be granted prior to the determination of the question of the liability to the payment of such penalty upon the deposit with the collector of customs of a sum sufficient to cover such fine or of a bond satisfactory to the Secretary of the Treasury in such amount as may be required by the Attorney General. The Attorney General may, upon application in writing therefor, mitigate such penalty to not less than $300 for each seaman in respect of whom such failure occurs. Nine such returns as the Attorney General in the execution thereof may require. The Attorney General may, upon application in writing therefor, mitigate such penalty to not less than $1,000 for each alien seaman in respect of whom such failure occurs. No vessel shall be cleared while any penalty incurred by the master, owner, agent, consignee, or operator thereof remains unpaid, except that clearance may be granted prior to the determination of the question of the liability to the payment of such penalty upon the deposit with the collector of customs of a sum sufficient to cover such fine or of a bond satisfactory to the Secretary of the Treasury in such amount as may be required by the Attorney General.

(d) Proof that an alien seaman did not depart upon the outbound manifest of the vessel on which he arrived in the United States from any place outside thereof, or that he was refused a visa by a consular officer, shall be prima facie evidence that such alien seaman remained in the United States beyond the period authorized by the Attorney General.

(e) If the Attorney General finds that deportation of the alien seaman on the vessel on which he arrived in the United States would be unreasonable, he may cause such alien seaman to be granted a conditional permit to land temporarily in the United States under such bond and such regulations as he may prescribe. Such bond may be forfeited and such alien seaman deported in the manner provided for the deportation of other aliens illegally in the United States. (43 Stat. 161, 8 U. S. C. 166.)

IMPORTANT NOTICE TO MASTER

The list described below shall be prepared on blank forms approved by the Department and be ready for delivery to the immigration inspector boarding the vessel at the port of arrival, and shall in no instance be taken from the vessel. The use of carbons of other documents is not permitted.

Port of crew (Form I-418) shall not be examined on board, but shall be delivered by the master to the principal immigration officer at the port. When an alternate seaman is a "workaway", a notation to that effect should be made on the manifest. In order to facilitate inspection of alien seamen, include names of alternate American citizen seamen as well as aliens.

EXTRACT FROM ACT OF CONGRESS OF FEBRUARY 5, 1917, AS AMENDED

SEC. 3(a). Until otherwise provided by the President, it shall be the duty of the owner, agent, consignee, or master thereof to deliver to the immigration officer in charge of the port of arrival a complete list of all aliens employed on such vessel, showing the full name, nationality, last permanent residence, and final destination of each alien employed thereon, and whether each alien has been lawfully admitted to the United States for permanent residence, and such other information relative to each such alien employed as may be required by the Commissioner of Immigration and Naturalization, and it shall be the duty of the master of any such vessel to deliver to each alien employed thereon at the time of the departure of such vessel from a port of the United States a true copy of the list of such aliens, and to deliver to each alien employed thereon a certificate stating that such alien has been lawfully admitted to the United States for permanent residence, or is in possession of an unexpired immigrant visa, as the case may be, and that such alien is not known to be afflicted with any loathsome or dangerous contagious disease, and such other information relative to each such alien employed thereon as may be required by the Commissioner of Immigration and Naturalization. Such certificate shall be in addition to any certificate required to be delivered to such alien by the master of a vessel pursuant to the provisions of section 2 of this Act. Any master who shall fail to comply with the requirements of this section shall pay a penalty of $300 for each such failure, and no such vessel shall be granted clearance pending the determination of the question of the liability to the payment of such penalty; and no such vessel shall be granted clearance pending the determination of the question of the liability to the payment of such penalty; and in the event such penalty is imposed, suits may be instituted therefor and such vessel may be libeled therefor in the district in which she may be found. The Commissioner of Immigration and Naturalization may, in his discretion, remit any penalty or portion thereof imposed under the provisions of this section. (39 Stat. 879–880; 8 U.S.C. 151.)

ALIEN SEAMEN

SEC. 19. No alien seaman excluded from admission into the United States under the immigration laws and employed on board any vessel arriving in the United States from any place outside thereof, shall be permitted to land in the United States, except temporarily for medical treatment, or because of illness, injury, or quarantine requirements, until the master, agent, consignee, or owner of the vessel on which such alien seaman arrived in the United States shall have given a bond with sufficient surety to the Attorney General, conditioned for the removal of such alien seaman when required by the Attorney General to do so, and for the payment of the hospital expenses and burial charges of such alien seaman in case he shall become a public charge within two years after the date of his entry into the United States, in such amount, not exceeding $300, as the Attorney General may require, and for the payment of a penalty of $1,000 for each alien seaman in respect of whom such failure occurs. No vessel shall be granted clearance pending the determination of the question of the liability to the payment of such bond, or in the case of a bond given to cover such case, or of a bond given to secure the payment thereof, pending the payment of such penalty, unless a sum sufficient to cover such penalty or such bond is deposited with the collector of customs. The Attorney General may, upon application in writing therefor, release such bond, or such portion thereof as may be approved by the collector of customs. The Attorney General may, upon like application in writing therefor, release such bond, or such portion thereof as may be approved by the collector of customs, in respect of any alien seaman who has been in the United States for a period of not less than four years, upon such terms as the Attorney General in his discretion shall think proper. This section, as amended, shall apply to all deserting alien seamen, whether such desertion occurs before or after the passage of this Act.

(b) Proof that an alien seaman did not obtain upon the outgoing manifest of the vessel on which he arrived in the United States from any place outside thereof, or that he was refused by the master of such vessel as a deserter, shall be prima facie evidence of a failure to obtain or deliver after reimbursement by the immigration officer or the Attorney General.

(c) If the Attorney General finds that deportation of the alien seaman on the vessel on which he arrived would cause undue hardship to such seaman he may cause him to be deported on another vessel at the expense of the vessel on which he arrived, and such vessel shall not be granted clearance until such expense has been paid or its payment guaranteed to the satisfaction of the Attorney General.

(43 Stat. 164–165; 28 Stat. 818; 8 U.S.C. 191 (a), 191 (c).)

IMPORTANT NOTICE TO MASTER

The list described below shall be furnished on blank forms approved by the Department and be ready for delivery to the immigration inspector posting the vessel at the port of arrival and shall in no instance be taken from the vessel. The list of classes of alien members of crew (Form I-418) shall not be furnished on board, but shall be delivered by the master to the principal immigration officer at the port. When an alternate address is a "notify", a notation to that effect should be made on the manifest. In order to facilitate inspection of aliens seeking transit privileges, a list of such aliens as well as aliens

EXTRACT FROM ACT OF CONGRESS OF FEBRUARY 5, 1917, AS AMENDED

SEC. 3a. That upon arrival of any vessel in the United States from any foreign port or place it shall be the duty of the owner, agent, consignee, or master thereof to deliver to the principal immigration officer in charge of the port of arrival lists containing the names of all aliens employed on such vessel, showing the positions they respectively hold in the ship's complement, when and where they were respectively shipped or engaged, and whether those to be landed in the port of arrival; or lists containing no names of such aliens as the Attorney General shall by regulation prescribe; and upon the arrival of any such vessel it shall be the duty of the owner, agent, consignee, or master to deliver to such immigration officer, in writing, as soon as discovered, all cases in which any such alien has illegally landed from the vessel, giving a description of such alien, together with such information likely to lead to his apprehension; and before the departure of any such vessel it shall be the duty of such owner, agent, consignee, or master to deliver to such immigration officer a further list containing the names of all alien employees who were not employed thereon at the time of the arrival but who will leave port thereon at the time or not departure, and also the names of those, if any, who have been hired on the day of departure, and the cause of separation of those, if any, who have deserted, and the time, place, and circumstances of such desertion, so far as the same can be ascertained by the master after reasonable inquiry and efforts in that behalf; and the owner, agent, consignee, or master of any vessel failing to deliver lists in accordance with the provisions of this section shall pay to the collector of customs of the customs district in which the port of arrival is located the sum of $10 for each alien concerning whom correct lists are not delivered, or a like amount if no lists are delivered: Provided, That clearance may be granted prior to the determination of such question upon deposit of a sum sufficient to cover such fine: And provided further, That no such vessel shall be granted clearance pending the determination of the question of the liability to the payment of such fine, and in the event such fine is imposed, while it remains unpaid, no other vessel owned in whole or in part by the owner, master, agent, consignee, or charterer of such vessel may be granted clearance prior to the determination of such question upon deposit of a sum sufficient to cover such fine. (39 Stat. 890–891; 8 U.S.C.1221.)

ALIEN SEAMEN

SEC. 13. No alien seaman excluded from admission into the United States under the immigration laws and employed on board any vessel arriving in the United States from any place outside thereof, shall be permitted to land in the United States, except temporarily for medical treatment, or because of illness, injury, or shipwreck, or for such other reasons as the Attorney General may prescribe for the alternate deportation, removal, or deportation of such alien from the United States. (43 Stat. 164; 8 U.S.C. 166)

SEC. 30. (a) The owner, charterer, agent, consignee, or master of any vessel arriving in the United States from any place outside thereof who lands or permits to be landed any alien employed on such vessel, unless such alien shall be certified by the immigration officer in charge at the port of arrival has been inspected and accepted (which inspection in all cases shall include a personal physical examination by the medical examiner), or who fails to deport such alien on board such vessel upon such inspection or to deport such seaman if required by such immigration officer or the Attorney General to do so, shall for to the collector of customs of the customs district in which the port of arrival is located the sum of $1,000 for each alien seaman in respect of whom such failure occurs. No vessel shall be granted clearance pending the determination of the liability to payment of such fine, or while the fine remains unpaid, except that clearance may be granted prior to the determination of such question upon deposit of a sum sufficient to cover such fine, or of a bond with sufficient surety to secure the payment thereof approved by the collector of customs. The Attorney General may, upon application in writing therefor, mitigate such penalty to not less than $300 for each seaman in respect of whom such failure occurs, upon such terms as the Attorney General in the exercise shall think proper. This section, as amended, shall apply to all penalties arising subsequent to June 2, 1924.

(b) Proof that an alien seaman did not obtain shore leave upon the outgoing manifest of the vessel on which he arrived in the United States from any place outside thereof, or that he was deported by the master of such vessel as a deserter, shall be prima facie evidence of a failure to deport after reimbursement by the immigration officer of the Attorney General.

(c) If the Attorney General finds after deportation of the alien seaman on the vessel on which he arrived would cause undue hardship to such seaman he may cause him to be deported on another vessel at the expense of the vessel on which he arrived, and such vessel shall not be granted clearance until such expense has been paid or its payment guaranteed to the satisfaction of the Attorney General.

(43 Stat. 164–165; 28 Stat. 810; 8 U.S.C. 170 (a), 170 (c).)

Form I-410 — U.S. DEPARTMENT OF JUSTICE — IMMIGRATION AND NATURALIZATION SERVICE

EXTRACT FROM ACT OF CONGRESS OF FEBRUARY 5, 1917, AS AMENDED

SEC. 28. That upon arrival [illegible] in the United States from [illegible] foreign port [illegible] it shall be the duty of the master, agent, consignee, or owner of any vessel bringing to the United States any alien, to deliver to the proper immigration officer at the port of arrival a correct list or manifest of all such aliens on board such vessel, in which list or manifest shall be stated the full name, age, sex, calling or occupation, nationality, last permanent residence, final destination, whether married or single, whether going to join relatives or friends and if so, what relatives or friends, whether ever before in the United States and if so, when and where, whether in possession of money and how much, whether in possession of a railroad ticket or other through ticket and if so, by what railroads or other conveyances, whether the head of a family or over sixteen years of age, whether able to read or write, whether a prisoner or fugitive from justice, whether a polygamist, whether an anarchist, whether coming by reason of any offer, solicitation, promise, or agreement, expressed or implied, to perform labor in the United States, whether having a ticket or passage paid for by others or having money with which to pay passage, whether [illegible] and if so, by whom, whether ever supported in an almshouse or other institution or ever in prison, whether under sentence of death for any crime or offense punishable by imprisonment for a term exceeding one year, whether a person who has been deported at any time previously and if so, how many times, whether coming to the United States for the purpose of performing labor or service of any kind and if so, what kind, the condition of health, mental and physical, of each alien, the place of birth, the last residence in the country whence he comes, the name and address of the nearest relative in the country whence he comes, and such other facts regarding each alien as may be required by the Secretary of Labor for the proper administration of the immigration laws. Such list or manifest shall be prepared in such manner and upon such forms as may be prescribed by the Secretary of Labor, and the forms shall be uniform in so far as practicable with the forms prescribed by the Secretary of State for the use of consular officers in the countries in which aliens are required to obtain passports before embarking for the United States. The master, agent, consignee, or owner of any vessel bringing aliens to the United States shall deliver to the immigration officer at the port of arrival a separate list or manifest covering those aliens, if any, who are destined to that port of arrival, and the master, agent, consignee, or owner of any vessel bringing aliens to the United States shall deliver to the immigration officer at each subsequent port of arrival in the United States a list or manifest containing the names of those aliens, if any, who are destined to that port of arrival. The master, agent, consignee, or owner of any vessel bringing aliens to the United States shall, before granting any such aliens a permit to land from the vessel, deliver to the immigration officer at the port where the first inspection of such aliens is had a certificate from the proper consular officer at the last port at which such aliens embarked for the United States, stating that the consular officer has personally examined each such alien prior to the granting of the permit and has found each alien entitled to admission to the United States under the immigration laws and has delivered to each such alien a permit to apply for admission to the United States. Upon the refusal by the immigration officer at any port of arrival to permit any alien to land, the master, agent, consignee, or owner of the vessel bringing such alien to the United States shall cause such alien to be detained on board the vessel or, at the option of the master, agent, consignee, or owner of the vessel, shall cause such alien to be removed to the country from which he came, to the port from which he embarked, or to any other place which will accept him, and the cost of his detention on board or removal from the vessel shall be borne by the master, agent, consignee, or owner of the vessel bringing such alien to the United States. Any master, agent, consignee, or owner of any vessel who shall refuse or fail to comply with the requirements of this section or any lawful rule or regulation made by the Secretary of Labor with respect to the detention and removal of aliens ordered excluded from the United States hereunder shall be deemed guilty of a misdemeanor and upon conviction thereof in any court of the United States shall be punished by a fine of not more than $1,000 for each alien in respect to whom such violation occurs. ALIEN SEAMEN

SEC. 16. No alien seaman excluded from admission into the United States under the immigration laws and employed on board any vessel arriving in the United States from any place outside thereof, shall be permitted to land in the United States, except temporarily for medical treatment, or because of illness, injury, or quarantine, or for such period as the Attorney General may prescribe for the ultimate deportation of such alien from the United States. (43 Stat. 164, 8 U. S. C. 166.)

SEC. 30. (a) The owner, charterer, agent, consignee, or master of any vessel arriving in the United States from any place outside thereof who fails to deliver on board such vessel before departure therefrom the lists of aliens required by section 36 of the Immigration Act of 1917 to be delivered by such master, or who fails to deliver such lists to the immigration officer in charge at the port of arrival and inspection of the aliens named therein (which inspection in all cases shall include a personal physical examination by the medical examiners), or who fails to deliver such seamen (which inspection is to be made by such immigration officer at the time the vessel is ready to depart from the last port in the United States), shall be fined not more than $1,000 for each alien seaman in respect to whom such failure occurs. No vessel shall be cleared pending the determination of the liability to payment of such fine, or while the fine remains unpaid, except that clearance may be granted prior to the determination of such question upon the deposit of a sum sufficient to cover such fine, or in a bond with sufficient surety to secure the payment thereof approved by the collector of customs.

(b) Every alien seaman who shall not depart from the United States with the vessel on which he arrived in the United States from any place outside thereof, or shall be employed by the master, owner, agent, consignee, or charterer of such vessel as a member of the crew of any vessel bound to a foreign port or place in the United States, shall be taken into custody pursuant to warrant issued by the Attorney General upon the application of the immigrant inspector in charge at the port, and shall be detained on board or in such place as the master, owner, agent, consignee, or charterer of such vessel shall designate and the immigrant inspector in charge approve, until such alien can be returned to the country from which he came, or, if that be impracticable, to the country in which is located the port from which he departed, or until the Attorney General determines that such detention is unnecessary. The cost of such detention and the actual cost of the maintenance and return of such alien, not to exceed $5 per day for the time actually consumed, shall be paid by the master, owner, agent, consignee, or charterer of the vessel on which such alien arrived, and such cost may be recovered in any action at law or suit in equity against any one or more of them. Any such master, owner, agent, consignee, or charterer who refuses or neglects to detain such alien on board or in such place as may be designated by the immigrant inspector in charge, or who, after notice that such alien is about to depart from the United States in violation of this section, permits such departure, shall pay a penalty of $1,000 for each such alien, which penalty shall be a lien upon the vessel, to be recovered by suit at law in the name of the United States. The vessel may be libeled therefor in the district court of the United States for the district in which the port is located at which such violation occurs. The net proceeds of all penalties collected under this section, less expenses and costs, shall be paid into the Treasury to the credit of the appropriation for the enforcement of the Alien contract laws.

(c) If the Attorney General finds that any deportation of the alien detained on the vessel or which he arrived would cause undue hardship to such seaman he may cause him to be deported on another vessel at the expense of the vessel on which he arrived, and such vessel shall not be granted clearance until such expense has been paid or it appears reasonably guaranteed to the satisfaction of the Attorney General.

IMPORTANT NOTICE TO MASTER

The list described below shall be prepared on blank forms approved by the Department and be ready for delivery to the immigration inspector posted at the vessel at the port of arrival, and shall in no instance be taken from the vessel. The list or manifest of all persons (except persons in the employment of the United States Government, or of the Panama Railroad Company, in the service of the Government of the Panama Canal, and children under 1 year of age, who are citizens of the United States) who are to be landed at the port of arrival, whether destined to that port or to some other port in the United States, shall be delivered by the master to the immigration officer in charge at the port of arrival before any of the persons listed therein are landed. When no alien is to be landed at the port of arrival, a list containing the names of all persons on board the vessel, stating the nationality of each person, and indicating whether citizen or alien, shall be delivered by the master to the immigration officer in charge at the port of arrival before the vessel shall depart from such port. When an alien is to be landed at the port of arrival, a special list containing the names of all aliens to be landed at such port shall be delivered by the master to the immigration officer in charge at the port of arrival before any of the aliens named therein are landed. Such list shall be in addition to the list or manifest required to be delivered at the time of the entry of the vessel, and shall contain such additional information as may be required by the Commissioner General of Immigration, with the approval of the Secretary of Labor. When an alien seaman, including seamen of nonquota immigrant status, is employed on board a vessel at any port of the United States, a special list containing the names of all such seamen shall be delivered by the master to the immigration officer in charge at the port where the seaman is employed on board such vessel, stating the position they respectively hold in the grade or rating in which employed, when and where they were respectively shipped or engaged, and such other information as may be required by the Commissioner General of Immigration with the approval of the Secretary of Labor. Any master who refuses or neglects to deliver such list, or who refuses to permit any immigration officer to go on board of his vessel for the purpose of examining the persons thereon, or who refuses to detain any alien on board his vessel when ordered so to do by any immigration officer, or who refuses to deliver to any such immigration officer any alien on board his vessel concerning whom the master has knowledge or information, or who refuses to furnish such information concerning the movements of such alien as may be required by any such immigration officer, or who refuses to comply with any of the provisions of the immigration laws or regulations relative to the admission of aliens, shall be fined not more than $1,000 for each alien concerning whom such correct list shall not have been delivered or such correct information furnished, or for each alien concerning whom such information has been withheld, or for each alien who has been permitted to land from his vessel in violation of law, or who has been detained on board his vessel for examination and who has been allowed to depart therefrom without such examination having been had, or who has been ordered excluded from admission into the United States under the provisions of law and has been allowed to depart from his vessel without having been taken in charge by the master thereof for deportation to the country whence he came, or who has been ordered deported from the United States

ALIEN SEAMEN

SEC. 13. No alien seaman excluded from admission into the United States under the immigration laws and employed on board any vessel arriving in the United States from any place outside thereof, shall be permitted to land in the United States, except temporarily for medical treatment, or because of illness, or injury to such seaman, or to secure other seamen in his place, or because no suitable substitute can be obtained, or pending the final action of the Alternate General with respect to the removal of such alien seaman, or pending an appeal taken from any decision of the Alternate General in such case, or for such other reasons as may be deemed proper by the Alternate General: Provided, That the Alternate General may prescribe for the admission of such seamen and their return to the vessel on which they arrived in the United States or to some other vessel.

SEC. 30. (a) The owner, charterer, agent, consignee, or master of any vessel arriving in the United States from any place outside thereof, or any person who shall knowingly bring to the United States on any such vessel any alien not entitled to enter, or who shall refuse or neglect to detain on board any alien seaman employed on such vessel until the immigration officer in charge at the port of arrival has inspected such seaman (which inspection shall include a personal physical examination by the medical examiners), or who shall refuse to detain such seaman on board after such inspection or to deport such seaman if required by such immigration officer to the Alternate General so to do, shall for each and every such offense be fined not more than $1,000 for each alien seaman in respect of whom such failure occurs. No vessel shall be cleared pending the determination of the liability to payment of such fine, or while the fine remains unpaid, except that clearance may be granted prior to the determination upon the deposit of a sum sufficient to cover such fine, or of a bond with sufficient surety to secure the payment thereof approved by the collector of customs.

(b) Every alien seaman who shall not depart upon the discharge immediately of the vessel on which he arrived in the United States from any place outside thereof, or shall be ordered by the immigration officer or the Alternate General to remain in the United States for the purpose of testifying in any case or proceeding before the Alternate General or in the courts, shall be detained in the custody of the immigration officer in charge pending the final disposition of the case. Any alien seaman who shall depart from the United States in violation of any such order of the immigration officer or the Alternate General shall be deported in the same manner as provided for the deportation of other aliens who have been admitted to the United States.

(c) If the Alternate General finds that deportation of the alien seaman on the vessel on which he arrived in the United States will cause undue hardship to such seaman he may cause him to be deported on another vessel in the employ of the owner of the vessel on which he arrived, but such seaman shall not be granted clearance until such expense has been paid or its payment guaranteed to the satisfaction of the Alternate General.

AFFIDAVIT OF THE MASTER OR COMMANDING OFFICER, OR FIRST OR SECOND OFFICER

I, H.L. Hoffman, Master of the American oil screw S.E. Lovejoy, do declare that the foregoing is a full and true list of all the crew promptly in said vessel from and port or place during her present voyage. I have noted the copy of section 38 of the Act of February 5, 1917, extract from Title 8, Code of Federal Regulations, and copy of sections 19 and 50, Act of May 26, 1924, marked appear below.

Sworn to before me this Eleventh day of December, 1920

Master, First or Second Officer.

Immigrant Inspector.

IMPORTANT NOTICE TO MASTER

The list described below shall be prepared on blank forms approved by the Department and be ready for delivery to the immigration inspector boarding the vessel as the port of arrival. Use ink if no instance be taken from the vessel. The list of changes of alien members (Form I-418) shall not be required on board, but shall be delivered by the master to the principal immigration officer at the port. When an alternate address is a "workaway," a notation to that effect should be made on the manifest. In order to facilitate inspection of alien seamen, include names of alternate American citizen seamen as well as aliens.

EXTRACT FROM ACT OF CONGRESS OF FEBRUARY 5, 1917, AS AMENDED

SEC. 38. (a) (1) The owner, charterer, agent, consignee, or master of any vessel arriving in the United States from any foreign port or place in the Canal Zone, agent, consignee, or master of any vessel in the principal immigration officer in charge of the port of arrival [here containing the names of all aliens employed on such vessel, stating the position they respectively hold in the ship's company, their nationality, the ports they were respectively shipped or engaged, and specifying those ports or the ship's company, their nationality, the ports they were respectively discharged in the port of arrival; or [here containing no match of such information as the Attorney General shall by regulation prescribe; and also the name of the vessel, the port of arrival, the date of sailing from the vessel, giving a description of such alien, together with such information which is required by this section to be furnished with respect to each alien employed on such vessel, and specifying the number of such aliens discharged in the port of arrival, and the cause of their discharge from the vessel. Prior to the departure of any such vessel from the port of arrival, the master, agent, consignee, or master of the vessel shall deliver to the immigration officer at the port of arrival a list containing the names of all aliens employed on such vessel who were not employed thereon at the time of the arrival of the vessel at the port of arrival but who may have been employed on such vessel between the time of the arrival of the vessel at the port of arrival and the departure of such vessel from the port, with such information with respect to each such alien as is required to be furnished by this section at the time of the departure of such vessel from the port of arrival. Any master, agent, consignee, or master of the vessel who knowingly fails to comply with any such requirement of this section shall be punished by a fine of not more than $10 for each alien concerning whom correct information is not furnished, and in the event such fine is imposed, while it remains unpaid the determination of the admissibility of the alien to the privileges of any port of the United States shall be withheld, and such fine may be remitted or refunded: Provided, That clearance may be granted prior to the determination of such question upon deposit of a sum sufficient to cover such fine. (39 Stat. 888–890; 8 U. S. C. 171.)

SEC. 150.13. Limit of alien employees: when clearance of vessel denied. Clearance shall not be granted the master of any vessel until the list required by section 38 of the Immigration Act of 1917 (39 Stat. 888; 8 U. S. C. 171),[1] shall have been transmitted, and not then unless notice of the administrative fine prescribed by said section 38 of said Act (39 Stat. 888; 8 U. S. C. 169) shall have been served, the deposit specified in 150.13–150.17, has been made.

EXTRACT FROM ACT OF CONGRESS APPROVED MAY 26, 1924, AS AMENDED

SEC. 19. No alien seaman excluded from admission into the United States under the immigration laws has employed on board a vessel arriving in the United States from any place outside thereof, shall be permitted to land in the United States, except temporarily for medical treatment, or because of shipwreck, or other casualty determined by the medical examiners, or to accompany and remain with a sick seaman employed on such vessel until the immigration officer in charge at the port of arrival is notified the sick seaman is ready to depart on board the vessel, and the master, agent, consignee, or owner of such vessel has given a bond with sufficient surety, in such sum, not exceeding $300 for each seaman, as the Attorney General may prescribe, conditioned that such seaman will depart with the vessel on which he arrived or on some other vessel leaving the port at the time of the departure of such vessel, or within such time thereafter as the Attorney General may allow, and will report to the immigration officer at the port of departure before departing, unless such seaman is detained by the Attorney General in the interest of justice, or is prevented by the master, agent, consignee, or owner of such vessel from reporting, or is prevented by sickness, accident, or other cause beyond his control, which shall be certified to by the United States consular officer at the port where such seaman was left behind. Any such bond may be canceled by the Attorney General upon the production of the seaman in respect of whom such bond was given, or upon the payment of the penalty of the bond or any part thereof, in the discretion of the Attorney General. The Attorney General may prescribe such rules and regulations as may be necessary to carry out the provisions of this section, and may require masters of vessels to furnish such information in addition to that required by section 12 of this Act as may be necessary to enforce the provisions of this section. Any master who shall refuse or fail to perform any duty imposed upon him by the provisions of this section, or who shall knowingly make any false statement in connection therewith, shall be fined not more than $1,000 for each such offense. No vessel shall be granted clearance papers pending the determination of the question whether the master has been guilty of any such offense, or pending the application to the Attorney General for the remission or mitigation of any fine or penalty incurred by the master under the provisions of this section, and no vessel shall be granted clearance papers in any such case if the master shall have applied to the Attorney General for remission or mitigation of such fine or penalty and such application is pending.

(b) Proof shall be taken in such manner and form as may be prescribed by rules and regulations made by the Attorney General from time to time, and upon the certificate of the immigration officer at the port of arrival the fact that any alien employed on board any vessel has been duly admitted to the United States shall be reported in writing to the master of such vessel or to the owner, agent, consignee, or charterer of such vessel, and a duplicate thereof delivered to the collector of customs. The Attorney General may, upon application in writing therefor by the collector of customs, remit or cancel any fine or penalty incurred under the provisions of this section, if he is satisfied that the vessel has left the United States without the payment of such fine or penalty and that there is no reasonable probability of the return of such vessel to the United States, or that such vessel will not return to the United States for a sufficient length of time to enable the collection of such fine or penalty to be effected, or that the vessel has been lost or destroyed, or that the master is dead or insane, or that the vessel is employed by the United States Government, or that the master has been imprisoned for a period of not less than thirty days, or that the vessel is under the control of a receiver appointed by a court of the United States, or that the vessel is under the control of a receiver appointed by a court of the United States, or that the vessel is under the control of a receiver appointed by a court of the United States

EXTRACT FROM ACT OF CONGRESS OF FEBRUARY 2, 1917, AS AMENDED

SEC. 36. That upon arrival of any vessel in the United States from any foreign port or place it shall be the duty of the owner, agent, consignee, or master thereof to deliver to the principal immigration officer in charge of the port of arrival lists containing the names of all alien employees on such vessel, stating the positions they respectively hold in the ship's company, when and where they were respectively shipped or engaged, and specifying those to be held on and discharged in the port of arrival; or lists containing so much of such information as is the Attorney General shall by regulation prescribe; and after the arrival of such vessel it shall be the duty of such owner, agent, consignee, or master to report to such immigration officer, in writing, as soon as discovered, all cases in which any such alien seaman illegally landed from the vessel, giving a description of such alien, together with any information likely to lead to his apprehension; and before the departure of any such vessel it shall be the duty of such owner, agent, consignee, or master to deliver to such immigration officer a further list containing the names of all alien employees who were not employed thereon at the time of the arrival but who shall have been forthcoming at the time of the departure, and also the names of those who have been laid off and discharged, and those, if any, who have deserted or landed: and in case of the failure of such owner, agent, consignee, or master so to deliver either of the lists aforesaid, or making oath, if required by the Attorney General, how to the collector of customs of the customs district in which the port of arrival is located the name of each alien employee who was not mentioned in the lists delivered as aforesaid, or in case any such alien shall have been landed from such vessel, otherwise than as provided by this section, such owner, agent, consignee, or master shall pay to the collector of customs of the customs district in which the port of arrival is located the sum of $1,000 for each alien not mentioned in the lists delivered as aforesaid, or for each alien landed, or attempted to be landed, from such vessel in violation of this section, which sum shall be a lien upon such vessel, and may be sued for and recovered by the United States or such collector of customs in any court of competent jurisdiction: Provided, That clearance may be granted such vessel prior to the determination of such question upon deposit of a sum sufficient to cover such fine. (39 Stat. 890–891; 8 U. S. C. 141.)

ALIEN SEAMEN

SEC. 19. No alien seaman excluded from admission into the United States under the immigration laws and employed on board any vessel arriving in the United States from any place outside thereof, shall be permitted to land in the United States, except temporarily for medical treatment, or because of illness, or injury requiring his detention, or for the enforcement of the provisions of this section, or pending the departure of such vessel, or pending his transfer to such vessel, or pending his deportation, or pending the final determination of any proceeding under this section in which he is a necessary witness, or pending his transfer to the custody of another immigration officer, or pending his admission to a hospital pursuant to section 3 of the Act of February 5, 1917, or pending his removal, or pending the prosecution for any violation of this section of the master or commanding officer of the vessel on which he arrived, or pending the sailing of such vessel from a port in the United States for a place outside thereof, or pending the inspection by the master of such vessel of the detention quarters required to be provided on board such vessel by section 8 of the Act of March 4, 1915, as amended (U. S. C., Supp. VII, title 46, sec. 163), or pending the repair of such vessel, or pending the treatment of sick or injured seamen by the surgeon of the public health service, or pending the settlement of any sanitary question by the United States quarantine officer, or pending the unloading of such vessel of cargo, stores, or fuel necessary for its further voyage, or pending the taking on board of ballast necessary for the proper navigation of such vessel, or pending the signing on board such vessel of a crew sufficient to take her to sea, or pending the arrival of such vessel at a port where such alien seaman is entitled to be discharged, or pending the provision by the master of such vessel of the expenses of the return passage of such alien seaman to the country to which he belongs, or pending the making of such other arrangements for his departure as may be required by the Secretary of Labor, or pending the settlement of any fine or penalty imposed upon such master or vessel on account of such alien seaman, or pending the production of such alien seaman by the master of such vessel before the United States commissioner, or pending the payment of the expenses of such alien seaman's hospital treatment, or pending the payment of the cost of his maintenance and support while detained under this section, at the rate of $1 per day, or pending the furnishing of a bond or undertaking for such maintenance and support, or pending the payment of a sum sufficient to cover the cost of such maintenance and support for a period not exceeding four months, or pending the furnishing of a bond or undertaking therefor, or pending the establishing to the satisfaction of the Secretary of Labor that such alien seaman has sufficient funds available for such maintenance and support for such period, or pending the furnishing of such information as may be required by the Secretary of Labor for the identification of such alien seaman, or pending the establishing of such identification by the Secretary of Labor to his satisfaction, or pending the production of such alien seaman by the master of such vessel before the Secretary of Labor, or pending the settlement of any claim for wages which may be made by such alien seaman, or pending the taking of such alien seaman on board such vessel when she is ready to proceed to sea, or pending any action or suit in which such alien seaman is a necessary witness, or pending any litigation growing out of any such claim for wages. Any alien seaman who shall come to the United States in violation of this section, or who shall fail or refuse to depart from the United States when required so to do by the Secretary of Labor, or who shall enter any part of the United States during the time he is required by the Secretary of Labor to remain on board the vessel on which he arrived or on board some other vessel, or who shall land in the United States at any time or place other than as designated by the Secretary of Labor, shall be deported in the manner provided by sections 19 and 20 of the Act of February 5, 1917, to the country to which he belongs, or from which he came to the United States, at the option of the Secretary of Labor. Any alien seaman who shall be required by the Secretary of Labor to remain on board his vessel or to proceed on board thereof, and who shall fail or refuse so to do, shall be punished by a fine of not more than $500 or by imprisonment for not more than six months, or by both such fine and imprisonment. Any master or commanding officer of any vessel who shall refuse to deliver on board thereof any alien seaman employed on such vessel when required so to do by the Secretary of Labor, or who shall refuse to detain on board any alien seaman when directed so to do by the Secretary of Labor, or who shall refuse to pay the cost of maintenance and support of any alien seaman detained on board his vessel after such inspection or to deport such seaman if required by such immigration officer or the Attorney General so to do, or shall fail to pay to the collector of customs of the customs district in which the port of arrival is located the sum of $1,000 for each alien seaman in respect of whom such failure occurs. No vessel shall be granted clearance pending the determination of the liability to payment of such sum, or while the same remains unpaid, except that clearance may be granted prior to the determination of any question upon the deposit of a sum sufficient to cover such sum, or of a bond with sufficient surety to secure the payment thereof approved by the collector of customs. The Attorney General may, upon application in writing therefor, mitigate such penalty to not less than $300 for each seaman in respect of whom such failure occurs, upon such terms as the Attorney General in his discretion shall think proper. The section, as amended, shall apply to all beneficial alien seamen employed on vessels arriving in the United States from any place outside thereof, on and after the date of the enactment hereof, and shall not apply to any alien seaman who has been lawfully admitted to the United States and who has a wife or minor children who are citizens of the United States, unless such alien seaman has been employed on board a vessel engaged in the coastwise trade of the United States.

(a) Proof that an alien seaman did not appear upon the onboard manifest of the vessel on which he arrived in the United States from any place outside thereof, or that he was temporarily by the master of such vessel as a deserter, shall be prima facie evidence of a failure to deport such alien seaman by the immigration officer or the Attorney General.

(b) If the Attorney General finds that deportation of the alien seaman on the vessel on which he arrived would cause undue hardship, such alien seaman may be permitted by the master of such vessel, with the written consent of the Attorney General, to depart on any other vessel bound for a foreign port, upon the deposit of a sum sufficient to cover the cost of maintenance and support of such alien seaman pending his departure, and upon the furnishing of such bond or undertaking therefor as may be required by the Secretary of Labor. Clearance may be granted such vessel prior to the determination of such question upon the deposit of a sum sufficient to cover such fine, and such vessel may proceed to sea without such alien seaman. Such deposit shall not be applied to the payment of such fine, but shall be returned to the master of such vessel upon the departure of such alien seaman, or upon the payment of such fine by such master, or upon the settlement of any question as to the liability of such master or vessel to pay such fine, whichever shall occur first.

(c) If the Attorney General finds that deportation of the alien seaman on the vessel on which he arrived would cause undue hardship, such alien seaman may be permitted by the master of such vessel, with the written consent of the Attorney General, to depart on any other vessel bound for a foreign port, upon the deposit of a sum sufficient to cover the cost of maintenance and support of such alien seaman pending his departure, and upon the furnishing of such bond or undertaking therefor as may be required by the Secretary of Labor. Clearance may be granted such vessel prior to the determination of such question upon the deposit of a sum sufficient to cover such fine, and such vessel may proceed to sea without such alien seaman. Such deposit shall not be applied to the payment of such fine, but shall be returned to the master of such vessel upon the departure of such alien seaman, or upon the payment of such fine by such master, or upon the settlement of any question as to the liability of such master or vessel to pay such fine, whichever shall occur first.

(43 Stat. 161–162, as Stat. 318; 8 U. S. C. 161 (a), 161 (c).)

SEC. 36. [That upon arrival of any vessel in the United States from any foreign port or place it shall be the duty of the master, purser, commander, or agent of such vessel to deliver to the principal immigration officer in charge of the port of arrival [list containing the names of all aliens employed on such vessel, stating the position they respectively hold in the alien's country, when and where they were respectively shipped or engaged, and specifying those to be landed at the port of arrival; to list containing a description of such alien, furnished with information likely to lead to his identification; and to such other information as the Attorney General shall by regulation prescribe; and after the arrival of the said vessel it shall be the duty of such owner, agent, commander, or master to report to such immigration officer, in writing, as soon as discovered, all cases in which any such alien has deserted or attempted to desert; and no such vessel shall be granted clearance papers by the collector or other officer of the customs until the master thereof has delivered to such immigration officer the list or lists required by this section, and has made oath to the correctness thereof and to the best of his knowledge and belief as to the nationality and last permanent residence of each alien named therein, and has certified to the shipment and discharge of each alien, the cause of discharge, and the port to which he belonged, and has delivered to such immigration officer a full and complete report of all deserting seamen, with the best information and belief of such master as to the cause of desertion and the present whereabouts of such seamen. Any master, purser, commander, or agent of any such vessel who violates any of the provisions of this section shall be liable to a penalty of $300 for each alien concerning whom he fails to report, or concerning whom he reports false information, or whose vessel he clears without the production of the certificate from the immigration officer provided for in this section, or without having the consular certificate, if any, required by section 3 hereof viséed by the immigration officer at the port of departure, or whose vessel he departs from the customs limits of the United States without first obtaining the permission of the immigration officer at the port of departure, which permission shall not be granted except upon the production of the certificate from the immigration officer at the port of arrival showing the compliance of the master with the requirements of this section as to the report and manifest of alien passengers. Such penalty shall be a lien upon the vessel, which may be enforced by libel in the district court of the United States for the district in which the port is situated; and clearance may be withheld from any vessel which has violated this section until the payment of such penalty has been secured by bond or otherwise, or remitted by the Secretary of the Treasury. The Attorney General may, upon application in writing therefor, mitigate such penalty to such sum as he deems appropriate. The Attorney General may, upon the application of any such master, purser, commander, or agent, remit the head tax provided for by section 2 of this Act in the case of any alien who is in possession of a valid nonimmigrant visa and who establishes to the satisfaction of the Attorney General that he intended in good faith to depart from the United States within the period of his visa and has been prevented from so doing by reasons beyond his control, including illness of the alien, and that the vessel on which the alien arrived has departed from the United States.

(b) Proof shall be allowed in favor of any master, purser, commander, or agent, as a defense, that he could not have known of the illegal entry of any alien, and that he has exercised due diligence to prevent the same. Such proof shall consist of the certificate of the immigration officer at the port of arrival that the alien was duly inspected and admitted at such port, or that the master of such vessel was not notified by the immigration officer at the time of the arrival of such vessel that such alien was not admissible, or that such master, purser, commander, or agent did not have knowledge of the illegal entry of such alien prior to the departure of such vessel from the last foreign port or place in which such alien embarked. Such certificate may be introduced in evidence in any proceeding for the collection of any penalty imposed by this section, and shall be prima facie evidence of the facts therein stated. The Attorney General shall have the right to remit any penalty incurred under this section, or any part thereof, upon such terms and conditions as he may deem just and proper.

(c) If the Attorney General finds that deportation of the alien seaman on the vessel on which he arrived in the United States would cause undue hardship to such seaman by reason of whom such failure occurs, upon such failure of the vessel to deport such seaman, he may cause him to be deported on another vessel at the expense of the vessel on which he arrived, but such expense shall not be granted clearance until such expense has been paid or its payment guaranteed to the satisfaction of the Attorney General.

AFFIDAVIT OF THE MASTER OR COMMANDING OFFICER, OR FIRST OR SECOND OFFICER

I, [illegible] H. Johnson, of the Gas Tug A. B. Bonne, do declare that the foregoing is a full and true list of all the crew provided in said vessel from any port or place outside the United States.

I have noted the color of section 36 of the Act of February 5, 1917, extract from Title 8, Code of Federal Regulations, and copy of sections 23 and 50, Act of May 26, 1924, supra appear below.

[illegible] Master, First or Second Officer.

Sworn to before me this [illegible] day of December, 19[illegible]

[illegible]
Immigration Inspector.

IMPORTANT NOTICE TO MASTER

The list described below shall be prepared on blank forms approved by the Department and be ready for delivery to the immigration inspector boarding the vessel at the port of arrival, and shall in no instance be taken from the vessel. The list of changes to alien members of crews (Form I-418) shall not be furnished on board, but shall be delivered by the master to the principal immigration officer at the port. When an alien seaman, including names of native American citizen seamen as well as aliens.

ALIEN SEAMEN

SEC. 18. No alien seaman excluded from admission into the United States under the immigration laws has employed on board any vessel arriving in the United States from any place outside thereof, shall be permitted to land in the United States, except temporarily for medical treatment, or pursuant to such regulations as the Attorney General may prescribe for the ultimate departure, removal, or deportation of such alien from the United States. (43 Stat. 164, 8 U. S. C. 188.)

SEC. 20. (a) The owner, charterer, agent, consignee, or master of any vessel arriving in the United States from any place outside thereof who fails to detain on board the vessel such alien seaman employed on such vessel until the immigration officer in charge at the port of arrival has inspected such seaman, or pursuant to such regulations as the Attorney General may prescribe, has granted a temporary physical examination by the medical examiners, or who fails to detain such seaman on board until such inspection or to deport such seaman if required by such immigration officer or the Attorney General so to do, shall pay to the collector of customs of the customs district in which the port of arrival is located for each alien seaman in respect of whom such failure occurs, $1,000 for each alien seaman landed, except that clearance may be granted prior to the determination of the liability to payment of such fine, or while the fine remains unpaid, except that clearance granted in respect of each such alien seaman shall be granted prior to the determination of such question upon the deposit of a sum sufficient to cover such fine, or in a bond with sufficient surety to secure the payment thereof approved by the collector of customs. The Attorney General may, upon application in writing therefor, mitigate such penalty to such sum as he deems appropriate, not in excess of $300 for each seaman in respect of whom such failure occurs, upon such terms as the Attorney General in his discretion shall think proper.

(b) Proof shall be allowed in favor of any master, purser, commander, or agent, as a defense, that he could not have known of the illegal entry of any alien seaman, and that he has exercised due diligence to prevent the same. Such proof shall consist of the certificate of the immigration officer at the port of arrival that the alien was duly inspected and admitted at such port, or that the master of such vessel was not notified by the immigration officer at the time of the arrival of such vessel that such alien was not admissible, or that such master, purser, commander, or agent did not have knowledge of the illegal entry of such alien prior to the departure of such vessel from the last foreign port or place in which such alien embarked. Such certificate may be introduced in evidence in any proceeding for the collection of any penalty imposed by this section, and shall be prima facie evidence of the facts therein stated.

(c) If the Attorney General finds that deportation of the alien seaman on the vessel on which he arrived would cause undue hardship to such seaman by reason of whom such failure occurs, upon such failure of the vessel to deport such seaman, he may cause him to be deported on another vessel at the expense of the vessel on which he arrived, but such expense shall not be granted clearance until such expense has been paid or its payment guaranteed to the satisfaction of the Attorney General.

IMPORTANT NOTICE TO MASTER

The list described below shall be prepared on blank forms approved by the Department and be ready for delivery to the immigration inspector boarding the vessel at the port of arrival, and in no instance be taken from the vessel. The list or manifest of aliens shall not be returned or posted, but shall be delivered by the master to the principal immigration officer at the port. When an arriving alien is a "stowaway" a notation to that effect should be made on the manifest. In order to facilitate inspection of aliens seamen, include names of arriving American citizen seamen as well as aliens.

EXTRACT FROM ACT OF CONGRESS OF FEBRUARY 5, 1917, AS AMENDED

SEC. 36. That upon arrival by vessel in the United States from foreign port or place it shall be the duty of the owner, agent, consignee, or master thereof to deliver to the principal immigration officer in charge of the port of the port of arrival a complete list or manifest of all aliens embarked on such vessel, setting forth the additions thereto since last reported, and the ports from which they came respectively. Such list or manifest shall be prepared in the form and manner and contain such particulars as may be prescribed by the Secretary of Labor, and shall be verified by the oath of the master or commanding officer thereof. Such list or manifest shall show the full name, nationality, last residence, calling or occupation, final destination, whether in possession of a ticket through to such destination, whether the expenses of such alien are paid by himself or by others, whether in possession of money, and how much, whether going to join relatives or friends, and if so, what relatives or friends, and their names and complete addresses, whether ever before in the United States, and if so, when and where, whether ever in prison or almshouse or supported by charity, whether a polygamist, whether an anarchist, whether coming by reason of any offer, solicitation, promise, agreement, or arrangement to perform labor in the United States, and if so, what is the nature and probable duration thereof, whether the alien intends to become a citizen of the United States, whether the alien has been deported before and if so how many times, whether the alien is coming to join a husband, wife, father, mother, grandparent, child over sixteen years of age, brother, or sister, and if so, whether such husband, wife, father, mother, grandparent, brother, or sister is a citizen of the United States, and such other facts as may be prescribed by the Secretary of Labor for the purpose of carrying out the provisions of this Act. The Secretary of Labor may prescribe the manner in which the master, agent, consignee, or owner of any vessel shall be fined in case of the refusal or failure to deliver such list or manifest, or in case of the refusal or failure to deliver to any immigrant inspector any information required by him concerning any alien on board such vessel, or in case of the refusal or failure to detain any alien on board when ordered so to do by such inspector, or in case of the refusal or failure to prevent any alien from landing in violation of law, and may provide for the payment of witness fees and mileage of persons who may be summoned to testify before boards of special inquiry in cases arising under the provisions of this Act. Such fines shall be a lien upon the vessel, which may be enforced by libel or other proper remedy, and such vessel may be detained until such fines are paid. The Secretary of Labor may remit or mitigate any fine, penalty, or forfeiture incurred or imposed under the provisions of this Act upon such terms and conditions as he may deem just and proper.

IMPORTANT NOTICE TO MASTER

The list described below shall be prepared on blank forms approved by the Department and be ready for delivery to the immigration inspector boarding the vessel at the port of arrival, but shall in no instance be taken from the vessel. The list of changes or other memoranda required by section 12 of the Act of February 5, 1917 (39 Stat. 878; 8 U. S. C. 136), to be prepared on Form I–418 shall not be delivered on board, but shall be delivered by the master to the principal immigration officer at the port. When an alternate address is given, a notation to that effect should be made on the manifest. In order to facilitate inspection of alien seamen, include names of alternate American citizen seamen as well as aliens.

SEC. 38. That upon arrival of any vessel in the United States from any foreign port or place it shall be the duty of the owner, agent, consignee, or master thereof to deliver to the principal immigration officer in charge of the port of arrival lists containing the names of all aliens embarked on such vessel, whether the destinations given by them be in the United States or elsewhere, all cases in which any such alien may have been temporarily landed or detained in the port of arrival; or lists containing so much of such information as may be obtained by the exercise of reasonable diligence, all of which lists shall be delivered to the immigrant inspector at the time of the vessel's arrival at the port, and no such vessel shall be granted clearance papers by the collector of customs or other officer authorized by law to grant clearance papers until the master thereof has delivered to the immigrant inspector such lists or has sworn before the collector of customs that he has exercised reasonable diligence to obtain the information required by this section and that the lists delivered contain all the information obtained by him. Such lists shall be in such form and contain such additional particulars as may be prescribed by the Commissioner General of Immigration, with the approval of the Secretary of Labor, and shall be verified by the oath of the master or commanding officer and the surgeon of the vessel, where there is a surgeon employed thereon, and in other cases by the master or commanding officer and two members of the crew. The master or commanding officer and surgeon of every such vessel shall also, before any such vessel shall be granted clearance papers, report to the collector of customs the name of every alien employed on the vessel who has been left behind, and the cause for such alien not being on board, and shall furnish such information as may be required by the Commissioner General of Immigration concerning such alien. Any master or commanding officer who refuses or neglects to perform any of the duties required of him by this section or who refuses or neglects to answer truthfully to the best of his knowledge and belief any question concerning any alien employed on such vessel asked by any officer charged with the administration of the immigration laws shall pay a penalty of $10 for each such alien concerning whom such question is asked, and no such vessel shall be granted clearance papers pending the payment of such penalty or the giving of a bond with sufficient surety to secure the payment thereof approved by the collector of customs. The Attorney General may, upon application in writing therefor, mitigate such penalty or any part thereof. That section, as amended, shall apply to all deportable aliens embarked at any port in the United States for any destination.

ALIEN SEAMEN

SEC. 13. No alien seaman excluded from admission into the United States under the immigration laws shall be employed on board any vessel entering or clearing from any port of the United States. Before any alien seaman is granted shore leave his name, nationality, last foreign residence, and the vessel on which he arrived shall be recorded by the master, agent, owner, or consignee of the vessel, and a bond required sufficient to insure the return of such alien seaman to the vessel on which he arrived, or to some other vessel offered for his employment, or to the country from which he came to the United States, shall be given to the United States in such amount, not exceeding $1,000, as may be required by the Commissioner General of Immigration, with one or more sureties approved by the collector of customs. The Attorney General may, upon application in writing therefor, mitigate such penalty or any part thereof. The decision of the Attorney General shall be final. Any master, agent, owner, or consignee of any vessel who shall refuse or neglect to report, record, detain, or deliver any alien seaman specified in this section, or who shall refuse or neglect to pay the head tax levied by section 2 of the Immigration Act of 1917 on account of any such alien seaman, or who shall violate any provision of this section, shall be severally liable to a penalty of $1,000 for each and every such alien seaman, and shall not have granted to him clearance papers for the vessel on which such alien seaman arrived or any other vessel while any such penalty remains unpaid, except that clearance may be granted prior to the determination of any question upon the demand of the Secretary of Labor. Any such penalty or any part thereof may be remitted or refunded, in the discretion of the Secretary of Labor, upon such terms as he shall deem reasonable and just, and shall be covered into the Treasury of the United States as a part of the appropriation "Contingent expenses, Immigration Service". The Commissioner General of Immigration, with the approval of the Secretary of Labor, shall prescribe rules and regulations for the administration and enforcement of the provisions of this section, and shall prescribe the manner in which penalties incurred hereunder may be remitted or refunded. Any person who knowingly violates any of the provisions of this section, or any rule or regulation made pursuant thereto, shall be guilty of a misdemeanor and upon conviction thereof shall be punished by a fine not exceeding $1,000 or by imprisonment for not more than one year, or by both such fine and imprisonment, in the discretion of the court.

(a) The owner, charterer, agent, consignee, or master of any vessel arriving in the United States from any place outside the contiguous territory and adjacent islands as the Attorney General may prescribe for the multimate deportee, removal, or medical treatment, or treatment for any communicable disease, shall be permitted to land in the United States except upon a certificate by the medical examiner at the port of arrival that each alien seaman (which inspection in all cases shall include a personal physical examination by the medical examiner), the Attorney General to do so, shall pay to the collector of customs of the customs district in which the port of arrival is located the sum of $1,000 for each alien seaman in respect of whom such failure occurs. No vessel shall be granted clearance papers for the determination of any question upon the demand of the Secretary of Labor, or to a bond with sufficient surety to secure the payment thereof approved by the collector of customs. The Attorney General may, upon application in writing therefor, mitigate such penalty or any part thereof. The decision of the Attorney General shall be final. Any master, agent, owner, or consignee of any vessel who shall refuse or neglect to report, record, detain, or deliver any alien seaman specified in this section, or who shall refuse or neglect to pay the head tax levied by section 2 of the Immigration Act of 1917 (39 Stat. 898; 8 U. S. C. 171), shall be severally liable to a penalty of $10 for each such alien seaman, and shall not have granted to him clearance papers for the vessel on which he arrived, and such vessel shall be liable to a penalty of $1,000 for each such alien seaman, and shall not be granted clearance papers pending the payment of such penalty or the giving of a bond with sufficient surety to secure the payment thereof approved by the collector of customs. The Attorney General may, upon application in writing therefor, mitigate such penalty or any part thereof. The decision of the Attorney General shall be final. Any master, agent, owner, or consignee of any vessel who shall refuse or neglect to report, record, detain, or deliver any alien seaman specified in this section, or who shall refuse or neglect to pay the head tax levied by section 2 of the Immigration Act of 1917 (39 Stat. 898; 8 U. S. C. 171), shall be severally liable to a penalty of $1,000 for each such alien seaman, and shall not have granted to him clearance papers for the vessel on which he arrived, and such vessel shall be liable to a penalty of $1,000 for each such alien seaman, and shall not be granted clearance papers pending the payment of such penalty or the giving of a bond with sufficient surety to secure the payment thereof approved by the collector of customs. The Attorney General may, upon application in writing therefor, mitigate such penalty or any part thereof. The decision of the Attorney General shall be final. Any master, agent, owner, or consignee of any vessel who shall refuse or neglect to report, record, detain, or deliver any alien seaman specified in this section, or who shall refuse or neglect to pay the head tax levied by section 2 of the Immigration Act of 1917 (39 Stat. 898; 8 U. S. C. 171), shall be severally liable to a penalty of $1,000 for each such alien seaman, and shall not have granted to him clearance papers for the vessel on which he arrived, and such vessel shall be liable to a penalty of $1,000 for each such alien seaman, and shall not be granted clearance papers pending the payment of such penalty or the giving of a bond with sufficient surety to secure the payment thereof approved by the collector of customs. The Attorney General may, upon application in writing therefor, mitigate such penalty or any part thereof. The decision of the Attorney General shall be final. Any master, agent, owner, or consignee of any vessel who shall refuse or neglect to report, record, detain, or deliver any alien seaman specified in this section, or who shall refuse or neglect to pay the head tax levied by section 2 of the Immigration Act of 1917 on account of any

The list described below shall be prepared on blank forms approved by the Department and be ready for delivery to the immigration inspector desiring the vessel at the port of arrival, and shall in no instance be taken from the vessel. The list of changes of value after the vessel (form I-418) shall not be furnished on board, but shall be delivered by the master to the principal immigration officer at the port. When an arriving alien is unable to state "Montenegrin," a notation to that effect should be made on the manifest. In order to facilitate inspection of alien seamen, include names of arriving American citizen seamen as well as aliens.

EXTRACT FROM ACT OF CONGRESS OF FEBRUARY 2, 1917, AS AMENDED

SEC. 38. That upon arrival of any vessel in the United States from any foreign port or place it shall be the duty of the owner, agent, consignee, or master thereof to deliver to the immigrant inspector at the port of arrival lists containing the names of all aliens employed on such vessel, stating the nationality, last residence (new territory) held in the ship's company, who have been native born citizens of the United States, who have been lawfully admitted for permanent residence, and who are in transit through the United States to foreign countries, including the names of persons who have been rejected or who have died on board during the voyage, and the intended future permanent residence in the United States of each alien who has been granted a visa, and such other information in relation thereto as may be required by the Commissioner General of Immigration, which lists shall be verified by the oath of the master or commanding officer thereof, taken before a consular officer of the United States, or, if there be no consular officer at the place of departure, before some officer authorized to administer oaths to passengers and crew on vessels clearing from such port for ports in the United States, which oath may be administered without charge. Such master or commanding officer shall also furnish to each alien immigrant at the time of departure from a foreign port or place a card, the form and size of which shall be prescribed by the Commissioner General of Immigration, containing the name of such immigrant, his age, sex, nationality, last residence, and destination in the United States, and such other information as may be required by the Commissioner General of Immigration to secure the proper entry of such immigrant into the United States. Such master or commanding officer shall also furnish to each alien immigrant, at the time of departure from a foreign port or place, a tag, the form, size, and method of attachment of which shall be prescribed by the Commissioner General of Immigration, bearing a number to correspond with the number assigned to the card delivered to such immigrant, and the name of the vessel and the date of sailing. Such master or commanding officer shall also furnish to each alien immigrant entering the United States across the land borders between the United States and contiguous territory a card or tag of the character described in this section, which shall be collected from such alien immigrant by the immigration officer at the time of his application for admission to the United States. Such master or commanding officer shall deliver to the immigration officer at the port of arrival all of the cards and tags furnished to such alien immigrants who are destined to ports other than ports of arrival. Such master or commanding officer shall report and deliver to the immigration officer at the port of arrival the name of any alien immigrant who may have become ill during the voyage, and shall, upon the request of such immigration officer or any medical officer, submit for examination all aliens who are on board such vessel at the time of arrival at such port. Such master or commanding officer shall also report the illness or death of any alien immigrant occurring after departure from a foreign port and before arrival at a port of the United States, stating in the case of the death of such alien the cause thereof, and shall deliver the certificate of such death issued by the consular officer who issued the permit to such alien. Such master or commanding officer shall also report the name of any alien immigrant who may have been permitted to land temporarily upon the certificate of the medical officer at the port of arrival, and shall furnish such additional information concerning such alien as may be required by the Commissioner General of Immigration or the Secretary of Labor. Such master or commanding officer shall also report the name of any alien who may have been ordered excluded from admission into the United States under the immigration laws and employed on board any vessel entering the United States from any place outside thereof, or who may have been granted shore leave, and the fact and circumstances of the failure of such alien to return to such vessel or depart from the United States with the vessel on which he arrived, and shall furnish such information concerning the same and the whereabouts of such alien as may be required by the Commissioner General of Immigration or the Secretary of Labor. Such master or commanding officer shall also report the name of any alien employed on board any vessel arriving in the United States from any place outside thereof, who shall be ordered detained by the immigration officer in charge at the port, and shall furnish such information concerning such alien as may be required by the Commissioner General of Immigration or the Secretary of Labor. Such master or commanding officer shall also report the name of any alien employed on board any vessel arriving in the United States from any place outside thereof, who shall be granted leave to go ashore under bond, and shall furnish such information concerning such alien as may be required by the Commissioner General of Immigration or the Secretary of Labor.

SEC. 50. (a) The owner, charterer, agent, consignee, or master of any vessel arriving in the United States from any place outside thereof who fails to deliver on board such vessel, prior to its departure from the last foreign port or place, lists in the manner and containing the information required by section 38 of the immigration act of 1917 (39 Stat. 898; 8 U. S. C. 151), shall be punished by a fine of not more than $1,000 for each alien concerning whom such owner, agent, consignee, or master fails to deliver such list, or concerning whom any other required information is not furnished, and in addition thereto shall be liable to a penalty of $300 for each alien concerning whom such owner, agent, consignee, or master fails to deliver such list, or concerning whom any other required information is not furnished, to be sued for and recovered by the United States Attorney of the district in which the port is located at which the vessel arrives, or to which it departs, and the payment thereof may be enforced by the Commissioner General of Immigration, with costs of suit, by withholding clearance for the vessel on which such alien arrived or departed, or any other vessel owned in whole or in part by the owner of such vessel, or by the refusal of the Secretary of Labor to issue such vessel a certificate of clearance from any port of the United States, or by the withholding of such certificate, or by any one or more of such remedies, in the discretion of the Secretary of Labor or the Commissioner General of Immigration. The Attorney General may remit or mitigate any penalty provided for in this section upon such terms as he shall deem reasonable and just. (39 Stat. 1064, 8 U. S. C. 166.)

(b) Any person who knowingly and willfully refuses to pay any penalty prescribed by this section, or who knowingly and willfully refuses to pay any expense incurred in the collection of any penalty prescribed by this section, shall be guilty of a misdemeanor and shall be punished by a fine of not more than $1,000 or by imprisonment for not more than one year, or both.

(c) If the Attorney General finds that deportation of the alien arrived on the vessel or which he arrived in the United States from any place outside thereof, or that he was reported by the master of such vessel as a deserter, shall be prima facie evidence of a failure to deliver or deport after lawful entry of the immigration officer or the Attorney General.

This section, as amended, shall apply to all penalties arising independent to June 2, 1940.

(d) Proof that an alien seaman did not appear upon the outgoing manifest of the vessel on which he arrived in the United States from any place outside thereof, or that he was reported by the master of such vessel as a deserter, shall be prima facie evidence of a failure to deliver or deport after lawful entry of the immigration officer or the Attorney General.

(e) If the Attorney General finds that deportation of the alien seaman on the vessel on which he arrived would cause undue hardship to such seaman he may cause him to be deported on another vessel at the expense of the vessel on which he arrived, but such expense shall not be charged elsewhere than upon such vessel or the owners thereof.

(43 Stat. 164–165; 28 Stat. 818; 8 U. S. C. 161 (a), 161 (c).)

SEC. 150.15. Lists of alien employees: when clearance of vessel denied. Clearance shall not be granted any vessel until the lists required by section 38 of the immigration act of 1917 (39 Stat. 898; 8 U. S. C. 151), have been furnished, and full names and addresses of all aliens employed on board the vessel, the nature of the duties performed by each alien employee, and the date and place of his last arrival in the United States, if known, must be entered on the lists. Any master, agent, owner, or consignee who fails to furnish the lists required by section 38 of the immigration act of 1917 (39 Stat. 898; 8 U. S. C. 151), when requested by the immigrant inspector in charge at the port, or who fails to include in the lists the name of any alien employee, or who fails to state the information required by section 38 of the immigration act of 1917 (39 Stat. 898; 8 U. S. C. 151) as to any alien employee, may be fined not more than $1,000 for each offense. Clearance may be withheld by the Attorney General (Commissioner of Immigration and Naturalization) from any vessel which has been granted clearance by the collector of customs until the lists required by section 38 of the immigration act of 1917 (39 Stat. 898; 8 U. S. C. 151), have been furnished, and full names and addresses of all aliens employed on board the vessel, the nature of the duties performed by each alien employee, and the date and place of his last arrival in the United States, if known, have been delivered to the collector of customs. The Attorney General may, upon application in writing therefor, withdraw such demand to any vessel clearing from a port of the United States for a foreign port, or may cause such demand to be withdrawn at any time before the departure of the vessel from the port. The list of changes of value after the vessel (form I-418) shall not be furnished on board, but shall be delivered by the master to the principal immigration officer at the port. When an arriving seaman is a "Montenegrin," a notation to that effect should be made on the manifest. In order to facilitate inspection of alien seamen, include names of arriving American citizen seamen as well as aliens.

ALIEN SEAMEN

SEC. 19. No alien seaman excluded from admission into the United States under the immigration laws and employed on board any vessel arriving in the United States from any place outside thereof, or who may have been granted shore leave, shall be permitted to land in the United States, except temporarily for medical treatment, or because of illness, injury, or quarantine, or to be treated in a hospital or by a physician, or to be detained by the immigration officers, or for such time as may be necessary to accomplish the departure of such alien from the United States, or for such time as may be necessary to enable such alien to secure a passport and visa if he is a citizen or subject of a country which requires passports and visas, or for such time as may be necessary to enable such alien to comply with any other requirements of the immigration laws, to any of which exceptions such landing shall be subject to such conditions as may be prescribed by the Secretary of Labor. Any such alien seaman who shall land in the United States, except as provided in this section, shall be deported in the manner provided by law to the country to which the master, agent, owner, charterer, or consignee of the vessel on which such alien seaman arrived is required to return the alien seaman, and pending deportation such alien seaman shall be detained on board or at such other place as may be designated by the immigration officers. Any master, agent, owner, charterer, or consignee of any vessel arriving in the United States from any place outside thereof who fails to deport any alien seaman employed on board such vessel, or who fails to pay the cost of maintenance of such alien seaman while detained on board or at such other place as may be designated by the immigration officers, or who fails to pay the cost of deportation of such alien from the United States, or who fails to deliver lists of such alien seamen in accordance with section 38 of the immigration act of 1917, or who fails to report the illness or death of any alien seaman employed on board such vessel, or who fails to deliver to the immigration officer in charge at the port of arrival the certificate of death issued by the consular officer who issued the permit to such alien seaman, or who fails to report the name of any alien seaman who may have been granted shore leave, or who fails to secure the return of such alien seaman to the vessel on which he arrived, or who fails to report the name of any alien seaman who may have been ordered detained by the immigration officers at the port of arrival, or who fails to furnish such information concerning such alien seaman as may be required by the Commissioner General of Immigration or the Secretary of Labor, shall be punished by a fine of not more than $1,000 for each offense. Clearance shall not be granted any vessel until the lists required by section 38 of the immigration act of 1917 (39 Stat. 898; 8 U. S. C. 151), have been furnished, and full names and addresses of all aliens employed on board the vessel, the nature of the duties performed by each alien employee, and the date and place of his last arrival in the United States, if known, have been delivered to the collector of customs. The Attorney General may, upon application in writing therefor, withdraw such demand to any vessel clearing from a port of the United States for a foreign port, or may cause such demand to be withdrawn at any time before the departure of the vessel from the port. The list of changes of value after the vessel (form I-418) shall not be furnished on board, but shall be delivered by the master to the principal immigration officer at the port. When an arriving seaman is a "Montenegrin," a notation to that effect should be made on the manifest. In order to facilitate inspection of alien seamen, include names of arriving American citizen seamen as well as aliens.

IMPORTANT NOTICE TO MASTER

The list described below shall be prepared on blank forms approved by the Department and be ready for delivery to the immigration inspector presiding the vessel at the port of arrival. But shall it in no instance be taken from the vessel. The list of changes to alien members of crews (Form I-418) shall not be furnished on board, but shall be delivered by the master to the principal immigration officer at the port. Where an alternate address is given, a "notice" a notation to that effect should be made on the manifest. In order to facilitate inspection of alien seamen, include names of alternate citizen seamen as well as aliens.

SEC. 36. That upon arrival of any vessel in the United States from any foreign port or place it shall be the duty of the master, owner, agent, consignee, or master of such vessel to deliver to the principal immigration officer in charge of the port of arrival a complete list or manifest of all aliens embarked in the port or place where such vessel took on board any such alien, and of all aliens embarked at any intermediate port or place where such vessel may have touched on the way to the port of arrival, which list or manifest shall be in such form and contain such information as may be required by the Secretary of Labor, and shall be subscribed and sworn to before the master, owner, agent, consignee, or purser of such vessel, and before the immigrant inspector at the time of the arrival of such vessel at the port of arrival, and such master, owner, agent, consignee, or purser shall at the time of subscribing such list or manifest make such corrections therein and additions thereto as may be necessary to make the same true and complete at the time of the departure of such vessel from the last foreign port or place touched at before coming to the United States, and shall also at the time of the departure of such vessel from the last foreign port or place touched at before coming to the United States truthfully answer such questions and furnish such additional information relative to such aliens as may be required by the Secretary of Labor or by any person acting under his direction. Such list or manifest shall be prepared in quadruplicate, and the master, owner, agent, consignee, or purser of such vessel shall, if required by the Attorney General, deliver to the immigrant inspector at the port of arrival the original and two copies thereof, and shall deliver the fourth copy to the collector of customs at the port of departure, or if there be no collector at such port, then to the collector nearest the port of departure in the United States: Provided, That clearance may be granted prior to the determination of such question upon deposit of a sum sufficient to cover such fine. (39 Stat. 886–Nov. 8 U. S. C. 171.)

SEC. 150.13. Liens of alien employees: when clearance of vessel denied. Clearance shall not be granted for a vessel listed on the manifest required to be filed by section 36 of the immigration Act of 1917 (39 Stat. 886; 8 U. S. C. 171), until there has been furnished to the master of such vessel a certificate of the immigration officer in charge at the port of arrival that there has been deposited with him by the master, owner, agent, consignee, or purser of such vessel the sum of $10 for each alien employee, whose name appears on the list or manifest of such vessel, and who is reported by the master as entitled to wages earned on board such vessel, which sum is to remain subject to the direction of the Secretary of Labor for the payment of such wages, or any part thereof, found by him to be due such employee, or his legal representative, upon the completion of the voyage. Clearance shall not be granted for a sum greater than $300 for each seaman in respect of whom such liability accrues. No vessel shall be granted clearance pending the determination of such question upon the deposit of a sum sufficient to cover such fine, or of a bond with sufficient surety to secure the payment thereof approved by the collector of customs. The Attorney General may, upon application in writing therefor, withdraw such deposit or bond in whole or in part, or modify the terms of any bond given hereunder. (42 Stat. 164, 8 U. S. C. 188.)

SEC. 30. (a) The owner, charterer, agent, consignee, or master of any vessel upon which any alien arrives in the United States from any place outside thereof who fails to deliver on board such vessel prior to the departure thereof from the last foreign port or place touched at by such vessel the manifest required by section 12 hereof, or who fails to deliver to the immigrant inspector at the port of arrival a complete and accurate manifest of all aliens on board such vessel, shall be subject to a penalty of $1,000 for each alien not included in such manifest, or for each alien concerning whom a complete and accurate answer is not given to any question required by section 12 hereof to be answered

ALIEN SEAMEN

SEC. 10. No alien seaman excluded from admission into the United States under the immigration laws and employed on board any vessel arriving in the United States from any place outside thereof, shall be permitted to land in the United States, except temporarily for medical treatment, or unless such seaman (while inspection is made of the vessel on which he arrived) shall be certified by such immigration officer or the medical officer of the port as a person who is not likely to become a public charge, and who is in a class admissible under the immigration laws as a visitor for pleasure or as in transit through the United States to a foreign country, or unless such seaman shall establish to the satisfaction of the Attorney General that he is unable to procure the services of a master or other officer of the vessel on which he arrived in the United States who will certify that such seaman is a person who is not likely to become a public charge, and who is in a class admissible under the immigration laws as a visitor for pleasure or as in transit through the United States to a foreign country, and the Attorney General, in his discretion, may permit such seaman to enter the United States notwithstanding the provisions of this section. Any seaman who has been granted permission to enter the United States under the provisions of this section shall be deported as a matter of course on the vessel on which he arrived, unless the Attorney General, in his discretion, permits him to remain temporarily for the purpose of medical treatment, or for the purpose of pursuing his calling as a seaman on board some vessel other than the vessel on which he arrived in the United States, and the immigration officer in charge at the port of arrival shall require any such seaman to depart on the vessel on which he arrived in the United States or on some other vessel leaving the United States, and may refuse to issue such seaman a landing certificate until he has complied with such requirement. Any seaman who fails to depart on the vessel or other vessel as required by the immigration officer in charge at the port of arrival shall be deported as provided in sections 19 and 20 of this Act. Any seaman who fails to depart on the vessel on which he arrived in the United States or on some other vessel leaving the United States, or who departs on a vessel other than the vessel on which he arrived in the United States without the permission of the immigration officer in charge at the port of arrival, shall be deported as provided in sections 19 and 20 of this Act, and in addition shall be subject to a penalty of $300 for each seaman in respect of whom such failure occurs. Any seaman who, after having been granted a landing certificate by the collector of customs, shall fail to report on board the vessel in time to sail therein, unless such failure is satisfactorily explained to the collector of customs, shall be subject to a penalty of $100 for each such failure. The Attorney General may, upon application in writing therefor, withdraw such landing certificate, and thereupon such seaman shall be subject to deportation in the same manner as if he had been originally granted permission to enter the United States as a seaman

IMPORTANT NOTICE TO MASTER

The list described below shall be prepared on blank forms approved by the Department and be ready for delivery to the immigration inspector boarding the vessel at the port of arrival, and shall in no instance be taken from the vessel. The list of changes of alien members of the crew (Form I-418) shall not be required on board, but shall be delivered by the master to the principal immigration officer at the port. When an arriving alien is a "stowaway" a notation to that effect should be made on the manifest. In order to facilitate inspection of aliens seeking, the master should see that all the members of the crew are assembled at the port of arrival; to this end coöperation on board is requested. The list of members of the crew should be arranged in the order as shown on the manifest, and each member should be identified by the number assigned to him on the list. When any member of the crew desires to depart temporarily from the vessel, written permission must be obtained from the master or officer in charge of the vessel. Any member of the crew who fails to return to the vessel at the time specified in such permission will be reported to the immigration officer at the port of arrival. Masters are required to report the illegal landing from the vessel, giving a description of such alien, together with any information likely to lead to his apprehension; and before the departure of any such vessel it shall be the duty of such owner, agent, consignee, or master to deliver to any such immigration officer at the port of departure all cases in which any such alien may have secreted himself on board. Masters are also requested to notify the Attorney General shall by legislation hereafter; and after the arrival of any such vessel it shall be the duty of such master, agent, consignee, or master to report to such immigration officer, in writing, as soon as discovered, all cases in which any such alien may have been concealed on board, but who may have left the vessel without inspection; and such master, agent, consignee, or master shall furnish such information as he may have concerning such alien, including his name, nationality, last residence, and destination, if known. Masters are also requested to deliver to the immigration officer at the port of departure a written manifest containing the names of all aliens employed or who were not employed thereon at the time of the arrival but who will leave port thereon at the time of departure, and also the names of those, if any, who have been employed but discharged, and the cause of such discharge. It shall be the duty of the master, agent, consignee, or master to report such cases of desertion or fraudulent, such owner, agent, consignee, or master as to deliver either of the aliens to the inspector in charge of the district in which the port of arrival is located the sum of $10 for each alien concerning whom correct lists are not delivered to a true report at such as above specified; and in the event such fine is imposed, while it remains unpaid; not shall such fine be remitted or refunded: Provided, That clearance may be granted prior to the determination of such question upon deposit of a sum sufficient to cover such fine.

ALIEN SEAMEN

SEC. 13. No alien seaman excluded from admission into the United States under the immigration laws and employed on board any vessel arriving in the United States from via place outside thereof, shall be permitted to land in the United States, except temporarily for medical treatment, or because of sickness or injury certified by the medical officer in charge at the port of debarkation to which such alien may be destined, and such alien seaman employed on such vessel shall the immigration officer in charge at the port of arrival and inspected such seaman (which inspection in all cases shall include a personal physical examination by the medical examiners), or who shall fail to obtain such inspection or to report such seaman if required by such immigration officer to the Attorney General to do so, shall pay to the collector of customs of the customs district in which the port of entry is located the sum of $10,000 for each alien seaman in respect of whom such failure occurs. No vessel shall be granted clearance pending the determination of the liability to payment of such fine, or while the fine remains unpaid, except that clearance may be granted prior to the determination as such question upon the deposit of a sum sufficient to cover such fine, or to a bond with sufficient surety to secure the payment thereof.

(d) Fines, fines, or alien seamen shall not apply to any vessel on which he arrived in the United States from via place outside thereof, to land at any temporary by the master of such vessel as a deserter, shall be prima facie evidence of a failure to deposit such temporary treatment by the immigration officer to the Attorney General.

(e) If the Attorney General finds that deportation of the alien seamen on the vessel on which he arrived would cause undue hardship to such seaman he such vessel is available to such seaman he such cause him to be deported on another vessel at the expense of the vessel on which he arrived, and such expense shall be collected as provided for the collection of the Attorney General.

SEC. 20. That upon arrival of any vessel in the United States from any foreign port or place it shall be the duty of the master, agent, consignee, or owner thereof to deliver to the principal immigration officer in charge of the port of arrival lists containing the names of all aliens employed on such vessel, stating the positions they respectively hold in the equipment, name and where they were respectively shipped or engaged, and specifying those to be paid off in the port of arrival; to make corrections in such lists and additions thereto, if any such aliens are discovered, in addition to those originally reported, at any time before the departure of such vessel from the port; and also to deliver to the said officer a list containing the names of all aliens employed by such vessel at the time of the arrival but who left such vessel prior thereto, with information likely to lead to the apprehension of such aliens. Such lists shall be delivered to the said officer at least twenty-four hours before the departure of any such vessel, except in case of vessels plying regularly between ports of the United States and ports of countries contiguous thereto, in which case such lists shall be delivered at such times before the departure of such vessels as may be prescribed by the Secretary of Labor. Any master, agent, consignee, or owner of any such vessel who refuses or neglects to deliver such lists, or who refuses or neglects to make corrections or additions thereto, or who refuses or neglects to detain on board such vessel any alien required by the provisions of this section to be specified in such lists, shall pay to the collector of customs for the district in which the port of arrival is located the sum of $10 for each alien concerning whom correct lists are not delivered, a fine not to exceed $1,000 for each alien specified in the lists, and in the event any alien is improperly landed from such vessel, shall pay a sum equivalent to the head tax imposed by section 2 of this Act in addition to any penalty that may be imposed. (39 Stat. 878–879; 8 U. S. C. 171.)

SEC. 13. No alien seaman excluded from admission into the United States under the immigration laws but employed on board any vessel arriving in the United States from any place outside thereof, shall be permitted to land in the United States, except temporarily for medical treatment, or unless and until in the opinion of the Secretary of Labor his presence is required as a witness in connection with the prosecution of persons charged with violating the immigration laws of the United States, or for the purpose of conforming to the requirements of the immigration laws relative to seamen, or pending arrangements for his departure and departure to a foreign port or place, or pending transportation to such foreign port or place, but shall be detained on board or at such other place as may be designated by the immigration officer in charge of the port. (43 Stat. 164, 8 U. S. C. 166.)

SEC. 30. (a) The owner, charterer, agent, consignee, or master of any vessel arriving in the United States from any place outside thereof who lands or allows to be landed on board any vessel any alien for the purpose of obtaining treatment for himself or for any member of the crew of such vessel, unless such alien is certified in advance by the Secretary of Labor, after such investigation as he may prescribe, to be entitled to such treatment, or who lands or allows to be landed any alien for the purpose of medical treatment, or who fails to detain on board any vessel any alien who has been certified in advance by the Secretary of Labor, after such investigation as he may prescribe, to be entitled to such treatment, shall pay for each such alien landed or allowed to be landed a sum not exceeding $1,000 as the Secretary of Labor may determine, and such vessel shall be liable for the payment of such sum and may be libeled therefor in the district court of the United States for the district in which the port of arrival is located. The Secretary of Labor may remit or refund any part of such sum paid or payable under this subdivision (a) whenever he is satisfied that the person in charge of such vessel has complied with such regulations governing the care and treatment of such alien as the Secretary of Labor may prescribe.

(b) Every alien seaman who shall land in the United States from any vessel arriving in the United States from any place outside thereof, or shall be found in the United States within five years after such landing, shall be deported in the manner provided by sections 19 and 20 of this Act, unless he shall establish to the satisfaction of the Secretary of Labor that he entered the United States with the bona fide intention of shipping and proceeding in good faith to the country of his nationality or of the country in which he resided and of which he was a subject, citizen, or denizen, and that he was prevented from shipping and proceeding in good faith to such country by reason of the refusal of the master of such vessel to permit him to ship and proceed to such country, or by reason of the failure of such vessel to proceed to such country within a reasonable time after the departure of such alien from the United States, or by reason of the failure of such vessel to carry such alien as a bona fide member of the crew from the United States to such country, or by reason of the fact that such alien was destitute and could not obtain the means to pay his passage to such country, or by reason of the fact that such alien was destitute and could not obtain the means to pay his passage to such country and was unable to secure employment sufficient to enable him to obtain the means to pay such passage, or by reason of any other cause or circumstance beyond his control. Any alien who shall be deported under the provisions of this subdivision (b) shall be deported to the country of his nationality or to the country in which he resided and of which he was a subject, citizen, or denizen, at the option of such alien, if such country will accept him, and if not, then to any country which will accept him. Any alien who shall be deported under the provisions of this subdivision (b) shall be deported at the expense of the appropriation for the enforcement of this Act. (43 Stat. 164–165, 8 U. S. C. 161 (a), 161 (b).)

IMPORTANT NOTICE TO MASTER

The list described below shall be prepared on blank forms approved by the Department and be ready for delivery to the immigration inspector posted at the port of arrival, but shall not be delivered on board, but shall be delivered by the master to the principal immigration officer at the port. When an alien seaman, including names of alternate American citizen seamen as well as aliens.

EXTRACT FROM ACT OF CONGRESS OF FEBRUARY 5, 1917, AS AMENDED

SEC. 36. That upon arrival of any vessel in the United States from any foreign port or place it shall be the duty of the master, purser, consignee, or agent of such vessel to deliver to the principal immigration officer in charge of the port of arrival lists containing the names of all aliens employed on such vessel, stating the position they respectively hold in the ship's company, when and where they were respectively shipped or enrolled, and specifying those who are to be landed in the port of arrival; and it shall be the duty of the master, purser, consignee, or agent of such vessel to report to such immigration officer, at such time as may be prescribed by the Attorney General, all cases in which any alien employed on board such vessel deserts or is discharged or otherwise leaves the vessel, stating the cause of such desertion or discharge, so far as known, and the final destination of such alien, together with such information in regard to the same as may be required by the Attorney General; and it shall be the duty of the master, purser, consignee, or agent of such vessel to report to such immigration officer, at such time as may be prescribed by the Attorney General, the name of any alien employed on board such vessel who may have been taken sick or injured during the period of employment, the name of the vessel from which such alien was taken, the name of the vessel, if any, on which such alien was subsequently employed, and the final destination of such alien, together with such information in regard to the same as may be required by the Attorney General; and it shall be the duty of the master, purser, consignee, or agent of such vessel to report to such immigration officer, at such time as may be prescribed by the Attorney General, the name of any alien employed on board such vessel who may have died during the period of employment, the cause of death, and the place of burial, together with such information in regard to the same as may be required by the Attorney General; and it shall be the duty of the master, purser, consignee, or agent of such vessel to report to such immigration officer, at such time as may be prescribed by the Attorney General, the name of any alien employed on board such vessel who may have been left behind in a foreign country, or who may have been lost sight of, together with such information in regard to the same as may be required by the Attorney General; and it shall be the duty of the master, purser, consignee, or agent of such vessel to report to such immigration officer, at such time as may be prescribed by the Attorney General, the name of any alien employed on board such vessel who may have been discharged in the port of arrival, together with such information in regard to the same as may be required by the Attorney General; and it shall be the duty of the master, purser, consignee, or agent of such vessel to deliver to the immigration officer in charge of the port of arrival a list containing the names of all aliens employed on such vessel who are to be landed at such port, and to report the sickness or death of any such alien during the time intervening between the arrival of such vessel at such port and the departure therefrom, and to deliver to such immigration officer a list containing the names of all aliens employed on such vessel who may have been left behind in a foreign country, or who may have been discharged in such port during the time intervening between the arrival of such vessel at such port and the departure therefrom, together with such information in regard to the same as may be required by the Attorney General. Any master, purser, consignee, or agent of any vessel who shall refuse or neglect to comply with any of the requirements of this section, or who shall refuse or neglect to answer any question put to him by any immigrant inspector in relation to any alien employed on such vessel, shall be punished by a fine of not more than $1,000 for each alien in respect of whom such failure occurs. No vessel shall be cleared while in default hereunder. The Attorney General may, in his discretion, refuse to grant clearance to any vessel in respect of which he has reason to believe that any of the requirements of this section have not been complied with, until a hearing upon the question of such compliance has been had before a special inquiry officer. All expenses incurred in connection with the boarding and search of vessels for the purposes of this section shall be audited and paid in the same manner as provided for the auditing and payment of other immigration expenses.

SEC. 30. (a) The master, charterer, agent, consignee, or purser of any vessel bringing to the United States from any place outside thereof (other than an alien crewman) any alien who is not in possession of a valid unexpired immigration visa, reentry permit, border crossing identification card, or other document authorized by the Attorney General and the Secretary of State, and valid for the admission of such alien under the immigration laws, or who is not in possession of a valid unexpired passport, or other suitable travel document, or document of identity and nationality if such document is required under the regulations issued by the Attorney General and the Secretary of State pursuant to section 212(d)(4) of this Act, shall pay to the collector of customs for the district in which the vessel arrives at the first port of entry in the United States a sum equal to the cost of returning such alien to the place from which he came to the United States by the most direct route, or to any place where such alien boarded such vessel for entry into the United States, whichever is the cost of the most direct route, and in addition, a sum equal to the cost of returning to such place in the manner prescribed above each alien in transit through the United States, in violation of this Act, who was destined to such place when such vessel arrived at the port of first arrival in the United States. If any such master, charterer, agent, consignee, or purser shall fail to detain any such alien on board any vessel after notification and demand by the Attorney General or any immigration officer, or if any such master, charterer, agent, consignee, or purser shall fail to pay the cost of returning any such alien as provided herein, such vessel and her tackle, furniture, apparel, boats, and cargo shall be liable to a lien for the payment of such cost, which lien may be enforced by libel in rem in the district court of the United States for the district within which such vessel may be found. Clearance shall not be granted any such vessel while such lien remains unsatisfied, but the Attorney General may, in his discretion, release any vessel detained hereunder upon the deposit with him of a sum sufficient to cover the cost of the return passage of such alien as provided herein.

(b) Every alien arriving at a port or place in the United States from any place outside thereof (other than an alien crewman) who does not present a valid immigration visa, reentry permit, border crossing identification card, or other document authorized by the Attorney General and the Secretary of State pursuant to section 212(d)(4) of this Act, shall be detained by the master, purser, consignee, or agent of the vessel on board or in charge of the vessel on which he arrives in the United States from any place outside thereof, and such alien shall not be permitted to land in the United States except upon written permission of the Attorney General or under such conditions as he may prescribe, pending a determination of the admissibility of the alien under the immigration laws. Such detention may be in the vessel or elsewhere, as the Attorney General may direct, and shall be at the expense of the master, purser, consignee, or agent of the vessel on which the alien arrives in the United States. Clearance of the vessel may be refused by the collector of customs pending the determination of the admissibility of any such alien.

(c) If the Attorney General has taken custody of an alien pursuant to subsection (b), and the alien is subsequently permitted to enter the United States, the Attorney General shall not refund any expenses paid by the master, purser, consignee, or agent of the vessel on which the alien arrived in the United States for the detention of the alien.

(43 Stat. 161–162, as amended; 8 U.S.C. 136 (a), (b), (c).)

ALIEN SEAMEN

SEC. 13. No alien seaman excluded from admission into the United States under the immigration laws shall be permitted to land temporarily for medical treatment, or because of illness of such alien seaman, unless the master, agent, owner, or consignee of the vessel in which such alien arrived from a place outside thereof shall have given a bond to the United States, in such sum and with such conditions as may be prescribed by the Attorney General, sufficient to indemnify the United States against the cost of maintenance, treatment, and return of such alien. Such bond shall not be required of any vessel which has deposited with the Attorney General a sum sufficient to cover the cost of maintenance, treatment, and return of all alien seamen employed on such vessel, as estimated by the Attorney General, and which has complied with all the requirements of this section and the regulations prescribed thereunder. Such deposit shall be refunded, or any unused balance thereof returned, to the depositor after the departure from the United States of all alien seamen employed on such vessel at the time of such deposit, or after adequate provision has been made for the return passage of such alien seamen.

SEC. 20. (a) The owner, charterer, agent, consignee, or master of any vessel bringing to the United States from any place outside thereof (except from a foreign contiguous territory) any alien who is not in possession of a valid unexpired immigration visa, reentry permit, border crossing identification card, or other document authorized by the Attorney General and the Secretary of State pursuant to section 212(d)(4) of this Act, shall be required to detain on board or at the port of arrival such alien pending a determination of the admissibility of the alien to land, and shall deliver any such alien upon the order of the Attorney General to the custody of the immigration officer in charge of the port for further examination or for hearing before a special inquiry officer. The Attorney General may prescribe the conditions under which such detention may be effected, and may require the owner, charterer, agent, consignee, or master of the vessel to take the alien to a place designated by him for detention pending such hearing or further examination, or to return the alien to the country whence he came, or to the country in which he resides, whichever the Attorney General may decide. The cost of detaining the alien on board or removing him from the vessel shall be borne by the owner, charterer, agent, consignee, or master of the vessel. Any such owner, charterer, agent, consignee, or master of any vessel who shall refuse or fail to comply with the requirements of this section, or with any lawful rules or regulations prescribed by the Attorney General to carry out the provisions of this section, or who shall refuse or fail to detain any alien on board any vessel when required so to do, shall pay to the collector of customs the sum of $1,000 for each alien in respect of whom any such failure occurs. No vessel shall be cleared while in default hereunder or while any question as to the liability to pay any such penalty is being investigated by the Attorney General. The Attorney General may, upon application in writing therefor, mitigate such penalty to not less than $300 for each alien in respect of whom any such failure occurs, upon such terms as the Attorney General in his discretion may deem just, and may refund any moneys collected in excess of the penalty as so mitigated. The Attorney General may, upon application in writing therefor, remit any penalty incurred under this section, or refund any moneys collected as a penalty hereunder, if he is satisfied that the vessel has arrived at a port in foreign territory contiguous to the United States and that the alien involved in the case has been returned to such territory, or that the alien was a stowaway who was not allowed to land in the United States, or that the vessel has been equipped with such approved appliances as will prevent the stowing away of aliens thereon, or that the vessel has been operated in such manner as to

Form I-418
U. S. DEPARTMENT OF JUSTICE
IMMIGRATION AND NATURALIZATION SERVICE
(Rev. 1-9-53)

IMPORTANT NOTICE TO MASTER

The list described below shall be prepared on blank forms approved by the Department and be kept for delivery to the immigration inspector pursuant the vessel at the port of arrival, and shall in no instance be taken from the vessel before the vessel has been granted pratique or cleared (Form I–418) shall not be furnished on board, but shall be delivered by the master to the principal immigration officer at the port. Where an arriving alien is a "witness," a notation to that effect should be made on the manifest. In order to facilitate inspection of alien seamen, include names of arriving American citizen seamen as well as aliens.

EXTRACT FROM ACT OF CONGRESS OF FEBRUARY 2, 1917, AS AMENDED

SEC. 38. That from arrival of the vessel in the United States from the foreign port to place it shall be the duty of the owner, agent, consignee, or master thereof to deliver to the principal immigration officer in charge of the port of arrival a complete list of all the aliens employed on such vessel, which list shall be prepared in the port of arrival; to have corrections in such list as to the aliens employed on such vessel, which information likely to lead to his apprehension; and to report to such immigration officer, as soon as discovered, all cases in which any such alien has illegally landed from the vessel, giving a description of such alien, together with any information likely to lead to his apprehension; and before the departure of the vessel it shall be the duty of such owner, agent, consignee, or master to deliver to such immigration officer a true list of all aliens employed on such vessel, agent, consignee, or master as to whether citizen of the United States, or alien, and if alien, whether a permanent resident, a temporary visitor, or in transit through the United States, and also the name of those, if any, who have been employed thereon at any time during the period of his employment, and the cause for the separation; and to report to such immigration officer the name of any alien employed on such vessel who shall desert while in the United States, and the cause therefor, if known, and the last known address of such alien; and to furnish such immigration officer with such other information in regard to such aliens employed on such vessel as may be required from time to time by the Commissioner of Immigration and Naturalization. Any master, agent, consignee, or owner of any such vessel who shall refuse or fail to comply with the requirements of this section shall pay to the collector of customs for the district in which such vessel shall arrive the sum of $300 for each and every such alien in respect of whom such failure occurs. The Attorney General may, upon application in writing therefor, remit or cancel any such fine, or any part thereof, upon such terms and conditions as he may deem just and proper. Such fines may be sued for and recovered by the United States of America in the district in which the vessel shall arrive or depart, and may be remitted or mitigated by the Attorney General upon such terms and conditions as he may deem just and proper.

(b) Every alien, not an alien seaman who did not depart upon the outbound manifest of the vessel on which he arrived in the United States from any place outside thereof, or alien seaman who did not depart upon the outbound manifest of the vessel on which he arrived in the United States to which he came prior to June 2, 1940.

(c) If the Attorney General finds that deportation of the alien seaman on the vessel on which he arrived would cause undue hardship to such alien seaman by reason of a mental condition, he may cause him to be deported on another vessel at the expense of the vessel on which he arrived, and such alien seaman shall not be granted clearance papers until such expense has been paid or its payment guaranteed to the satisfaction of the Attorney General.

(43 Stat. 164–165, as amd.; 8 U. S. C. 161 (a), (b), (c).)

ALIEN SEAMEN

SEC. 13. No alien seaman excluded from admission into the United States under the immigration laws shall be permitted to land in the United States, except temporarily for medical treatment, or pursuant to such regulations as the Attorney General may prescribe for such alien seamen entering the United States for the purpose of joining their vessels in foreign ports. (43 Stat. 161, 8 U. S. C. 166.)

SEC. 30. (a) The owner, charterer, agent, consignee, or master of any vessel bringing to the United States from any place outside thereof any alien (except an alien seaman who shall have been lawfully admitted to the United States and who is returning to the vessel on which he arrived after temporary shore leave granted by such immigration officer in charge at the port of arrival and an alien seaman who shall have been granted a visa by the consular officer at the port from which the vessel departed) who shall not have been inspected by the immigration officers at the time of application for admission or who may come to any place or port in the United States other than one designated for the entry of aliens coming on such vessel, shall be subject to a penalty of $1,000 for each alien so landed or brought, in addition to any other penalty prescribed by law. The Attorney General is authorized to remit or cancel any such fine, or any part thereof, upon such terms and conditions as he may deem just and proper. Such fines may be sued for and recovered by the United States of America in the district in which the vessel shall arrive or depart, and may be remitted or mitigated by the Attorney General upon such terms and conditions as he may deem just and proper. Such fines may be recovered by action of debt, and it shall be sufficient to aver that the defendant is indebted to the United States in the amount of the fine or fines sued for, stating the number of the vessel and the port at which the alien was landed or brought, and it shall not be necessary to name the alien or aliens landed or brought in the declaration or complaint. The Attorney General may, upon application in writing therefor, remit or cancel any such fine, or any part thereof,

IMPORTANT NOTICE TO MASTER

The list described below will be prepared on blank forms approved by the Department and be ready for delivery to the immigration inspector boarding vessel at the port of arrival, and shall in no instance be taken from the vessel. The list of changes of alien members of crews (Form 598) shall not be furnished on board, but shall be delivered by the master to the principal immigration officer at the port. When an arriving seaman is a "workaway," a notation to that effect should be made on the manifest.

EXTRACT FROM ACT OF CONGRESS OF FEBRUARY 2, 1917

SEC. 36. That upon arrival of any vessel in the United States from any foreign port or place it shall be the duty of the owner, agent, consignee, or master thereof to deliver to the principal immigration officer in charge of the port of arrival lists containing the names of all aliens employed on such vessel, stating the positions they respectively hold in the ship's company, when and where they were respectively shipped or engaged, and specifying those to be held on board while in the port; of those destined to land at the port of arrival; of those continuing on board to other ports, and of those who have been left behind at previous ports touched at; and it shall be the duty of the master of such vessel to report to such immigration officer, in writing, as soon as discovered, all cases in which any such alien has fallen ill or died, stating the name, nationality, and last residence of such alien, together with information likely to lead to his appREHension; and before the departure of any such vessel it shall be the duty of such owner, agent, consignee, or master to deliver to such immigration officer a further list containing the names of all aliens employed upon new or changed routes not mentioned in the lists last theretofore delivered, and also the names of those, if any, who have been discharged, and of all cases of illness or death of aliens which may have occurred since the last list was delivered; and it shall be the duty of the master of such vessel to report to such immigration officer, in writing, the name, nationality, last residence, and destination of each alien who may desert while in port, and the circumstances connected therewith, so far as known; and for each and every failure to perform the duties imposed by this section such owner, agent, consignee, or master shall pay to the collector of customs of the customs district in which the port of arrival is located the sum of $10 for each alien concerning whom correct lists are not delivered or a true report is not made as above required: Provided, That clearance may be granted prior to the determination of such question upon deposit of a sum sufficient to cover such tax.

EXTRACT FROM SUBDIVISION B, RULE 7

PAR. 2. Clearance shall not be granted any vessel until the lists required by section 36 of the Act of February 2, 1917, have been furnished, and not then unless notice to liquidate to the administrative unit prescribed by said section or to that prescribed by section 38 of said Act, has been given, and in the event such time is imposed, while it remains pending: not shall such time be remitted or refunded: Provided, That clearance may be granted prior to the determination of such question upon deposit of a sum sufficient to cover such tax.

EXTRACT FROM ACT OF CONGRESS APPROVED MAY 26, 1924

ALIEN SEAMEN

SEC. 10. No alien seaman excluded from admission into the United States under the immigration laws and employed on board any vessel arriving in the United States from any place outside thereof, shall be permitted to land in the United States, except temporarily for medical treatment, or because of shipwreck or other casualty or for such reasons as the Secretary of Labor may prescribe for the ultimate departure, removal, or deportation of such alien from the United States.

SEC. 35. (a) The owner, charterer, agent, consignee, or master of any vessel arriving in the United States from any place outside thereof, or any person in charge at the port of arrival (which inspection in all cases shall include a personal physical examination by the medical examiner), to who fails to detain such seaman on board while such inspection is had, or who fails to report the illness or death of any seaman (which inspection officer or the Secretary of Labor do so do, shall pay to the collector of customs of the customs district in which the port of arrival is located the sum of $1,000 for each alien seaman in respect of whom such failure occurs. No vessel shall be granted clearance pending the determination of the liability to payment of such sum, or while the same remains unpaid, except that clearance may be granted prior to the payment thereof upon the deposit with the collector of customs of a sum sufficient to cover such sum or a bond with sufficient surety to secure the payment thereof approved by the collector of customs.

(b) Proof that an alien seaman did not appear upon the outgoing manifest of the vessel on which he arrived in the United States from any place outside thereof, or that he was reported by the master of such vessel as a deserter, shall be prima facie evidence of a failure to detain such seaman on board while in port.

(c) If the Secretary of Labor finds that deportation of the alien seaman or the vessel on which he arrived, and such vessel cannot be detained by reason of any cause other than the failure of the master to detain such seaman on board, the master shall pay a penalty not exceeding $1,000 to be fixed by the Secretary of Labor.

I, [illegible] A. Ayer, master of the [illegible] Arabia, do declare that the foregoing is a full and true list of all the crew promptly to be said vessel from any port or place during my present voyage; I have noted the copy of section 36 of the Act of February 2, 1917, extract from application B, rule 7, and copy of sections 15 and 50, Act of May 26, 1924, which appear below.

SEC. 36. That upon arrival of any vessel in the United States from any foreign port or place it shall be the duty of the owner, agent, master, commander, or consignee of any vessel bringing an alien to the United States from any foreign port or place to deliver to the immigrant inspector at the port of arrival a complete manifest, in duplicate, of all aliens destined to the United States who are embarked at the port of departure, which manifest shall be prepared at the time of sailing from the last port, and shall contain such information as may be required by the Commissioner General of Immigration, with the approval of the Secretary of Labor, touching each and every alien on board, whether a citizen or subject of the United States or not, and such additional information relative thereto as may be required by the rules and regulations prescribed hereunder. The manifest shall be signed and sworn to before the immigrant inspector at the port of arrival by the master or commander of the vessel or by the purser, surgeon, or chief officer thereof, who shall, if required, be examined touching the information given therein. Such manifest shall show the full name, age, sex, calling or occupation, nationality, last permanent residence, final destination, whether in possession of a ticket through to destination, whether the alien has been in the United States previously and if so when and how long ago, whether going to join a relative or friend, and if so what relative or friend and his name and complete address, whether in possession of money and if so how much, whether ever before in prison or almshouse or supported by charity, whether a polygamist, whether coming by reason of any offer, solicitation, promise, agreement, or assistance of any kind to perform labor in the United States, whether in addition to the cost of transportation the alien has paid for the same or has any part thereof paid by any other person or corporation, society, or government, and if so what person or corporation, society, or government, whether the alien is joining a husband, father, or other relative in the United States and if so what relative and his name and complete address, whether the alien intends to return to his native country after temporary residence in the United States, whether the alien is a polygamist, whether the alien is an anarchist, whether the alien believes in or advocates or is connected with the practice of assassination of public officials, whether the alien is coming in pursuance of a previously existing contract, and if so what the contract is or was, whether the alien has ever been in prison or almshouse or supported by charity, whether the alien is under contract or agreement to perform labor in the United States, and if so what the contract or agreement is, whether the alien is a skilled laborer or farmer, and if so what his occupation is, whether the alien is deformed or crippled, and if so how long and for what reason, the height, complexion, color of hair and eyes, and marks of identification of each alien, whether the alien is a citizen of the United States, and if so whether by birth or naturalization, the name, birthplace, and last residence of the alien's father and mother, and whether the alien has a husband or wife living, and if so his or her name and complete address. The manifest shall contain such other information as may be required by the Commissioner General of Immigration with the approval of the Secretary of Labor. Any master, commander, or consignee of any vessel who refuses or neglects to deliver such manifest, or who knowingly or willfully delivers a false manifest, or who refuses to allow any immigrant inspector to go on board of such vessel for the purpose of inspecting the manifest and the aliens destined to the United States, or who refuses to deliver to the immigrant inspector at the port of arrival a list containing the names of all aliens employed on such vessel, showing the positions they respectively held in the ship's company, when and where they were respectively shipped or engaged, and discharged, in addition to the information required to be furnished in the port of arrival; or who refuses to allow any immigrant inspector to board such vessel for the purpose of inspecting the same and the manifest thereof, or to come to such immigration officer in charge of the port of arrival in order to enable the inspection of the alien passengers on such vessel, shall pay to the collector of customs of the customs district in which the port of arrival is located the sum of $300 for each alien concerning whom any such omission occurs, or in respect of whom such failure occurs as the Attorney General in his discretion shall think proper. This section, as amended, shall apply to all vessels which shall not depart from the outboard limits of the vessel on which the prima facie evidence of a failure to deliver such list or any part thereof as may be required by the immigration officer at the port of arrival, and such vessel shall not be granted clearance until such expense has been paid or its payment guaranteed to the satisfaction of the Attorney General.

(c) If the Attorney General shall deem it to be desirable for the collection of head taxes provided for in this section, he may require the owner, agent, master, commander, or consignee of any vessel bringing an alien to the United States to furnish a bond in such amount as he may deem necessary, not exceeding $300 for each alien concerning whom any such omission occurs, conditioned upon the production of such alien before the proper immigration officer at the port of arrival, and upon the payment of the head tax provided for in this section, or the delivery of such alien for deportation, as required by the immigration officer in charge at the port of arrival, or by the Attorney General, or his designated agent, or upon the giving of such alien by the master, commander, or consignee of the vessel bringing him to the United States a landing certificate or permit duly executed by the proper immigration officer at the port of intended debarkation, or by the Attorney General, or his designated agent, and upon the payment of the head tax provided for in this section, or the delivery of such alien for deportation, as required by the immigration officer in charge at the port of arrival, or by the Attorney General, or his designated agent, and upon the payment of the head tax provided for in this section, or the delivery of such alien for deportation, as required by the immigration officer in charge at the port of arrival, or by the Attorney General, or his designated agent, the bond shall be void and shall be surrendered and canceled. The Attorney General may, upon application in writing received prior to the date of the expiration of any such bond, extend the time of the bond for a period not exceeding six months, and may in his discretion, upon the production of such additional evidence as he may require, cancel any such bond and direct that no head tax be collected in respect of any alien therein named who shall thereafter be regularly admitted to the United States. Upon the failure to produce any such alien when required, or the payment of the head tax provided for in this section, or the delivery of such alien for deportation, as required by the immigration officer in charge at the port of arrival, or by the Attorney General, or his designated agent, the bond shall be forfeited and collected by suit or otherwise, and may be remitted or mitigated by the Attorney General upon such terms as he shall deem just and reasonable, and shall be paid into the Treasury of the United States and shall be available for the same purposes and in the same manner as head taxes collected from vessels entering ports of the United States.

ALIEN SEAMEN

SEC. 13. No alien seaman excluded from admission into the United States under the immigration laws and employed on board any vessel arriving in the United States from any place outside thereof, or transported to such destination on the Attorney General's own discretion in the ultimate deportation of such alien from the United States. (43 Stat. 164, 8 U. S. C. 166.)

SEC. 20. (a) The owner, charterer, agent, consignee, or master of any vessel arriving in the United States from any place outside thereof who fails to detain such seaman on board until the immigration officer in charge at the port of arrival has inspected such seaman, or who fails to detain on board any alien seaman employed on such vessel until the immigration officer has given notice in writing that such alien seaman may be landed, or who fails to detain on board any alien seaman after such inspection or to deport such seaman if required by such immigration officer at the time of departure of such vessel from the United States, shall pay to the collector of customs of the customs district in which the port of arrival is located the sum of $1,000 for each alien seaman in respect of whom such failure occurs. No vessel shall be granted clearance until the determination of the liability to payment of such fine, or while the fine remains unpaid, except that clearance may be granted prior to the determination upon the deposit of such sum, or while the fine remains unpaid, upon application in writing therefor, which application shall contain a statement of the facts of the case. The Attorney General may, upon application in writing received prior to the date of the expiration of any such bond, extend the time of the bond for a period not exceeding six months, and may in his discretion, upon the production of such additional evidence as he may require, cancel any such bond and direct that no fine be collected in respect of any alien therein named who shall thereafter be regularly admitted to the United States. Upon the failure to produce any such alien when required, or the payment of the fine provided for in this section, or the delivery of such alien for deportation, as required by the immigration officer in charge at the port of arrival, or by the Attorney General, or his designated agent, the bond shall be forfeited and collected by suit or otherwise, and may be remitted or mitigated by the Attorney General upon such terms as he shall deem just and reasonable, and shall be paid into the Treasury of the United States and shall be available for the same purposes and in the same manner as head taxes collected from vessels entering ports of the United States.

ALIEN SEAMEN

SEC. 19. No alien seaman excluded from admission into the United States under the immigration laws and employed on board any vessel arriving in the United States from any place outside thereof, shall be permitted to land in the United States, except temporarily for medical treatment, or pursuant to such regulations as the Attorney General may prescribe for the alternate detention of such alien seamen on board such vessel or at a station in the discretion of the Attorney General, or for removal, or for hospitalization in connection with any such removal proceedings. (43 Stat. 164; 8 U. S. C. 169.)

SEC. 30. (a) The owner, charterer, agent, consignee, or master of any vessel arriving in the United States from any place outside thereof who fails to detain on board any alien seaman employed on such vessel until the immigration officer in charge at the port of arrival has inspected such seaman (which inspection in all cases shall include a personal physical examination by the medical examiner), or who fails to detain such seaman on board after such inspection or to deport such seaman if required by such immigration officer or the Attorney General to do so, shall pay to the collector of customs of the customs district in which the port of arrival is located the sum of $1,000 for each alien seaman in respect of whom such failure occurs. No vessel shall be granted clearance pending the determination of the liability to payment of such fine, or while the fine remains unpaid, except that clearance may be granted prior to the determination of such question upon the deposit of a sum sufficient to cover such fine, or of a bond with sufficient surety to secure the payment thereof approved by the collector of customs. The Attorney General may, upon application in writing therefor, mitigate such penalty to not less than $300 for each seaman in respect of whom such failure occurs. Such application must be made within four months from the date of the determination of the fine. This section, as amended, shall apply to all penalties arising independently on and after June 2, 1924.

(b) Proof that an alien seaman did not depart upon the outgoing manifest of the vessel on which he arrived in the United States from any place outside thereof, or that he was reported by the master of such vessel as a deserter, shall be prima facie evidence of a failure to detain or deport after readmittance by the immigration officer or the Attorney General.

(c) If the Attorney General finds that deportation of the alien seaman on the vessel on which he arrived would cause undue hardship to such seaman or such vessel, he may grant a temporary permit to such alien seaman to depart on a vessel other than the one on which he arrived, and such seaman shall not be treated as having violated the provisions of the immigration laws. Any such seaman who fails to depart within the time specified in such permit shall be deported as provided in this section. (43 Stat. 161–162, as amended; 8 U. S. C. 191 (a), (b), (c).)

IMPORTANT NOTICE TO MASTER

The list described below shall be prepared on plank forms approved by the Department and be ready for delivery to the immigration inspector promptly upon the vessel at the port of arrival, but shall in no instance be taken from the vessel. The list of aliens memorandum, or crewmen (Form I–418) shall not be furnished on board, but shall be delivered by the master to the principal immigration officer at the port. When an alien seaman is it "workaway," a notation to that effect should be made on the manifest. In order to facilitate inspection of alien seamen, include names of arriving American citizen seamen as well as aliens.

SEC. 26. Any person arriving at any seaport in the United States from any foreign port or place is shall be the duty of the owner, agent, consignee, or master thereof to deliver to the principal immigration officer in charge of the port of arrival list containing the names of all aliens employed on such vessel, stating the positions they respectively hold in the ship's company, where born where they were respectively shipped or engaged, and description of each of such aliens, together with such information as may be required by the Attorney General in the form of the list of aliens required to be delivered by the master of vessels arriving in the United States from foreign ports. Any such master, owner, agent, consignee, or master to report to such immigration officer, in writing, as soon as discovered, all cases in which any such alien has illegally landed from the vessel, giving a description of such alien, together with information likely to lead to his apprehension; and to deliver a further list containing the names of all alien employees who were not employed thereon at the time of the arrival but who shall leave port thereon at the time of the departure, and also the names of those, if any, who have been paid off and discharged, but who cannot be landed; and in case of the failure of such owner, agent, consignee, or master to deliver either list to the satisfaction of the immigration officer, or in case of the failure of such owner, agent, consignee, or master so to deliver either list, he shall pay to the collector of customs of the customs district in which the port of arrival is located the sum of $10 for each alien concerning whom correct information is not delivered to a true report is not made as above required: and on such vessel shall be granted clearance until such sum is paid or satisfied or returned: Provided, That clearance may be granted prior to the determination of such question upon deposit of a sum sufficient to cover such fine. (39 Stat. 880–881; 8 U. S. C. 191.)

ALIEN SEAMEN

SEC. 10. No alien seaman excluded from admission into the United States under the immigration laws and employed on board any vessel arriving in the United States from any place outside thereof, shall be permitted to land in the United States, except temporarily for medical treatment, or because of illness, until the master, owner, agent, consignee, or charterer of such vessel has given a bond to the collector of customs of the district in which the vessel shall arrive, in the penal sum of $300 for each alien seaman, conditioned to indemnify the United States against the hospital expenses of such alien seaman, and to guarantee that such alien seaman will depart from the United States from such place or places as may be designated by the Commissioner of Immigration, and will pay the cost of his maintenance while in the United States pending such departure, and will not apply for admission to the United States within two years from the date of his departure: Provided, That seamen employed on board vessels touching at ports of the United States solely in the course of trade between the Canal Zone, Porto Rico, Hawaii, or the Virgin Islands and ports of the United States may be granted shore leave without the requirement of a bond: Provided further, That seamen employed on board vessels touching at ports of the United States solely in the course of trade between the Philippine Islands and ports of the United States may be granted shore leave under such regulations as may be prescribed by the Commissioner of Immigration with the approval of the Secretary of Labor, and the bond required by this section shall not be required as to such seamen while they are on such shore leave: And provided further, That the master, owner, agent, consignee, or charterer of any vessel arriving at a port of the United States from any place outside thereof may, in lieu of the bond required by this section, deposit with the collector of customs of such port a sum sufficient in the opinion of the Commissioner of Immigration to cover the cost of maintenance of such alien seaman while in the United States and his return passage, but not exceeding $300 for each seaman, and the deposit of such sum shall relieve such vessel and the master, owner, agent, consignee, or charterer thereof from any further liability for such seaman. The Attorney General may, upon the recommendation of the Commissioner of Immigration, cancel any such bond or return any deposit, or part thereof, when satisfied that the purpose of the bond or deposit no longer exists.

(a) The owner, charterer, agent, consignee, or master of any vessel violating the provisions of this section shall be fined $1,000 for each alien seaman in respect to whom such violation occurs. No vessel shall be granted clearance pending the determination of the question of the liability to the payment of such fine, and such fine shall constitute a lien upon such vessel which may be enforced by libel in the district court of the United States for the district in which such vessel may be found. Clearance may be granted prior to the determination of such question upon the deposit with the collector of customs of a sum sufficient to pay such fine, or upon the giving of a bond with sufficient surety to secure such payment, approved by the collector of customs. The Attorney General may, upon the recommendation of the Commissioner of Immigration, remit or cancel any such fine, or any part thereof, if he is satisfied that the violation of this section occurred without fault on the part of the master, owner, agent, consignee, or charterer of the vessel.

(b) Every alien seaman who shall land in the United States from any vessel arriving in the United States, except those employed on board vessels touching at ports of the United States solely in the course of trade between the Canal Zone, Porto Rico, Hawaii, or the Virgin Islands and ports of the United States, shall be examined before a medical officer of the Public Health Service as to the condition of his health, and shall be detained for such period as may be necessary for such examination. Every alien seaman who shall be certified by the medical officer to be suffering from any disease, sickness, or infirmity which will render him a public charge, or which will endanger the public health, shall be deported in the manner provided by section 20 of the Immigration Act of 1917 (39 Stat. 889; 8 U. S. C. 156), and the cost of his maintenance while detained by the Public Health Service and of his deportation shall be borne by the owner of the vessel on which he arrived in the United States. (43 Stat. 164; 8 U. S. C. 166.)

SEC. 20. (a) The owner, charterer, agent, consignee, or master of any vessel bringing to the United States from any place outside thereof (other than from foreign contiguous territory) any alien, whether a stowaway or otherwise, who at the time of application for admission is found to be unable to establish to the satisfaction of the immigration officer that he is not subject to exclusion under any of the provisions of this Act, shall be fined $1,000 for each alien seaman, and in addition shall be liable to the United States for the cost of maintenance of each alien seaman pending the final determination of his case, and for the cost of his deportation if he is finally ordered deported. Clearance shall not be granted any vessel until the immigration officer in charge at the port of arrival shall certify that the master, owner, agent, consignee, or charterer of such vessel has complied with the provisions of this section. Clearance may be granted prior to the determination of the question of the liability to the payment of such fine, and such fine shall constitute a lien upon such vessel which may be enforced by libel in the district court of the United States for the district in which such vessel may be found. Clearance may be granted upon the deposit with the collector of customs of a sum sufficient to pay such fine, or upon the giving of a bond with sufficient surety to secure such payment, approved by the collector of customs. The Attorney General may, upon the recommendation of the Commissioner of Immigration, remit or cancel any such fine, or any part thereof, if he is satisfied that the violation of this section occurred without fault on the part of the master, owner, agent, consignee, or charterer of the vessel.

(b) Every alien seaman who shall land in the United States from any vessel arriving in the United States, except those employed on board vessels touching at ports of the United States solely in the course of trade between the Canal Zone, Porto Rico, Hawaii, or the Virgin Islands and ports of the United States, shall be examined before a medical officer of the Public Health Service as to the condition of his health, and shall be detained for such period as may be necessary for such examination. Every alien seaman who shall be certified by the medical officer to be suffering from any disease, sickness, or infirmity which will render him a public charge, or which will endanger the public health, shall be deported in the manner provided by section 20 of the Immigration Act of 1917 (39 Stat. 889; 8 U. S. C. 156), and the cost of his maintenance while detained by the Public Health Service and of his deportation shall be borne by the owner of the vessel on which he arrived in the United States. (43 Stat. 164; 8 U. S. C. 166.)

IMPORTANT NOTICE TO MASTER

The list described below shall be prepared on blank forms approved by the Department and be ready for delivery to the immigration inspector posting the vessel at the port of arrival, but shall in no instance be taken from the vessel. The list of changes of alien members or of crews (Form I-418) shall not be received on board, but shall be delivered by the master to the principal immigration officer at the port. When an arriving alien is a "workaway" a notation to that effect should be made on the manifest. In order to facilitate inspection of alien seamen, include names of arriving American citizen seamen as well as aliens.

EXTRACT FROM ACT OF CONGRESS OF FEBRUARY 5, 1917, AS AMENDED

SEC. 30. That upon arrival of any vessel in the United States from any foreign port or place it shall be the duty of the owner, agent, consignee, or master thereof to deliver to the principal immigration officer in charge of the port of arrival a list containing the names of all aliens who may be employed on such vessel, showing the position they respectively hold in the port's company, when last where they were respectively shipped or engaged, and specifying those of no bona fide American nationality who are destined to the United States; to prevent the departure of any such vessel if listed as the duty of such owner, agent, consignee, or master to deliver to such immigration officer a further list containing the names of any alien employees who were not employed thereon at the time of the arrival but who may thereafter join such vessel at any foreign port or place, and also the names of those who were employed as such but who have been discharged, and the cause of their discharge, and to prevent the departure of any such vessel if listed as the duty of such owner, agent, consignee, or master to deliver to such immigration officer a further list containing the names of all alien employees who were not employed thereon at the time of the arrival but who may thereafter join such vessel at any foreign port or place, and also the names of those who have been discharged, and the cause of their discharge, and to prevent the departure of any such vessel if listed as the duty of such owner, agent, consignee, or master to deliver within two hours after the departure of such vessel a true list of all persons employed thereon at the time of such departure, and also the names of all persons who have been discharged as aforesaid, and the cause of their discharge, so far as known to such owner, agent, consignee, or master, and to prevent the departure of such vessel from any port in the United States to any foreign port or place if the master, owner, agent, consignee, or person in charge thereof knowingly or willfully shall have or cause to be brought on board such vessel at such port or place any alien stowaway, or any alien who has been refused a visa to enter the United States, or any alien who has been ordered by the Secretary of Labor to be detained on board or at the port of arrival pending the final determination of his right to land in the United States, unless such stowaway or alien has been granted a visa by the proper consular officer and permission to land by the Secretary of Labor, or unless such alien is in possession of a duly executed certificate issued by the Secretary of Labor to the master, owner, agent, consignee, or person in charge of such vessel, to the effect that such alien has been duly admitted to the United States or has been granted the right to depart from the United States to Canada or Mexico and return, and specifying those so granted, and specifying those to whom such certificates have been issued, and the names of all aliens employed on such vessel, showing the positions they respectively hold in the ports of arrival; to cause detained on board of such vessel any alien who may be found thereon in violation of any of the provisions of this section, and to report the illegal landing of any alien from any such vessel, stating the position such alien held on board, and to cause the arrest of any such alien prior to the departure of such vessel from any port of the United States; and to prevent the departure of any such vessel from any port of the United States to any foreign port or place if the master, owner, agent, consignee, or person in charge thereof has knowingly or willfully landed from the vessel, prior to examination by the proper immigration officer, at the port of arrival, any alien who may be destined to the United States, except in the case of sickness or accident, or the death of such alien, or the rescue of shipwrecked persons, or the escape of prisoners from justice, or stowaways, or refugees from persecution, and in such cases to report the facts to the proper immigration officer at the port of arrival as soon as possible; to deliver to the proper immigration officer at the port of arrival a full and complete list of all persons on board such vessel, showing the names in full, ages, sex, and last permanent residence of all such persons, whether citizens or aliens, who may have been landed from such vessel at any foreign port or place touched at during the voyage, and the reasons for landing such persons, and the names, ages, sex, and last permanent residence of all persons on board such vessel who may die during the voyage, and the cause of death; to deliver to the proper immigration officer at the port of arrival a full and complete list of all persons who may be on board such vessel when she departs from the United States, which list shall show the names in full, ages, sex, and last permanent residence of all persons who may be on board such vessel when she departs from the United States, and the reasons why they intend to depart from the United States, and such additional information relative to such persons as may be required by the Secretary of Labor; to detain on board such vessel, when ordered by the Secretary of Labor, any alien who may be about to depart from the United States in violation of law; to prevent the unauthorized departure of any such vessel from the limits of any port of the United States; to prevent any person, except the master, owner, agent, consignee, or person in charge of such vessel, from going on board such vessel while she remains at quarantine or in customs custody, except a physician or customs officer, until she has been duly admitted to entry or cleared at the customhouse; to prevent any person from going on board such vessel after she has been cleared at the customhouse and before she has passed the limits of the port, except customs officers and pilots; to prevent any person, except customs officers, from remaining on board such vessel after she has passed the limits of the port unless upon written permission from the collector of customs or his authorized representative; and to prevent any vessel from departing from any port of the United States while any inspection, detention, or other proceeding is pending before the Department of Labor, or any appeal or application for review is undetermined, or any fine, penalty, or exaction imposed upon such vessel is unpaid or sufficient security therefor is not given.

SEC. 31. No alien seaman excluded from admission into the United States under the immigration laws and employed on board any vessel arriving in the United States from any place outside thereof, shall be permitted to land in the United States, except temporarily for medical treatment, or hospitalization as the Attorney General may prescribe for the multimate deportee, temporarily, or for such length of time as the immigration officer in charge at the port of arrival may deem necessary, the deposit by the master, owner, agent, consignee, or person in charge of such vessel of a sum sufficient to cover the full cost of maintenance and treatment, pending the departure of such alien seaman on board such vessel or another vessel, and a bond with sufficient surety to secure the performance thereof, in such amount, not exceeding $1,000 for each alien seaman, as may be required by the Secretary of Labor. No vessel shall be granted clearance pending the determination of the question of the admissibility of any alien seaman, or pending the removal of any such alien seaman who has been found inadmissible, except that clearance may be granted prior to the determination of such question upon the deposit of a sum sufficient to cover the full cost of maintenance and treatment pending such determination and removal, or the deposit of a sum sufficient to cover such cost and a bond with sufficient surety to secure the performance thereof, in such amount, not exceeding $1,000 for each alien seaman in respect of whom such action occurs, upon such terms as the Attorney General in his discretion shall find just. Any such bond may be sued for and recovered by the United States for the use of the Secretary of Labor in the event of the failure of the master, owner, agent, consignee, or person in charge of the vessel on which such alien seaman arrived to perform any obligation imposed upon him by this section, as amended, and shall apply to all deportable aliens irrespective of the date of their entry into the United States from foreign contiguous territory, or from adjacent islands, or otherwise.

(f) Every alien who shall not be clearly and beyond a doubt entitled to admission to the United States shall be detained in custody pending inspection, examination, and decision as to his right to land, which decision shall be rendered within the statutory period of two days, unless such period be extended in the discretion of the Commissioner of Immigration and Naturalization for an additional period not exceeding one day, in cases where such action is deemed necessary: Provided, That the Commissioner of Immigration and Naturalization, in his discretion and under such rules and regulations as he may prescribe, shall have power to parole into the United States temporarily under bond, in an amount not less than $500, any alien applying for admission, but not clearly and beyond a doubt entitled to admission, pending decision as to whether he may be allowed to enter the United States or shall be deported in pursuance of law: Provided further, That any alien who has been admitted to the United States shall not be returned without a hearing if subsequently arrested and deported within one year after entry as being in the United States in violation of law, unless (1) at the time of entry he was in the possession of an unexpired immigration visa or other document required by this Act, or (2) he entered with a nonimmigrant visa or border crossing card and was admitted as a nonimmigrant, or (3) he was admitted as an immigrant while in possession of a nonquota immigration visa authorized to be issued under section 4(d) of the Immigration Act of 1924, or (4) he was admitted as a returning resident under section 4(b) of the Immigration Act of 1924, or (5) he was admitted as an alien crewman and reported and departed with the vessel on which he arrived, or (6) he was admitted in transit through the United States under agreements authorized by section 23 of the Immigration Act of 1924, or (7) he was admitted as an alien lawfully entitled to enter the United States under and in pursuance of the provisions of a treaty or convention other than a consular convention heretofore or hereafter made and entered into by the United States, or (8) he was admitted as an alien entitled to enter the United States solely to carry on trade under and in pursuance of the provisions of a present existing treaty of commerce and navigation between the United States and the foreign state of which he is a national, and is admissible under the immigration laws as a nonquota immigrant, or (9) he was admitted as a bona fide alien visitor for pleasure or as a bona fide alien visitor in transit to and from foreign contiguous territory, or adjacent islands, and is admissible under the immigration laws, or (10) he was admitted as a bona fide alien student and is admissible under the immigration laws as a nonquota immigrant: Provided, That any alien who shall enter the United States in violation of this section shall be deported as provided in section 19 hereof.

(g) If the Attorney General finds that deportation of the alien seaman or the vessel on which he arrived will be unduly prejudicial to the interests of the United States, he may, in his discretion, permit the temporary withdrawal of the vessel's manifest of the alien seaman for the purpose of obtaining his testimony, and such vessel may depart from the United States without the alien seaman, upon the deposit of such sum and the giving of such bond as may be required by the Secretary of Labor to guarantee the return of such alien seaman when required.

(43 Stat. 161–162, as amended, 8 U. S. C. Supp. VII, (d), (e), (f), (g).)

ALIEN SEAMEN

SEC. 13. (a) The owner, charterer, agent, consignee, or master of any vessel arriving in the United States from any place outside thereof, or any person who shall bring into the United States from any place outside thereof any alien seaman, who is refused a visa by the consular officer to whom application therefor is made, or who is excluded from admission into the United States by the immigration officers at the port of arrival, shall be fined not more than $1,000 for each such alien seaman so refused a visa or excluded from admission, and may be imprisoned not more than one year. Such fine may be remitted or mitigated by the Secretary of Labor upon the deposit of such alien seaman in a hospital for observation and treatment, or upon the deposit of a sum sufficient to cover the cost of such observation and treatment, not exceeding $300 in any case, and upon the giving of a bond with sufficient surety, in such amount not exceeding $1,000 for each alien seaman, as may be required by the Secretary of Labor, conditioned upon the return of such alien seaman when required for examination, or upon the final disposition of his case, or upon his departure on a vessel bound for a foreign port from which he arrived in the United States, or upon the deposit of such sum and the giving of such bond as may be required by the Secretary of Labor to guarantee the payment of such fine, and, in the event such fine is imposed, while it remains unpaid: Provided, That such fine may be remitted or mitigated, and such deposit refunded, in the discretion of the Secretary of Labor upon the deposit of a sum sufficient to cover such fine. SEC. 36. That upon arrival of any vessel at the United States from any foreign port or place it shall be the duty of the owner, agent, consignee, or master, further to deliver to the principal immigration officer in charge of the port of arrival lists containing the names of all persons on board such vessel, stating the nationality, last residence, and destination of each such person who intends to enter the United States, and such other information as may be required by the Secretary of Labor, and such lists shall be verified by the oath of the master or commanding officer of such vessel, and shall be delivered in the port of entry to the immigrant inspector at the time of the vessel's entry into such port, or, if the vessel be not then entered, then before she shall be entered at the port: Provided, That the master, owner, agent, consignee, or charterer of any vessel bringing an alien who is not in possession of a valid unexpired immigrant visa, or who is not in possession of a valid unexpired nonimmigrant visa, when such visa is required by this Act, or who is not in possession of a valid unexpired passport, or other travel document in lieu thereof, when such passport or document is required by this Act, shall be subject to the penalties prescribed in section 10 of this Act. The master of any vessel upon which an alien stowaway is found shall be subject to the provisions of section 10 of this Act, and such alien stowaway shall be treated in accordance with the provisions of section 19 of this Act. Upon the refusal of any master, owner, agent, consignee, or charterer of any vessel to deliver the lists required by this section, or upon the refusal of any master of any vessel to deliver to any immigrant inspector any list required by section 12 of this Act, such master, owner, agent, consignee, or charterer shall pay to the collector of customs for the district in which the port of arrival is located the sum of $10 for each alien concerning whom correct lists are not delivered, and no vessel shall be granted clearance papers until this penalty has been paid or remitted by the Secretary of the Treasury: Provided, That clearance may be granted prior to the determination of such question upon the deposit of a sum sufficient to cover such fine. (39 Stat. 898–899; 8 U. S. C. 171.)

ALIEN SEAMEN

SEC. 18. No alien seaman excluded from admission into the United States under the immigration laws and no person who has been admitted to the United States from any place outside thereof, shall be permitted to land in the United States, except temporarily to secure treatment in the United States from any place outside thereof, shall be permitted to land in the United States from any vessel arriving in the United States from any place outside thereof, or intending to depart therefrom, or proceeding to any destination in the United States, or to depart therefrom, for hospital treatment, or for any other purpose satisfactory to the Secretary of Labor, under such rules and regulations as the Secretary may prescribe, and under such bond as may be required to insure the maintenance of such alien while in the United States and his departure therefrom, if he is destined to a foreign port, or his return to the port from which he came to the United States, if he came as a seaman, or his deportation if he remains unlawfully in the United States. (43 Stat. 164, 8 U. S. C. 203.)

SEC. 20. (a) The owner, charterer, agent, consignee, or master of any vessel arriving in the United States from any place outside thereof to which such alien came from the United States. (43 Stat. 164, 8 U. S. C. 203.)

(a) Three days after the vessel's arrival at the port of entry and daily thereafter until the immigration officer in charge of the port of arrival has been notified that the vessel has departed from the United States, except Canadian or Mexican vessels touching only at contiguous territory not separated by an ocean, a complete list or manifest, made at the time of the departure of the vessel from the last port outside the United States, of all aliens employed on board such vessel, which list or manifest shall contain the name, age, sex, nationality, last permanent residence, calling or occupation, final destination, whether in possession of an immigrant visa, if an immigrant, whether in possession of a valid passport, if required by this Act, and such other information as may be required by the Secretary of Labor, touching each such alien, and shall be subscribed and sworn to before the immigrant inspector at the port of arrival by the master of such vessel; and

(b) Before any vessel departs from the United States for any foreign port or place, the master of such vessel shall deliver to the immigrant inspector at the port of departure a list or manifest, made at the time of the departure of the vessel from the last port in the United States, of all aliens employed on board such vessel, which list or manifest shall contain the name, age, sex, nationality, last permanent residence, calling or occupation, final destination, whether in possession of an immigrant visa, if an immigrant, whether in possession of a valid passport, if required by this Act, and such other information as may be required by the Secretary of Labor, touching each such alien, and shall be subscribed and sworn to before the immigrant inspector at the port of departure by the master of such vessel; and

(c) If the Attorney General shall have established regulations as to the form and manner of keeping and rendering lists or manifests required by subdivisions (a) and (b) of this section, the Commissioner of Immigration at any port may, with the approval of the Attorney General, modify such requirements in respect to the form and manner of keeping and rendering lists or manifests required of masters of vessels touching at such port. (43 Stat. 164–165, as amended; 8 U. S. C. 183 (a), (b), (c).)

(as amended)

I, ... do declare that the foregoing is a full and true list of all the crew thought at any time likely to be employed on board the ..... from the time of her departure from the port of ..... until her return to that port, or if she sail from more than one port, until her departure from the last port, and that the said list contains a true account of the wages agreed to be paid to each person mentioned therein, and of the time for which such wages are agreed to be paid; that it contains the name of every person who has been engaged to proceed in the said ship to the place at which she is to load, and that no stipulation has been made between the master or owner and any person or persons whatsoever relative to the wages of any person mentioned in the said list, except such as is therein expressed; that to the best of my knowledge and belief no person mentioned in the said list has been induced to enter into the said engagement by any fraud or misrepresentation whatsoever; that no person mentioned in the said list to my knowledge or belief has concealed himself on board the said ship; that no person has been shipped on board the said ship after the said list was made up; that no person mentioned in the said list has been discharged, or has died, or has left the said ship, except as expressed in the said list; that I have not, nor to the best of my knowledge or belief has any person for my use or benefit, received any gratuity or present, or the promise of any gratuity or present, directly or indirectly, from any person or persons whatsoever, in consideration of the wages, victualling, accommodation, or other matters relating to the said ship or the intended voyage, other than such as are mentioned in the said list; that I have not, nor to the best of my knowledge or belief has any person for my use or benefit, paid or given, directly or indirectly, any gratuity or present, or promised any gratuity or present, to any person whatsoever, in consideration of the engagement of any person mentioned in the said list, other than such as are mentioned in the said list; that I have not, nor to the best of my knowledge or belief has any person for my use or benefit, received any gratuity or present, or the promise of any gratuity or present

ALIEN SEAMEN

SEC. 13. No alien seaman excluded from admission into the United States under the immigration treat may be employed on board any vessel arriving in the United States from any place outside thereof, until such alien shall be certified by the immigration officer in charge at the port of last departure as a member of the crew of the vessel arriving, and has been inspected and examined (which inspection in all cases shall include a personal physical examination by the medical officer), and has been admitted into the United States by the proper immigration officer. In charge at the port of arrival. Any alien seaman employed on any vessel arriving in the United States from any place outside thereof, who fails to obtain such certification, or who fails to obtain such examination, or who fails to obtain such admission, shall be deported in the manner provided by section 19 of the immigration act of 1917 (39 Stat. 889; 8 U. S. C. 155), and pending deportation shall be detained on board the vessel or at such place as may be designated by the Attorney General. (43 Stat. 161; 8 U. S. C. 166.)

SEC. 22. (a) The owner, charterer, agent, consignee, or master of any vessel arriving in the United States from any place outside thereof, except from foreign contiguous territory, or any person who shall bring into the United States any alien seaman, except a member of the crew in possession of a valid visa, shall pay for the collector of customs of the customs district in which the port of arrival is located or the nearest port of the collector of customs of the customs district in which the vessel first arrives, if there be no collector of customs at the port of arrival, a tax of $10 for each alien seaman (except alien seamen employed on board vessels engaged in the transportation of passengers between the United States and foreign contiguous territory) who is employed on board such vessel at the time of her arrival in the United States, and for each alien seaman who is employed on board such vessel at the time of her departure from the United States, or who deserts from such vessel while in the United States, $10 for each such alien seaman. Clearance shall not be granted any vessel until the tax imposed by this section has been paid or until the master, owner, agent, consignee, or charterer of such vessel has given a bond to the United States, with sufficient sureties, in such sum, not exceeding double the amount of the tax imposed by this section, as may be required by the collector of customs, conditioned for the payment of such tax. The Attorney General may, upon application in writing therefor, remit or cancel any such tax or bond or any part thereof, if he is satisfied that such tax was improperly or unjustly collected, or that any part thereof is not legally collectible, or that the bond is for any reason no longer necessary to protect the revenue. The Attorney General may prescribe such rules and regulations as may be necessary to carry into effect the provisions of this section, and may withhold clearance pending the determination of the Attorney General as to the remission of any such tax. Any such tax shall be a lien upon the vessel to which it relates, and shall be recoverable by proceedings in the name of the United States in the district court of the district in which the master, owner, agent, consignee, or charterer of such vessel may be found.

(b) Every alien seaman who shall not depart with the vessel on which he arrived, or on some other vessel, within the period of time specified by the immigration officer in charge at the port of arrival, or within such further time as may be granted by the Attorney General, shall be deported as provided in section 19 of the immigration act of 1917 (39 Stat. 889; 8 U. S. C. 155), and any master, owner, agent, consignee, or charterer of the vessel on which such alien seaman arrived shall be liable to a penalty of $300 for each alien seaman so deported, which penalty shall be a lien upon the vessel, to be recovered by proceedings in the district court of the United States for the district in which the vessel may be found. Clearance shall not be granted to any vessel while any such penalty remains unpaid, except that clearance may be granted prior to the determination of the Attorney General as to the remission of any such penalty upon the deposit of a sum sufficient to cover such penalty with the collector of customs of the district in which the vessel is located. The Attorney General may, upon application in writing therefor, remit or cancel any such penalty or any bond given to prevent the deportation of any alien seaman, if he is satisfied that such alien seaman was prevented from departing on the vessel on which he arrived by illness or injury necessitating his hospitalization, or that such alien seaman has been lawfully admitted to the United States or to a foreign contiguous territory, or that the vessel on which such alien seaman arrived has been lost, or that such alien seaman has been taken from such vessel for the purpose of prosecution, and is required as a witness in connection therewith, or that such alien seaman is a member of the crew of another vessel which has been allowed to depart without the deportation of such alien seaman, and that reasonable efforts have been made to secure the deportation of such alien seaman on such vessel. Clearance may be granted to any vessel notwithstanding the refusal of the master, owner, agent, consignee, or charterer thereof to pay the tax imposed by this section, upon the deposit with the collector of customs of the customs district in which the vessel arrives of a sum sufficient to cover such tax. (39 Stat. 508–509; 8 U. S. C. 171.)

SEC. 150.15 Duty of alien employees: when clearance of vessel denied. Clearance shall not be granted any vessel until the master, owner, agent, consignee, or charterer thereof has been notified by section 36 of the immigration Act of 1917 (39 Stat. 888; 8 U. S. C. 171), that a head tax under section 2 of said Act (39 Stat. 886; 8 U. S. C. 151) has been levied, the deposit specified in 150.15–150.17, has been made.

SEC. 38. That upon arrival of any vessel in the United States from any foreign port or place it shall be the duty of the master, owner, agent, consignee, or charterer of the vessel to deliver to the principal immigration officer in charge of the port of arrival lists containing the names of all aliens employed on such vessel, stating the positions they respectively hold in the ships company, when and where they were respectively shipped or engaged, and specifying those of the said aliens who intend to depart from the United States, and such further information as the said officer may require for the proper enforcement of the immigration laws. It shall be the duty of each alien seaman, before he shall be granted a landing certificate, to deposit with the immigration officer, in charge at the port of arrival, a description of such alien, together with such information likely to lead to his identification; and it shall be the duty of each master, owner, agent, consignee, or charterer of any vessel from which any alien seaman shall desert, before such vessel shall be granted clearance papers, to report such desertion to the immigration officer in charge at the port of departure, and also the names of those, if any, who shall have been left behind on account of illness or injury, and to deposit with such officer a sum sufficient to pay the cost of the return of each such alien seaman who may be found in the United States unless a certificate from the proper consular officer is produced showing that such alien seaman has been provided with transportation to such foreign port or place, or that the master, owner, agent, consignee, or charterer of the vessel on which such alien seaman arrived has given a bond with sufficient sureties to indemnify the United States against such expense. Any master, owner, agent, consignee, or charterer who shall refuse or neglect to comply with any of the requirements of this section shall be liable to a penalty of $400 for each alien seaman concerning whom correct lists are not delivered or to whom report is not made as herein required; and no vessel shall be granted clearance papers while any penalty remains unpaid: Provided, That clearance papers may be granted prior to the determination of such question upon deposit of a sum sufficient to cover such fine. (39 Stat. 886–888; 8 U. S. C. 151.)

IMPORTANT NOTICE TO MASTER

The list described below shall be prepared on plain form approved by the Department and be ready for delivery to the immigration inspector boarding the vessel at the port of arrival, but shall not be delivered to the master on the vessel. The list is changed to aliens members of the crew (Form I-418) shall not be required on board, but shall be delivered by the master to the principal immigration officer at the port of arrival. When an alien seaman is at the same time a member of the crew and a passenger, he shall be entered on the list as a member of the crew only. Where an alien seaman, including names of alien seamen as well as aliens.

I, ... of the "Nuevo Veintiuno", do declare that the foregoing is a full and true list of all the crew properly in said vessel from any port or place during the past twenty-four hours, and I have noted the cowl of section 30 of the Act of February 5, 1917, extract from Title 8, Code of Federal Regulations, and cowl of sections 21 and 50, Act of May 26, 1924, which appear below.

SEC. 13. No alien seaman excluded from admission into the United States under the immigration laws and employed on board a vessel arriving in the United States from a place outside thereof, shall be permitted to land in the United States, except temporarily for medical treatment, or pursuant to such regulations as the Attorney General may prescribe for the ultimate departure, removal, or deportation of such alien from the United States. (43 Stat. 164, 8 U. S. C. 166.)

SEC. 30. (a) The owner, charterer, agent, consignee, or master of any vessel arriving in the United States from any place outside thereof who fails to detain on board the vessel such alien seaman employed on such vessel until the immigration officer in charge at the port of arrival has inspected such seaman (which inspection in all cases shall include a personal physical examination by the medical officer), or who fails to detain such seaman on board after such inspection or to deport such seaman if required by such immigration officer to do so, shall pay to the collector of customs of the customs district in which the port of arrival is located the sum of $1,000 for each alien seaman in respect of whom such failure occurs. No vessel shall be granted clearance papers pursuant to section 4197 of the Revised Statutes, as amended, until the master of such vessel produces to the collector of customs a certificate from the immigration officer in charge at the port of arrival that the provisions of this section have been complied with in respect of each alien seaman employed on board the vessel, except that clearance may be granted prior to the determination of the question of the deportation of such alien seaman if the master of such vessel deposits with the collector of customs a bond with sufficient surety to secure the payment of the penalty in the amount and manner provided by this section. The Attorney General may, upon application in writing therefor, remit or cancel any penalty or part thereof incurred under this section, as he may deem appropriate to remit or cancel, if he is satisfied that such penalty was incurred without fault on the part of the master, owner, agent, consignee, charterer, or their employees, and that good faith and due diligence were exercised in the prevention of the violation of this section by such master, owner, agent, consignee, charterer, or their employees. All moneys recovered or collected under this section shall be paid into the Treasury of the United States and shall be applied to the reduction of the immigration fund provided for by section 1 of the Act of February 18, 1903, as amended.

(b) That part of an alien seaman did not appear upon the outbound manifest of the vessel on which he arrived in the United States from any place outside thereof, or that part he was rejected by the master of such vessel as a deserter, shall be prima facie evidence to a similar to deport after readmittance by the immigration officer of the United States to which such vessel is destined, unless such seaman be sooner removed therefrom. Nothing contained in this section shall be construed to require clearance papers to be withheld by reason of the provisions of section 4200 of the Revised Statutes, as amended, with respect to any vessel the master of which has complied with

SEC. 28. That upon arrival of any vessel in the United States from any foreign port or place it shall be the duty of the owner, agent, consignee, or master thereof to deliver to the principal immigration officer in charge of the port of arrival like counterpart of manifest required to be delivered by regulations prescribed; but after the arrival of any such vessel it shall be the duty of the master, agent, consignee, or master to deliver to such immigration officer, in writing, as soon as discovered, all cases in which any such alien member of the crew, whether employed on such vessel, desires to be paid off from the vessel at the time of its departure from the port of arrival, giving a description of such alien, together with information likely to lead to his apprehension; and to the Attorney General shall be furnished from the vessel, giving a description of such alien, together with information likely to lead to his apprehension; and illegally landed from the vessel at the time of its departure from the port of arrival, or at any time prior thereto, or who shall have been found to have been illegally landed from any vessel at any time since its last entry or landing in the United States, it shall be the duty of the master, agent, consignee, or owner of such vessel to detain such alien on board or in the custody of such owner, agent, consignee, or master subject to the order of the immigration officers until a writ of habeas corpus shall have been duly sued out thereon, or until such alien shall have been granted a hearing by the Secretary of Labor; and any master, agent, consignee, or owner of any such vessel who shall refuse or neglect to perform any duty required of him by the provisions of this section, or who shall interfere with or obstruct or hinder or prevent any such alien from being so detained on board of such vessel or delivered to the custody of the officer entitled to demand such detention or delivery, shall be deemed guilty of a misdemeanor, and upon conviction thereof in any court of the United States shall be punished by a fine of not more than $1,000 or by imprisonment for not more than one year, or by both such fine and imprisonment, in the discretion of the court, and in the event such alien shall be found to have entered the United States in violation of any law or treaty, such master, agent, consignee, or owner shall pay a sum equal to the amount of the head tax required to be paid by such alien under the provisions of section 2 of this Act, which sum shall be a lien upon such vessel, and shall be recoverable by the United States or any collector of customs in any district in which such vessel may be found or to which she may thereafter come, and such vessel may be seized and proceeded against summarily by libel in admiralty and sold to satisfy the amount of such head tax, and the certificate of clearance required by section 4200 of the Revised Statutes, as amended by section 6 of the Act of March 3, 1903, shall not be granted for any such vessel while any such head tax remains unpaid, except that clearance may be granted prior to the determination of the application to the Secretary of Labor in the case of any alien concerning whom such application is made, upon the deposit with the collector of customs of a sum sufficient to cover such tax, or of a bond with sufficient surety to secure the payment thereof, in such amount as may be required by the Secretary of Labor, not exceeding $1,000 for each alien concerning whom such application is made, conditioned upon the payment of such tax in the event the application shall be denied. The Attorney General may, upon application in writing therefor, remit such head tax or any part thereof in the case of any alien who has been in the United States for two years or more prior to the date of the enactment of this Act and who is found admissible under the provisions of section 3 of this Act, or who was in the United States prior to July 1, 1924, and who is found admissible under the provisions of section 4 (c) of this Act, and who, in the opinion of the Attorney General, should not be required to pay such head tax. Any such remission may be granted upon the application of the alien, or of any person in his behalf, and may be granted whether such application is made before or after the deportation proceedings are instituted. Nothing in this section, as amended, shall affect the right of any alien to enter the United States as a bona fide visitor, merchant, or student, or pursuant to such regulations as the Secretary of Labor may prescribe. (43 Stat. 161, 8 U. S. C. 163.)

SEC. 16. (a) The owner, charterer, agent, consignee, or master of any vessel arriving in the United States from any place outside the adjacent islands, shall be required to detain on board such vessel all the immigration officers in charge at the port of arrival and inspected each seaman (which inspection at all cases shall include a personal physical examination by the medical examiner), or who fails to detain such seamen on board such vessel until such inspection or to report such seamen for the medical examination, or to pay to the collector of customs of the customs district in which the port of arrival is located the sum of $1,000 for each alien seaman not reported, or who shall violate any of the provisions of this section, shall be guilty of a misdemeanor and upon conviction thereof in any court of the United States shall be punished by a fine not exceeding

The list described below shall be prepared on plain form approved by the Department and be ready for delivery to the immigration inspector pending the vessel at the port of arrival, but shall in no instance be taken from the vessel. The list of changes of alien members of crews (Form I–418) shall not be furnished on board, but shall be delivered by the master to the principal immigration officer at the port. When an alternate seaman is a "WORKAWAY" a notation to that effect should be made on the manifest. In order to facilitate inspection of alien seamen, include names of alternate American citizen seamen as well as aliens.

EXTRACT FROM ACT OF CONGRESS OF FEBRUARY 5, 1917, AS AMENDED

SEC. 36. That upon arrival of any vessel in the United States from any foreign port or place it shall be the duty of the owner, agent, consignee, or master thereof to deliver to the principal immigration officer in charge of the port of arrival a list containing the names of all aliens employed on such vessel, stating the positions they respectively hold in the ship's company, and where they were respectively shipped or engaged, and specifying those so paid or bound who absconded in the port of arrival; to list separately the names of such seamen as may be discharged in the port of arrival; to list contiguously the names of alien seamen who have been left behind at any foreign port or place; and also the names of those who died on the voyage; and to report the sickness, injuries, or casualties of any such seamen, specifying the cases in which such sickness, injuries, or casualties have been treated by the ship's surgeon, and the nature thereof. Any such master, owner, agent, consignee, or master, or any person who shall knowingly make false answer to any question touching the matters aforesaid, shall be guilty of a misdemeanor, and shall be punished by a fine not exceeding $1,000 for each offense, or by imprisonment for not more than one year, or by both such fine and imprisonment, in the discretion of the court. Before the departure of any such vessel it shall be the duty of the master, owner, agent, consignee, or master thereof to deliver to the immigrant inspector in charge a certificate, signed by the master and countersigned by the principal immigration officer, stating that the provisions of this section have been complied with, which certificate shall be prerequisite to the granting of clearance papers for such vessel by the collector of customs. The Attorney General may prescribe rules and regulations for the enforcement of this section, and may employ such additional inspectors as he may deem necessary for the proper execution thereof, to be paid out of the appropriation for the enforcement of this Act. Any master of a vessel who knowingly violates or fails to comply with any of the requirements of this section shall be fined not more than $500 for each such offense.

SEC. 18. No alien seaman excluded from admission into the United States under the immigration laws shall be permitted to land in the United States from any vessel arriving in the United States from any place outside thereof, until he has been certified by the Attorney General to the principal immigration officer in charge at the port of arrival that there is no reasonable cause to believe that such alien seaman belongs to any of the classes excluded from admission into the United States under the immigration laws, except temporarily for medical treatment, or because of physical or mental defect which may be cured, or which is not known to be incurable, and that such alien seaman is not likely to become a public charge. Such certification may be revoked by the Attorney General at any time before the departure of the vessel from the port. Any alien seaman who shall land in the United States from any place outside thereof, or who shall land from any vessel arriving in the United States from any place outside thereof, without certification by the Attorney General, or who shall land in violation of any limitation or condition prescribed by the Attorney General, shall be deported to the country whence he came, as provided in section 19 hereof, at the expense of the appropriation for the enforcement of this Act, unless the master, owner, agent, consignee, or charterer of the vessel on which he arrived shall pay the cost of his maintenance and deportation, which cost shall be a lien upon the vessel, and may be recovered by libel in any district court of the United States having jurisdiction of the vessel. Any alien seaman who shall land in the United States from any vessel arriving in the United States from any place outside thereof, or who shall land from any vessel in violation of any limitation or condition prescribed by the Attorney General, shall be deported to the country whence he came, as provided in section 19 hereof, at the expense of the appropriation for the enforcement of this Act, unless the master, owner, agent, consignee, or charterer of the vessel on which he arrived shall pay the cost of his maintenance and deportation, which cost shall be a lien upon the vessel, and may be recovered by libel in any district court of the United States having jurisdiction of the vessel. Any alien seaman who shall land in the United States

The list described below shall be prepared on blank forms approved by the Department and be ready for delivery to the immigration inspector boarding the vessel at the port of arrival, and shall in no instance be taken from the vessel. The list of changes of alien members of the crew, except temporarily to hospital ashore, shall be delivered to the immigration officer in charge of the port of arrival before the vessel is granted clearance. Any alien who has been employed on such vessel shall, upon the immigration officer in charge at the port of arrival, be inspected and examined (which inspection in all cases shall include a personal physical examination by the medical examiner), or who fails to obtain such examination or to depart from such port in such vessel, may be refused clearance pending the determination of the Attorney General to do so, shall pay to the collector of customs of the customs district in which the port of arrival is located the sum of $1,000 for each alien examined in respect of whom such failure occurs. No vessel shall be granted clearance pending the determination of such question upon the deposit of a sum sufficient to cover such case, or of a bond with sufficient surety to secure the payment thereof, approved by the collector of customs. The Attorney General may, upon application in writing therefor, withdraw such deposit or any part thereof, or cancel such bond in whole or in part, or may remit any fine or penalty in connection therewith, in such amount as he deems just and proper. Any action, as aforesaid, shall apply to all penalties arising subsequent to June 2, 1924.

(b) Proof shall be taken by the master, or such other officer of the vessel as the Attorney General may designate, of the compliance with the provisions of this section by each alien member of the crew, and such proof shall be recorded in such form and manner as may be prescribed by the Attorney General.

(c) If the Attorney General finds that deportation of the alien seaman on the vessel on which he arrived in the United States is impracticable or inadvisable, he may cause him to be deported on another vessel at the expense of the vessel on which he arrived, or may permit the vessel to depart from the United States without the deportation of such alien seaman, but such action shall not relieve the master, owner, agent, consignee, or charterer of such vessel from any fine or penalty to which he may be subject.

EXTRACT FROM ACT OF CONGRESS OF FEBRUARY 2, 1917, AS AMENDED

SEC. 36. That upon arrival of any vessel in the United States from any foreign port or place it shall be the duty of the owner, agent, consignee, or master thereof to deliver to the principal immigration officer in charge of the port of arrival lists containing the names of all aliens employed on such vessel, stating the positions they respectively hold in the ship's company, when and where they were respectively shipped or engaged, and specifying those who are to be landed in the port of arrival; or lists containing as much of such information as may be obtainable in the case of masters of vessels sailing from ports not foreign to the United States; and such other information in regard to such aliens as may be required by the rules and regulations prescribed by the Attorney General for the execution of the provisions of this section and the following section. The Attorney General shall have power to prescribe rules and regulations for the inspection of aliens employed on such vessels, and for the boarding and search of such vessels for the purpose of obtaining information concerning aliens employed thereon who may be subject to exclusion or deportation under this Act or any amendment thereto or any other law or treaty now or hereafter in force regulating the immigration of aliens to the United States. Any master, agent, consignee, or owner of any such vessel who refuses or fails to deliver lists containing such information, or who refuses or fails to comply with such rules and regulations, shall pay to the collector of customs for the district in which the port of arrival is located the sum of $10 for each alien concerning whom such information is required but not delivered, or concerning whom incorrect, false, or inadequate information is furnished, and no such vessel shall be granted clearance papers pending the determination of the question as to the payment of such sum, and in the event such sum is not paid it shall constitute a lien upon the vessel to be recovered by proceedings in rem in the district court of the United States for the district in which the vessel may be found. Clearance may be granted prior to the determination of such question upon deposit of a sum sufficient to cover such sum. (39 Stat. 880–881; 8 U. S. C. 191.)

SEC. 150.2. Duties of alien employees: when clearance of vessel denied. Clearance shall not be granted any vessel until the master thereof has delivered to the immigrant inspector in charge of the port of departure a list containing the name of each alien employed on board such vessel, showing the last vessel in which each such alien arrived in the United States, if any, and the date of such arrival, and the intended port of disembarkation of each such alien. Clearance shall not be granted any vessel if it shall be found that any alien employed thereon as a member of the crew has been landed in violation of the immigration laws, unless the master shall establish to the satisfaction of the Attorney General that such alien was a stowaway, or was forced to land by reason of illness, shipwreck, or other emergency, or was landed for the purpose of receiving medical treatment, or that the vessel was required to touch at a port or place in the United States through stress of weather or other cause found sufficient by the Attorney General. Clearance may be granted prior to the determination of such question upon deposit of a sum sufficient to cover such sum. (39 Stat. 880–881; 8 U. S. C. 191.)

SEC. 18. No alien seaman excluded from admission into the United States under the immigration laws shall be employed on board any vessel arriving in the United States from any place outside thereof, until he has been granted by the United States, except temporarily for medical treatment, or pursuant to such regulations as the Attorney General may prescribe for the ultimate deportation, removal, or detention of such alien from the United States. (43 Stat. 164; 8 U. S. C. 188.)

SEC. 30. (a) The owner, charterer, agent, consignee, or master of any vessel arriving in the United States from any place outside thereof, who shall fail to deport any seaman employed on board such vessel upon the immigration officer in charge of the port of arrival as the port of arrival has been designated by the Commissioner, or to deport such seaman if required to do so by any immigration officer in charge of any port of the United States, or who shall fail to deport any seaman employed on board such vessel upon the immigration officer in charge of the port of arrival as the port of arrival has been designated by the Commissioner (which inspection in all cases shall include a personal physical examination by the medical examiner), or who shall fail to deport any seaman (which inspection in all cases shall include a personal physical examination by the medical examiner), shall pay to the collector of customs of the customs district in which the port of arrival is located the sum of $1,000 for each alien seaman in respect of whom such failure occurs. No vessel shall be granted clearance pending the determination of the liability to payment of such sum, or while the sum remains unpaid, except that clearance may be granted prior to the determination of such question upon the deposit of a sum sufficient to cover such sum, or of a bond with sufficient surety to secure the payment thereof approved by the collector of customs. The Attorney General may, upon application in writing therefor, mitigate such penalty to not less than $300 for each seaman in respect of whom such failure occurs, upon such terms as the Attorney General in his discretion shall think proper. This section, as amended, shall apply to all deportations arising subsequent to June 2, 1940.

(b) Every alien seaman who shall not depart from the conditions mentioned in the permit in the United States from any place outside thereof, or any alien seaman who shall depart from the United States in violation of the provisions of section 19 of this Act, shall be deemed a deserter, shall be arrested and detained by any officer of the United States, and upon conviction thereof by any court of competent jurisdiction shall be punished by a fine of not more than $1,000 or by imprisonment for not more than one year, or by both such fine and imprisonment, and shall be deported to the country whence he came or to any country to which he may be admitted under the immigration laws.

(c) If the Attorney General finds that any alien seaman on the vessel on which he arrived in the United States has been granted clearance illegally or has deserted, shall be arrested by the master of such vessel or by any officer of the United States, and upon conviction thereof by any court of competent jurisdiction shall be punished by a fine of not more than $1,000 or by imprisonment for not more than one year, or by both such fine and imprisonment, and shall be deported to the country whence he came or to any country to which he may be admitted under the immigration laws. (43 Stat. 164–165, 58 Stat. 318; 8 U. S. C. 707 (a), 707 (c).)

IMPORTANT NOTICE TO MASTER

The list described below shall be prepared on blank forms approved by the Department and be ready for delivery to the immigration inspector boarding the vessel at the port of arrival, and shall be delivered by the master to the principal immigration officer at the port. When an alleged alien seaman is a "motorman," a notation to that effect should be made on the manifest. In order to facilitate inspection of alien seamen, include names of alleged American citizen seamen as well as aliens.

SEC. 36. That upon arrival of any vessel in the United States from any foreign port or place it shall be the duty of the owner, agent, consignee, or master thereof to deliver to the principal immigration officer in charge of the port of arrival or such other officer as may be designated by the Attorney General a complete list, or manifest, in triplicate, of all the persons on board such vessel, whether cabin passengers or steerage passengers, and whether citizens of the United States or aliens, arriving at such port, which list or manifest shall be prepared in the order and form and contain the information required by the Attorney General and such additional information relative to such persons or their transportation as may be required by the rules and regulations prescribed by the Attorney General from time to time. Such list or manifest shall show the full name of every person, his age, sex, whether married or single, calling or occupation, whether able to read or write, nationality, last residence, seaport for landing in the United States, final destination if in transit through the United States, whether in possession of a ticket through to such destination, whether the passage is paid by himself or by other persons or by the government, whether in possession of $50 in money or not, whether going to join relatives or friends, and if so, what relatives or friends, and their names and complete addresses, whether ever before in the United States, whether ever in prison or almshouse or supported by charity, whether a polygamist, whether under contract or agreement to perform labor in the United States, its Territories, or the District of Columbia, whether a person who believes in or advocates the overthrow by force or violence of the Government of the United States or of all forms of law, whether a person who disbelieves in or is opposed to organized government or who is a member of or affiliated with any organization entertaining such disbelief in or opposition to organized government, whether coming pursuant to any offer, solicitation, promise, or agreement, express or implied, to perform labor in the United States, its Territories, or the District of Columbia, whether a person who has been deported at any time and if so, how many times, whether coming in pursuance of a prearranged matrimonial contract, whether a person who is coming to the United States for the purpose of prostitution or for any other immoral purpose, whether a person who has been convicted of or admits having committed a felony or other crime or misdemeanor involving moral turpitude, whether a person who is coming to the United States in consequence of any law or treaty providing for the admission to the United States of persons claiming exemption from military service, whether a person who has been or is likely to become a public charge, whether a person who is a professional beggar, whether a person who is coming to the United States in pursuance of the provisions of section 3 of the immigration act of February 5, 1917, and whether a person who is a stowaway. The said list or manifest shall be verified by the oath or affirmation of the master or commanding officer of such vessel, taken before an immigrant inspector at the port of arrival, and shall be in such form and contain such additional particulars as may be prescribed by the Secretary of Labor. The said list or manifest shall be delivered by the master or commanding officer of such vessel to the immigrant inspector at the port of arrival before the inspection of the vessel is completed and the vessel allowed to discharge, and a true copy thereof shall be delivered by the master or commanding officer of such vessel to the immigrant inspector at the port of departure before the departure of such vessel if practicable, and if not practicable, then as soon thereafter as practicable. Any master or commanding officer who knowingly or willfully fails to deliver such list or manifest, or who knowingly or willfully delivers a false list or manifest, or who knowingly or willfully fails to deliver a true copy of such list or manifest, or who knowingly or willfully fails to prepare such list or manifest in the manner required by this section, or who refuses to subscribe to the oath required by this section, shall pay to the United States a penalty of $10 for each alien concerning whom correct lists are not delivered to a true copy thereof as required by this section, and in the event such fine is imposed, while it remains unpaid no such alien shall be admitted to the United States: Provided, That clearance may be granted prior to the determination of such disposition upon deposit of a sum sufficient to cover such fine. (39 Stat. 880 [87]; 8 U. S. C. 131.)

SEC. 150.15. Fines of alien employers: when clearance of vessel denied. Clearance shall not be granted via vessel until the fines imposed by section 36 of the Immigration Act of 1917 (39 Stat. 888; 8 U. S. C. 171), have been transmitted, and not then unless notice of intention to the administrative fine prescribed by said section 36 to fines prescribed by section 32 of said Act (39 Stat. 888; 8 U. S. C. 168) have been waived, the deposit specified in 150.13–150.14, has been made.

ALIEN SEAMEN

SEC. 19. No alien seaman excluded from admission into the United States under the immigration laws employed on board any vessel arriving in the United States from a place outside thereof, shall be permitted to land in the United States, except temporarily for medical treatment, or pursuant to such regulations as the Attorney General may prescribe for the ultimate deportation of such alien from the United States. (43 Stat. 164; 8 U. S. C. 166.)

SEC. 20. (a) The owner, charterer, agent, consignee, or master of any vessel arriving in the United States from any place outside thereof (except any foreign contiguous territory) shall be responsible for the payment of the cost incurred in the maintenance while in hospital, and for the transportation to the place of his residence, of any alien seaman employed on such vessel (except a seaman employed on a vessel touching at ports of the United States solely in the course of a voyage through the Panama Canal or between ports of the United States) who may be certified to the Attorney General by the medical officer of the United States Public Health Service as afflicted with any of the diseases or mental defects which would be ground for exclusion under section 3 of this Act, or who may be certified by said medical officer to the collector of customs of the customs district in which the port of arrival is located (or to the agent of any transportation line) as likely to become a public charge within one year after entry, and for the cost of maintenance while in hospital and transportation to place of residence of such alien seaman, not exceeding $300 for each seaman in respect of whom such findings occur. The Attorney General may, upon application in writing therefor, authorize such payments to be made from appropriations for the enforcement of the immigration laws. The Attorney General may require a bond with sufficient surety to secure the payment of such cost and expense in any case in which he deems it necessary. This section, as amended, shall apply to all deportable aliens arriving subsequent to June 2, 1924.

(b) Every alien seaman who shall depart from the United States during the continuance in force of the permit to land granted him by the Attorney General in pursuance of section 19 of this Act, or who shall remain in the United States after the termination of the period for which he was admitted, shall be deported as provided in sections 19 and 20 of this Act, notwithstanding the provisions of section 3 of this Act.

(c) If the Attorney General finds that deportation of any alien seaman cannot be effected by the master of the vessel on which he arrived in the United States or by the owner, agent, consignee, or master of any vessel on which such alien seaman is a member, he may cause him to be deported on another vessel at the expense of the vessel on which he arrived, and such vessel shall not be granted clearance until such expense has been paid or its payment guaranteed to the satisfaction of the Attorney General.

ALIEN SEAMEN

SEC. 10. No alien seaman excluded from admission into the United States under the immigration laws and employed on board any vessel arriving in the United States from any place outside thereof, shall be permitted to land in the United States, except temporarily for medical treatment, or pursuant to such regulations as the Attorney General may prescribe for the purpose of visiting the consul of the country to which he belongs, or for the purpose of obtaining clothing needed by reason of the inadequacy thereof, or for the purpose of participating in the funeral of a shipmate, or for such other reasons as may be approved by the Attorney General, but such seaman shall be required to deposit with the immigration officer at the port of arrival a sum sufficient in the opinion of such officer to pay the cost of his passage to the port of the country to which he belongs, or to the port at which he was originally shipped, or to any other port at which the master of the vessel on which he arrived agrees to ship him, and to furnish to the master of such vessel before the departure thereof from the United States a bond in such amount, not exceeding $300, as may be required by the Attorney General, conditioned upon the departure of such seaman from the United States within the period for which he is granted permission to land, and upon the payment of the cost of his passage to the port to which he belongs, or to the port at which he was originally shipped, or to any other port at which the master of such vessel agrees to ship him, and upon the payment of any hospital expenses and burial costs that may be incurred on account of such seaman by reason of sickness or injury suffered by him after his arrival in the United States and before the departure of the vessel on which he arrived, and upon the payment of any fine imposed on such seaman by reason of his failure to depart with the vessel on which he arrived or to conform to the regulations governing the landing of seamen. The Attorney General may, upon application in writing therefor, withdraw any bond so required and substitute therefor a deposit of money in an amount sufficient to cover such fine or fines, or cancel any such bond and direct the return of any money deposited in lieu thereof upon the production of such evidence as may be required by the Attorney General that the obligations of the bond have been performed or that the money deposited is no longer required for the purposes for which it was deposited. Any such money deposited may be used in the discretion of the Attorney General for the payment of such fine or fines imposed upon such seaman, and the residue, if any, after the payment of such fine or fines, shall be paid over to the seaman who deposited it, or his order. Upon the refusal of any such seaman to depart from the United States in accordance with the terms of the bond executed by him, or upon the refusal or failure of the master of the vessel on which such seaman arrived to deliver such seaman to the immigration officer for return to the port from which he was originally shipped, or to any other port at which the master of such vessel agrees to ship such seaman, or upon the refusal or failure of such master to pay the cost of such seaman's passage to such port, or to pay the fine or fines imposed on such seaman, or upon the refusal or failure of such master to deposit such sum as may be required by the Attorney General to cover the cost of such seaman's passage, such master shall be subject to all the penalties which are imposed by section 2 of this Act.

(b) Every alien so arriving shall be subject to all the provisions of section 20 of the Act approved February 5, 1917, relating to the exclusion and deportation of aliens.

SEC. 20. (a) The owner, charterer, agent, consignee, or master of any vessel writing in the United States from any place outside thereof (except from foreign contiguous territory) to which is destined any seaman who has been employed on board any vessel at the time of the immigration officer in charge at the port of arrival has reason to believe any such seaman has been refused a visa as an immigrant by the consular officer to whom application therefor was made, or who has been certified by the public health service to be suffering from any disease or physical defect which will be the cause of his becoming a public charge, or who is afflicted with insanity, or who has had one or more attacks of insanity at any time previously, shall be required to detain such seaman on board the vessel at such time as the immigration officer in charge at the port may specify, and such seaman shall not be permitted to land in the United States except temporarily for medical treatment, or pursuant to such regulations as the Attorney General may prescribe for the purpose of visiting the consul of the country to which he belongs, or for the purpose of participating in the funeral of a shipmate, or for such other reasons as may be approved by the Attorney General, but such seaman shall be required to deposit with the immigration officer at the port of arrival a sum sufficient in the opinion of such officer to pay the cost of his passage to the port of the country to which he belongs, or to the port at which he was originally shipped, or to any other port at which the master of such vessel agrees to ship him, and to furnish to the master of such vessel before the departure thereof from the United States a bond in such amount, not exceeding $300, as may be required by the Attorney General, conditioned upon the departure of such seaman from the United States within the period for which he is granted permission to land, and upon the payment of the cost of his passage to the port to which he belongs, or to the port at which he was originally shipped, or to any other port at which the master of such vessel agrees to ship him, and upon the payment of any hospital expenses and burial costs that may be incurred on account of such seaman by reason of sickness or injury suffered by him after his arrival in the United States and before the departure of the vessel on which he arrived, and upon the payment of any fine imposed on such seaman by reason of his failure to depart with the vessel on which he arrived or to conform to the regulations governing the landing of seamen. The Attorney General may, upon application in writing therefor, withdraw any bond so required and substitute therefor a deposit of money in an amount sufficient to cover such fine or fines, or cancel any such bond and direct the return of any money deposited in lieu thereof upon the production of such evidence as may be required by the Attorney General that the obligations of the bond have been performed or that the money deposited is no longer required for the purposes for which it was deposited. Any such money deposited may be used in the discretion of the Attorney General for the payment of such fine or fines imposed upon such seaman, and the residue, if any, after the payment of such fine or fines, shall be paid over to the seaman who deposited it, or his order. Upon the refusal of any such seaman to depart from the United States in accordance with the terms of the bond executed by him, or upon the refusal or failure of the master of the vessel on which such seaman arrived to deliver such seaman to the immigration officer for return to the port from which he was originally shipped, or to any other port at which the master of such vessel agrees to ship such seaman, or upon the refusal or failure of such master to pay the cost of such seaman's passage to such port, or to pay the fine or fines imposed on such seaman, or upon the refusal or failure of such master to deposit such sum as may be required by the Attorney General to cover the cost of such seaman's passage, such master shall be subject to all the penalties which are imposed by section 2 of this Act.

(c) If the Attorney General finds that deportation of any alien will be prejudicial to the interests of the United States or any foreign country allied with the United States during the present war, and certifies such fact to the Secretary of State, such alien pending the determination of the question as to his deportation shall not be required to depart from the United States and shall be exempt from the penalties prescribed by this section or by section 38 of the immigration act of 1917 (39 Stat. 889; 8 U. S. C. 171), to the extent specified by the Secretary of State. Nothing in this section shall relieve any alien from the penalties provided by law with respect to the deportation of aliens other than the deportation specified in this section.

(d) The provisions of this section shall not apply to any alien seaman who shall have been lawfully admitted into the United States and who shall have resided therein for a period of one year next preceding his departure therefrom in good faith to engage in his profession as a seaman, unless prior to his departure from the United States he shall have been granted by the Attorney General a certificate stating that his services are necessary on board the vessel on which he is employed, and that no citizen seaman is available to replace him.

(e) Any person who shall violate any of the provisions of this section shall be punished by a fine of not more than $1,000 for each alien seaman in respect to whom such violation occurs, or by imprisonment for not more than one year, or by both such fine and imprisonment. The Attorney General may, upon application in writing therefor, remit any fine imposed upon any master of a vessel for violation of this section, upon such terms as he may deem reasonable and proper, and may refund any money paid to the collector of customs. The Attorney General may, upon application in writing therefor, mitigate any penalty to secure the enforcement thereof, and may release any vessel, upon the giving of such bond as may be required by the Attorney General in the discretion of the collector of customs. The Attorney General may, upon application in writing therefor, remit any penalty imposed by this section, or any part thereof, and may release any vessel, upon the giving of such bond as may be required by the Attorney General in the discretion of

In order to facilitate inspection of alien seamen, include names of alternate American citizen seamen as well as aliens.

EXTRACT FROM ACT OF CONGRESS OF FEBRUARY 2, 1917, AS AMENDED

SEC. 36. That upon arrival of any vessel in the United States from any foreign port or place it shall be the duty of the owner, agent, consignee, or master thereof to deliver to the principal immigration officer in charge of the port of arrival lists containing the names of all aliens employed on such vessel, stating the positions they respectively hold in the ship's company, when and where they were respectively shipped or engaged, and whether those to be landed and discharged in the port of arrival: or lists containing as much of such information as the Attorney General shall by regulations prescribe; and while the vessel is in port no alien employee shall be landed from the vessel, except in cases of sickness or injury, or for the purpose of detention or examination by the medical officers, or by special permission of the Attorney General, and no alien employee shall be allowed to depart from the United States unless he has in his possession a certificate from an immigrant inspector that he has complied with the provisions of this section as to him applies, or that the master, owner, agent, consignee, or master is not required by this section to deliver a list concerning him. Any master, agent, consignee, or owner of any such vessel who refuses or fails to deliver any list required of him by this section, or who refuses or fails to deliver a complete list, or who refuses to such immigrant inspector any information in his possession concerning any alien employee, shall be deemed guilty of a misdemeanor, and upon conviction thereof shall be punished by a fine of not more than $1,000 for each such offense. The Attorney General may, in his discretion, refuse clearance to any vessel the master, owner, agent, consignee, or charterer of which has been guilty of such offense until he is satisfied that such offense will not be repeated. (39 Stat. 889; 8 U. S. C. 136.)

SEC. 37. That the master of any vessel bringing an alien to the United States shall, before such alien lands from such vessel, deliver to the immigrant inspector at the port of arrival a true list containing the name and last known address of each such alien, and shall thereafter deliver to the commissioner of immigration at the port of departure from the United States a true list containing the name and last known address of each such alien who has been landed at such port, and shall furnish such additional information relative to such aliens as the Commissioner General of Immigration may require. Any master who shall refuse or fail to deliver such lists, or who shall refuse or fail to furnish such additional information relative to such aliens as the Commissioner General of Immigration may require, shall be deemed guilty of a misdemeanor, and upon conviction thereof shall be punished by a fine of not more than $1,000 for each such offense. SEC. 150.13. Lists of alien employees: when clearance of vessel denied. Clearance shall not be granted any vessel until the lists required by section 36 of the Immigration Act of 1917 (39 Stat. 889; 8 U. S. C. 137), where such lists are required, and full compliance with the requirements of that section as to time, manner, and form have been made, the owner, agent, consignee, master, or charterer of any vessel arriving in the United States from any foreign port or place shall not land or permit to be landed any alien employee from such vessel, and no such alien employee shall be granted a clearance certificate by the master of the vessel, or by the collector of customs of the customs district in which the port of departure is located, unless he has in his possession a certificate from an immigrant inspector that he has complied with the provisions of this section as to him applies, or that the master, owner, agent, consignee, or charterer is not required by this section to deliver a list concerning him. Any master who refuses or fails to deliver any list required of him by this section, or who refuses or fails to furnish such additional information relative to such aliens as the Commissioner General of Immigration may require, shall be deemed guilty of a misdemeanor, and upon conviction thereof shall be punished by a fine of not more than $1,000 for each such offense. The Attorney General may, in his discretion, refuse clearance to any vessel the master, owner, agent, consignee, or charterer of which has been guilty of such offense until he is satisfied that such offense will not be repeated. ALIEN SEAMEN

SEC. 19. No alien seaman excluded from admission into the United States under the immigration laws and employed on board any vessel arriving in the United States from any place outside thereof, shall be permitted to land in the United States, except temporarily for medical treatment, or because of illness, injury, or quarantine as the Attorney General may prescribe for the ultimate departure, removal, or deportation of such alien from the United States. (43 Stat. 164; 8 U. S. C. 166.)

SEC. 30. (a) The owner, charterer, agent, consignee, or master of any vessel arriving in the United States from any place outside thereof, and who fails to detain on board the vessel such alien seaman employed on such vessel until the immigration officer in charge at the port of arrival shall have inspected such seaman (which inspection in all cases shall include a personal physical examination by the medical officer), or who fails to detain such alien seaman on board after such inspection or to deport such seaman if required by such immigration officer or the Attorney General so to do, shall pay to the collector of customs of the customs district in which the port of arrival is located the sum of $1,000 for each alien seaman in respect of whom such failure occurs. No vessel shall be granted clearance pending the determination of the liability to payment of such fine, or while the fine remains unpaid, except that clearance may be granted prior to the determination of such question upon the deposit of a sum sufficient to cover such fine, or of a bond with sufficient surety to secure the payment thereof, approved by the collector of customs. The Attorney General may, upon application in writing therefor, mitigate such penalty to not less than $300 for each seaman in respect of whom such failure occurs, upon such terms as the Attorney General in his discretion shall think proper. This section as amended shall apply to all deportable aliens arriving subsequent to June 2, 1924.

(b) Proof that an alien seaman did not appear upon the outbound manifest of the vessel on which he arrived in the United States from any place outside thereof, or that he was reported by the master of such vessel as a deserter, shall be prima facie evidence of a failure to detain such alien on board such vessel.

(c) If the Attorney General finds that deportation of the alien seaman on the vessel on which he arrived would cause undue hardship to such seaman he may cause him to be deported on another vessel at the expense of the vessel on which he arrived, and such expense shall not be treated as clearance dues, and such deportation shall be treated as the satisfaction of the Attorney General.

SEC. 36. That upon arrival of any vessel in the United States from any foreign port to a place if shall be the duty of the owner, agent, consignee, or master thereof to deliver to the principal immigration officer in charge of the port of arrival lists containing the names of all aliens employed on such vessel, stating the position they respectively hold in the ship's company. When and where they were severally shipped or engaged, and the capacity in which they are employed, and the intended final destination of each alien, so far as known, and shall indicate in the list the names of all aliens who are citizens of the United States, and shall also state the name and last known address of the nearest relative or friend in the country from which each such alien came. Such lists shall be prepared in such manner and at such time before the vessel's arrival at each port as the principal immigration officer in charge of the port may prescribe, and shall be subject to such verification before the departure of any such vessel as the principal immigration officer may deem necessary. Every master, agent, consignee, or owner of any such vessel shall deliver to the immigrant inspector at the time of the vessel's arrival at the port of first arrival in the United States a list or manifest of all such aliens employed on such vessel, which list or manifest shall be prepared in such form and contain such additional information relative to each such alien as the Commissioner General of Immigration may prescribe. Any master, agent, consignee, or owner of any such vessel who refuses or neglects to deliver any such list or manifest, or who refuses or neglects to answer truthfully the questions contained therein, or who refuses to any immigrant inspector full opportunity to board such vessel and examine the master, agent, consignee, or owner thereof, or any member of the crew, concerning the right to enter the United States of any alien on board such vessel, shall be deemed guilty of a misdemeanor and shall be punished by a fine of not more than $1,000 for each such offense. (43 Stat. 164; 8 U. S. C. 136.)

SEC. 30. (a) The owner, charterer, agent, consignee, or master of any vessel arriving in the United States from any place outside thereof, except foreign vessels temporarily in distress, which shall not have been allowed to land, in the United States, except for the purpose of repairing disabling damage, shall be required to detain on board the vessel such alien seamen as may be specified by any immigrant inspector at the time of inspection of such alien seamen (which inspection in all cases shall include a personal physical examination by the medical officer in charge at the port of arrival for inspection), or at such other time as may be specified by the Commissioner General of Immigration, until the immigration officer in charge at the port shall have granted permission to land in the United States, except temporarily for medical treatment, or because of illness requiring such treatment, or on account of shipwreck, or other casualty, or for the purpose of participating in such litigation as may be directed by the Attorney General, or to attend the funeral of a relative, or under bond approved by the collector of customs. The Attorney General may, upon application in writing therefor, under such regulations as he may prescribe, temporarily permit any such alien seaman to land in the United States for a period not to exceed 29 days, subject to such conditions as will assure the return of such alien seaman to the vessel or other transportation line on which he arrived in the United States, or to the vessel or other transportation line which may be designated by the Commissioner General of Immigration, upon the departure of such vessel from a port of the United States, unless specially permitted by the Commissioner General of Immigration to depart on another vessel within the period of such permission. Upon the refusal of any such alien seaman to depart on the vessel or other transportation line on which he arrived in the United States or on such other vessel or transportation line as may be designated by the Commissioner General of Immigration, upon the departure of such vessel from a port of the United States, unless specially permitted by the Commissioner General of Immigration to depart on another vessel within the period of such permission, or upon the refusal of any such alien seaman to proceed on board the vessel or other transportation line specified in the notice given him by the Commissioner General of Immigration, a penalty of $300 may be imposed upon the master, agent, consignee, or owner of the vessel on which such alien seaman arrived in the United States, and such penalty may be remitted or mitigated by the Commissioner General of Immigration upon the payment of such sum as he may deem appropriate, not exceeding $300 for each seaman in respect of whom such failure occurs. The Attorney General may, upon application in writing therefor, under such regulations as he may prescribe, temporarily permit any such alien seaman to land in the United States for a period not to exceed 29 days, subject to such conditions as will assure the return of such alien seaman to the vessel or other transportation line on which he arrived in the United States, or to the vessel or other transportation line which may be designated by the Commissioner General of Immigration, upon the departure of such vessel from a port of the United States, unless specially permitted by the Commissioner General of Immigration to depart on another vessel within the period of such permission.

Due shall be in no instance be taken from the vessel. The list of changes or alien members boat. When an arriving seaman is a "noncamera," a notation to that effect should be made on the manifest. In order to facilitate inspection of aliens seamen, including names of arriving American citizen seamen as well as aliens.

EXTRACT FROM ACT OF CONGRESS OF FEBRUARY 2, 1917, AS AMENDED

SEC. 38. That upon arrival of any vessel in the United States from any foreign port to ports it shall be the duty of the owner, agent, consignee, or master thereof to deliver to the principal immigration officer in charge of the port of arrival a list containing the names of all persons embarked on such vessel, stating the positions they respectively hold in the ship's company, when and where they were respectively shipped or engaged, and specifying from what port they have come; and upon the arrival of any such vessel it shall be the duty of the owner, agent, master, consignee, or master thereof to deliver to such immigration officer, at the port of arrival, a description of such alien, so far as the same can be discovered, all cases in which any such alien has illegally landed from the vessel, giving a description of such alien, so far as information likely to lead to his apprehension; and before the departure of any such vessel it shall be the duty of such owner, agent, consignee, or master thereof to deliver to such immigration officer a further list containing the names of all persons who have been discharged from such vessel during her stay in port, and also the names of those who have been left behind on account of illness or injuries; and the failure to comply with the provisions of this section as to the list to be delivered upon the arrival of the vessel at the port of arrival shall be punished by a fine of not more than $300 for each and every such offense; and the failure to comply with the provisions of this section as to the list to be delivered upon the departure of the vessel from the port shall be punished by a like fine for each and every such offense; and no such vessel shall be granted clearance papers pending the determination of the liability to the payment of such fine or fines, and such vessel may be detained at the port of arrival until such payment is made, or sufficient sureties given to secure the payment thereof, or may be allowed to depart after a deposit of a sum sufficient to cover such fine or of a bond duly sufficient surety to secure the payment thereof approved by the collector of customs. The Attorney General may, upon application in writing therefor, mitigate such penalty to not less than $300 for each seaman in respect of whom such failure occurs. Upon such terms as the Attorney General in his discretion shall think proper. That section 34 amended, shall apply to all penalties arising subsequent to June 2, 1940.

(b) Every alien seaman who shall not depart upon the outgoing manifest of the vessel on which he arrived in the United States from a place outside thereof, or shall be found unlawfully on shore at any time prior to the departure of such vessel as a seaman, shall be prima facie evidence of a failure to obtain or secure such alien seaman's lawful entry into the United States. (43 Stat. 161, 8 U. S. C. 166.)

SEC. 30. (a) The owner, charterer, agent, consignee, or master of any vessel arriving in the United States from any place outside thereof who fails to obtain on board the vessel the immigration officer in charge at the port of arrival any alien seaman who has been refused admission to the United States, except temporarily for medical treatment, or because such seaman is destined to a country other than the United States, or who fails to obtain such seaman's written receipt therefor, or who fails to deliver such seaman on board the vessel upon which the immigration officer in charge at the port of arrival may require his return, or who fails to report and deliver such seaman to the immigration officer at the port of departure, or who fails to pay the cost of maintenance of such seaman while detained at such port, or who fails to deliver such seaman to the master of the vessel upon which he arrived when required by the immigration officer in charge at the port of arrival, shall pay a penalty of $1,000 for each alien seaman in respect of whom such failure occurs. No vessel shall be granted clearance pending the determination of the liability to payment of such fine or fines, and such vessel may be detained at the port of arrival until such payment is made, or sufficient sureties given to secure the payment thereof, or may be allowed to depart after a deposit of a sum sufficient to cover such fine or of a bond duly sufficient surety to secure the payment thereof approved by the collector of customs. The Attorney General may, upon application in writing therefor, mitigate such penalty to not less than $300 for each seaman in respect of whom such failure occurs. Upon such terms as the Attorney General in his discretion shall think proper. That section 34 amended, shall apply to all penalties arising subsequent to June 2, 1940.

(b) Every alien seaman who shall not depart upon the outgoing manifest of the vessel on which he arrived in the United States from a place outside thereof, or shall be found unlawfully on shore at any time prior to the departure of such vessel as a seaman, shall be prima facie evidence of a failure to obtain or secure such alien seaman's lawful entry into the United States. (43 Stat. 161, 8 U. S. C. 166.)

(c) If the Attorney General finds that deportation of the alien seaman on the vessel on which he arrived would cause undue hardship to such seaman, he may cause him to be deported on another vessel at the expense of the vessel on which he arrived, and such vessel shall not be granted clearance until such expense has been paid or its payment guaranteed to the satisfaction of the Attorney General. (43 Stat. 161–163; 22 Stat. 816; 8 U. S. C. 161 (a), 161 (c).)

IMPORTANT NOTICE TO MASTER

The list described below shall be prepared on plank forms approved by the Department and be ready for delivery to the immigration inspector boarding the vessel at the port of arrival, and shall in no instance be taken from the vessel. The list of changes of alien members prior to views (Form I–418) shall not be furnished on board, but shall be delivered by the master to the principal immigration officer at the port. When an alternate address is given it should be added to the "Remarks" column in addition to that officer should be made on the manifest. In order to facilitate inspection of alien seamen, include names of alternate American citizen seamen as well as aliens.

EXTRACT FROM ACT OF CONGRESS OF FEBRUARY 2, 1917, AS AMENDED

SEC. 36. That from arrival of the vessel in the United States from any foreign port or place it shall be the duty of the owner, agent, consignee, or master, forthwith to deliver to the principal immigration officer in charge of the port of arrival a complete list, certified to be correct by the master, and verified by his signature, in such form as may be prescribed by the Commissioner General of Immigration, with the approval of the Secretary of Labor, containing the name and last known residence of every alien member of the crew who intends to depart from the United States with the vessel, and such other information relative to such alien members of the crew as the Commissioner General of Immigration may deem necessary for the proper identification of such alien members of the crew, which list shall be verified by the master or commanding officer of the vessel at the time of the departure of the vessel from each port in the United States. Any master, agent, consignee, or owner of any vessel who refuses or fails to deliver such list, or who refuses or fails to furnish any information required by this section or any rule or regulation made thereunder, shall be punished by a fine not exceeding $1,000 for each offense. Any master, agent, consignee, or owner of any vessel who shall refuse to allow any immigrant inspector access to the vessel for the purpose of inspecting the crew thereof, or who refuses or fails to detain on board any alien seaman employed on such vessel until the immigration officer in charge at the port of arrival has inspected such seamen (which inspection in all cases shall include a personal physical examination by the medical examiner), or who fails to detain such seamen on board after such inspection or to deport such seamen if required by such immigration officer at the time of departure of such vessel from the United States, except upon the written certificate of the medical examiner, approved by the commissioner of such seamen's relief fund to the effect that such seamen are not suffering from any loathsome or dangerous contagious disease, shall be punished by a fine of $1,000 for each alien seaman in respect of whom such failure occurs. No vessel shall be cleared pending the determination of the liability to payment of such fine, or while the fine remains unpaid, except that clearance may be granted prior to the determination upon the deposit by the collector of customs of a sum sufficient to cover such fine, or of a bond with sufficient surety to secure the payment thereof approved by the commissioner of such seamen in respect of whom such failure occurs, upon such refund as the Attorney General in the discretion shall think proper. The Attorney General may, upon application in writing therefor, mitigate such penalty to not less than $300 for each seaman to whom such failure occurs, upon such refund as the Attorney General in the discretion shall think proper. The section, as amended, shall apply to all deportees arising independent to June 2, 1940.

(b) Every alien in any seaman did not appear, upon the conclusive manifest of the vessel on which he arrived in the United States from any place outside thereof, or shall not be admitted to land at the United States, except temporarily for medical treatment, or pursuant to such regulations as the Attorney General may prescribe for the allowable departure, removal, or deportation of such alien from the United States. (43 Stat. 164, 8 U. S. C. 166.)

SEC. 30. (a) The owner, charterer, agent, consignee, or master of any vessel arriving in the United States from any place outside thereof, who fails to detain on board any alien seaman employed on such vessel until the immigration officer in charge at the port of arrival has inspected such seamen (which inspection in all cases shall include a personal physical examination by the medical examiner), or who fails to detain such seamen on board after such inspection or to deport such seamen if required by such immigration officer at the time of departure of such vessel from the United States, except upon the written certificate of the medical examiner, approved by the commissioner of such seamen's relief fund to the effect that such seamen are not suffering from any loathsome or dangerous contagious disease, shall be punished by a fine of $1,000 for each alien seaman in respect of whom such failure occurs. No vessel shall be cleared pending the determination of the liability to payment of such fine, or while the fine remains unpaid, except that clearance may be granted prior to the determination upon the deposit by the collector of customs of a sum sufficient to cover such fine, or of a bond with sufficient surety to secure the payment thereof approved by the commissioner of such seamen in respect of whom such failure occurs, upon such refund as the Attorney General in the discretion shall think proper. The Attorney General may, upon application in writing therefor, mitigate such penalty to not less than $300 for each seaman to whom such failure occurs, upon such refund as the Attorney General in the discretion shall think proper. The section, as amended, shall apply to all deportees arising independent to June 2, 1940.

(b) Every alien in any seaman did not appear, upon the conclusive manifest of the vessel on which he arrived in the United States from any place outside thereof, or shall not be admitted to land in the United States, except temporarily for medical treatment, or pursuant to such regulations as the Attorney General may prescribe for the allowable departure, removal, or deportation of such alien from the United States. (43 Stat. 164, 8 U. S. C. 166.)

(c) If the Attorney General finds that deportation of the alien seaman on the vessel on which he arrived would cause undue peril to such alien seaman or would cause him to be deported on another vessel at the expense of the vessel on which he arrived, and such vessel shall not be granted clearance until such expense has been paid or its payment guaranteed to the satisfaction of the Attorney General. (43 Stat. 164–165, 58 Stat. 818; 8 U. S. C. 161 (a), 161 (c).)

IMPORTANT NOTICE TO MASTER

The list described below shall be prepared on plain white paper approved by the Department and be ready for delivery to the immigration inspector boarding the vessel as the ship is entering, and shall in no instance be taken from the vessel. The list of changes of alien members may be entered (Form I–418) and not be returned on board, but shall be delivered by the master to the principal immigration officer at the port. When an alternate address is a "workaway" a notation to that effect should be made on the manifest. In order to facilitate inspection of aliens seeking landing at ports of entry, the master, owner, agent, consignee, or charterer of any vessel arriving in the United States from any foreign port or place shall deliver to the immigration officer in charge at the port of entry a list or manifest of all persons, including alien members of the crew, who are on board such vessel. Such list shall be prepared in the exact order of the numbers on the ship's articles, and shall show the full name, age, sex, calling, and nationality of each person, the country of which he is a citizen or subject, the country of his last permanent residence, the port at which he intends to land in the United States, whether he has a ticket through to his ultimate destination, whether he has been in the United States before, if so, when and how long he resided there, whether he has a relative or friend in the United States, and if so, whether he intends to join such relative or friend, and if so, his name and complete address, whether in possession of money and, if so, how much, whether in possession of a railroad ticket and, if so, whether such ticket is limited or through to destination, whether the alien has been deported or excluded from the United States or has ever been refused a visa, and the purpose and length of his intended visit to the United States. The list or manifest shall be signed by the master, owner, agent, consignee, or purser of the vessel, and sworn to before the immigration officer at the port of entry. Any master, owner, agent, consignee, or purser who refuses or neglects to deliver such list or manifest, or who refuses or neglects to answer truthfully to the best of his knowledge and belief any question concerning any alien on board such vessel as to the facts required to be stated in such list or manifest, or who delivers such list or manifest containing any false statement, shall be guilty of a misdemeanor and upon conviction thereof shall be punished by a fine of not more than $1,000 for each such offense, or by imprisonment for not more than one year, or by both such fine and imprisonment, in the discretion of the court. Sec. 26. (a) The master, charterer, agent, consignee, or owner of any vessel arriving in the United States from a place outside thereof, shall be permitted to land in the United States, except temporarily to secure necessary provisions or medical attendance, or because of an emergency or overruling necessity, only such alien seamen as are employed on board such vessel and who are included in the list or manifest of alien seamen required by section 25 to be delivered to the immigration officer in charge at the port of arrival: Provided, That the Attorney General may, in his discretion, waive the provisions of this section to the extent that he may deem necessary in order that any such vessel may not be unduly delayed in making her first scheduled departure from a port in the United States: Provided further, That the Attorney General may, in his discretion, parole into the United States temporarily under such conditions as he may prescribe any alien seaman who has been refused a visa by the consular officer at the port of foreign departure, if the immigration officer in charge at the port of arrival is satisfied that such alien seaman is not inadmissible under any provision of section 3 of this Act, and that his parole is required solely to enable him to accompany his vessel and to depart therewith or on another vessel or aircraft: Provided further, That nothing contained in this section shall be construed to entitle any alien, who has been issued a conditional permit to land temporarily as the bona fide alien seaman of a vessel which has been certified by the master to the immigration officer at the port of arrival as having been lost, destroyed, or abandoned, shortly after the arrival of such vessel, to be permitted to land in the United States unless specifically authorized by the Attorney General to receive such conditional permit. (b) Any alien seaman who shall land in the United States from any vessel at any port or place other than a port or place designated by the master in the list or manifest required by section 25 shall be deported as provided in sections 19 and 20 hereof, unless such alien seaman shall establish to the satisfaction of the Attorney General that his entry was caused by stress of weather or other unavoidable cause. (c) If the Attorney General finds that it is impracticable for the master of any vessel or aircraft bringing any alien to the United States to detain such alien on board or at the station of the immigration officer at the port of arrival pending the final determination of the admissibility of such alien, the master may deliver such alien to the immigration officer for custody pending the final determination of the admissibility of such alien. Such master may be required, in such sum and under such conditions as the Attorney General shall prescribe, to guarantee the payment of the passage money and expenses of such alien while in custody as aforesaid and the passage money and expenses of such alien to the country whence he came to the United States, or to guarantee the payment of such passage money and expenses to such other country as may be designated by such alien and which may be willing to receive him. (d) Any alien seaman who shall have been granted shore leave during the period his vessel is in port shall be required to present himself to the immigration officer in charge at the port of departure of such vessel and to establish to the satisfaction of such officer his identity and his ability to depart as the holder of a valid passport, if a passport is required by him under this Act, and a valid seaman's visa, if a visa is required by him under this Act, unless he has been granted by the Attorney General the right to depart temporarily from the United States without a passport and visa. Any such alien seaman who fails to present himself for such examination before departure, or who departs from the United States without a valid passport and visa, if required, shall be deported as provided in sections 19 and 20 hereof, unless such alien seaman establishes to the satisfaction of the Attorney General that his failure to present himself for such examination before departure was caused by illness or other circumstances beyond his control. (e) If the Attorney General finds that facilities for the detention of aliens in the custody of the master are inadequate, alien seamen may be required to be detained on board or at such station as may be designated by the immigration officer in charge at the port of arrival pending the completion of their examination, the removal of those who are not admissible, and the departure of those who are admitted or permitted to depart temporarily or permanently. Any such alien seaman who shall depart from the United States during the period he is required by the immigration officer in charge at the port of arrival to remain on board or at such station shall be deported as provided in sections 19 and 20 hereof, unless such departure was caused by stress of weather or other unavoidable cause shown to the satisfaction of the Attorney General. (f) Any master, owner, agent, consignee, or purser of any vessel who shall refuse or fail to comply with the requirements of this section or any regulations issued thereunder, or who shall connive or conspire with, or knowingly or negligently permit, any alien seaman to violate any of the provisions of this section or any regulations issued thereunder, shall be guilty of a misdemeanor and upon conviction thereof shall be punished by a fine of not more than $1,000 for each such offense, or by imprisonment for not more than one year, or by both such fine and imprisonment, in the discretion of the court. (g) If any alien seaman shall fail to perform any duty required of him by the immigration officer in charge at the port of arrival, or shall depart from the United States in violation of the provisions of this section, he shall be deemed guilty of a misdemeanor and upon conviction thereof shall be punished by a fine of not more than $1,000 or by imprisonment for not more than one year, or by both such fine and imprisonment, in the discretion of the court.

ALIEN SEAMEN

SEC. 18. No alien seaman excluded from admission into the United States under the immigration laws and employed on board any vessel arriving in the United States from any place outside thereof, shall be permitted to land in the United States, except temporarily as necessary to the medical treatment of such alien seaman as the Attorney General may prescribe for the ultimate deportation of such alien seaman, or because of an emergency or overruling necessity, or because the proper consular officer at the port of departure has certified that he has no objection to such alien seaman's entering the United States temporarily as a bona fide alien seaman. (43 Stat. 164; 8 U. S. C. 168.)

SEC. 20. (a) The master, charterer, agent, consignee, or owner of any vessel arriving in the United States from any place outside thereof, or the immigration officer in charge at the port of arrival, may request the removal of any alien seaman (whether inspection or not) who is afflicted with any of the medical disabilities or diseases mentioned in section 3 of this Act, or who is found to be a member of any of the classes excluded by section 3 of this Act, other than those excluded as seamen coming to the United States to perform labor, and the cost of such removal shall be borne by the owner of the vessel on which such alien seaman arrived. Any master, owner, agent, consignee, or purser of any vessel who refuses or fails to remove any such alien seaman when required so to do, or shall bring to the United States any such alien seaman with intent to evade the provisions of this section, shall be deemed guilty of a misdemeanor and upon conviction thereof shall be punished by a fine of not more than $1,000 for each such alien seaman, or by imprisonment for not more than one year, or by both such fine and imprisonment, in the discretion of the court. (b) Any such alien seaman who shall land in the United States, except temporarily to secure necessary provisions or medical attendance, or because of an emergency or overruling necessity, or because the proper consular officer at the port of departure has certified that he has no objection to such alien seaman's entering the United States temporarily as a bona fide alien seaman, shall be deported as provided in sections 19 and 20 hereof, unless such alien seaman establishes to the satisfaction of the Attorney General that his entry was caused by stress of weather or other unavoidable cause. (c) If the Attorney General finds that facilities for the detention of alien seamen in the custody of the master are inadequate, alien seamen may be required to be detained on board or at such station as may be designated by the immigration officer in charge at the port of arrival pending the completion of their examination, the removal of those who are not admissible, and the departure of those who are admitted or permitted to depart temporarily or permanently. Any such alien seaman who shall depart from the United States during the period he is required by the immigration officer in charge at the port of arrival to remain on board or at such station shall be deported as provided in sections 19 and 20 hereof, unless such departure was caused by stress of weather or other unavoidable cause shown to the satisfaction of the Attorney General. (d) Penalties applicable.—Any person who shall bring to the United States from any place outside thereof any alien seaman who is afflicted with any of the medical disabilities or diseases mentioned in section 3 of this Act, or who is found to be a member of any of the classes excluded by section 3 of this Act, other than those excluded as seamen coming to the United States to perform labor, and the cost of such removal shall be borne by the owner of the vessel on which such alien seaman arrived. Any master, owner, agent, consignee, or purser of any vessel who refuses or fails to remove any such alien seaman when required so to do, or shall bring to the United States any such alien seaman with intent to evade the provisions of this section, shall be deemed guilty of a misdemeanor and upon conviction thereof shall be punished by a fine of not more than $1,000 for each such alien seaman, or by imprisonment for not more than one year, or by both such fine and imprisonment, in the discretion of the court. (e) If the Attorney General finds that facilities for the detention of alien seamen in the custody of the master are inadequate, alien seamen may be required to be detained on board or at such station as may be designated by the immigration officer in charge at the port of arrival pending the completion of their examination, the removal of those who are not admissible, and the departure of those who are admitted or permitted to depart temporarily or permanently. Any such alien seaman who shall depart from the United States during the period he is required by the immigration officer in charge at the port of arrival to remain on board or at such station shall be deported as provided in sections 19 and 20 hereof, unless such departure was caused by stress of weather or other unavoidable cause shown to the satisfaction of the Attorney General. (f) Any master, owner, agent, consignee, or purser of any vessel who shall refuse or fail to comply with the requirements of this section or any regulations issued thereunder, or who shall connive or conspire with, or knowingly or negligently permit, any alien seaman to violate any of the provisions of this section or any regulations issued thereunder, shall be guilty of a misdemeanor and upon conviction thereof shall be punished by a fine of not more than $1,000 for each such offense, or by imprisonment for not more than one year, or by both such fine and imprisonment, in the discretion of the court. (g) If any alien seaman shall fail to perform any duty required of him by the immigration officer in charge at the port of arrival, or shall depart from the United States in violation of the provisions of this section, he shall be deemed guilty of a misdemeanor and upon conviction thereof shall be punished by a fine of not more than $1,000 or by imprisonment for not more than one year, or by both such fine and imprisonment, in the discretion of the court.

SEC. 36. That upon arrival of any vessel in the United States from any foreign port or place it shall be the duty of the owner, agent, master, or consignee, or the person in charge thereof, to deliver to the principal immigration officer in charge of the port of entry or his authorized assistant a complete list or manifest of all persons, including alien members of the crew, who are on board such vessel, stating the position they respectively hold in the ship's company, when and where they were respectively born, their last permanent residence, whether they have been previously in the United States, and if so, how long they remained there, whether they have been in prison or almshouse or supported by charity, whether they are polygamists, whether they believe in or advocate the overthrow by force or violence of the Government of the United States or of all forms of law, whether they are anarchists, whether they have ever been deported from the United States or excluded therefrom and the cause therefor, whether they have a ticket through to their destination, whether they have been in the United States before, if so, when and how long they resided there, whether they have a relative or friend in the United States, and if so, whether they intend to join such relative or friend, and if so, his name and complete address, whether in possession of money and, if so, how much, whether in possession of a railroad ticket and, if so, whether such ticket is limited or through to destination, whether the alien has been deported or excluded from the United States or has ever been refused a visa, and the purpose and length of his intended visit to the United States. The list or manifest shall be signed by the master, owner, agent, consignee, or purser of the vessel, and sworn to before the immigration officer at the port of entry. Any master, owner, agent, consignee, or purser who refuses or neglects to deliver such list or manifest, or who refuses or neglects to answer truthfully to the best of his knowledge and belief any question concerning any alien on board such vessel as to the facts required to be stated in such list or manifest, or who delivers such list or manifest containing any false statement, shall be guilty of a misdemeanor and upon conviction thereof shall be punished by a fine of not more than $1,000 for each such offense, or by imprisonment for not more than one year, or by both such fine and imprisonment, in the discretion of the court. VEEDAVIT OF THE MASTER OR COMMANDING OFFICER, OR FIRST OR SECOND OFFICER.

I, RICHARD E. [redacted] EIDEN, of the AM. of AMA D, do declare that the foregoing is a full and true list of all the crew brought in and now passed from and from or hence during her present voyage.

I have noted the copy of section 30 of the Act of February 3, 1917, extract from Title 8, Code of Federal Regulations, and copy of sections 14 and 50, Act of May 26, 1924, supra appear below.

Sworn to before me this 12th day of DECEMBER, 1929

Master, First or Second Officer.

Immigrant Inspector.

Fo-15/103

IMPORTANT NOTICE TO MASTER

The list described below shall be prepared on blank forms approved by the Department and be ready for delivery to the immigration inspector boarding the vessel at the port of arrival, and shall in no instance be taken to the office of the principal immigration officer at the port. When an alternate immigration officer at the port is designated, another list shall be prepared, but shall be delivered by the master to the principal immigration officer at the port. When an alternate seaman is at the "motorway" a duplicate to that effect should be made on the manifest. In order to facilitate inspection of alien seamen, include names of alternate American citizen seamen as well as aliens.

SEC. 36. That upon arrival of the vessel in the United States from the foreign port of place it shall be the duty of the master, agent, consignee, or master thereof to deliver to the principal immigration officer in charge at the port of arrival list containing the names of all aliens employed on such vessel, stating the positions they respectively hold in the ship's company, when and where they were respectively shipped or engaged, and specifying those who sign in the United States; and it shall be the duty of the master, agent, consignee, or master to report to such immigration officer, at arrival at each subsequent port in the United States at which the vessel may touch, any additional aliens employed since the last previous report, stating a description of such alien, together with such information likely to lead to his apprehension; and it shall be the duty of such master, agent, consignee, or master to deliver to such immigration officer, at the time of the departure of such vessel from each port, a list containing the names of all alien employees who were not reported as being on board at the time of the last previous report from such port, and also the names of those, if any, who were known or reported to be missing, and secure the certificate of such immigration officer that such list contains the names of all alien employees who were not discharged, and also the names of those discharged, if any, who were known or reported to be missing. Any master, agent, consignee, or master who shall refuse or neglect to deliver any list required by the Attorney General, or to report the name of any alien employee discharged or missing, or who shall refuse or neglect to secure the certificate of the immigration officer as to the correctness of such list, or who shall refuse or neglect to report the name of any alien employee who shall have been left behind at any port touched at, shall be deemed guilty of a misdemeanor, and upon conviction thereof shall be punished by a fine of not more than $1,000 for each alien concerning whom such correct list and certificate are not delivered, or for each alien concerning whom report is not made as above required: Provided, That clearance may be granted prior to the determination of such question upon deposit of a sum sufficient to cover such fine. (39 Stat. 888–889; 8 U. S. C. 151.)

ALIEN SEAMEN

SEC. 18. No alien seaman excluded from admission into the United States under the immigration laws shall be employed on board any vessel arriving in the United States from any place outside thereof, nor shall any such alien seaman employed on board any vessel arriving in the United States from any place outside thereof, or any alien seaman who has been refused a permit to land in the United States, except upon the certificate of the medical officer of the vessel to the effect that, in his opinion, such alien seaman is suffering from a contagious disease, to remain in the United States beyond the period of the vessel's stay in port: Provided, That any alien seaman employed on board any vessel arriving in the United States from any place outside thereof, or any alien seaman who has been refused a permit to land in the United States, except upon the certificate of the medical officer of the vessel to the effect that, in his opinion, such alien seaman is suffering from a contagious disease, to remain in the United States beyond the period of the vessel's stay in port may be required by the Attorney General to deposit such sum not exceeding $1,000 for each such alien seaman, as he may deem sufficient to insure that such alien seaman will not become a public charge, and will depart from the United States when required to do so: Provided further, That the Attorney General may, in his discretion, waive the provisions of this section in favor of any seaman employed in any particular capacity on board any vessel touching at ports of the United States: Provided further, That the Attorney General may, in his discretion, waive the provisions of this section in favor of any alien seaman who has been employed on board any vessel touching at ports of the United States for a period of at least one year prior to his application for admission to the United States: Provided further, That the Attorney General may, in his discretion, waive the provisions of this section in favor of any alien seaman who is employed on board any vessel touching at ports of the United States, if such alien seaman intends to become a permanent resident of the United States and has been employed on board vessels touching at such ports for a period of at least two years prior to his application for admission to the United States: Provided further, That the Attorney General may, in his discretion, waive the provisions of this section in favor of any alien seaman who is employed on board any vessel touching at ports of the United States, if such alien seaman is employed on board such vessel when it departs from a port in the United States, and intends to return on board a vessel of the same nationality on which he arrived in the United States, and the consul general of the country to which such vessel belongs certifies to the Commissioner General of Immigration that the vessel on which such alien seaman arrived in the United States will return to a port in such country and that such alien seaman is entitled to accompany such vessel upon her return voyage.

SEC. 30. (a) The owner, charterer, agent, consignee, or master of any vessel bringing to the United States any alien seaman (whether an inspection in transit through the United States is authorized or not) who is ordered by the Attorney General to be detained on board or at quarantine shall be liable to a penalty of $300 for each such alien seaman so detained, and no such vessel shall be granted clearance pending the determination of the question of the detention of any such alien seaman, or while any such alien seaman remains on board, unless a bond in such sum not exceeding $300 for each alien seaman as may be required by the Attorney General, with sufficient sureties, conditioned for the payment of such penalty, is deposited with the collector of customs. The Attorney General may, upon application in writing therefor, mitigate such penalty or cancel the bond. Any alien seaman who lands in the United States in violation of law, or who remains in the United States for a longer time than shall be allowed by the Attorney General or his authorized agent, shall be deported as provided in sections 19 and 20 hereof. The cost of maintenance of any alien seaman detained under the provisions of this section, as determined by the Attorney General, shall be paid by the master, agent, consignee, or owner of the vessel bringing such alien seaman to the United States.

(b) Every alien seaman who shall not depart from the United States with the vessel on which he arrived in the United States or on some other vessel in time to sail with her from the next port or place at which she touches after her departure from the United States, shall report and deliver himself to the immigration officer in charge at such port or place, and shall furnish to such officer such information as he may require for such purpose. Any such alien seaman who fails to report and deliver himself as required by this section shall be deemed to be unlawfully in the United States and shall be deported as provided in sections 19 and 20 hereof. Any such alien seaman who departs from the United States without obtaining the certificate provided for in section 31 hereof shall be deported as provided in sections 19 and 20 hereof upon the warrant of the Secretary of Labor, unless he obtains a certificate from the Attorney General that his deportation is not necessary.

(c) If the Attorney General finds that any employer of alien seamen has violated any of the provisions of this section, or any rule, regulation, or order thereunder, he may refuse clearance to any vessel of such employer while such violation continues, and may refuse to grant any such employer any certificate provided for in section 31 hereof for the future, if he is satisfied that such employer has failed to establish to the satisfaction of the Attorney General that he has complied with the provisions of this section and all rules, regulations, and orders thereunder, and has exercised due diligence to prevent violations by himself, his agents, and those under his control. (43 Stat. 164–165; 46 Stat. 818; 8 U. S. C. 191 (a), (b), (c).)

ALIEN SEAMEN

SEC. 13. No alien seaman excluded from admission into the United States under the immigration laws shall be employed on board any vessel arriving in the United States from any place outside thereof, or transferred from any vessel so arriving to any other vessel in the United States, except upon such conditions as may be prescribed by the Secretary of Labor and approved by the President: Provided, That any alien seaman employed on board any vessel arriving in the United States from any place outside thereof, who is lawfully entitled to enter the United States, shall be permitted to land in the United States, except upon the certification by the medical examiner that such alien seaman is suffering from a disease which will endanger the public health, or upon the certification by the immigration officer in charge at the port of arrival that such alien seaman is destitute or likely to become a public charge, or has been convicted of a felony or other crime or misdemeanor involving moral turpitude, or is afflicted with a loathsome or dangerous contagious disease, or is a stowaway, or has been deported within one year prior to the date of his application for admission, or is an anarchist, or is a person who believes in or advocates or teaches the overthrow by force or violence of the Government of the United States, or of all forms of law, or the assassination of public officials, or is a member of or affiliated with any organization entertaining, advocating, or teaching any such doctrine, or is a person who is coming to the United States to perform labor, unless otherwise admissible under the immigration laws: Provided, That any alien seaman employed on board any vessel arriving in the United States from any place outside thereof, who is found to be afflicted with any of the diseases or disabilities mentioned in this section, may be permitted to land temporarily for medical treatment, but a bond in such sum not exceeding $500 as may be required by the Secretary of Labor shall be deposited as a guaranty that such alien seaman will depart from the United States when required to do so, and a tax of $8 shall be paid to the collector of customs of the customs district in which the port of arrival is located for each alien seaman so landed, except that a lesser tax may be prescribed by the Secretary of Labor for seamen employed on vessels plying between ports of the United States and foreign contiguous territory: Provided, That any alien seaman employed on board any vessel arriving in the United States from any place outside thereof, who is found to be afflicted with any of the diseases or disabilities mentioned in this section, may be permitted to land temporarily for medical treatment, but a bond in such sum not exceeding $500 for each alien seaman so landed shall be required by the collector of customs, conditioned that such alien seaman will depart from the United States when required to do so, and a tax of $8 shall be paid to the collector of customs of the customs district in which the port of arrival is located for each alien seaman so landed: And provided further, That in the case of any alien seaman employed on board any vessel arriving in the United States from any place outside thereof, who is found to be afflicted with any of the diseases or disabilities mentioned in this section, such alien seaman may be detained on board the vessel at the option of the master, agent, owner, or consignee of the vessel, and in such case the Secretary of Labor may, in his discretion, require a bond in such sum not exceeding $1,000 for each alien seaman so detained as he may deem sufficient to cover the cost of maintenance and return of such alien seaman, conditioned that such alien seaman will depart from the United States when required to do so, or in lieu of such bond the master, agent, owner, or consignee of the vessel may deposit with the collector of customs of the customs district in which the vessel is arriving a sum sufficient to cover such cost, as determined by the Secretary of Labor, and such sum shall be refunded upon the departure of such alien seaman from the United States or paid to the steamship company which paid the head tax in the case of an alien passenger who departed within the time limit prescribed in section 8 hereof. Any bond given or money deposited under the provisions of this section may be declared forfeited and the amount thereof collected or retained, as the case may be, by the Secretary of Labor whenever he is satisfied that the master, agent, owner, or consignee of the vessel has failed to comply with any of the conditions of the bond or deposit, or with any of the requirements of this section or the rules and regulations prescribed thereunder, unless he is satisfied that the person who has failed to comply with any such requirement has been prevented from doing so by sickness or other cause beyond his control which could not have been reasonably foreseen. Any such forfeiture may be remitted in whole or in part under such terms and conditions as the Secretary of Labor may deem just and proper. Nothing in this section shall be construed to require, or authorize the requirement of, a bond from any alien seaman entitled to enter the United States solely and exclusively to perform service on board a vessel of which he is a member or regularly employed crew member, and who intends to depart from the United States with the vessel on which he arrived or some other vessel of the same ownership within the period of time for which he was admitted into the United States.

SEC. 150.13. Liens of alien employees; when clearance of vessel denied. Clearance shall not be granted over a vessel until the liens imposed by section 30 of the Immigration Act of 1917 (39 Stat. 888; 8 U. S. C. 171),* have been terminated, and not then unless notice of intention to file application for such liens has been filed with the collector of customs at the port of arrival within the period prescribed by said section or to file prescribed by section 32 of said Act (39 Stat. 888; 8 U. S. C. 168).

EXTRACT FROM ACT OF CONGRESS OF FEBRUARY 5, 1917, AS AMENDED

SEC. 30. That upon arrival of any vessel in the United States from any foreign port or place it shall be the duty of the owner, agent, consignee, or master thereof to deliver to the immigrant inspectors at the port of arrival lists or manifests of all aliens, including those in transit through the United States to foreign countries, who may be on board such vessel, which lists or manifests shall be prepared in the form and manner and contain such information as may be prescribed by the Secretary of Labor, and shall be verified by the oath of the master and surgeon of such vessel, which oath may be administered by any officer who is authorized to administer oaths for the purpose of this Act. The Secretary of Labor may prescribe rules governing the preparation of such lists or manifests, the number of copies thereof, and the time when and the terms under which they shall be delivered, and may refuse permission to land from any vessel any alien who shall not have been listed in accordance with such rules, and may cause any alien who may have been so listed and who may be found thereafter on board such vessel to be returned to the country whence he came on the vessel bringing him to the United States, at the expense of the appropriation for the enforcement of this Act, or of the transportation company which brought such alien to the United States, in the discretion of the Secretary of Labor. Any master, agent, owner, consignee, or person in charge of any vessel who shall refuse or neglect to deliver lists or manifests containing such information concerning all such aliens, or who shall refuse to permit any immigrant inspector to go on board any such vessel for the purpose of inspecting the same and the passengers and crew thereof, or to detain any such vessel for the purpose of such inspection, or who shall refuse to carry back to the port from which it came any alien ordered excluded by the immigrant inspectors, or who shall refuse to detain any such alien on board such vessel or to deliver him to the custody of the officer who demands him, or who shall refuse to pay the cost of his maintenance while detained, or who shall refuse to pay the cost of returning any such alien as provided for in this section, shall be deemed guilty of a misdemeanor and shall be punished by a fine of not more than $1,000 for each such offense. The Attorney General may, upon application in writing therefor, mitigate such penalty to not less than $300 for each seaman in respect of whom such failure occurs. The Attorney General may, upon application in writing therefor, remit such fine or penalty on such terms and conditions as he may deem just. The Attorney General shall by regulation prescribe the manner in which complaints may be made against masters, agents, owners, consignees, or persons in charge of vessels for violations of this section, and provide for the prosecution of such violations. The Attorney General may, upon the application of the master, agent, owner, consignee, or person in charge of any vessel, or of a bond duly executed by the master, agent, owner, consignee, or person in charge of any vessel as a guaranty that such vessel will depart from the United States without landing any alien seaman, including aliens of alternate American citizen seaman as well as aliens.

(b) Front fines on alien seamen.—Fines paid by masters of vessels for the landing of alien seamen who did not depart upon the outbound manifest of the vessel on which they arrived from any place outside thereof, or that may be transferred to the United States, shall be paid to the collector of customs at the port of arrival, and shall be refunded to the master if the alien seaman departs upon the vessel on which he arrived or some other vessel of the same ownership within the period of time for which he was admitted into the United States. This section, as amended, shall apply to all immigrant aliens arriving after the date of its enactment, whether such aliens arrive as the result of original journeys commenced prior to such date or not.

(c) If the Attorney General finds that deportation of the alien seamen or the vessel on which they arrived in the United States to obtain the testimony of such seamen is necessary in the prosecution of any person charged with violating any of the provisions of this section, he may, in his discretion, order the detention of such vessel or the retention of such seamen pending the prosecution and testimony of such witnesses, and the payment of their actual expenses while detained. Any master, agent, owner, consignee, or person in charge of any vessel who shall refuse to obey any such order of the Attorney General shall be punished by a fine of not more than $2,000 for each offense. Such vessel may be libeled in the district court of the United States for the district in which it may be found, and shall be forfeited to the United States. Clearance shall not be granted to any vessel while any seaman employed thereon is detained in the United States for the purpose of giving testimony in connection with the prosecution of any case under this section, unless security for the return of such witnesses is given satisfactory to the Secretary of Labor.

(d) Penalty for bringing in diseased aliens.—Any person, including the owner, charterer, agent, consignee, or master of any vessel who brings to the United States from any place outside thereof any alien who is afflicted with any of the diseases or disabilities mentioned in section 2 of this Act, or who has been deported under the provisions of section 19 of this Act, shall be required to pay a tax of $8 for each such alien so brought, which shall be a lien upon the vessel, and may be refused clearance until the tax is paid or a bond given for its payment. Any person who shall bring to the United States any alien afflicted with any of the diseases or disabilities mentioned in section 2 of this Act, or who has been deported under the provisions of section 19 of this Act, shall be guilty of a misdemeanor and shall be punished by a fine of not more than $1,000 or by imprisonment for not more than one year, or both, at the discretion of the court. Any person who shall bring to the United States any alien who has been deported under the provisions of section 19 of this Act, shall be guilty of a misdemeanor and shall be punished by a fine of not more than $1,000 or by imprisonment for not more than one year, or both, at the discretion of the court.

(e) Penalty for bringing in alien stowaways.—Any master, agent, owner, consignee, or person in charge of any vessel who shall bring to the United States any alien stowaway, or who shall refuse to return any such alien stowaway on board the vessel on which he arrived to the country from which he came, or who shall refuse to pay the cost of his maintenance while detained, shall be deemed guilty of a misdemeanor and shall be punished by a fine of not more than $1,000 for each such offense. The Attorney General may, upon application in writing therefor, remit such fine or penalty on such terms and conditions as he may deem just. The Attorney General shall by regulation prescribe the manner in which complaints may be made against masters, agents, owners, consignees, or persons in charge of vessels for violations of this section, and provide for the prosecution of such violations. The Attorney General may, upon the application of the master, agent, owner, consignee, or person in charge of any vessel, or of a bond duly executed by the master, agent, owner, consignee, or person in charge of any vessel as a guaranty that such vessel will depart from the United States without landing any alien seaman, including aliens of alternate American citizen seamen as well as aliens.

(f) Penalty for bringing in alien seamen.—Any master, agent, owner, consignee, or person in charge of any vessel who shall bring to the United States any alien seaman, or who shall refuse to return any such alien seaman on board the vessel on which he arrived to the country from which he came, or who shall refuse to pay the cost of his maintenance while detained, shall be deemed guilty of a misdemeanor and shall be punished by a fine of not more than $1,000 for each such offense. The Attorney General may, upon application in writing therefor, remit such fine or penalty on such terms and conditions as he may deem just. The Attorney General shall by regulation prescribe the manner in which complaints may be made against masters, agents, owners, consignees, or persons in charge of vessels for violations of this section, and provide for the prosecution of such violations. The Attorney General may, upon the application of the master, agent, owner, consignee, or person in charge of any vessel, or of a bond duly executed by the master, agent, owner, consignee, or person in charge of any vessel as a guaranty that such vessel will depart from the United States without landing any alien seaman, including aliens of alternate American citizen seamen as well as aliens.

(g) Penalty for bringing in stowaways.—Any master, agent, owner, consignee, or person in charge of any vessel who shall bring to the United States any alien stowaway, or who shall refuse to return any such alien stowaway on board the vessel on which he arrived to the country from which he came, or who shall refuse to pay the cost of his maintenance while detained, shall be deemed guilty of a misdemeanor and shall be punished by a fine of not more than $1,000 for each such offense. The Attorney General may, upon application in writing therefor, remit such fine or penalty on such terms and conditions as he may deem just. The Attorney General shall by regulation prescribe the manner in which complaints may be made against masters, agents, owners, consignees, or persons in charge of vessels for violations of this section, and provide for the prosecution of such violations. The Attorney General may, upon the application of the master, agent, owner, consignee, or person in charge of any vessel, or of a bond duly executed by the master, agent, owner, consignee, or person in charge of any vessel as a guaranty that such vessel will depart from the United States without landing any alien seaman, including aliens of alternate American citizen seamen as well as aliens.

IMPORTANT NOTICE TO MASTER

The list described below shall be prepared on blank forms approved by the Department and be ready for delivery to the immigration inspector boarding the vessel at the port of arrival. Each list shall be delivered by the master to the principal immigration officer at the port of arrival. The list of members of alien members of crew (Form I–418) shall not be returned on board, but shall be delivered by the master to the immigration officer at the port. When an alternate address is a "non-immigrant" a notation to that effect should be made on the manifest. In order to facilitate inspection of alien seamen, include names of alternate American citizen seamen as well as aliens.

EXTRACT FROM ACT OF CONGRESS OF FEBRUARY 5, 1917, AS AMENDED

SEC. 36. That upon arrival of any vessel in the United States from any foreign port or place it shall be the duty of the owner, agent, consignee, or master thereof to deliver to the principal immigration officer in charge of the port of arrival like certificates and manifests of the persons on board such vessel, relating the additional facts, respectively, required by section 12 and section 29 of this Act to be delivered to the immigration officer at the port of arrival by the master or commanding officer of vessels arriving from foreign ports, and such officer shall have the same power to administer oaths to persons on board such vessel and to require the production of any book, paper, or document relating to the information required to be furnished by this Act as is conferred upon officers of the United States customs service by section 2865 of the Revised Statutes, as amended (U. S. C., title 19, sec. 1455), and any person who refuses to answer any question put to him by any such officer, or who answers falsely any such question, shall be guilty of a misdemeanor and shall be punished by a fine not exceeding $1,000 or by imprisonment for not more than one year, or by both such fine and imprisonment: Provided, That clearance may be granted before the production of any such book, paper, or document which is unavailable, if the master or commanding officer shall furnish a bond or undertaking in such amount, not exceeding $2,000, as may be required by the principal immigration officer at the port of arrival, conditioned for the production of such book, paper, or document within such time as may be prescribed by such officer.

EXTRACT FROM 8 CFR 150

SEC. 150.15 Liens of alien employees: when clearance of vessel denied. Clearance shall not be granted any vessel until the liens created by section 36 of the Immigration Act of 1917 (39 Stat. 898; 8 U. S. C. 171), have been transmitted, and no fines remain unpaid, the deposits specified in §§ 150.13–150.15, and fees made.

EXTRACT FROM ACT OF CONGRESS APPROVED MAY 26, 1924, AS AMENDED

ALIEN SEAMEN

SEC. 10. No alien seaman excluded from admission into the United States under the immigration laws shall be employed on board any vessel arriving in the United States from any place outside thereof, shall be permitted to land in the United States, except temporarily for medical treatment, or because of illness requiring his detention as the Attorney General may prescribe for the ultimate departure, removal, or deportation of such alien from the United States. (43 Stat. 164, 8 U. S. C. 188.)

SEC. 20. (a) The owner, charterer, agent, consignee, or master of any vessel arriving in the United States from any place outside thereof, and any alien seaman employed on such vessel, shall, upon the immigration officer in charge at the port of arrival and inspection of such alien seaman on board said vessel (which inspection in all cases shall include a personal physical examination by the medical officer, if any, at the port or place where such examination is made), deliver to such immigration officer a manifest, in triplicate, in such form as may be prescribed by the Attorney General, containing such information with respect to such alien seaman as may be required by such immigration officer. The Attorney General may require any such owner, charterer, agent, consignee, or master to furnish a bond in such amount as he may deem sufficient, conditioned upon the departure of such alien seaman on board said vessel or upon the procurement by such owner, charterer, agent, consignee, or master of a permit for the landing of such alien seaman, and upon the payment of the hospital expenses and maintenance of such alien seaman, and the burial expenses in case of his death, and upon the delivery of such alien seaman to the immigration officer at such time and place as he may direct, and upon the payment of any fine or penalty which may be imposed upon such alien seaman under the provisions of this section. Any such owner, charterer, agent, consignee, or master who refuses to deliver any such alien seaman, or who fails to perform any of the other requirements of this section, shall pay to the collector of customs of the customs district in which the port of arrival is located the sum of $1,000 for each alien seaman in respect of whom such failure occurs. No vessel shall be granted clearance pending the determination of the liability to the payment of such fine, or while the fine remains unpaid, except that clearance may be granted prior to the determination upon the deposit of a sum sufficient to cover such fine, or of a bond with sufficient surety to secure the payment thereof approved by the collector of customs. The Attorney General may, upon application in writing therefor, mitigate such penalty to not less than $300 for each seaman in respect of whom such failure occurs, upon such terms as the Attorney General in the discretion shall think proper. This section, as amended, shall apply to all seamen who may arrive in the United States on or after the expiration of ninety days after June 2, 1924.

(b) Every alien seaman who shall not depart from the United States with the vessel on which he arrived in the United States or on some other vessel within the period of time for which he was admitted, shall be taken into custody upon the warrant of the Attorney General, and shall be deported to the country whence he came at the expense of the appropriation for the enforcement of this Act, unless the Attorney General shall be satisfied that he should be permitted to remain in the United States for permanent residence, in which event he may cause him to be granted a landing certificate, and such landing shall be held to relate back to the time of his original arrival.

(c) If the Attorney General finds that deportation of the alien seaman on the vessel on which he arrived will cause undue hardship, because of the treatment to which such seaman may be subjected upon the vessel, or otherwise, he may cause such seaman to be returned to the country whence he came, or to the country to which he is a citizen, subject, or people, at the expense of the appropriation for the enforcement of this Act, or cause him to be deported on another vessel at the expense of the owner of the vessel on which he arrived, but no such seaman shall be returned to any country in pursuance of this subsection unless such country shall have been designated by the master of the vessel on which he arrived as the country to which he desires to be returned, or unless such seaman shall have previously been a resident of such country, as defined in section 4 (b) of this Act, or unless such country shall be willing to receive such seaman into its territory. Nothing in this subsection shall be construed to require the detention of any alien seaman pending his deportation longer than is reasonably necessary to carry out the purposes of this subsection.

(43 Stat. 164–166, 8 U. S. C. 181 (a), (b), (c).)

SEC. 18. No alien seaman excluded from admission into the United States under the immigration laws and employed on board any vessel arriving in the United States from any place outside thereof, shall be permitted to land in the United States, except temporarily for medical treatment, or hospital or similar relief, or unless a certificate in the nature of a passport shall be issued to such alien by the consular officer in charge of the district in which such alien resides, certifying that the alien has been found upon examination by a medical officer of the United States Public Health Service to be not affected with any contagious disease, and that such alien is not otherwise inadmissible under the immigration laws. The Attorney General may, in his discretion, waive the certificate in the case of any alien who is in possession of a valid unexpired immigration visa, unless the consular officer issuing such visa has been notified that the alien is afflicted with a contagious disease. Any alien seaman who shall land in the United States in violation of this section shall be deported in the manner provided by section 19 of this Act, and shall be deported to the country whence he came, if practicable, at the expense of the appropriation for the enforcement of this Act

AFFIDAVIT OF THE MASTER OR COMMANDING OFFICER, OR FIRST OR SECOND OFFICER

I, Edward C. Hansen, of the Grand Isle, do declare that the foregoing is a full and true list of all the crew, promptly in said vessel from any port or place qualified for present voyage.

I have noted the copy of section 30 of the Act of February 3, 1917, extract from Title 8, Code of Federal Regulations, and copy of sections 13 and 50, Act of May 26, 1924, supra appear below.

Edward C. Hansen
Master, First or Second Officer.

Sworn to before me this 18 day of Dec, 19 52

Immigrant Inspector.

IMPORTANT NOTICE TO MASTER

The list described below shall be prepared on blank forms approved by the Department and be ready for delivery to the immigration inspector boarding the vessel at the port of arrival, but shall in no instance be taken from the vessel. The list of changes of alien members for crews (Form I–418) shall not be furnished on board, but shall be delivered by the master to the principal immigration officer at the port. When an alternate assigns a "workaway," a notation to that effect should be made on the manifest. In order to facilitate inspection of alien seamen, include names of alternate American citizen seamen as well as aliens.

In order to facilitate inspection of alien seamen, include names of alternate American citizen seamen as well as aliens.

EXTRACT FROM ACT OF CONGRESS OF FEBRUARY 2, 1917, AS AMENDED

SEC. 36. That upon arrival of any vessel in the United States from any foreign port or place it shall be the duty of the owner, agent, consignee, or master thereof to deliver to the principal immigration officer in charge of the port of arrival a list or manifest of all persons on board such vessel, whether they be cabin passengers, steerage passengers, or alien seamen, and whether they are destined to the United States or not, and such other lists or manifests of alien passengers as may be required by regulations prescribed by the Secretary of Labor: but alien seamen regularly employed on board vessels engaged in trade between the United States and foreign contiguous territory shall not be required to be listed or included in the manifests of such vessels unless specifically shall be required by the principal immigration officer at the port of arrival. The said officer shall have the power and shall be required to examine any or all persons, including alien seamen, prior to the departure of the vessel from the port, in addition to the physical examination by the medical officer of the Public Health Service, and to detain any such persons for special inquiry under the provisions of this Act. Such additional examination shall be conducted in accordance with such rules and regulations as may be prescribed by the Secretary of Labor. The master, agent, consignee, or owner of any vessel who refuses or neglects to deliver such list or manifest, or any part thereof, or refuses to subject any person on board such vessel to such examination, shall pay to the collector of customs of the customs district in which the port of arrival is located the sum of $1,000 for each alien concerning whom such failure occurs. No vessel shall be granted clearance papers pending the determination of the liability to payment of such sum, or while the same remains unpaid, except that clearance may be granted prior to the determination upon the deposit of a sum sufficient to cover such sum, or of a bond with sufficient surety to secure the payment thereof approved by the collector of customs. The Attorney General may, upon application in writing therefor, mitigate such penalty to such sum as he deems proper. Such action, as exercised, shall apply to all penalties which have accrued at the time of the application. (8 U. S. C. 136.)

SEC. 36. (a) The owner, charterer, agent, consignee, or master of any vessel bringing an alien to the United States from any place outside the United States shall be required to detain such alien on board such vessel at the port of arrival for a period of not more than five days after the inspection of such alien has been completed, unless within such period the alien is certified to a hospital for treatment or observation, to a public immigration station, or to the custody of a State or local authority designated for the detention or examination of aliens, or is permitted to land temporarily under bond, in such manner as may be prescribed by the Secretary of Labor, for medical treatment, for the purpose of submitting a request for a visa, or for the purpose of testifying in a case in which the United States is interested, or pending the bringing of an action under the immigration laws of the United States, and shall not permit any such alien to land in the United States except as provided in this section or section 23 of this Act. The Secretary of Labor shall by regulation prescribe the conditions upon which any such alien may be detained, the manner of notifying the owners of vessels of the detention of aliens, and the payment of reasonable charges for their maintenance while detained. Any such alien shall be entitled to a hearing before a board of special inquiry if he makes a request therefor prior to the completion of the inspection and examination provided for in this section. Nothing in this section shall be construed to require the detention of any alien who has been admitted to the United States and who thereafter departs temporarily from the United States and returns to a port within the United States.

(b) Any alien seaman who has been granted shore leave by the master, agent, consignee, or owner of any vessel arriving in the United States from any place outside the United States, except Canada, Mexico, Newfoundland, or adjacent islands, shall be required to present himself to the Attorney General or to such immigrant inspector as he may designate for examination at such time and place as he may direct, and shall be required to present a valid passport and a valid unexpired visa, if a visa was required by section 2 of this Act, or by any rule or regulation issued thereunder, unless he is a citizen of the United States or is otherwise exempted by the Secretary of State. Any such alien who fails to present himself for examination at the time and place required by the Attorney General shall be deported as provided in section 19 of this Act. (8 U. S. C. 166.)

SEC. 16. On alien seaman entering United States under the immigration laws who is found by the Attorney General to be a member of any class excluded from admission into the United States under the immigration laws, except temporarily for medical treatment, or because of his nationality as the Attorney General may prescribe for the alternate departure, or to secure his nationality, or because he is destitute, or afflicted with tuberculosis in any form or with a loathsome or dangerous contagious disease, shall be deported in the manner provided in section 19 of this Act. (8 U. S. C. 166.)

ALIEN SEAMEN

SEC. 13. (a) No alien seaman entering United States during the period ending June 30, 1925, except temporarily for medical treatment, or because of his nationality as the Attorney General may prescribe for the alternate departure, or to secure his nationality, or because he is destitute, or afflicted with tuberculosis in any form or with a loathsome or dangerous contagious disease, shall be permitted to land in the United States from any place outside the United States adjacent thereto, unless specifically admitted in the discretion of the Attorney General as a nonquota immigrant, or unless he establishes to the satisfaction of the Secretary of Labor that he is a bona fide alien seaman coming to the United States temporarily as a member of the crew of a vessel arriving at a port of the United States, and intending to depart therein, and is not within any of the classes enumerated as excluded by section 3 of this Act, except that the provisions of section 3 relative to the payment of head taxes shall not apply to such alien seaman. The Attorney General may, under such rules and regulations as he may prescribe, issue to such alien seaman a special permit to land temporarily, which permit shall be valid for such period of time, not exceeding thirty days, as the Attorney General may deem necessary for the purpose for which granted, and may be renewed in the discretion of the Attorney General. Such permit may be revoked by the Attorney General at any time and the alien seaman may be required to depart from the United States. Any such alien seaman who remains in the United States after the revocation of such permit or after the period stated therein, or who violates any condition upon which such permit is granted, shall be deported as provided in section 19 of this Act. (8 U. S. C. 166.)

(b) Any alien seaman who shall not depart from the United States with the vessel on which he arrived, or on some other vessel, within the period of time specified by the Attorney General, shall be deported as provided in section 19 of this Act. (8 U. S. C. 166.)

(c) If the Attorney General finds that deportation of the alien seaman would result in a serious economic depression in the United States affecting any considerable number of persons, he may defer deportation of such alien seaman for such period or periods as he may deem necessary. (43 Stat. 162, 8 U. S. C. 166.)

SEC. 30. (a) The owner, charterer, agent, consignee, or master of any vessel bringing an alien to the United States from any place outside the United States, except temporarily for medical treatment, or because of his nationality as the Attorney General may prescribe for the alternate departure, or to secure his nationality, or because he is destitute, or afflicted with tuberculosis in any form or with a loathsome or dangerous contagious disease, shall be required to detain such alien on board such vessel at the port of arrival for a period of not more than five days after the inspection of such alien has been completed, unless within such period the alien is certified to a hospital for treatment or observation, to a public immigration station, or to the custody of a State or local authority designated for the detention or examination of aliens, or is permitted to land temporarily under bond, in such manner as may be prescribed by the Secretary of Labor, for medical treatment, for the purpose of submitting a request for a visa, or for the purpose of testifying in a case in which the United States is interested, or pending the bringing of an action under the immigration laws of the United States, and shall not permit any such alien to land in the United States except as provided in this section or section 23 of this Act. The Secretary of Labor shall by regulation prescribe the conditions upon which any such alien may be detained, the manner of notifying the owners of vessels of the detention of aliens, and the payment of reasonable charges for their maintenance while detained. Any such alien shall be entitled to a hearing before a board of special inquiry if he makes a request therefor prior to the completion of the inspection and examination provided for in this section. Nothing in this section shall be construed to require the detention of any alien who has been admitted to the United States and who thereafter departs temporarily from the United States and returns to a port within the United States.

SEC. 150.15 Limit of alien employees; when clearance to vessel denied. Clearance shall not be granted any vessel until the master thereof has complied with all the requirements of section 30 of the Immigration Act of 1924 (43 Stat. 888; 8 U. S. C. 172), even when such vessel touches at a port of the United States solely for the purpose of taking on board or discharging a pilot. Clearance shall not be granted by the collector to any vessel having on board any alien seaman employed on such vessel in excess of the number of such seamen specified by the Attorney General in the permit issued to the master of such vessel pursuant to section 30 of the said Act, (43 Stat. 888; 8 U. S. C. 172), even though such vessel touches at a port of the United States solely for the purpose of taking on board or discharging a pilot in the waters of the United States, unless the master of such vessel has first reported to the collector of customs of the customs district in which the port of departure is located the name of each alien seaman employed on such vessel in excess of the number specified in the permit, the reasons for employing such seamen, and the wages to be paid to each, and has obtained from the collector a permit for the employment of such seamen. Clearance may be granted prior to the determination of such question upon deposit of a sum sufficient to cover such fine. (43 Stat. 888–889; 8 U. S. C. 172.)

SEC. 38. That upon arrival of any vessel in the United States from any foreign port or place it shall be the duty of the owner, agent, consignee, or master thereof to deliver to the principal immigration officer in charge of the port of arrival like counterpart lists or manifests of all persons on board such vessel, whether they be cabin passengers, steerage passengers or alien seamen, whether they be destined to the United States or not, and such other lists or manifests of alien passengers as may be required by regulations prescribed by the Secretary of Labor; but alien seamen regularly employed on board vessels engaged in trade between the United States and foreign contiguous territory shall not be required to be listed or included in the manifests of such vessels unless specifically required by the principal immigration officer at the port of arrival. The said officer shall have the power and shall be required to examine any or all persons, including alien seamen, prior to the departure of the vessel from the port, in addition to the physical examination by the medical officer of the Public Health Service, and to detain any such persons for special inquiry under the provisions of this Act. Such additional examination shall be conducted in accordance with such rules and regulations as may be prescribed by the Secretary of Labor. The master, agent, consignee, or owner of any vessel who refuses or neglects to deliver such list or manifest, or any part thereof, or refuses to subject any person on board such vessel to such examination, shall pay to the collector of customs of the customs district in which the port of arrival is located the sum of $1,000 for each alien concerning whom such failure occurs. No vessel shall be granted clearance papers pending the determination of the liability to payment of such sum, or while the same remains unpaid, except that clearance may be granted prior to the determination upon the deposit of a sum sufficient to cover such sum, or of a bond with sufficient surety to secure the payment thereof approved by the collector of customs. The Attorney General may, upon application in writing therefor, mitigate such penalty to such sum as he deems proper. Such action, as exercised, shall apply to all penalties which have accrued at the time of the application. (39 Stat. 888–889; 8 U. S. C. 172.)

IMPORTANT NOTICE TO MASTER

The list described below shall be prepared on blank forms approved by the Department and be ready for delivery to the immigration inspector boarding the vessel at the port of arrival; and shall in no instance be taken from the vessel. The list of changes of alien members for crews (Form I–418) shall not be returned on board, but shall be delivered by the master to the principal immigration officer at the port. When an arriving seaman is a "workaway," a notation to that effect should be made on the manifest. In order to facilitate inspection of alien seamen, include names of arriving American citizen seamen as well as aliens.

ALIEN SEAMEN

SEC. 15. No alien seaman excluded from admission into the United States under the immigration laws and employed on board any vessel arriving in the United States from any place outside thereof, shall be permitted to land in the United States, except temporarily to the extent necessary to obtain treatment, or pursuant to such regulations as the Attorney General may prescribe for the sickness, detention, or burial of such alien seaman. (43 Stat. 164, 8 U. S. C. 166.)

SEC. 30. (a) The owner, charterer, agent, consignee, or master of any vessel arriving in the United States from any place outside thereof who fails to detain on board the alien seaman employed on such vessel until the immigration officer in charge at the port of arrival has inspected such seaman (which inspection shall be made in all cases shall include a personal physical examination by the medical examiner), or who fails to detain such seaman on board after such inspection or to report such seaman if required by such immigration officer or the Attorney General so to do, shall pay to the collector of customs of the customs district in which the port of arrival is located the sum of $1,000 for each alien seaman in respect of whom such failure occurs. No vessel shall be granted clearance pending the determination of the liability to payment of such sum, or while the same remains unpaid, except that clearance may be granted prior to the determination upon the deposit of a sum sufficient to cover such sum, or of a bond with sufficient surety to secure the payment thereof approved by the collector of customs. The Attorney General may, upon application in writing therefor, mitigate such penalty to not less than $300 for each seaman in respect of whom such failure occurs, upon such terms as the Attorney General in his discretion shall think proper. The section, as amended, shall apply to all branches of the service subsequent to June 5, 1940.

(b) Proof that an alien seaman did not appear upon the outbound manifest of the vessel on which he arrived in the United States from any place outside thereof, or that he was reported by the master of such vessel as a deserter, shall be prima facie evidence of a failure to detain or deport alien seaman by the immigration officer or the Attorney General.

(c) If the Attorney General finds that any deportation on the alien seaman on the vessel on which he arrived would cause undue hardship to such seaman he may cause him to be deported on another vessel at the expense of the vessel on which he arrived, but such expense shall not be granted clearance until such expense has been paid or the payment guaranteed to the satisfaction of the Attorney General.

IMPORTANT NOTICE TO MASTER

The list described below shall be prepared on blank forms approved by the Department and be ready for delivery to the immigration inspector boarding the vessel at the port of arrival, and shall in no instance be taken from the vessel. The list or manifest of aliens embark on vessels (Form I–418) shall not be furnished on board, but shall be delivered by the master to the principal immigration officer at the port of arrival. When an alien arrives at a foreign "noncontiguous" territory or possession to which he is destined, a notation to that effect should be made on the manifest. In order to facilitate inspection of aliens seeking, coming to, or leaving the United States, the following rules and regulations are prescribed:

EXTRACT FROM ACT OF CONGRESS OF FEBRUARY 5, 1917, AS AMENDED

SEC. 28. That upon arrival of any vessel in the United States from any foreign port or place it shall be the duty of the master, agent, consignee, or owner, to deliver forthwith to the principal immigration officer in charge of the port of arrival lists containing the names of all aliens employed on such vessel, stating the positions they respectively hold in the ship's company, when and where they were respectively shipped or engaged, and specifying those to be put ashore at that port; and it shall be the duty of such master, agent, consignee, or owner to report to such immigration officer, in writing, as soon as discovered, all cases in which any such alien has illegally landed from the vessel, giving a description of such alien, together with information likely to lead to his apprehension; and before the departure of any vessel it shall be the duty of such master, agent, consignee, or owner to deliver to such immigration officer a written list containing the names of all aliens employed who were not shipped or engaged at the time of the arrival but who will leave port thereon at the time of her departure, and also the names of those, if any, who have been hired to be discharged, and of aliens, if any, who have deserted or landed; and in case of the failure of such master, agent, consignee, or owner to deliver lists as aforesaid he shall pay a penalty of $10 for each alien concerning whom correct lists are not delivered or furnished: Provided, That clearance may, in the event such alien is improperly landed, while it remains pending investigation by the Department of Labor, be granted prior to the determination of such question upon deposit of a sum sufficient to cover such tax. (39 Stat. 880–886; 8 U. S. C. 171.)

EXTRACT FROM 8 CFR 150

SEC. 150.13. Lists of alien employees; when clearance of vessel denied. Clearance shall not be granted via vessel until the lists required by section 36 of the Immigration Act of 1917 (39 Stat. 886; 8 U. S. C. 171), have been furnished, and not then unless notice of intention to file the application prescribed by this section or to that prescribed by section 32 of said Act (39 Stat. 886; 8 U. S. C. 168) previously, the deposit specified in 8 CFR 150.1–150.17, has been made.

EXTRACT FROM ACT OF CONGRESS APPROVED MAY 26, 1924, AS AMENDED

ALIEN SEAMEN

SEC. 10. No alien seaman excluded from admission into the United States under the immigration laws and employed on board a vessel arriving in the United States from any place outside thereof, shall be permitted to land in the United States, except temporarily for medical treatment, or unless such alien shall be certified by the Secretary of Labor, or such immigration officer as he may designate for the purpose, to the Secretary of the Treasury and to the master of such vessel from the United States. (43 Stat. 164, 8 U. S. C. 166.)

SEC. 30. (a) The owner, charterer, agent, consignee, or master of any vessel arriving in the United States from any place outside thereof (except vessels plying between ports in the United States on the Great Lakes and the waters connecting or adjacent thereto, and vessels plying between ports in the United States on the Atlantic Ocean, the Pacific Ocean, the Gulf of Mexico, the Caribbean Sea, and the waters connecting or adjacent thereto, and

SEC. 150.13. Duty of alien employees; when clearance of vessel denied. Clearance shall not be granted via vessel until the list required by section 30 of the Immigration Act of 1917 (39 Stat. 886; 8 U. S. C. 141), when need furnished, has been filed as to alien employees notice of inability to the administrative time prescribed by said section or to that prescribed by section 32 of said Act (39 Stat. 886; 8 U. S. C. 138) pending such time as the case of such alien employee is under consideration by the Attorney General or the Commissioner of Immigration and Naturalization, or his authorized representative, or by the courts, but not to exceed 60 days in addition to the period otherwise allowed by law or regulations.

SEC. 28. That upon arrival of a vessel in the United States from any foreign port or place it shall be the duty of the owner, agent, consignee, or master thereof to deliver to the principal immigration officer in charge of the port of arrival lists containing the names of all aliens employed on such vessel, stating the positions they temporarily hold in the ship's company, when and where they were respectively shipped or entered, and specifying those to be held on board in the port of arrival; or lists containing as much of such information as to the Attorney General shall by regulation prescribe; and after the arrival of the ship such vessel is not to be cleared, nor shall any such alien be allowed to depart from the vessel or from the limits of the port of arrival, but the master, consignee, or agent, consignee, or master to report to such immigration officer, in writing, as soon as discovered, all cases in which any such alien has left the vessel, together with the reason for such absence, and the measures taken for his apprehension; but before the departure of any such vessel it shall be the duty of such owner, agent, consignee, or master to deliver to such immigration officer a further list containing the names of all alien employees who were not employed thereon at the time of the arrival, but who will leave port thereon at the time of such departure, and also the names of those, if any, who have been employed but who have discharged, and of those, if any, who have deserted or landed; and in case of the failure of such owner, agent, consignee, or master so to deliver either of the lists aforesaid he shall for each alien whose name should be included therein but is omitted therefrom, or who is specified as discharged but concerning whom correct data are not delivered, or who has deserted, or landed, in the case of the failure to report such cases of desertion or landing, such owner, agent, consignee, or master, to a penalty of $10 for each alien concerning whom correct data are not delivered, or who has deserted, or landed, in the case of the failure to report as to the deserters, and $30 for each alien not included in the list who is found on board, while it remains there: not landed, but in the event such alien has been transferred to another vessel, that vessel shall be considered: Provided, That clearance may be granted prior to the determination of such question upon deposit of a sum sufficient to cover such tax. (39 Stat. 880–890; 8 U. S. C. 141.)

ALIEN SEAMEN

SEC. 13. No alien seaman excluded from admission into the United States under the immigration laws employed on board any vessel arriving in the United States from any place outside contest, shall be permitted to land in the United States, except temporarily for medical treatment, or because of illness requiring his hospitalization, or to secure the services of a doctor or nurse for the vessel, or for such other reasons as the Attorney General may prescribe for the alternate deportation, removal, or deportation of such alien from the United States. (43 Stat. 164, 8 U. S. C. 166.)

SEC. 30. (a) The owner, charterer, agent, consignee, or master of any vessel arriving in the United States from any place outside contest shall deliver to the immigration officer in charge at the port of entry and to the master of such vessel a list or manifest of all aliens employed on such vessel until the immigration officer in charge at the port of entry has inspected such seaman (which inspection in all cases shall include a personal physical examination by the medical examiners), or who fails to deliver such manifest or to report such seaman if required by such immigration officer or the Attorney General so to do, shall pay to the collector of customs of the customs district in which the port of entry is located for the use of the United States $1,000 for each alien seaman in respect of whom such failure occurs. No vessel shall be granted clearance pending the determination of the liability to payment of such fine, or while the fine remains unpaid, except that clearance may be granted prior to the determination of such question upon the deposit of a bond or undertaking approved by the collector of customs. The Attorney General may, upon application in writing therefor, mitigate such penalty to not less than $300 for each seaman in respect of whom such failure occurs, upon such terms as the Attorney General in his discretion shall think proper. The section, as amended, shall apply to all deportable aliens embarked on or after June 2, 1940.

(b) Proof that an alien seaman did not depart upon the outbound manifest of the vessel on which he arrived in the United States from any place outside contest, or that he was reported by the master of such vessel as a deserter, shall be prima facie evidence of a failure to deport alien seaman by the immigration officer or the Attorney General.

(c) If the Attorney General finds that deportation of the alien seaman on the vessel on which he arrived would cause undue hardship to such seaman he may cause him to be deported on another vessel at the expense of the vessel on which he arrived, and such vessel shall not be granted clearance until such expense has been paid or its payment guaranteed to the satisfaction of the Attorney General.

(43 Stat. 164–165; 28 Stat. 810; 8 U. S. C. 101 (a), 101 (c).)

AFFIDAVIT OF THE MASTER OR COMMANDING OFFICER, OR FIRST OR SECOND OFFICER

I, Clarence H. Hoffer, master, of the Gazelle mfd. Co. ..... do depose that the foregoing is a full and true list of all the crew brought in said vessel from any port or place during her present voyage. I have noted the copy of section 36 of the Act of February 5, 1917, extract from Title 8, Code of Federal Regulations, and copy of sections 14 and 50, Act of May 26, 1924, navigation volume, hereto.

Clarence H. Hoffer
Master, first or second officer.

Sworn to before me this 14 day of December, 1926

Walter H. Sherwood
Immigrant Inspector.

IMPORTANT NOTICE TO MASTER

The list described below shall be prepared on plain forms approved by the Department and be ready for delivery to the immigrant inspector boarding the vessel at the port of arrival. The list of changes of alien members of crews (Form I-418) shall not be required on board, but shall be delivered by the master to the principal immigration officer at the port. When an alternate seaman is a "workaway," a notation to that effect should be made on the manifest. In order to facilitate inspection of alien seamen, include names of alternate American citizen seamen as well as aliens.

EXTRACT FROM ACT OF CONGRESS OF FEBRUARY 5, 1917, AS AMENDED

SEC. 36. That upon arrival of any vessel in the United States from any foreign port or place it shall be the duty of the owner, agent, consignee, or master thereof to deliver to the principal immigration officer in charge of the port of arrival a list or manifest of all persons, including the members of the crew, who may be employed on such vessel, showing the position they respectively hold in the ship's company, when and where they were respectively shipped or engaged, and description thereof; and it shall be the duty of the master of such vessel to report and deliver to the proper immigration officer, at the time of the departure of the vessel from each port of the United States, a list or manifest of all persons, including the members of the crew, who may be discharged, or who have died or been born on board such vessel while in such port, and the cause of death in case of any death, and to report the sickness or injury of any person on board such vessel, stating a description of such alien, together with information likely to lead to his apprehension: and before the departure of any such vessel it shall be the duty of such owner, agent, consignee, or master to deliver to each such immigration officer a list containing the names of all alien members of the crew who have been discharged from the vessel, stating a description of such alien, together with information likely to lead to his apprehension: and it shall be the duty of such owner, agent, consignee, or master to report to such immigration officer, in writing, as soon as discovered, all cases in which any such alien member of the crew has deserted the vessel while in the port of arrival; or have remained on shore after the vessel has left the port of arrival; and the cause or reason for such desertion or such failure of any such alien member of the crew to join the vessel, if known, and also the name of such deserter, and the last vessel on which he shall have been shipped or discharged, and the age, nationality, last residence, and description of such deserter. Any master who shall refuse or neglect to comply with the provisions of this section shall pay to the collector of customs of the district in which the port is located the sum of $10 for each alien concerning whom correct lists are not delivered or reported to a time before as well as after the departure of such vessel, in the event such time is imposed, while it remains during; nor shall such fine be remitted or refunded: Provided, That clearance may be granted prior to the determination of such question upon deposit of a sum sufficient to cover such fine. (39 Stat. 880, 887; 8 U. S. C. 171.)

EXTRACT FROM 8 CFR 150

SEC. 150.15. Limit of alien employees: when clearance of vessel denied. Clearance shall not be granted vun vessel until the list required by section 36 of the immigration Act of 1917 (39 Stat. 886; 8 U. S. C. 171), have been furnished, and not then unless notice of intention to the administrative fine prescribed by section 35 of said Act (39 Stat. 888; 8 U. S. C. 169) has been waived, the deposit specified in §§ 150.13–150.17, inc. has been made.

EXTRACT FROM ACT OF CONGRESS APPROVED MAY 26, 1924, AS AMENDED

ALIEN SEAMEN

SEC. 13. No alien seaman excluded from admission into the United States under the immigration laws has employed on board any vessel arriving in the United States from any place outside the United States, or who deserts any vessel while in the United States, except temporarily for medical treatment, or who shall have been certified by the medical officer of the public health service as suffering from any contagious disease, shall be permitted to land in the United States, except temporarily while in the port for such purpose and under such regulations as the Attorney General may prescribe for the control and removal of such aliens from the United States. (43 Stat. 164; 8 U. S. C. 166.)

SEC. 50. (a) The owner, charterer, agent, consignee, or master of any vessel arriving in the United States from any place outside contiguous territory shall pay to the collector of customs of the customs district in which the port of arrival is located the sum of $1,000 for each alien seaman in respect of whom such failure occurs. No vessel shall be granted clearance pending the determination of the liability to payment of such fine, or while the fine remains unpaid, except that clearance may be granted prior to the determination of any question upon the deposit of a sum sufficient to cover such fine, or of a bond with sufficient surety to secure the payment thereof approved by the collector of customs. The Attorney General may, upon application in writing therefor, mitigate such penalty to not less than $300 for each seaman in respect of whom such failure occurs, upon such terms as the Attorney General may prescribe. Such application must be filed within one year after the date of the departure of the vessel on which the alien seaman was employed, and shall apply to all penalties which accrue from the outbreak hereafter of the present European war and ending two years after the termination thereof by proclamation of the President or by concurrent resolution of the two Houses of Congress.

(b) Penalties for aliens seamen did not appear upon the outbound manifest of the vessel on which he arrived in the United States from any place outside thereof, or that he was rejected by the master of such vessel as a deserter, shall be prima facie evidence of a failure to deliver or report alien seamen by the immigration officer of the Attorney General.

– (c) If the Attorney General finds that deportation of the alien seaman on the vessel on which he arrived would cause undue hardship to such seaman he may cause him to be deported on another vessel at the expense of the vessel on which he arrived, and such vessel shall not be granted clearance until such expense has been paid or its payment guaranteed to the satisfaction of the Attorney General. (43 Stat. 164–165, 24 Stat. 414; 8 U. S. C. 161 (a), 161 (c).)

IMPORTANT NOTICE TO MASTER

The list described below shall be prepared on blank forms approved by the Department and be ready for delivery to the immigration inspector boarding the vessel at the port of arrival, and shall in no instance be taken from the vessel. The list of changes of alien members for crews (Form I–418) shall not be furnished on board, but shall be delivered by the master to the principal immigration officer at the port. When an alternate seaman is a "workaway" a notation to that effect should be made on the manifest. In order to facilitate inspection of alien seamen, include names of alternate American citizen seamen as well as aliens.

IMPORTANT NOTICE TO MASTER

The list described below of persons who are to be employed on board your vessel has been prepared by the Department and by reason of your connection with the vessel as master it is the duty of the master, and also of the owner, agent, consignee, or charterer of the vessel, to see that no alien not listed below is employed on board, but shall be delivered by the master to the principal immigration officer at the port of entry (Form 588) shall not be required on board, but shall be delivered by the master to the principal immigration officer at the port. When an alien is entitled to depart from the United States without a passport, the word "exempt" is inserted in the column headed "Remarks".

EXTRACT FROM ACT OF CONGRESS OF FEBRUARY 2, 1917

SEC. 36. That from and after the first day of July 1917 it shall be unlawful for any person, agent, owner, master, or consignee of any vessel to allow any alien to land from any foreign vessel at any port in the United States from which vessels are departing for foreign countries, or to allow any alien to land from any vessel arriving at any port in the United States from foreign countries, except upon the landing certificate or permit issued to such alien by the proper immigration officer, or under such rules and regulations as the Secretary of Labor may prescribe: and whenever the master, owner, agent, consignee, or charterer of any vessel shall have reason to believe that any alien on board such vessel intends to land in violation of law it shall be the duty of such master, owner, agent, consignee, or charterer to report to the proper immigration officer at the port of entry the name and description of such alien, together with such information likely to lead to his apprehension; and whenever any alien shall land from any vessel, arriving at a destination in the United States, in violation of law, it shall be the duty of such master, owner, agent, consignee, or charterer to give immediate information of such landing to the Secretary of Labor and to the proper immigration officer at the port of entry or nearest thereto by telephone or telegraph: and whenever any alien shall have been granted a landing certificate or permit to go on shore from any vessel at any port of the United States, and shall fail to return to such vessel within the time prescribed by the Secretary of Labor and by the master of such vessel, the master, owner, agent, consignee, or charterer of such vessel shall be liable to a penalty of $1,000 for each and every such alien, and such vessel shall be liable to a like penalty, which may be sued for and recovered by the United States or any person who will first bring action therefor, and may be seized and forfeited to the United States in any district into which such vessel may enter or in which she may be found, and such penalty shall constitute a lien upon such vessel which may be enforced by proceedings in rem. The Secretary of Labor may, in his discretion, remit any penalty or forfeiture provided for by this section.

SEC. 36. (a) The owner, charterer, agent, consignee, or master of any vessel that shall bring to any port of the United States any alien afflicted with any of the physical or mental defects or diseases which would be grounds for the exclusion of such alien from the United States under the immigration laws, or who shall have been deported as such, shall pay to the collector of customs for the district in which such port is located the sum of $200 for each and every such alien, unless such alien is in possession of a valid immigration visa and is entitled to enter the United States without further inquiry by the immigration officers, or is a citizen of the United States or has been lawfully admitted to the United States for permanent residence and is returning to a home or domicile in the United States after a temporary absence, or is an alien lawfully admitted to the United States for permanent residence who is returning from a temporary visit abroad, or is an alien who has been admitted to the United States solely to escape persecution because of race, religion, or political opinion and is otherwise admissible.

(b) If any such alien shall be permitted to land temporarily in the United States under bond, such bond shall be conditioned for the return of such alien to the country whence he came, or for his subsequent deportation, and such alien shall be placed under the jurisdiction of the Department of Labor for such period of time, not exceeding five years, as the Secretary of Labor may direct, and may be required to report to the United States immigration officers from time to time.

(c) If any such alien shall be found in the United States in violation of this section, and deported in pursuance of law, the owner, charterer, agent, consignee, or master of the vessel bringing such alien to the United States shall pay the cost of his maintenance while detained and the transportation incident to his deportation.

(d) Every alien who is excluded from admission to the United States shall be deported on the vessel that brought him to the United States, unless the master, owner, agent, consignee, or charterer of such vessel shall prove to the satisfaction of the Secretary of Labor that such alien had been admitted to the United States temporarily and has since been lawfully admitted permanently, or shall prove that such alien was a bona fide resident of the United States and entitled to return thereto, and had been temporarily absent therefrom, or that such alien had become a citizen or national of the United States.

(e) If any person, master of a vessel, owner, agent, consignee, or charterer of any vessel fails to comply with any of the requirements of this section or any rule or regulation made pursuant thereto, such person, master of a vessel, owner, agent, consignee, or charterer of any vessel shall pay to the collector of customs for the district in which such port is located the sum of $1,000 for each and every such failure or refusal, which sum shall be a lien upon such vessel, and such vessel may be libeled therefor in the United States district court for the district in which she may arrive or depart, and may be seized and forfeited to the United States in any district into which such vessel may enter or in which she may be found, and such penalty shall constitute a lien upon such vessel which may be enforced by proceedings in rem. The Secretary of Labor may, in his discretion, remit any penalty or forfeiture provided for by this section or any part thereof.

EXTRACT FROM SUBDIVISION B, RULE 7

PAR. 4. Clearance shall not be granted by collector to any vessel until the master has complied with the requirements of section 36 of the act of February 5, 1917, and rules and regulations prescribed by the Secretary of Labor thereunder.

EXTRACT FROM ACT OF CONGRESS APPROVED MAY 22, 1924

ALIEN SEAMEN

SEC. 31. No alien seaman entering the United States under the immigration laws of the United States, except temporarily for the purpose of visiting a recognized hospital as a patient, and no alien seaman who has been admitted into the United States solely to escape persecution because of race, religion, or political opinion and who is otherwise admissible, shall be permitted to land in the United States, except upon a landing certificate or permit issued by the Secretary of Labor under such rules and regulations and upon such terms and conditions as may be prescribed not inconsistent with law. Such certificate or permit may be granted to the seaman's own vessel or to any other vessel bringing him to the United States, or to any vessel on which he may be destined to sail from the United States, or to any vessel on which he may be detailed to sail from a port in the United States to a port in a foreign contiguous territory, or adjacent islands, and shall be granted only upon the payment by the master, owner, agent, consignee, or charterer of the vessel bringing the seaman to the United States of a tax of $8 for each seaman other than a seaman who is a native of the United States, Canada, Newfoundland, Mexico, Cuba, Panama, the Canal Zone, the Republic of Haiti, the Dominican Republic, Costa Rica, Nicaragua, Honduras, Salvador, Guatemala, or the Republic of Colombia, who arrives in the United States otherwise than as a cabin passenger. Such tax shall be in addition to the head tax levied by section 2 of the Act of February 5, 1917, and shall be paid to the collector of customs or his deputy at the port of arrival before the vessel shall depart from such port, and in default of payment shall constitute a lien upon the vessel to be enforced by libel in rem. Such tax shall not be refunded if the seaman is permitted to land temporarily in the United States under bond, but if he is required to leave the United States within four months from the date of his arrival and does so leave on the vessel which brought him to the United States or on another vessel, the master, owner, agent, consignee, or charterer of the vessel which brought him to the United States shall be refunded the amount of the tax paid for the seaman.

AFFIDAVIT OF THE MASTER OR COMMANDING OFFICER, OR FIRST OR SECOND OFFICER

I, E. A. Hilton, Master of the M.V. Donna Lee, do declare that the foregoing is a full and true list of all the crew presently in my care, custody or employ, and that I have satisfied myself that each of them is in possession of a valid passport issued by the country of which he claims to be a national, and that each of them has been instructed to report to the proper immigration officer at each port of call of the vessel for the purpose of complying with the immigration laws, rules and regulations of the United States relating to crewmen.

I further declare that I have satisfied myself that each of the crewmen listed hereon is in possession of a valid certificate of identity issued pursuant to section 70 of the Act of February 5, 1917, and that I have complied with all the provisions of section 30 of the Act of June 27, 1952, entitled "Immigration and Nationality Act" (66 Stat. 182; 8 U.S.C. 1180), and the regulations issued thereunder, relating to the shipping and discharging of crewmen in the United States.

EXTRACT FROM ACT OF CONGRESS APPROVED MAY 26, 1924, AS AMENDED

ALIEN SEAMEN

SEC. 18. No alien seaman excluded from admission into the United States under the immigration laws employed on board any vessel arriving in the United States from any place outside thereof, shall be permitted to land in the United States, except temporarily for medical treatment, or pursuant to such regulations as the Attorney General may prescribe for the temporary landing of seamen, or in case of the death, illness, or injury of the master or officer to whose department he belongs, and no such seaman shall be employed on board any vessel until the immigration officer in charge at the port of arrival has inspected such seaman or caused him to be inspected by a surgeon of the United States Public Health Service. Any such seaman who is afflicted with any contagious disease shall be detained on board or at quarantine as the immigration officer may direct. Any such seaman who is found to be suffering from any mental or physical defect of such character as to render it unlikely that he will be able to earn a living for himself and those dependent upon him, shall be detained on board or at such port of arrival as the immigration officer may direct, and reported to the Attorney General for deportation. Any such seaman who is found to be afflicted with any of the diseases or mental or physical defects or disabilities which would be sufficient to warrant the exclusion of such seaman from admission into the United States under the immigration laws, rules, and regulations then in force, shall be deported in pursuance of the law upon the certificate of the medical officer of the vessel or of the United States Public Health Service officer at the port of arrival, setting forth the fact or facts on which, in his opinion, such certificate should be based. Any such seaman who is ordered deported shall be detained on board the vessel or at such other place as may be designated by the immigration officer pending the departure of the vessel from the port, and the cost of his maintenance while so detained shall be paid by the master, agent, owner, or consignee of the vessel. Any such seaman who has been ordered deported shall be deported on the vessel on which he arrived in the United States or on any other vessel which may be available, unless the Attorney General shall determine that deportation should be effected on some other vessel or in some other manner. Nothing in this section shall be construed to require the detention on board or deportation in pursuance of the provisions of this section of any seaman who shall have been admitted to the United States and who shall have become a member of the crew of a vessel engaged in the coastwise trade of the United States, Alaska, Hawaii, Puerto Rico, or the Virgin Islands, and who is continuing in such employment.

SEC. 20. (a) The owner, charterer, agent, consignee, or master of any vessel arriving in the United States from any place outside thereof, who shall employ on board such vessel any alien seaman who has been refused a permit to land in the United States, except temporarily for medical treatment, or pursuant to such regulations as the Attorney General may prescribe for the temporary landing of seamen, or in case of the death, illness, or injury of the master or officer to whose department he belongs, and who fails to detain such seaman on board after such inspection or to deport such seaman, shall be punished by a fine of not more than $1,000 for each alien seaman in respect of whom such failure occurs. No vessel shall be granted clearance papers pending the determination of the question whether the penalty imposed by this section has been incurred, except that clearance may be granted prior to such determination upon the deposit of a sum sufficient to cover such fine or of a bond with sufficient surety to secure the payment thereof approved by the collector of customs. The Attorney General may, upon application in writing stating the facts, remit the fine or any part thereof imposed by this section, or may cancel any bond or refund any money deposited as security for the payment of such fine or any part thereof, if he shall be satisfied that the fine has been incurred without fault on the part of the master, owner, agent, consignee, or charterer of the vessel, or that such fine is excessive in amount.

(b) Every alien seaman who shall not depart from the United States with the vessel on which he arrived in the United States or in which he has been employed while in the United States, or who shall land in any place in the United States or in any foreign country other than the country in which he shall have been shipped, or who shall not ship on board a vessel bound for a port in the country in which he was shipped, within 30 days after he shall have been left behind by the vessel on which he arrived in the United States, shall be deported at the expense of the appropriation for the enforcement of the immigration laws, unless the Attorney General shall have granted him permission to remain in the United States for a longer period of time. Any such seaman who shall have been granted such permission shall be deported at the expense of such appropriation if he shall remain in the United States after the termination of the period for which such permission was granted.

(c) If the Attorney General finds that deportation of the alien seaman on the vessel on which he arrived in the United States or on any vessel on which he is entitled to be deported is impracticable or inadvisable, he may cause him to be deported on another vessel at the expense of the appropriation for the enforcement of the immigration laws, or may cause him to be deported in such manner as he may deem most economical and expedient, but not by a vessel flying the flag of the country to which the seaman refused to be deported has refused to go, or of which he is a subject, citizen, or national, unless no other means of deportation is practicable. Any seaman who shall have been granted clearance shall be deported in accordance with the provisions of this section, and the cost of his maintenance while so detained shall be paid by the master, agent, owner, or consignee of the vessel. Any such seaman who has been ordered deported shall be deported on the vessel on which he arrived in the United States or on any other vessel which may be available, unless the Attorney General shall determine that deportation should be effected on some other vessel or in some other manner. Nothing in this section shall be construed to require the detention on board or deportation in pursuance of the provisions of this section of any seaman who shall have been admitted to the United States and who shall have become a member of the crew of a vessel engaged in the coastwise trade of the United States, Alaska, Hawaii, Puerto Rico, or the Virgin Islands, and who is continuing in such employment.

(43 Stat. 164–165; 46 Stat. 818; 8 U.S.C. 191 (a), 191 (c).)

EXTRACT FROM ACT OF CONGRESS OF FEBRUARY 2, 1917, AS AMENDED

SEC. 36. That upon arrival of any vessel in the United States from any foreign port or place it shall be the duty of the master, agent, consignee, or owner thereof, within the next succeeding twenty-four hours, to report and present to the proper immigration officer in charge at the port of arrival a complete list or manifest, as hereinafter provided, of all aliens employed on board such vessel, together with such information likely to lead to the identification of each alien employed as may be required by the Commissioner General of Immigration, and to make oath to the same before the proper officer. Such list or manifest shall be prepared in the order and form and contain the information prescribed by the Commissioner General of Immigration, with the approval of the Secretary of Labor, and shall be printed or typewritten in the English language. Any master, agent, consignee, or owner of any vessel who shall refuse or neglect to deliver such list or manifest, or who shall refuse or neglect to answer truthfully and fully to the best of his knowledge any question touching the same propounded to him by any such immigration officer, or who shall refuse or neglect to detain on board his vessel any alien employed thereon when ordered by such officer, or who shall refuse or neglect to deliver to such immigration officer any alien employed on board his vessel when required by such officer, or who shall refuse or neglect to pay the head tax provided for by section 1 of this Act, or who shall refuse or neglect to perform any other act required of him by this Act, or who shall violate any of the provisions of this Act, shall be deemed guilty of a misdemeanor and shall be punished by a fine not exceeding $1,000 for each and every such offense, and shall be imprisoned not more than one year: Provided, That clearance papers may be granted before the payment of the head tax imposed by section 1 of this Act in the case of vessels touching at foreign ports for the sole purpose of taking on board passengers, mail, or cargo, or for any of such purposes, and in the case of vessels putting in from stress of weather or other unavoidable cause, and not clearing from any port of the United States, and in the case of vessels which have been allowed to enter the United States temporarily for repairs and which clear therefrom for the foreign port from which they came, or for any other foreign port to which the master, owner, agent, consignee, or charterer may elect to take them

EXTRACT FROM ACT OF CONGRESS APPROVED MAY 26, 1924, AS AMENDED

ALIEN SEAMEN

SEC. 10. No alien seaman excluded from admission into the United States under the immigration laws shall be employed on board any vessel arriving in the United States from any place outside the United States, or be granted a conditional permit to land in the United States from any such vessel, except temporarily to unload his baggage or unless and until he is certified by a medical officer of the United States Public Health Service at the port of arrival as not affected with any disease specified in section 3 of the Immigration Act of 1917 (39 Stat. 874; 8 U. S. C. 136), or any amendment thereof, or any other physical or mental defect or disease which may be found by the Secretary of Labor to be likely to endanger the public health, and until he has been examined and passed upon by an immigrant inspector and found not to be subject to any of the mental or physical defects or diseases specified in section 3 of the Immigration Act of 1917, or any amendment thereof, or to any of the grounds specified in section 19 of the Immigration Act of 1924, or any amendment thereof, and has been granted a certificate by the Secretary of Labor to the effect that he has been found not to be subject to any of the said mental or physical defects or diseases, or to any of the said grounds of exclusion, or that in the case of any such alien certified by the medical officer of the United States Public Health Service as being afflicted with any such disease or defect, the Secretary of Labor is satisfied that such alien may be permitted to land temporarily without danger to the public health, and issues a certificate setting forth the fact of such certification and the reasons therefor. Such certificate shall be prima facie evidence of the right of such alien to enter the United States in the event he is otherwise admissible under this Act. Upon the granting of such certificate by the Secretary of Labor, the master, agent, owner, or consignee of the vessel on which such alien arrived shall be notified of the fact and shall cause such alien to be detained on board and to be kept in such part of the vessel as the Secretary of Labor may direct, and such alien shall be deported on the vessel bringing him to the United States or on any vessel which can be obtained for that purpose, unless within such time not exceeding four months after the date of such certification as the Secretary of Labor may direct, he is granted by the Secretary of Labor a certificate in writing to the effect that he has been found admissible to the United States upon a subsequent examination. Pending the deportation of such alien, he shall be kept in such place of detention provided for such purpose by the master, agent, owner, or consignee of the vessel as may be designated by the Secretary of Labor, and shall be subject to such regulations as the Secretary of Labor may prescribe. Any such alien who shall come to the United States in violation of this section shall be deported in the manner provided by section 19 of this Act. (39 Stat. 889; 8 U. S. C. 163.)

SEC. 20. (a) The owner, charterer, agent, consignee, or master of any vessel bringing into the United States from any place outside the United States any alien who does not have in his possession a valid unexpired immigration visa and passport, or other travel document as may be required by the Secretary of State under section 2 of this Act, or who is afflicted with any of the diseases or mental or physical defects or disorders specified in section 3 of the Immigration Act of 1917 (39 Stat. 874; 8 U. S. C. 136), or who is not in possession of a certificate from a consular officer of the United States, if such certificate is required by section 9 of this Act, shall be deemed guilty of a misdemeanor and upon conviction thereof shall be punished by a fine of not more than $1,000 for each alien as to whom such violation occurs, or by imprisonment for not more than one year, or by both such fine and imprisonment, in the discretion of the court: Provided, That no fine or imprisonment shall be imposed for violation of this section with respect to any alien who is in possession of a valid unexpired immigration visa and passport, or other travel document, if application for such visa was made before the sailing of the vessel from the last port from which she cleared, and if the consular officer to whom such application was made knew, or could have ascertained by reasonable diligence, that such alien was applying for such visa, and if such alien is otherwise admissible under this Act. Any such alien who shall come to the United States in violation of this section shall be deported in the manner provided by section 19 of this Act. (39 Stat. 889; 8 U. S. C. 163.)

(b) Every alien arriving at a seaport of the United States, shall be examined by an immigrant inspector, and every alien who shall come to the United States from any place in the Panama Canal Zone, or from any place in the Territory of Alaska, the Territory of Hawaii, or the Virgin Islands, shall be examined by a medical officer of the United States Public Health Service, before being admitted to the United States, or before being certified in conformity with the provisions of section 10 of this Act to the Secretary of Labor for special inquiry as to his right to enter the United States. Such examination shall take place at the time of the arrival of the vessel at the port, unless the master, agent, owner, or consignee of the vessel requests in writing that such examination be made at the time of the departure of the vessel from the last port from which she cleared, and the Secretary of Labor shall by regulation provide for such examination. Any alien who refuses to submit to such physical and mental examination shall not be admitted to the United States. The physical examination of any such alien may take place after the vessel upon which he arrived has docked at the port of arrival, and such alien may be detained on board or at the station provided by the immigration officials at the port for the physical examination of aliens coming to the United States. Any alien who is certified by the medical officer to be afflicted with any such disease or mental or physical defect or disorder shall be detained on board or at the station provided by the immigration officials at the port for special inquiry under the rules prescribed by the Secretary of Labor. Any alien who is certified by the medical officer to be afflicted with any such disease or mental or physical defect or disorder, or who is found by the immigrant inspector to be afflicted with any such disease or mental or physical defect or disorder, shall be detained and deported in the manner provided by section 19 of this Act, unless he shall be entitled to enter the United States under section 3 of this Act or shall be admitted in the discretion of the Secretary of Labor and under such conditions as he may prescribe. (39 Stat. 889; 8 U. S. C. 163.)

(c) If the Attorney General finds that a transportation company has been or is bringing aliens into the United States who are afflicted with any of the diseases or mental or physical defects or disorders specified in section 3 of the Immigration Act of 1917 (39 Stat. 874; 8 U. S. C. 136), or who have been refused admission to the United States for any of the causes specified in section 19 of this Act (39 Stat. 889; 8 U. S. C. 163), he may, in addition to any other penalty prescribed by this Act, refuse to permit such transportation company to bring any aliens to the United States from any foreign port or place for such period of time as he may deem necessary to prevent violations of this section.

(d) Every alien, in addition to complying with the requirements of this Act, shall comply with all duly promulgated rules and regulations requiring the registration of aliens. (39 Stat. 889; 8 U. S. C. 163.)

(e) Any person who shall bring into the United States any alien not duly admissible under the provisions of this Act, or who shall assist or abet any alien to enter the United States in violation of this Act, or who shall conceal, harbor, or shield from detection any such alien, shall be guilty of a misdemeanor and upon conviction thereof shall be punished by a fine not exceeding $1,000 or by imprisonment not exceeding one year, or by both such fine and imprisonment, in the discretion of the court. (39 Stat. 889; 8 U. S. C. 163.)

(f) Every alien, in addition to complying with the requirements of this Act, shall comply with all duly promulgated rules and regulations requiring the registration of aliens. (39 Stat. 889; 8 U. S. C. 163.)

(g) Any person who shall bring into the United States any alien not duly admissible under the provisions of this Act, or who shall assist or abet any alien to enter the United States in violation of this Act, or who shall conceal, harbor, or shield from detection any such alien, shall be guilty of a misdemeanor and upon conviction thereof shall be punished by a fine not exceeding $1,000 or by imprisonment not exceeding one year, or by both such fine and imprisonment, in the discretion of the court. (39 Stat. 889; 8 U. S. C. 163.)

(h) Every alien, in addition to complying with the requirements of this Act, shall comply with all duly promulgated rules and regulations requiring the registration of aliens. (39 Stat. 889; 8 U. S. C. 163.)

(i) Any person who shall bring into the United States any alien not duly admissible under the provisions of this Act, or who shall assist or abet any alien to enter the United States in violation of this Act, or who shall conceal, harbor, or shield from detection any such alien, shall be guilty of a misdemeanor and upon conviction thereof shall be punished by a fine not exceeding $1,000 or by imprisonment not exceeding one year, or by both such fine and imprisonment, in the discretion of the court. (39 Stat. 889; 8 U. S. C. 163.)

(j) Every alien, in addition to complying with the requirements of this Act, shall comply with all duly promulgated rules and regulations requiring the registration of aliens. (39 Stat. 889; 8 U. S. C. 163.)

(k) Any person who shall bring into the United States any alien not duly admissible under the provisions of this Act, or who shall assist or abet any alien to enter the United States in violation of this Act, or who shall conceal, harbor, or shield from detection any such alien, shall be guilty of a misdemeanor and upon conviction thereof shall be punished by a fine not exceeding $1,000 or by imprisonment not exceeding one year, or by both such fine and imprisonment, in the discretion of the court. (39 Stat. 889; 8 U. S. C. 163.)

(l) Every alien, in addition to complying with the requirements of this Act, shall comply with all duly promulgated rules and regulations requiring the registration of aliens. (39 Stat. 889; 8 U. S. C. 163.)

(m) Any person who shall bring into the United States any alien not duly admissible under the provisions of this Act, or who shall assist or abet any alien to enter the United States in violation of this Act, or who shall conceal, harbor, or shield from detection any such alien, shall be guilty of a misdemeanor and upon conviction thereof shall be punished by a fine not exceeding $1,000 or by imprisonment not exceeding one year, or by both such fine and imprisonment, in the discretion of the court. (39 Stat. 889; 8 U. S. C. 163.)

(n) Every alien, in addition to complying with the requirements of this Act, shall comply with all duly promulgated rules and regulations requiring the registration of aliens. (39 Stat. 889; 8 U. S. C. 163.)

(o) Any person who shall bring into the United States any alien not duly admissible under the provisions of this Act, or who shall assist or abet any alien to enter the United States in violation of this Act, or who shall conceal, harbor, or shield from detection any such alien, shall be guilty of a misdemeanor and upon conviction thereof shall be punished by a fine not exceeding $1,000 or by imprisonment not exceeding one year, or by both such fine and imprisonment, in the discretion of the court. (39 Stat. 889; 8 U. S. C. 163.)

(p) Every alien, in addition to complying with the requirements of this Act, shall comply with all duly promulgated rules and regulations requiring the registration of aliens. (39 Stat. 889; 8 U. S. C. 163.)

IMPORTANT NOTICE TO MASTER

The list described below shall be prepared on blank forms approved by the Department and be ready for delivery to the immigration inspectors nominated for each vessel at the port of arrival, but shall in no instance be taken from the vessel. The list of aliens on board vessels bound for Canada or Mexico (Form I–418) shall not be furnished on board, but shall be delivered by the master to the principal immigration officer at the port. When an alien entering seaman is a "motorman" a notation to that effect should be made on the manifest. In order to facilitate inspection of alien seamen, include names of entering American citizen seamen as well as aliens.

SEC. 36. That upon arrival of any vessel in the United States from any foreign port or place it shall be the duty of the owner, agent, consignee, or master thereof to deliver to the principal immigration officer in charge of the port of arrival list or lists containing the names of all aliens employed on such vessel, stating the positions they respectively hold in the ship's company, where born and where they were respectively naturalized or admitted, and such descriptive facts as to each as may be required by the Commissioner General of Immigration, with the approval of the Secretary of Labor, and such additional information relative to the right of any such alien to enter the United States as may be required by the rules and regulations prescribed by the Commissioner General of Immigration. Such list shall be subscribed and sworn to before the immigration officer at the port of arrival by the master of the vessel, stating as to each alien employed thereon as to whom he has personal knowledge, and as to the others to the best of his knowledge and belief, the facts required to be stated. Any master, owner, agent, consignee, or master of any such vessel who shall refuse to deliver such list, or who shall refuse to answer truthfully any such question relative to each alien, or who shall fail to report and deliver to the immigration officer at the port of arrival any alien employed on such vessel who may be discharged from the vessel, stating a description of such alien, together with such information likely to lead to his apprehension; and any master, consignee, or agent of any such vessel who shall land or permit to be landed any alien employee before the examination of such alien by the immigration officer at the port of arrival, except in case of accident, or who shall land or permit to be landed any alien employee for the purpose of touching at a foreign port or place or for the purpose of taking on board fuel, supplies, or sea stores, or for any other purpose, without a permit from the Commissioner General of Immigration, shall pay a penalty of $300 for each and every such alien so landed or found on board, which sum may be sued for and recovered by the United States of America, in an action of debt, in the district in which the vessel may arrive at any port in the United States: Provided, That the Commissioner General of Immigration may, in his discretion, issue a permit in writing to the master, owner, agent, consignee, or charterer of any vessel transporting any such alien employee to the effect that the temporary detention of such alien employee on board such vessel while in port shall not be required: Provided further, That the master, owner, agent, consignee, or charterer of any such vessel shall be liable to the penalty prescribed in this section if such alien employee fails to depart with the vessel on which he arrived or on some other vessel sailing within a period of one month thereafter from the port of arrival, unless such failure is occasioned by sickness or injury of such alien employee or is beyond the power of the master, owner, agent, consignee, or charterer of the vessel to prevent: And provided further, That the penalty herein provided shall not be imposed in any case where it is shown to the satisfaction of the Commissioner General of Immigration that it was impossible for the master, owner, agent, consignee, or charterer of the vessel to detain the alien employee on board the vessel before departure, and that the master, owner, agent, consignee, or charterer of the vessel had no reasonable cause to believe that the alien employee intended to depart from the United States on the vessel without inspection and permission. ALIEN SEAMEN

SEC. 13. No alien seaman excluded from admission into the United States under the immigration laws and employed on board any vessel arriving in the United States from any place outside thereof, shall be permitted to land in the United States, except temporarily for medical treatment or pursuant to such regulations as the Attorney General may prescribe for the allotment of his wages, or for the purpose of obtaining treatment of an acute illness requiring immediate hospital care, or because of shipwreck, or other casualty, or for such other reasons as may be approved by the Attorney General, but not for the purpose of entering the United States for permanent residence therein, or for the purpose of employment, or for any purpose inconsistent with the temporary permission accorded him. Such alien seaman may be required to deposit with the immigration officer in charge at the port of arrival a sum sufficient to pay the cost of his maintenance while in the United States and his return to the place whence he came, or to the country to which he belongs, or to the country from which he last embarked for the United States, or to any other country which will accept him, such sum not to exceed $30 in any case. Such deposit may be required of any such alien seaman notwithstanding the payment of the head tax provided for by section 2 of the Act of February 5, 1917, and may be used to pay such expenses. Any such deposit or any part thereof not used for the purposes mentioned herein shall be refunded to the person who deposited the same. Failure to make such deposit shall be sufficient reason for holding any alien seaman who is otherwise admissible under the provisions of this section. Any such alien seaman who has been lawfully admitted to the United States and who is employed on board any vessel arriving at a port of the United States from any place outside thereof may be permitted by the immigration officer in charge at the port of arrival and pursuant to such conditions as the Attorney General may prescribe, to proceed to any port in the United States to join the vessel on which he is employed when ready to depart, or to any other port in the United States for the purpose of taking passage for and departing from the United States from such port, upon the certification by the master of the vessel on which he arrived that the services of such alien seaman are required on board such vessel and upon the payment or the deposit of sufficient funds to defray the expenses of his return passage and maintenance while en route, in the discretion of the immigration officer in charge at the port of arrival. Such alien seaman shall be deported in the manner provided by law to the country to which he belongs, or to the country from which he last embarked for the United States, or to any other country which will accept him, but no such alien seaman shall be entitled to land in the United States, except temporarily as a member of the crew of the vessel on which he arrived and under such regulations as may be prescribed by the Secretary of Labor, unless admitted by an immigrant inspector or special inquiry officer. Any such alien seaman who has been admitted to the United States and who deserts or attempts to desert any vessel on which he arrived shall be taken into custody upon the warrant of the Secretary of Labor without hearing or other formality and shall be deported to the country to which he belongs, or to the country from which he last embarked for the United States, or to any other country which will accept him, at the expense of the appropriation for the enforcement of the immigration laws existing at the time of such desertion. Any such alien seaman who has been granted shore leave and fails to return to the vessel on which he arrived when ready to depart may be deported in the manner provided for cases of desertion. Any such alien seaman who is found on board any vessel in the United States not having been admitted or granted shore leave, or who remains in the United States after the vessel on which he arrived has departed without the permission of the immigration officer in charge at the port of arrival, shall be deported in the manner provided for cases of desertion. Any such alien seaman who is found in the United States in violation of this section or any regulation made in pursuance thereof shall be deported in the manner provided for cases of desertion. Any such alien seaman shall be entitled to a hearing before a special inquiry officer if he shall allege that he is a citizen of the United States or that he is lawfully entitled to enter or remain therein, or that he was illegally deported from a foreign port or place to the United States, or that he was treated in violation of the provisions of this section, or that he is not subject to deportation, and such hearing shall be fixed with reasonable dispatch by the immigration officer in charge at the port of arrival. Pending such hearing and decision thereon, such alien seaman shall be detained in the custody of the immigration officer in charge at the port of arrival. Any such alien seaman shall be deported at any time within five years after a violation of this section. Any such alien seaman who is found to have remained in the United States for a period longer than sixty days shall be presumed to have entered the United States with the intention of becoming a permanent resident, unless he shall establish to the satisfaction of the Secretary of Labor by competent evidence that he entered the United States temporarily and solely for the purpose of following the sea and intends to depart therefrom. Any such alien seaman who has been granted shore leave and who remains

SEC. 36. That upon arrival of any vessel in the United States from any foreign port or place it shall be the duty of the owner, agent, consignee, or master thereof to deliver to the principal immigration officer in charge of the port of entry list or manifest of all the persons on board such vessel, whether destined to the United States or not, which list or manifest shall be prepared in such form and manner as may be prescribed by the Commissioner General of Immigration, with the approval of the Secretary of Labor, and shall contain such information touching each person specified therein as may be required by the Commissioner General of Immigration, under the provisions of this Act or any other Act or Acts which may be hereafter passed or amended regulating the immigration of aliens to the United States. The Commissioner General of Immigration shall have authority to prescribe, change, and amend such rules and regulations governing the carriage, care, treatment, and landing in the United States of aliens coming to the United States from foreign contiguous territory by water, not specifically provided for herein, as he may deem necessary to prevent the violation of the provisions of this Act relating to the exclusion of aliens from the United States, and to that end may employ such additional medical officers, matrons, and other employees of the Immigration Service as may be necessary, and may detail any immigrant inspector for duty at any port or place where in his judgment the interests of the service require such detail, and may refuse permission to land at any port or place to any vessel not complying with the provisions of this Act or with such rules and regulations. Any master, agent, consignee, or owner of any vessel who shall refuse or neglect to comply with any of the provisions of this Act or with such rules and regulations shall pay to the United States the sum of $300 for each and every such refusal or neglect, and such sum may be sued for and recovered on behalf of the United States in any district court of the United States within the district in which the vessel may arrive: Provided, That clearance may be granted any vessel prior to the determination of such question upon deposit with the collector of customs of a sum sufficient to cover such fine. (39 Stat. 885–890; 8 U. S. C. 191.)

ALIEN SEAMEN

SEC. 18. No alien seaman excluded from admission into the United States under the immigration laws but employed on board any vessel arriving in the United States from any place outside thereof, shall be permitted to land in the United States, except temporarily for medical treatment, or pursuant to such regulations as the Attorney General may prescribe for the ultimate departure, removal, or deportation of such alien from the United States. (43 Stat. 164, 8 U. S. C. 168.)

SEC. 36. (a) The owner, charterer, agent, consignee, or master of any vessel arriving in the United States from any place outside thereof shall cause to be delivered to the immigrant inspector at the port of arrival a manifest of all persons on board such vessel, which manifest shall include a personal physical examination by the medical examiner(s), to and from which such seamen (which inspection it all cases shall include a personal physical examination by the medical examiner) to the Attorney General to do so, shall pay to the collector of customs of the customs district in which the port of arrival is located the sum of $1,000 for each alien seaman, in respect of whom such failure occurs. No vessel shall be granted clearance pending the determination of as such question upon the deposit of a sum sufficient to cover such fine, or of a bond with sufficient surety to secure the payment thereof approved by the collector of customs. The Attorney General may, upon application in writing therefor, mitigate such penalty or any part thereof as he may deem just. $300 for each seaman in respect of whom such failure occurs, upon such terms as the Attorney General in his discretion shall think proper. The section, as amended, shall apply to all persons arriving subsequently to June 2, 1924.

(b) Every alien seaman who shall depart from the United States upon any vessel on which he arrived in the United States from a foreign contiguous territory, or adjacent island, shall be given a certificate by the immigrant inspector in charge at the port of departure to the effect that he is lawfully entitled to depart from the United States. Such certificate shall be delivered to the master of such vessel and by him to the immigrant inspector at the port of arrival in the United States, unless such alien seaman is in possession of a certificate issued in accordance with the provisions of section 3 of the Act of February 5, 1917, as amended by section 23 of the Act of May 26, 1924.

(c) If the Attorney General finds that deportation of the alien seaman on the vessel on which he arrived would cause undue hardship to such seaman he may cause him to be deported on another vessel at the expense of the vessel on which he arrived, but such vessel shall not be granted clearance until such expense has been paid to the Department Commissioner of the Attorney General.

IMPORTANT NOTICE TO MASTER

The list described below will be prepared on blank forms approved by the Department and be ready from day to day for the inspection of the master or other officer in charge of the vessel at the port of arrival. The list of persons in each class must be complete to the time of inspection. Where no alien seamen, include names of "NO ALIENS" in addition to that effect should be made on the manifest. In order to facilitate inspection of alien seamen, entries should be made in the order in which they appear on the ship's articles.

EXTRACT FROM ACT OF CONGRESS OF FEBRUARY 5, 1917, AS AMENDED

SEC. 36. That upon arrival in the United States from any foreign port or place it shall be the duty of the owner, agent, consignee, or master thereof to deliver to the principal immigration officer in charge of the port of arrival a list or manifest of all aliens, including those in transit to adjacent foreign countries, on board such vessel, whether they have been lawfully admitted to the United States or not, which list or manifest shall be prepared in the form and manner and contain such particulars concerning each alien as may be required by the Commissioner General of Immigration, with the approval of the Secretary of Labor. Such list or manifest shall be signed by the master or commanding officer of the vessel, who shall make oath before the proper officer to the correctness thereof. The master or commanding officer of every such vessel shall, before any of the passengers are landed, deliver to the officer designated for the purpose a true copy of such list or manifest, certified by him to be correct. Any master or commanding officer who refuses to deliver such list or manifest, or any owner, agent, consignee, or master who refuses to deliver to the master or commanding officer a true copy of such list or manifest, or any master or commanding officer who refuses to deliver to the immigrant inspector at each port of arrival a true copy of such list or manifest, or any master or commanding officer who lands or permits to be landed any alien before the inspection of such alien is completed and the master or commanding officer has been notified that such alien may be landed, shall be guilty of a misdemeanor and shall be punished by a fine not exceeding $1,000 or by imprisonment for a term not exceeding one year, or by both such fine and imprisonment, in the discretion of the court. Any person who knowingly secures the landing of any alien in violation of any of the provisions of this section shall be guilty of a misdemeanor and shall be punished by a fine not exceeding $1,000 or by imprisonment for a term not exceeding one year, or by both such fine and imprisonment, in the discretion of the court.

SEC. 150.1. Lists of alien employees; when clearance of vessel denied. Clearance shall not be refused or withheld from any vessel until the master thereof has delivered to the immigration officer in charge of the port of departure the list or manifest of alien employees required by section 36 of the act of February 5, 1917 (39 Stat. 886; 8 U. S. C. 141), as amended, and not then unless notice of intention to depart has been served upon the immigration officer in charge of the port at least 48 hours prior to the departure of the vessel. Clearance shall not be refused or withheld from any vessel until the master thereof has delivered to the immigration officer in charge of the port the list or manifest of alien employees required by section 36 of the act of February 5, 1917, as amended, and not then unless notice of intention to depart has been served upon the immigration officer in charge of the port at least 48 hours prior to the departure of the vessel. Within 24 hours after the departure of any vessel, it shall be the duty of the master of such vessel to deliver to the immigration officer in charge of the port a true copy of the list or manifest of alien employees required by section 36 of the act of February 5, 1917, as amended, certified by him to be correct. Any master who refuses to deliver such list or manifest, or any owner, agent, consignee, or master who refuses to deliver to the master a true copy of such list or manifest, or any master who refuses to deliver to the immigrant inspector at each port of arrival a true copy of such list or manifest, or any master who lands or permits to be landed any alien before the inspection of such alien is completed and the master has been notified that such alien may be landed, shall be guilty of a misdemeanor and shall be punished by a fine not exceeding $1,000 or by imprisonment for a term not exceeding one year, or by both such fine and imprisonment, in the discretion of the court. Any person who knowingly secures the landing of any alien in violation of any of the provisions of this section shall be guilty of a misdemeanor and shall be punished by a fine not exceeding $1,000 or by imprisonment for a term not exceeding one year, or by both such fine and imprisonment, in the discretion of the court. (39 Stat. 886–890; 8 U. S. C. 141.)

SEC. 150.12 Liens of alien employees; when clearance of vessel denied. Clearance shall not be refused or withheld from any vessel until the liens provided for in section 2 of the act of February 27, 1917 (39 Stat. 886; 8 U. S. C. 171), have been satisfied, and not then unless notice of intention to depart has been served upon the immigration officer in charge of the port at least 48 hours prior to the departure of the vessel. Clearance shall not be refused or withheld from any vessel until the master thereof has delivered to the immigration officer in charge of the port the list or manifest of alien employees required by section 36 of said act (39 Stat. 886; 8 U. S. C. 141) as amended, and not then unless notice of intention to depart has been served upon the immigration officer in charge of the port at least 48 hours prior to the departure of the vessel. Within 24 hours after the departure of any vessel, the deputy specified in § 150.12–150.17, has been made.

ALIEN SEAMEN

SEC. 13. No alien seaman excluded from admission into the United States under the immigration laws then in force shall be permitted to land temporarily from any vessel arriving in the United States from any place outside the United States, except upon the certificate of a medical officer of the United States Public Health Service at the port of arrival that such alien is suffering only from a contagious disease not dangerous to the public health, or upon the certificate of a duly accredited consular officer of the United States that such alien is suffering only from a contagious disease not dangerous to the public health and that he has been specially examined by such consular officer and found to be entitled to admission to the United States apart from such disease. (43 Stat. 164; 8 U. S. C. 166.)

SEC. 30. (a) The owner, charterer, agent, consignee, or master of any vessel arriving in the United States from any place outside the United States, except foreign contiguous territory, or any aircraft or other vehicle arriving from foreign contiguous territory, shall be permitted to land in the United States from any such vessel, aircraft, or other vehicle only at a port of entry designated by the Commissioner General of Immigration, after due inspection by immigration officers, unless entitled to enter under some other provision of this Act or specially permitted by the Attorney General to enter at some other port, and only upon prior notification to the immigration officer in charge of the port of entry as to the date of the vessel's arrival and the number of aliens on board, except that the Attorney General may, upon application in writing in special cases, prescribe conditions for the landing of aliens at places other than ports of entry. The Attorney General may by regulations provide for the inspection of aliens destined to foreign contiguous territory, and for the application to such aliens before embarkation at ports of entry of the immigration laws, in order to prevent the landing of such aliens in the United States at any time or place which would be in violation of this Act.

(b) Every alien, except those specifically exempted by the Attorney General, applying for admission to the United States shall pay a head tax of $8 to the immigration officer at the port of entry, which shall be deposited in the Treasury of the United States and accounted for as immigrant head tax. Every alien who has been lawfully admitted to the United States for permanent residence, and who departs therefrom for a temporary visit abroad, shall pay the head tax upon his return unless he shall establish to the satisfaction of the Commissioner General of Immigration that he is returning within a period specified by the Commissioner General of Immigration, with the approval of the Secretary of Labor, in order to maintain his existing status in the United States.

(c) If the Attorney General finds that a transportation company has failed or refused to prevent the departure from any port in the United States of any alien whose application for admission has been denied, or who has been deported, or who has been refused permission to enter the United States, or who has been granted permission to enter the United States only upon the giving of a bond with sureties, or who has been granted permission to enter the United States only upon the deposit of a sum sufficient to cover such cost, and if the Attorney General finds that such transportation company has failed or refused to prevent the departure of such alien in accordance with the provisions of this Act or any rule or regulation made thereunder, or has failed or refused to detain such alien on board any vessel or aircraft or other vehicle upon the request of any immigration officer, or has failed to return such alien to the United States upon the request of the Attorney General, such transportation company shall pay to the Commissioner General of Immigration for the use of the United States a sum equal to the cost of the maintenance of such alien while detained, and the cost of his transportation, subsistence, and other immigration expenses from the time of his departure to the time of his return, and in addition thereto a sum equal to the head tax and visa fee paid by such alien. Such cost shall be determined by the Commissioner General of Immigration, with the approval of the Secretary of Labor, and shall be certified to the Secretary of State and to the Secretary of the Treasury. Until such sum is paid no vessel or aircraft or other vehicle owned or operated by such transportation company shall be granted clearance from any port in the United States to any foreign port or place. If any such vessel, aircraft, or other vehicle shall depart from the United States without clearance, the collector of customs at the last port of departure shall report the fact to the Commissioner General of Immigration, who shall certify the amount due to the Secretary of the Treasury, and the Secretary of the Treasury shall withhold clearance for any vessel, aircraft, or other vehicle owned or operated by such company until such sum shall be paid or shall have been deducted therefrom. Clearance may be granted prior to the determination of such question upon deposit of a sum sufficient to cover such cost. (39 Stat. 888–890; 8 U. S. C. 141.)

SEC. 38. That upon arrival in the United States from any foreign port or place it shall be the duty of the owner, agent, consignee, or master thereof to deliver to the principal immigration officer in charge of the port of arrival a list or manifest of all aliens, including those in transit to adjacent foreign countries, on board such vessel, whether they have been lawfully admitted to the United States or not, which list or manifest shall be prepared in the form and manner and contain such particulars concerning each alien as may be required by the Commissioner General of Immigration, with the approval of the Secretary of Labor. Such list or manifest shall be signed by the master or commanding officer of the vessel, who shall make oath before the proper officer to the correctness thereof. The master or commanding officer of every such vessel shall, before any of the passengers are landed, deliver to the officer designated for the purpose a true copy of such list or manifest, certified by him to be correct. Any master or commanding officer who refuses to deliver such list or manifest, or any owner, agent, consignee, or master who refuses to deliver to the master or commanding officer a true copy of such list or manifest, or any master or commanding officer who refuses to deliver to the immigrant inspector at each port of arrival a true copy of such list or manifest, or any master who lands or permits to be landed any alien before the inspection of such alien is completed and the master or commanding officer has been notified that such alien may be landed, shall be guilty of a misdemeanor and shall be punished by a fine not exceeding $1,000 or by imprisonment for a term not exceeding one year, or by both such fine and imprisonment, in the discretion of the court. Any person who knowingly secures the landing of any alien in violation of any of the provisions of this section shall be guilty of a misdemeanor and shall be punished by a fine not exceeding $1,000 or by imprisonment for a term not exceeding one year, or by both such fine and imprisonment, in the discretion of the court. (39 Stat. 886–890; 8 U. S. C. 141.)

(a) Every alien seaman, including masters of vessels, shall be required by the Department and be ready from day to day for the inspection of the master or other officer in charge of the vessel at the port of arrival, but shall not be examined on board, but shall be required to go ashore for examination by the immigrant inspector at the immigration station, unless the master or other officer in charge of the vessel shall establish to the satisfaction of the immigrant inspector that he has been specially examined by a medical officer of the United States Public Health Service at the port of departure or other port prior to sailing and found to be entitled to admission to the United States apart from such disease. (43 Stat. 164; 8 U. S. C. 166.)

SEC. 30. (a) The owner, charterer, agent, consignee, or master of any vessel arriving in the United States from any place outside the United States, except foreign contiguous territory, or any aircraft or other vehicle arriving from foreign contiguous territory, shall be permitted to land in the United States from any such vessel, aircraft, or other vehicle only at a port of entry designated by the Commissioner General of Immigration, after due inspection by immigration officers, unless entitled to enter under some other provision of this Act or specially permitted by the Attorney General to enter at some other port, and only upon prior notification to the immigration officer in charge of the port of entry as to the date of the vessel's arrival and the number of aliens on board, except that the Attorney General may, upon application in writing in special cases, prescribe conditions for the landing of aliens at places other than ports of entry. The Attorney General may by regulations provide for the inspection of aliens destined to foreign contiguous territory, and for the application to such aliens before embarkation at ports of entry of the immigration laws, in order to prevent the landing of such aliens in the United States at any time or place which would be in violation of this Act.

(b) Every alien, except those specifically exempted by the Attorney General, applying for admission to the United States shall pay a head tax of $8 to the immigration officer at the port of entry, which shall be deposited in the Treasury of the United States and accounted for as immigrant head tax. Every alien who has been lawfully admitted to the United States for permanent residence, and who departs therefrom for a temporary visit abroad, shall pay the head tax upon his return unless he shall establish to the satisfaction of the Commissioner General of Immigration that he is returning within a period specified by the Commissioner General of Immigration, with the approval of the Secretary of Labor, in order to maintain his existing status in the United States.

(c) If the Attorney General finds that a transportation company has failed or refused to prevent the departure from any port in the United States of any alien whose application for admission has been denied, or who has been deported, or who has been refused permission to enter the United States, or who has been granted permission to enter the United States only upon the giving of a bond with sureties, or who has been granted permission to enter the United States only upon the deposit of a sum sufficient to cover such cost, and if the Attorney General finds that such transportation company has failed or refused to prevent the departure of such alien in accordance with the provisions of this Act or any rule or regulation made thereunder, or has failed or refused to detain such alien on board any vessel or aircraft or other vehicle upon the request of any immigration officer, or has failed to return such alien to the United States upon the request of the Attorney General, such transportation company shall pay to the Commissioner General of Immigration for the use of the United States a sum equal to the cost of the maintenance of such alien while detained, and the cost of his transportation, subsistence, and other immigration expenses from the time of his departure to the time of his return, and in addition thereto a sum equal to the head tax and visa fee paid by such alien. Such cost shall be determined by the Commissioner General of Immigration, with the approval of the Secretary of Labor, and shall be certified to the Secretary of State and to the Secretary of the Treasury. Until such sum is paid no vessel or aircraft or other vehicle owned or operated by such transportation company shall be granted clearance from any port in the United States to any foreign port or place. If any such vessel, aircraft, or other vehicle shall depart from the United States without clearance, the collector of customs at the last port of departure shall report the fact to the Commissioner General of Immigration, who shall certify the amount due to the Secretary of the Treasury, and the Secretary of the Treasury shall withhold clearance for any vessel, aircraft, or other vehicle owned or operated by such company until such sum shall be paid or shall have been deducted therefrom. Clearance may be granted prior to the determination of such question upon deposit of a sum sufficient to cover such cost. (39 Stat. 888–890; 8 U. S. C. 141.)

AFFIDAVIT OF THE MASTER OR COMMANDING OFFICER, OR FIRST OR SECOND OFFICER

I, Captain C. Wallis Master, of the Canadian Pacific Ry. Co. Steamer, do declare that the foregoing is a full and true list of all the crew promptly in sail vessel from any port or place during the year ending June 30, 1924, except those mentioned in the copy of section 38 of the Act of February 5, 1917, extract from Title 8, Code of Federal Regulations, and I have noted the copy of section 36 of the Act of February 5, 1917, extract from Title 8, Code of Federal Regulations, and copy of sections 13 and 50, Act of May 26, 1924, which appear below.

C. Wallis
Master, First or Second Officer.

Sworn to before me this 11th day of December 1924

Chas. H. McMahon
Immigrant Inspector.

IMPORTANT NOTICE TO MASTER

The list described below shall be printed on blank forms approved by the Department and be ready for delivery to the immigration inspector boarding the vessel at the port of arrival, and shall in no instance be taken from the vessel. The list of changes of alien members of crews (Form 1-418) shall not be furnished or boarded, but shall be delivered by the master to the principal immigration officer at the port of arrival ("northward" a notation to that effect should be made on the manifest. In order to facilitate inspection, when an alien seaman, including names of returning American citizen seamen as well as aliens.

EXTRACT FROM ACT OF CONGRESS OF FEBRUARY 5, 1917, AS AMENDED

SEC. 36. That upon arrival of any vessel in the United States from any foreign port or place it shall be the duty of the owner, agent, consignee, or master thereof to deliver to the principal immigration officer in charge of the port of arrival list or manifest of all aliens employed on such vessel, stating the nationality, last permanent residence, name and where they were respectively paid in the ship's company, when and where they were respectively shipped or engaged, and what country those so to be paid off and discharged in the port of arrival; or list or manifest of all such aliens discharged from the vessel, stating a description of such alien, together with such information likely to lead to his apprehension; and officer a duplicate list containing the names of all alien employees who were not employed thereon at the time of the arrival but who before the departure of any such vessel it shall be the duty of such owner, agent, consignee, or master to deliver to such immigration will leave port thereon at the time of her departure; and also the names of those, if any, who have been paid off and discharged, and those, if any, who have deserted or landed; and in case of the failure of such owner, agent, consignee, or master so to deliver either of the said lists of such aliens entering and departing, respectively, or so to report such cases of desertion or landing, such owner, agent, consignee, or master shall, if required by the Attorney General, pay to the collector of customs of the customs district in which the port of arrival is located the sum of $1,000 for each alien mentioned in respect of whom such failure occurs. No vessel shall be granted clearance pending the determination of the liability to payment of such fine, or while the fine remains unpaid, except upon clearance when required by the Attorney General in the deposit with the collector of customs. The Attorney General may, upon application in writing therefor, mitigate such penalty to not less than $300 for each alien mentioned in respect of whom such failure occurs, upon such terms as the Attorney General in his discretion shall think proper. This section as amended shall apply to all immigration matters subsequent to June 2, 1924.

(b) Proof that an alien seaman did not appear upon the outbound manifest of the vessel on which he arrived in the United States from any place outside thereof, or that he was reported by the master of such vessel as a deserter, shall be prima facie evidence of a failure to deliver to the Attorney General the immigration officer or the Attorney General.

(c) If the Attorney General finds that deportation of the alien seaman on the vessel on which he arrived would cause undue hardship to such seaman he may cause him to be deported on another vessel at the expense of the vessel on which he arrived, and such vessel shall not be granted clearance until such expense has been paid or its payment guaranteed to the satisfaction of the Attorney General.

ALIEN SEAMEN

SEC. 13. No alien seaman excluded from admission into the United States under the immigration laws and employed on board any vessel arriving in the United States from any foreign port or place shall be permitted to land in the United States, except temporarily for medical treatment, or because of illness requiring his removal for hospital treatment, or pursuant to such regulations as the Attorney General may prescribe for the ultimate deportation, removal, or deportation of such alien from the United States. (43 Stat. 164, 8 U. S. C. 166.)

SEC. 36. (a) The owner, charterer, agent, consignee, or master of any vessel arriving in the United States from any place outside thereof to which any alien seaman employed on such vessel shall have been transferred, and not then lawfully entitled to enter, shall, before such vessel departs from the port of arrival, deposit with the immigration officer in charge at the port of arrival a sum sufficient to pay the cost of maintenance and treatment while hospitalized, and burial in case of death, of such alien seaman, and such sum as may be required for his passage to the country to which he belongs, or to any country which will grant him a visa and to which he may be admitted, and for his maintenance while en route, unless such owner, agent, consignee, or master shall have obtained a permit from the Attorney General to land such alien seaman in the United States, and has furnished a bond or undertaking approved by the Attorney General sufficient to secure the payment of such sum. Such deposit shall not be required of any such owner, agent, consignee, or master in respect of any alien seaman who has been in the United States for a period of more than four months immediately preceding the date of his arrival at such port, or who has been lawfully admitted to the United States for permanent residence, unless the immigration officer in charge at the port of arrival has reason to believe that such alien seaman will become a public charge. Such deposit shall be refunded to the depositor, or his assignee, or the master of such vessel, by the collector of customs at the customs district in which the port of arrival is located upon the production of a certificate from the immigration officer in charge at the port of arrival that such alien seaman has been treated in a hospital, has died, or has been removed from the United States, or has been admitted to the United States for permanent residence, or has been found not to be likely to become a public charge, or upon the production of a certificate from the Attorney General that such deposit is no longer required for the purposes of this section. The Attorney General may, upon application in writing therefor, authorize such deposit to be made on the vessel. In order to facilitate inspection, when an alien seaman, including names of returning American citizen seamen as well as aliens.

NOTE.—Failure to furnish full or correct information in columns (3), (5), (6), and (7) is punishable by a fine of ten dollars for each alien. See other side.

IMPORTANT NOTICE TO MASTER

The list described below shall be prepared on blank forms approved by the Department and be ready for delivery to the immigration inspectors boarding the vessel at the port of arrival and shall in no instance be taken from the vessel. The list of changes of alien members of crews (Form I–418) shall not be furnished on board, but shall be delivered by the master to the principal immigration officer at the port. Where an arriving seaman is a "witness" a notation to that effect should be made on the manifest. In order to facilitate inspection of alien seamen, include names of arriving American citizen seamen as well as aliens.

EXTRACT FROM ACT OF CONGRESS OF FEBRUARY 5, 1917, AS AMENDED

SEC. 36. That upon arrival of any vessel in the United States from any foreign port or place it shall be the duty of the owner, agent, consignee, or master, trustee, or receiver of any such vessel, or the master or commanding officer in charge of the port of arrival [and] their successors in office, to deliver to the principal immigration officer in charge of the port at which the vessel shall first arrive, lists or manifests of all persons on board such vessel, whether they are passengers or members of the crew, and concerning each person therein before the vessel shall be admitted to entry or granted pratique, and before any person, except a member of the crew or a pilot, shall be allowed to land from any such vessel, a list or manifest of all such persons, or of such of them as may be required, shall be delivered to the said officer, and the said list or manifest shall be subscribed and sworn to before such officer by the master or commanding officer of such vessel, or by the purser, surgeon, or chief officer thereof, as may be required by such officer, which oath such officer is hereby authorized to administer. The said list or manifest shall show the full name, age, sex, calling or occupation, and nationality of each person who shall have been a passenger of such vessel, the country of which he is a citizen or subject, the country whence he came, and his intended destination or location in the United States, whether he has a ticket through to such destination, whether his passage is paid or in part by himself or by any other person or corporation or by the government or by any society or other body, whether in possession of money and how much, whether going to join a relative or friend, and if so what relative or friend and where, whether ever before in the United States and if so when and where, whether ever in prison or almshouse or supported by charity, whether a polygamist, whether under contract or agreement to perform labor in the United States, its Territories, or the District of Columbia, whether in possession of a ticket reading beyond the port of arrival, whether any person has paid his passage or any part thereof and if so by whom, whether he has been deported from the United States and if so when and the cause thereof, whether coming by reason of any offense (other than a purely political offense) or crime committed or misdemeanor committed before coming to the United States, and if so the nature thereof, the place where committed, and the disposition of the case, whether coming for any purpose or object promising unlawful or immoral practices, whether coming under offer, solicitation, promise, agreement, prepaid ticket, or otherwise to perform labor or service of any kind in the United States, and if so what kind, whether a person has a specific skill, profession, or trade, and if so what, whether the person is in good health, mental and physical, and whether deformed or crippled, and if so how long and where and how the deformity or crippling was caused, the height, complexion, color of hair and eyes, and marks of identification of each person, and whether the person has been in the United States before, and if so when and how long ago, whether he intends to return to the country whence he came after temporary residence in the United States, and whether he is an anarchist, or a believer in or supporter of the overthrow by force or violence of the Government of the United States or of all forms of law, and whether he believes in the practicability or desirability of such overthrow, and whether he is a believer in or supporter of the practicability or desirability of the assassination of public officials, and whether he is a believer in or supporter of the unlawful destruction of property, and whether he is a believer in or supporter of the doctrine that no rulers should be allowed to hold office, and whether he is a member of or affiliated with any organization entertaining, teaching, believing in, or supporting or advocating the overthrow by force or violence of the Government of the United States or of all forms of law, or the assassination of public officials, or the unlawful destruction of property, or the doctrine that no rulers should be allowed to hold office, or the practicability or desirability of any such things, and whether he has ever been in any institution or place for the care or treatment of insane persons or persons mentally defective, and whether he is coming pursuant to any previous promise or agreement to return to the United States, and whether he has a ticket or passage engaging transportation to the United States, and whether he has been solicited by or on behalf of any person, company, or corporation in the United States to migrate thereto, and whether he has been employed by any such person, company, or corporation, and whether he has been assisted to come by any such person, company, or corporation, and the condition in life, whether married or single, the name and address of the nearest relative or friend in the country whence he came, and whether he intends to become a citizen of the United States, and whether he has been in prison or almshouse within five years, and whether he is a polygamist, and whether he has been in the United States before, and if so how often and when and how long he remained on each occasion, and whether he has been practically continuously in the United States during the five years next preceding the date of his application for admission to the United States, and whether he intends to reside permanently in the United States, and whether he is willing to accept unskilled labor, and whether he is willing to perform labor if such labor is available, and whether he is married or single, and the age, sex, and relationship to him, if any, of those accompanying him or following to join him, and whether he has been in the United States before, and if so when and how long ago, and whether he has been in prison or almshouse within five years, and whether he is a polygamist

In order to facilitate inspection of alien seamen, include names of arriving American citizen seamen as well as aliens.

EXTRACT FROM ACT OF CONGRESS OF FEBRUARY 5, 1917, AS AMENDED

SEC. 32. That upon arrival of any vessel in the United States from any foreign port or place it shall be the duty of the owner, agent, consignee, or master thereof to deliver to the principal immigration officer in charge of the port of arrival lists containing the names of all aliens employed on such vessel, stating the positions they respectively hold in the ship's company, when and where they were respectively shipped or engaged, and specifying those of the persons mentioned in the lists who are destined to the United States and to what place they severally belong. Such lists shall be delivered by the master of the vessel to the principal immigration officer at the port of arrival, and before any of the persons mentioned therein are landed from the vessel, giving a description of such alien, so far as known, and such information likely to lead to his apprehension: but nothing herein shall require the master of any such vessel at any port to delay the departure of such vessel by reason of the absence of any alien seaman who was employed thereon who were on shore at the time of the arrival and who shall depart on such vessel with the consent of the master, agent, consignee, or owner, or to delay the vessel at any port for the purpose of the inspection of any such seaman, but in case of the failure of such owner, agent, consignee, or master so to deliver either of the lists aforesaid, or any part thereof, or to deliver a correct list of such seamen as shall depart on such vessel, or in case of the absence from the vessel at the time of her departure of any alien seaman duly entered on such list, and not produced for examination, there shall be paid by the master, owner, agent, consignee, or charterer of such vessel to the collector of customs for the district in which the port of arrival is located the sum of $10 for each alien concerning whom correct lists are not delivered or a true report is not made as above required: but no such vessel shall be cleared while it remains during the prescribed hours for the landing of passengers: Provided, That clearance may be granted prior to the determination of such question upon deposit of a sum sufficient to cover such fine. ALIEN SEAMEN

SEC. 13. No alien seaman excluded from admission into the United States under the immigration laws and employed on board any vessel arriving in the United States from any place outside the foreign contiguous territory of the United States shall be permitted to land in the United States, except temporarily for medical treatment, or because of illness, injury, or distress, or for the sole purpose of obtaining the necessary papers, or for the ultimate deportation of such alien from the United States, under such regulations as the Attorney General may prescribe, for the ultimate deportation, removal, or temporary care in charge of a public or private agency, pending such deportation or removal, or until the departure of the vessel on which he arrived, or on board any other vessel or aircraft. Any such alien who shall land in the United States from any vessel arriving in the United States from any place outside foreign contiguous territory (which inspection in all cases shall include a personal physical examination by the medical examiners), or who shall have been refused such seaman's landing by the immigration officer in charge at the port of arrival (which refusal in all cases shall include a personal physical examination by the medical examiners), or who fails to detain on board any vessel such seaman on board after such inspection or to deport such seaman if required by such immigration officer or the Attorney General to do so, shall pay to the collector of customs of the customs district in which the port of arrival is located the sum of $1,000 for each alien seaman in respect of whom such failure occurs. No vessel shall be granted clearance pending the determination of the liability to payment of such fine, or while the fine remains unpaid, except that clearance may be granted prior to the determination of such question upon the deposit of a sum sufficient to cover such fine, or of a bond with sufficient surety to secure the payment thereof approved by the collector of customs. The Attorney General may, upon application in writing therefor, mitigate such penalty to not less than $300 for each seaman in respect of whom such failure occurs, upon such terms as the Attorney General in his discretion shall think proper. This section, as amended, shall apply to all beneficial arrival independent to June 2, 1940.

(b) Proof that an alien seaman did not depart upon the outbound manifest of the vessel on which he arrived in the United States from any place outside thereof, or that he was rejected by the master of such vessel as a deserter, shall be prima facie evidence of a failure to obtain of deport alien treatment by the immigration officer of the Attorney General.

(c) If the Attorney General finds that deportation of the alien seaman on the vessel on which he arrived would cause undue hardship to such seaman he may cause him to be deported on another vessel at the expense of the vessel on which he arrived, but such expense shall not be refunded clearance until such expense has been paid or its payment guaranteed to the satisfaction of the Attorney General.
